Agency: Thurston County Sheriff's Office
Agency Rep: Kenneth W. Clark

Laboratory Number: 711-001094
Agency Case Number: 740386803
Request Number: 0001

Subject: Victim - MANSON, DONNA G.

The following item(s) were examined:

Item #6: 1- typed note

Item #7: 1- homemade DVD case; strips of clear tape removed from DVD case

Item #8: 1- DVD

Item #ES 07: 4- digital images; 1- CD-R in a sealed envelope

Results

The items were processed for latent impressions. Four impressions were developed on the adhesive side of the tape. The impressions were imaged for preservation purposes. The digital images contain three identifiable latent impressions marked A-C.

The impression marked A was searched through the Western Identification Network, King County Sheriff, California Department of Justice, and FBI IAFIS with negative results. No latent impressions of value for identification purposes were developed on the remaining items.

The latent impression searched through AFIS has been entered into the unsolved latent data base for future searches. In the event a possible match is generated, you will be requested to resubmit the digital image for comparison.

The digital images were archived to CD, sealed in an envelope, properly documented in the chain of custody, and provided to the contributor.

No elimination prints of the victim were submitted by the contributor and no date of birth was submitted for search of the WASIS files.

This report may contain the analyst's opinion(s) and interpretation(s).

Supplementary Report

Date: March 18, 1974 Case No. 74-3868-3

March 28, 1974 - At 1610 hrs, R/O was contacted by Mr Manson. He stated they had just received a call from Megan Ellis. The conversation was recorded. Donna Gail Manson
Evergreen student disappeared in 1974

Skeletal remains found 20 years ago near Eatonville might be that of a 19-year-old Evergreen student whom serial killer Ted Bundy admitted killing in 1974, forensic experts say.

But confirming the identity might prove impossible because the Pierce County Sheriff's Department lost the remains a few years after their discovery, along with X-rays and other forensic data.

A key piece of evidence was a multicolored shirt found with the remains in 1978.

Donna Gail Manson, a student at The Evergreen State College, reportedly was wearing a similar shirt when she was last seen in 1974.

McClanahan remembers

Thurston County Undersheriff Neil McClanahan said Sunday night that he remembers the multicolored shirt because it was included in the missing person's report he took more than 20 years ago. McClanahan has followed the Ted Bundy case — or the "Ted homicides" as he calls them — for years.

Bundy was executed in Florida nine years ago Saturday for killing a 12-year-old schoolgirl.

Manson, who lived in Evergreen campus housing, had left her roommate to go to a dance and never returned, McClanahan said. A man with a Volkswagen and a cast on his arm had been seen in the area. The cast and Volkswagen were the killer's trademarks, but at the time, investigators didn't know it.

Investigators weren't even familiar with serial killers in those days, McClanahan said.

"We had no idea during that time frame — 1974 — that these individuals, serial killers, even existed," said McClanahan, who has been with the sheriff's office since 1972. "We took seriously that we had a missing individual, but to think someone would go from campus to campus to prey on college students was just an unknown at the time."

Now more than 20 years later, the case and the multicolored shirt connection still hold much interest.

"It's most intriguing," Sgt. Bob Hoffman of the Pierce County Sheriff's Department said. "We were able to eliminate most of the open cases, but we weren't able to eliminate her."

To try to confirm the identification, Hoffman has contacted Manson's parents, Auburn residents Marie and Lyle Manson, and would like to show them photos of the clothing.

"Some things make me think it's not her," Hoffman said. "Some things make me think it's close."

In a newspaper interview, the Mansons indicated they long ago put their daughter's memory to rest and declined to comment further. But they asked Hoffman to send a copy of the photo so they can look at it.

Before Bundy's execution, the former law-school student confessed to killing Manson, making her one of 28 known Bundy victims from Washington, Utah, Colorado and Florida.

Manson was seen last on the Evergreen campus March 12, 1974. Within 10 days, the Thurston County Sheriff's Office was investigating her as a missing person.

On Aug. 29, 1978, two fishermen came upon a human skull while walking in the foothills of Mount Rainier, southwest of Eatonville, where Washington 7 crosses the Mashel River. Searchers combed the area and found more human bones, hair and clothing.

The remains were treated as those of a possible homicide victim.

"Bundy was very clear what he did with them (the bodies)," McClanahan said, having heard tapes of Bundy's confessions. "He decapitated his victims and would check on the remains later on. He would not put them (the remains) in a place that would be prone to be exposed to discovery."

Although he admitted to killing Manson, he has never said exactly where her body was. McClanahan said Bundy pointed to the Tiger Mountain area of King County as the dumping grounds for many of his victims, including Manson.

"Since that time, there has been a ton of development up there, so a lot of wooded area has been destroyed," McClanahan said.

The missing piece

Pierce County authorities checked with local jurisdictions looking for a missing person who would fit the evidence. Dental X-rays were made and compared to some missing persons reports.

But they never were compared to the dental charts of Manson, even though Robert Keppel, a King County detective investigating the Bundy killings, had called Pierce County to inquire about the remains.

When Pierce County detective Roy Durham described the clothing to Keppel, the King County detective was interested in the multicolored shirt, noting Manson was last seen wearing something similar.

But he "was advised that the skeletal remains did not appear to be as old as 1974," Durham wrote in a report two days after the bones were found.

Nevertheless, Keppel recommended calling a Thurston County detective who was in charge of the Manson case. But a message left with him never was returned, Hoffman said.

On Sept. 12, 1978, Durham wrote "This case closed." It was not to be looked at again for 19 years.

R/O received a message from radio that Unit 51 had located additional bones clothing that are more than likely connected with the skull found in the Eatonvi area. R/O advised Kathy at radio that I would be enroute to the location along an Identification Officer as soon as Unit 3 & 14 had been notified.

R/O departed the PCSO with Unit 522, Ident Officer Shadle following, at 101 hours and arrived at the location by LeGrande on Highway #7 at 1056 hours.

R/O talked with Unit 3 Chief Suprunowski who had been in touch with the Coroner Jack Davelaar. Jack Davelaar had advised Chief Suprunowski that the Doctor Juan Cordova had reported back on the skull. Dr. Cordova had indicated that it was a female, a young person and that the skull had been there one year. This would indicate that the body was in that site sometime prior to January 1978, but at this time the exact period of time could not be pinpointed. Dr. Cordova also indicated that the spherical depression in the skull in the right side above the right ear was not the cause of death. The indentation from the mark on the skull did not penetrate and fracture the inside and was insufficient damage to cause death. At the present time, he indicated that he had been in touch with Dr. Juan Cordova, and Juan Cordova and Dr. Mon had agreed upon the sex of the skeletal remains as that of a female. They both agreed that the age of the victim is between 15 and 20 years, and that the height of the victi is approximately 5'7", and this is placed by the structure of the bone, especially the femur, examined by Dr. Cordova. This was all the information they had at this time. R/O reviewed a missing report that came in from the Mount Rainier National Park Service, indicating a missing person by the name of Julie H. Fillo, W/F, 20 years, ha been missing since June 30, 1977. This information was provided to the Sheriff's Off so she could be compared with the skeletal remains recovered on August 29, 1978, by P R/O reviewed the information on the report from the Mount Rainier National Park Servi along with the report on our skeletal remains, and compared this to the dental report Dr. Monsen. It was the officer's opinion that the party Julie H. Fillo does not comp with the skeletal remains found by our office.

R/O contacted Dr. Monsen with the above information, to attempt to get a determi tion from him as to whether he felt the two were compatible. Dr. Monsen indicated th felt the absence of the molars on Julie Fillo would eliminate her from our missing pe but he would rather have the dental charts, if at all possible. R/O advised him that dental charts were possibly available from dentistWilliam Brown in Webster Groves, Mi and a letter would be sent, requesting them. Dr. Monsen indicated that he would comp the records received with those on hand, and then the records on Fillo would be retur to Dr. Brown.

R/O advised Unit #3 of the above information, and indicated a letter would be se off to Dr. Brown, requesting the dental charts, and explaining to him why they were needed. R/O also attempted to contact Dr. Brown by calling Missouri Information, an found there was no listing for a William G. Brown in Webster Grove, or anywhere in t Saint Louis area.

Dear Sir:

The Pierce County Sheriff's Office is investigating the skeletal remains of an unknown party found August 29, 1978, in the area of Eatonville in Pierce County, a part of Washington State. The remains have been identified as that of a female, believed to be between the ages of 12 to 17 with a height of 5'7". We found that the hair was long, brown in color, with strands 13 to 17 inches in length. The skeletal remains were insufficient for complete anatomy details, but the skull contained the teeth for a dental comparison. In checking over the missings that have been reported, Mt. Rainier National Park has indicated a Julie H. Fillo who could fit within the category of the remains found. In order for us to eliminate this party from the skeletal remains, we are requesting either a copy or the original of her dental records. These dental records will be compared by Dr. Monsen and returned to you undamaged.

If you have any further questions in regards to what is needed, please feel free to make contact with the Pierce County Sheriff's Office and direct your calls to myself, Detective Roy Durham at 593-4727. NARRATIVE

9/28/78, 1504 hours.

R/O made contact with Dr. Robert M. Monsen at 9101 Bridgeport Way, Tacoma 98498, where his clinic is located. At this time, R/O talked with Dr. Monsen about a denta chart that R/O had received from Orting Police Department in regards to Sandra A. Za who was reported as a runaway, Orting Case #77408. Dr. Monsen compared the dental c and X-rays of Zamarripa with those that he had from the human skull, and it is his b at this time that they do not match. He stated that he wished to study the charts f before making any positive statement, and asked that R/O should make contact with hi Tuesday, 10/3, for a final analysis.

R/O also provided Dr. Monsen with the dental charts that were available on Juli Fillo, who is a missing person from the Mount Rainier National Park, and was reporte the Mount Rainier Rangers. Dr. Monsen was not able to formulate an opinion as to wh the information he had on Fillo and the dental records that he had from the human sk were one and the same. At the present time, he felt that they were negative, but wi wait until Tuesday, 10/3, before making his final decision.

9/29/78, 1400 hours.

R/O received a copy of a report done by Dr. Juan Cordova. This report indicate action he's taken in regards to the human skull, the bones found, and the clothing, quite concise. It concurs with the other findings, that the articles of clothing an bones belong to a female somewhere below the age of 20. R/O then talked with Unit # Chief Suprunowski, who requested that the Ranger Service be recontacted to see if th person missing from Mount Rainier National Park, Julie Fillo, might not be that of t found remains. R/O will make this contact as soon as possible, and this information be submitted on a supplementary report to the case.

(REPORTEE: STEPHEN K. MASON)

9/12/78.

R/O went through the runaway/missing reports for Pierce County again, to det any of these subjects might be similar to the remains that was found near Eatonvi Case #8241100. This particular case indicated that the missing party was a white 15, 5'5", 105 pounds, with long brown hair, wearing blue jeans and a knit top of colors. This would match the physical description on the skeletal remains, plus clothing that was found. With this information, R/O attempted to contact Stephen at 967-2020, but found that he was on duty assignment in Yakima, and would not be before Wednesday of next week. With this information, word was left for the duty mander to contact R/O by phone. R/O received a call back from a Lt. of the 2nd/6 Mechanized Infantry, but did not obtain his name. He was advised of the informat regarding the missing person, and through him R/O learned that Stephanie Lynn Mas divorced her husband and remarried, and is now living in Centralia, that she no a missing person, nor is she connected with our skeletal remains.

TO: Mr. Jack Davelaar, Pierce County Coroner

SUBJECT: Three additional teeth said to be associated with the human skull File number 1009 - M

Three human teeth were delivered to my office, 9101 Bridgeport Way, Tacoma, WA for examination. They were said by the Pierce County Coroner's office to belong to the human skull file #

A right maxillary first bicuspid.

TOOTH NUMBER	LOCATION
5.	Only minute cusp wear
9.	Decalcified areas on the mesial and distal contact poin
10.	Decalcified areas on the mesial and distal contact poin Hypoplastic enamel on the facial at the gingival which follows the outline of the lost gingival tissue

When placed in the skull the three teeth fit into the appropriate sockets. They are of the same mold, shape, size and color as the other teeth present in the skull. Therefo they seem to be from the same person.
Upon placing the central incisor into the skull the two cen appear to have drifted together. This may have been due to decay or a lost filling on the mesial of the right maxillar central incisor.

TO: Mr. Jack Davelaar, Pierce County Coroner

SUBJECT: Human skull identification - File number 1009-

A human skull of unknown identity was submitted to me fo examination on 30 August by the Pierce County Coroner's office. The skull with ten erupted teeth and two unerupted teeth was examined by me and x-rays were taken to aid in future identification. Because of the dark brown stains found on the skull and the loss of all soft tissues it is evident that the skull has been outside for a long period of time.

The supraorbital ridges are very flat with sharp borders. The foramen magnum is relatively small and round. The orbits have rounded outlines. The glabella is not prominent in a profile view. The mastoid process is small, smoother and more pointed than that found on the skull of a male. These numerous anatomical features seem to indicate the skull is that of a woman.

From the standpoint of tooth development it appears the individual was not younger than twelve nor older then seventeen.

Specific dental findings are as follows:
A human skull with ten teeth initially present for examination. No mandible present. Upon examination with panorex x-ray and periapical x-rays two unerupted teeth third molars are found. Four teeth are lost and this appears to have been postmortem. Teeth present: 3-3 12-14. Missing 1,16,17-32.

TOOTH NUMBER CONDITION

1. Impacted in jaw on x-ray. Root formation just starting.
2.
3. Deep occlusal decay
Deep lingual decay
Large pulp stones seen on x-ray.
4. Slight lingual erosion.
5. Lost postmortem.
6. Very slight incisal wear
7. Large MO decay
8. Decalcified result
Tooth broken postmortem on MB aspect.
Protective base still present indicating a recent filling had been placed but was lost postmortem the angle was broken off.
9. Lost postmortem

10. Lost postmortem
11. Lost postmortem
12. No wear evident
13. No wear evident
14. Occlusal amalgam restoration
    Lingual amalgam restoration
    Supererupted which could indicate that the lower first molar which opposes this was also missing.
    Facial has a decalcified area.
16. Present in jaw on x-ray. Root formation just beginning.

No soft tissue remains on the bones so it is difficult to determine how far the teeth had erupted into the mouth, however all teeth could probably have been seen except the third molars.

No calculus or tartar is present. The teeth in general show very little incisalor occlusal wear. The restorations show that the person did have dental treatment at one time but this could have been when the person was from age six upward. The matching toothon the opposite from the one with restorations in it, has deep decay. This seems to indicate dental treatment at an early age because if the decay would have been noticed it most likely would have been done at the same time. A prominent tooth in the front also has deep noticable decay. This could have been noticed when the person smiled or if the person were more self-conscious, then she could not have shown this area and consciously kept her lip covering this area when meeting people.

It appears therefore that no dental treatment had been sought for a considerable period of time.

Bundy's final motive still not understood

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The motive behind a series of final-hour confessions by serial killer Ted Bundy remains a mystery today, the first anniversary of his death in Florida's electric chair.

Homicide investigators still question whether Bundy's confessions in 23 killings in Washington state, Idaho, Utah and Colorado shortly before his execution were merely a desperate gamble to prolong his life.

An investigator with the attorney general's office in Washington said Bundy was trying to "save his neck" by exchanging information for time.

"He had two things in mind. One was to get law enforcement to intervene with the governor by saying he'd been cooperative and we need more time and the other was to play on the sympathies of the victims' relatives to have them contact the governor and speak on his behalf," said Bob Keppel, who interviewed Bundy in the days before the execution.

But Dennis Couch, a Utah investigator, said by the time he talked with Bundy 36 hours before the execution, the serial killer "looked like a whipped puppy.

"I had the feeling that he knew he was defeated and it was the end of the line," said Couch, of Salt Lake County. "I felt at the time that he was sincere in trying to find the bodies for the families."

In the end, the confessions won the former law-school student no extra time.

He was strapped into electric chair on Jan. 24, 1989, for the 1978 kidnaping, rape and murder of a 12-year-old Lake County girl.

Diana Weiner, an attorney who arranged the final interviews with investigators, said the day before his death Bundy filed a written request for a 30- to 60-day extension with the governor's office. He had offered to fully answer questions of investigators and be examined by doctors and psychiatrists in hopes they could better understand his behavior, Weiner said.

"He wanted to die having left a more full understanding with the public of what the underlying factors were in his behavior so that we as a society ... would be able to take steps to prevent the kind of behavior he committed," she said.

comfort for the victims' families, to make amends with God, to help society understand cold-blooded killers.

"If we continue to believe serial killers are some type of sinister, scarred, twisted-looking monster out there that just isn't human, we will fail to see them among us," said John Tanner, a state's attorney in Daytona Beach, Fla., who met Bundy through a Christian prison ministry, prayed regularly with him and believed he repented.

"And they are among us."

Wants to protect daughter

Bundy had a 6-year-old daughter, reportedly conceived in prison, and he did not want her to be fooled by someone like him, he told FBI agent William Hagmaier, who [illegible] didn't have to do it."

Although Bundy told Hagmaier he killed eight times in Utah, without naming all the victims, Couch said authorities there believe there were seven.

Couch tells of extraordinary machinations that almost kept him from questioning Bundy before his death, and says when he did interrogate him, Bundy kept ducking questions about some of the murders — "playing possum."

Like most of the investigators, Couch says Bundy wanted to concentrate on locating bodies, believing the searches might allow him to stay alive.

"I wanted to reach across the table and slap him upside th head," says Couch.

He said Bundy's lawyers did no want to let him in at all because " didn't pull any weight" with Utah' governor, Couch says. Then, the offered him only 30 minutes witl the condemned man.

The lack of time for thoroug interviews frustrated authorities but none requested a delay in th execution. Many said Bundy per sonally asked them to contac Martinez on his behalf; Bundy' lawyers tried to arrange for fami lies of the victims to send Martine messages by fax machine request ing a stay so Bundy could tell wha he knew.

INFORMATION BULLETIN

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE DEPARTMENT

NO. 98-76 INFORMATION PERTAINING TO HOMICIDE VICTIM-JANE DOE #40 21 October 1976

On Friday, October 1, 1976 the partially decomposed body of a young female was found 20 feet from Lake Merced, between the Lake and Lake Merced Drive (Rear of Lowell High School). The body was buried in a shallow grave under a pathway, and indications are that death was caused by strangulation.

The body was fully clothed, except for shoes which were not recovered. The victim's chest was crushed; however, this could have been caused after death by someone walking over the earth covering the body.

The time of death is estimated to be two to four weeks prior to discovery.

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION:

WEARING:

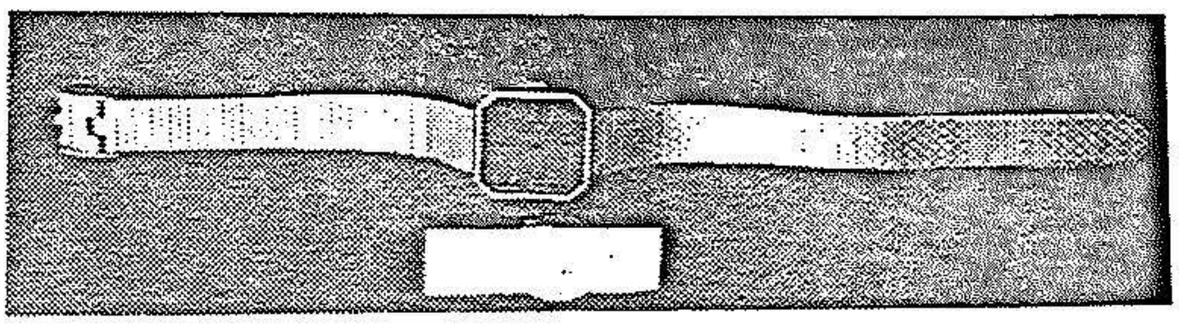

Blue "Wrangler" jeans (child size 12), blue checked blouse, hooded grey "sweater shirt", zippered jacket (front pockets), knee length stockings with faces painted on front.

Dear Sir,

The 10 page summary included with this letter is an attempt to accurately tell what I have found in Oregon which may concern the Cathy Parks disappearance and how it might relate to the Washington disappearances. There is undoubtedly many errors in the report and a great many unsubstantiated conclusions. I began thinking about the problem last May when Cathy Parks disappeared from our campus. (I am a third year graduate student in chemistry at O.S.U.) I never met her or any of the others who have disappeared but feel obligated to help however I can.

The man I offer as a suspect and whos name appears on the registration mentioned in the report is _____. His family lives in Corvallis. I have withheld his name from everyone but you the reader even though I have discussed various aspects of the case with several friends and relatives.

I have found nothing positive to imply that _____ is guilty of a crime but enough general things to, I think, warrant an investigation of perhaps 1.) His high school record, 2.) A possible military record, 3.) His car ownership past and present, 4.) Obtain a recent photograph.

The data which would have allowed me to write detailed maps including accurate street names is locked in my dorm room at O.S.U.

I would not recommend that the family of _____ be contacted in the initial stages of the investigation. If nothing comes of it, embarrassment might be better avoided.

An attempt to reconstruct the Cathy Parks' disappearance as it may have involved "Ted".

Late in the evening (9:00 - 11:00 pm) of May 8, Cathy Parks left her dorm room alone to buy a fudge sundae at the M.U. building a couple of blocks away. Finding the M.U. closed, she turned onto A Street* and walked toward Monroe St two blocks from the M.U. building. As she advanced slowly along A Street, a dimly lighted street with cars parked at an angle facing the sidewalk, she thought about the letter she had written and tossed away, a letter asking her fiance to understand that she needed more time to get her life together, asking that their relationship be made less binding for at least awhile.

Earlier this same evening on a secluded road in the woods near McDonald State Forest, which lies about 3 miles from the O.S.U. Campus, a young man named "Ted" sat in his station wagon carefully planning a gruesome evening, wrapping his unhurt hand in a bandage and waiting for darkness to make recognition of himself or his station wagon less likely, a real danger since this was his hometown. He originally intended to visit his parents but changed his mind. When darkness finally came, Ted put out his cigarette in the overfilled ashtray. One last thought occured to him. Before starting he reached into the glove box and tossed out his window the remains of a military survival kit, an almost spent role of beige medical tape and by accident or on purpose the car registration which carried his name and address thinking that on this muddy backroad none of these articles would be found or at least associated with a crime.

He drove in the darkness out of the wooded area transversing a mile or so of somewhat muddy road, turned onto the hardtop and headed for the O.S.U. Campus.

*Actual name not readily available.

When on the campus, he drove carefully to avoid contact with the Campus Security. Ted eventually parked on A Street facing the sidewalk, a parking place he had decided upon after the last few evenings of surveying the campus, a good place to observe the moderate number of pedestrians yet not be obvious.

Ted saw Cathy walking along looking as if she didn't have any specific destination and might therefore be persuaded to stop and talk, for although he was a stranger to her, he was moderately handsome, possessed a manner which instilled confidence, and had a painful bandaged hand. Cathy would well understand the pain since she was also suffering though in a different way.

They talked for awhile about school and finally about horses. Ted told her about his horse which he kept at the O.S.U. horse barn. Cathy was happy for the diversion and finally agreed to ride out to the horse barn to see the horse of which he was so proud.

Ted backed out of the parking spot smiling to Cathy, reassuring her that she would be pleased with his horse. Following the traffic pattern he headed toward Monroe St., Stopped and turned left onto Monroe. In a few blocks, they stopped at a stop light and turned left onto B Street* . They followed B Street for about 1 mile at which time the horse barn was in sight off the road to the right. However Ted did not turn toward the horse barn. He instead mumbled something about it being a little further up the road and drove straight ahead.

By this time Cathy was beginning to worry but what could she do? The car was moving rapidly. There were very few houses close to the and no traffic for her to signal her growing distress. To show fear might only agravate her situation. They turned left onto an uphill gravel road about 1 mile past the horse barn. People do keep horses all over this area thought Cathy. She had often been out here walking. However when Ted turned the station wagon down a muddy secluded road, she knew she was in serious trouble.

Driving recklessly along the road, Ted realized by Cathy's appearance that deceit was no longer possible or necessary. A call for help would not be heard since the nearest house was about 1/3 mile away through the trees. He drew a knife threatening Cathy not to do anything foolish as he turned the car into a muddy turnaround just 100 yds from where he sat waiting earlier in the evening. The tires sank deeply into the mud stopping the car. Ted tried repeatedly to rock the car out but failed. He didn't have a shovel nor anyone he could trust to help.

Cathy had become a liability. There wasn't any choice. He attacked her and killed her efficiently with his knife as he had been taught to do in the service. Ted then drug the body off some distance into the woods and walked back into Corvallis. There he borrowed a car from a friend. That same night and morning Ted retrieved the body and the valnables from his car (he could say his car had been stolen) and dumped the body at an undetermined secluded place far removed from his "stolen" station wagon.

How the abandoned automobile and other articles were found.

I took a week long vacation during the last part of September from my research and studies in chemistry at O.S.U. (I am a third year graduate student at O.S.U.). During my vacation which was spent in Black Diamond, the Seattle Times presentation of the bones discovery near Issaquah with a review of all the Washington disappearances came to my attention. Since I was at O.S.U. during the Cathy Parks' disappearance, I was interested in finding a link between the Washington crimes and the Oregon disappearance of Cathy Parks.

My cousin Greg Emppert drove me back to my dorm room at O.S.U. and stayed the night. In the evening we talked about the Issaquah bones and their location in relation to the scene of the abductions. I reasoned that there was only one place near the O.S.U. Campus that would duplicate the situation at Issaquah and that was out near the McDonald State Forest. There are several reasons why this area should be favorable for such a crime. (1.) It is the most secluded area within 5 miles of the campus. (2.) To leave the O.S.U. central campus by the route which has the least number of stop signs and stop lights and the most open road would require that one drive out in this direction. (3.) The horse barn located near the State Forest provides a very reasonable element of enticement to the story.

Greg agreed to drive out to this area the next morning to help me look for bones. We did look for 4 or 5 hrs but found only animal bones (some we turned into the Police for inspection). When we had worked our way along the back roads to the most secluded part of the area, we found (1.) The partial remains of a military survival kit which contained drugs, medicine, a clean 36" X 2" (approx.) bandage spread in the grass, several nutritional items or wrappings and a card listing the original contents. We thought that it was probably the kind used in Vietnam. (2.) A mostly used role of wide beige plastic medical tape. (3) An automobile registration which was somewhat soiled and had cobwebs attached.

100 yds further down the deeply rutted road we found a 15 yr old yellow and white Rambler station wagon high centered in the dried mud. At that time it had several windows smashed, 3 wheels missing, the top of the carburetor missing, the battery missing and the seat cushion on the passenger side missing. The liscence plates were still on the car and there was no evidence to show that anyone had tried to remove them. The paint, chrome, and body of this car were in good condition. Greg returned to his home in Tacoma that same evening.

In the next few days and weeks, I returned to the area perhaps 3 times and made more thorough searches of the car and the area. I noticed more vandalism and missing engine parts but found no bones of interest in the surrounding area.

When the story broke about the stabbing/falling death of Vicki Schneider at Evergreen College wherin was described the knife as a small butcher knife, I recalled that an empty knife box was on the front floor of the abandoned car. I compared the empty box with those at a local Payless drug store sportsmans counter and determined that it contained a "Pixie" model $10.00 paring/general purpose knife with fixed 3" blade and black handle made by Gerber Legendary Blades in Portland. I wrote to the Campus Security at Evergreen but they said that their knife was of a much cheaper kind and thanked me for the letter.

During one of my visits to the abandoned car I noticed that the ceiling cloth above the front passenger side was criss-crossed with knife cuts although the clothwas not hanging down or the damage visible from outside the car. At that time I attributed it to vandalism but now after some thought I have decided that the cuts were the results of testing the sharpness of the new knife while sitting in the driver's seat. None of the seats or other more visible upholstery was cut, a fact which supports this conclusion.

About a day after finding the registration, I called the home of the owner in Corvallis. A younger child answered the phone and then gave it to his mother (?) who said that the owner (possible her stepson, judgingby her age 30-40 yrs and the manner in which she referred to him) had been in California since the first part of the year. She had no idea that the car was in the woods only about 3 miles from their home nor did she know where it had been recently or how it became stuck in the forest. She said she would ask her husband about it. I gave my name and phone number (754-1026) and told her to call or stop by if she wanted the registration and a detailed location of the car. I was never contacted. I made a photocopy of the registration and a few days later turned it over to the Corvallis Police along with some bones which proved to be animal . One of the policemen passing through the room when we were trying to fix the location of the abandoned car said he knew where it was and referred to the father of the family as a "no-good-nick".

I told the police that a link between the Cathy Parks' disappearance and the abandoned car should be investigated but I don't think anything was done.

In an effort to find out something about the owner of the car, I visited the Corvallis High School library and looked through the "Annuals" from about 1968-1973. I found the owner who in 1970 was a sophmore. After 1970 I found nothing of him. I guessed that he had dropped out. There is a possibility that he may have gone to the other high school in the Corvallis area for the two remaining years but I believe this serves a different part of the Corvallis area and was not checked.

A possible profile of Ted.

(The following attempted profile is nothing more than a hazey sketch drawn from uncertain bits of information collected from diverse sources.)

"Ted's" mother left him when he was young and needed her. The seed of hatred of woman was at that time planted and continued to grow more ominous as Ted grew older. His father did not give him the extra guidance he needed.

Ted was often in trouble in his teens. He quit school after his sophomore year. A short time later he joined the Army and was sent to Vietnam where he was trained to kill effectively.

Near the end of his military career, 1973, he was wounded and wore his arm in a sling for a few months as a civilian. He learned to win sympathy and trust with his affliction. It soon healed. Even though all obvious signs of his injury had disappeared, he remembered how to fix a wounded arm or hand, how to act the part of an injured man.

Ted grew up in a college town. He was very much attracted by the mystique of the college coed but could do nothing because of a barrier. His limited education was his barrier which prevented him from competing for the special kind of friendship which he desired most.

In the early Spring of 1974 he learned for the first time how to effectively use his skills to obtain his goal in an imperfect way. He used his make-believe wound to help trap the victim and his practiced knife to do revenge on the mother who left him.

Considerations and findings which tend to link the disappearances in Washington with that of Cathy Parks in Oregon.

1.) College Coeds. In a very general way, the fact that 4 of the women who disappeared in Washington were college coeds as was the one who disappeared in Oregon would tend to relate the incidents.

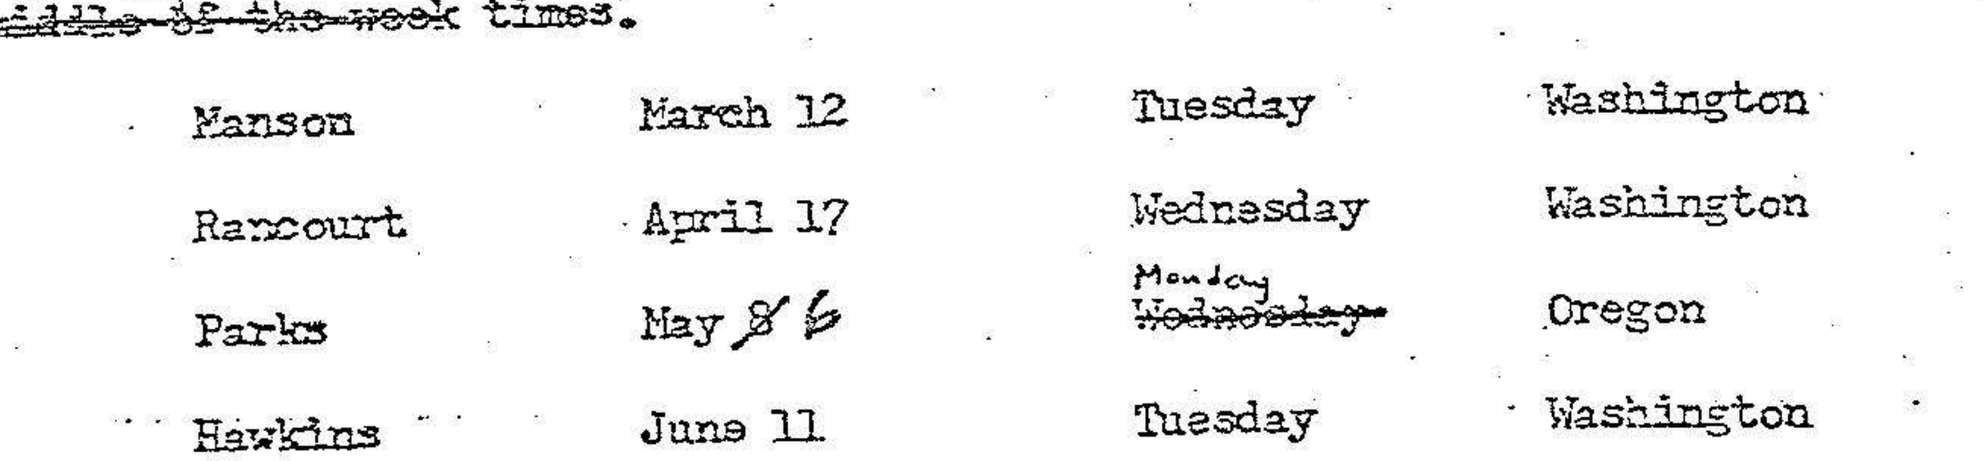

2.) Abrupt disappearance, no body. The disappearances in both Washington and Oregon were all abrupt from the campuses. No bodies were found.

3.) Washington Ted-from out of state. At none of the Ted appearances did it seem as if he wore a disguise. One could conclude that Washington is therefore not his home state especially after his flagrant exposure at Lake Sammamish. He was not noticed at C.S.U. in Oregon possibly because he was not involved there or possibly because he had to operate in a less visible manner since he was more likely to be recognized.

4.) Day of the week. The following is a listing of the campus disappearances including the day of the week. All of these are related by their common ~~middle of the week~~ weekday times.

Manson	March 12	Tuesday	Washington
Rancourt	April 17	Wednesday	Washington
Parks	May ~~8~~ 6	~~Wednesday~~ Monday	Oregon
Hawkins	June 11	Tuesday	Washington

5.) Monthly frequency. Below is shown a line graph with X's marking the dates of the disappearances. Note that without the Oregon disappearance, a distinctly empty space exists for May.

This suggests that the Oregon disappearance is part of the same pattern.

6.) Tape and bandage. Beige colored tape and a large size bandage were found on the secluded road in Oregon. It is safe to state that thses articles did come from the abandoned station wagon since they were found very close to the registration. The road was otherwise relatively free of miscellaneous litter. Bandages or related fittings were confirmed to be an essential part of the disguise used in most of the Washington crimes.

Dear Sir,

I would like to know if the knife involved in the death of Vicky Schneider is a GERBER paring knife as drawn and described below ?

An empty green box (6.5 in X 2 in. X 1 in) along with a sheet describing all the GERBER cutlery was found on the front floor of a deserted automobile. The automobile was apparently high-centered and abandoned in a somewhat secluded wooded area near here sometime last winter, possibly at about the time of the Cathy Parks disappearance from this university.

The model of knife the empty box contained is not printed thereon. I visited a large PAYLESS drug store, sportsman counter, and located an identical box which was found to contain the "Pixie" model sold for $9.50 and made by GERBER Legendary Blades, Portland, Oregon 97223.

I realize that there is only a very slim chance that the above description fits that of the death knife but I thought it should be checked. If it does fit, I can supply possibly the owner's name and other pertinent details.

I am a third year Graduate Student of Chemistry here at O.S.U. and have been conducting my own low-key investigation into the Kathy Parks disappearance.

During the day I am usually in my Lab. in Gilbert Hall Rm.326 and can be reached by calling the Chemistry Office and having them leave a note in my mailbox or in my Lab. if I am not there at the time. At night I am in Snell Hall Rm.110, Hall phone 754-1026.

If the knife correlation is negative, a return note would be appreciated.

Thank You.

Sincerely

What happened late Sunday afternoon of March 9, 1975 and how it could relate to the disappearances of Janice Ott and Denise Naslund at Lake Sammamish on July 14, 1975.

At about 4:00 pm Sunday, March 9, I was returning from a bicycle ride on the Philomath road and purposely detoured by the residence at _____. As I turned the corner to pass by the ___ home, I was surprised to find a yellow VW (Lisence _____) parked at the curb with a young man 15-18 yrs old with longish sandy blond hair sitting quietly in the passenger seat evidently waiting. Our eyes met as I passed. He seemed mildly startled at my scrutiny. After going two blocks I turned around at an intersection to repass the VW from the rear to get another look at the lisence number and what appeared to be camping gear in the back seat. I then rode quickly to Gilbert Hall to phone Mr. Bill Harris.

I then immediately headed back to the _____ home but found that the VW was gone. I thought that if I had previously aroused suspicion, ___ might drive out to the McDonald forrest area to hide for awhile. I therefore rode my bike out there.

I went only about halfway up the gravel road to the abandoned car location, and hid my bike and myself on the upper side of the road where I could watch.

After about 20 minutes (5:30) I noticed a young man with sandy blond hair age 20-25 yrs walking up the road looking from side to side as if he was looking for me. He eventually turned left at the top of the hill.

In another 20 minutes (5:50) I heard what could have been a VW working its way along a muddy backroad some 200 yds down the hill from me. In about 5 minutes I headed back to Corvallis and noticed that the yellow VW was once again parked at the home.

Today, Monday, I noticed by accident that the yellow VW was parked on campus and had the sidewalls muddied with fresh brown-red mud similar to that which I carried home on my shoes yesterday.

My conclusions from this excursion are the following.

Sunday I saw __'s younger brother (Does he have one?) in the VW and __ himself later walking up the road looking for me. I think that his younger brother allerted him to my spying efforts when he came out of the house and they both went up into the woods. They drove up to a rocky butte where they could watch the traffic on the Oak Creek Road in the valley below. It is from there that they saw me. They lost sight of me in the trees as I approached. expected me to hunt for them all the way but when I did not appear at the hill top, he came looking for me. To avoid me, they drove out by a lower road out of my range of vision.

Now how might this fit into the Lake Sammamish crime?

I now think that both and his brother (?) were involved at Lake Sammamish. His younger brother was likely on vacation in July and out camping and fishing with .

The main thing that makes me think that they were both involved is that two girls were taken instead of the usual one. Also the first set of girls asked by Ted (___) to load his boat were older than the second set asked later in the day.

Gloria Wilson	22	Ave. 22.5 yrs - For .
Janice Ott	23

Joan Clay	16	Ave. 18 yrs - For 's younger brother.
Betty Cain	18
Bonnie Biddle	20
Denise Naslund	18

___'s brother stayed in the woods outside of Issaquah while ___ was at the Lake.

One other thing is that ___'s brother could have helped with the removal of the body of Kathy Parks by getting the family car without the parents knowing that ___ was in town. This could have been his younger brothers first exposure to the crimes that was committing if in fact he did commit them.

The most important question is "Does have a younger brother of perhaps 15-18 yrs old ?"

A Possible Sighting of "Ted" on the OSU Campus at the Corner of 14 th Street and Jefferson Avenue at about 1:00 am, March 19, 1975.

At about 1:00 am this morning I received a telephone call from Cynthia Edwards. She was returning from a friend's house near Avery Park at about 12:55 late at night. As she approached the stop light by the Administration building, she noticed a yellow VW beetle apparently stalled in the right-hand lane facing north on 14 th street. The occupant(s) tried once to get the car started by turning the motor over about 4 revolutions. When she came within about 200 ft of the car walking on the right-hand side, she crossed over to cut through the Administration building over-hang where bicycles are parked during the day. As she crossed the street she noticed that the driver was rolling down the window as if to ask for assistance and was watching her. At this time she thought that there were two people in the car and that the motor was not flooded by its sound (Her family used to own a VW). She hurried to Snell Hall and waited for possible 1 or 2 minutes by the front door concealed but listening to hear if the VW motor would start and if it would to watch the car drive past Snell. The Snell Hall doors were locked at this time. She did not hear the car start during this time and hurried to her Sackett Hall room. There she called the Corvallis Police but had some difficulty in explaining to the woman on duty that they should dispatch a car immediately to the scene to stop any possible foul play.

I don't think they sent a car to the scene. When I received her call.and she had explained the situation to me, I called Campus Security and then walked to the stop light to see if the car was still there. It was gone by that time. Campus Security sent a car but likewise found nothing.

This event occured at a time when the Reserve book room at the Library was closing and a dozen or so people were going home. There was no one else on the road except the car's occupant(s) and Cynthia.

We took Cynthia's car out past the ___ home about an hour after this happened in order to determine if that could have been the same VW as the one they owned and also to see if it was parked at the home. It was there. Cynthia said that the slightly off-shade of yellow and the tail lights closely matched the VW seen at the stop light. She got the impression that two people were in the VW but this was not confirmed. She tried to see the lisence number but could not. She did notice that it had blue plates as does the ___ VW and that the number is in two sets of three digits as is the ___ lisence number.

Cynthia is a trained observer, a person who gets "A's" in her science courses. She is reliable, sober, accurate, and attractive. She was a student of mine in Organic Chemistry 226 and 227.

Dear Sir;

You will find enclosed first a 3 page summary listing 14 reasons why I think the suspect should be immediately questioned and/or placed under surveilance. The various letters which follow is a cellection of communications which I have written over the past few months. These leters further explain most of the 14 reasons given. Also stated is my involvment in the case and my addresses.

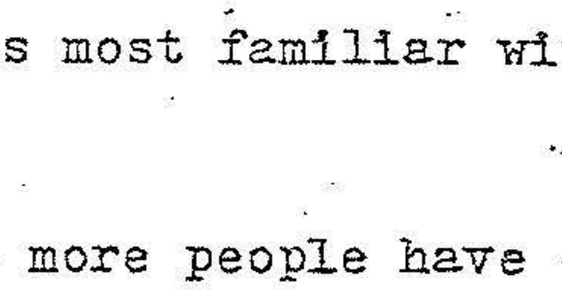

To the best of my knowledge the suspect has not yet been questioned. He is not noticeably aware that he is suspect but he should most certainly be approached with extreme caution and without forwarning.

I have deleted all names of suspects and specific locations from this report. Any initial inquires should be directed to Mr. Bill Harris of Campus Security since he is most familiar with the details and the names omitted.

It is unlikely yet possible that 3 more people have died at the hands of my suspect since his name was offered no January 2, 1975. I plead that swift positive action be taken to condemn or absolve this man.

Sincerely

John Ruppert

Key Findings Which Tend to Implicate a Suspect, and His Brother, Living in Corvallis With the Coed Murders in Oregon and Washington

1.) The suspect's car was found stuck and abandoned on a backroad near the O.S.U. Campus. It had to be driven there when the road was quite muddy such as during Spring when Kathy Parks disappeared

2.) The car was not recovered even though it was in good condition and worth 5 or 10 times a towing fee.

3.) A knife box which previously contained a $9.50 fixed blade knife was found on the front floor.

4.) The headliner above the passenger side was crisscrossed by slashes. The damage was not visible from outside the car.

5.) With the registration on the road was found bandage material which included a nearly spent role of beige medical tape.

6.) The suspect fits the general description of "Ted" as to height approx. 5ft 10in, weight 150-160 lbs., age 20-22 yrs., and hair sandy blond color.

7.) The male suspect apparently dropped out of high school during his sophmore year in 1970. He would then be 20-22 yrs old now.

8.) The suspect was thought by his parents to be in California from the beginning of 1974 until at least the end of Summer 1974, a period which covers all the Coed and related murders.

9.) His mother did not know that the car owned by her son was abandoned about 3 miles from their home and did not know where the car had been for some time. The family never called back to obtain the registration which I said I had found.

10.) The suspect has access to a yellow VW (His father's) and often drives it.

11.) The suspect perhaps attended Clark College in Washington possible during 1973 since the yellow VW has the school name on the lower edge of the rear window.

12.) The suspect and his brother (?) acted in suspicious manner late Sunday afternoon of March 9, 1975 after I passed the yellow VW, parked at the suspects residence, twice on my bicycle to obtain the license number. They apparently drove up into the woods. I went up after them to a secluded area hoping to see the VW but instead saw the suspect slowly walking up the road looking from side to side as I watched from my hiding place. This was the suspect since on the evening of March 19, 1975, I followed the suspect as he drove the yellow VW to Fred Meyer's store where I recognized the same distinct hair that I saw at the previous woods encounter.

13.) The brother (?) of the suspect was seen sitting on the passenger side of the yellow VW with bed roles and possibly other camping gear in the back at about 4:00 pm, March 9, 1975 as if having just returned from a camping trip. Mrs. Brown, a 26 yr. old mother of two slain children , had disappeared from McIver State Park (about 2 hrs drive from Corvallis) very possible on Saturday March 8, 1975. She left behind her purse.

14.) Cynthia Edwards had a suspicious contact with a yellow VW on this campus at 1:00 am on March 19, 1975.

Link to Ted murders disclaimed

The only similarity between the death of a woman whose skeleton was found in a shallow grave near Battle Ground, Clark County, and the Seattle-area "Ted" slayings is the time when they occurred, the Associated Press quoted Clark County Sheriff Eugene Cotton as saying.

In earlier reports Cotton had been quoted as linking the Blake death with several women's deaths in 1974 in the Seattle area. Authorities have been seeking a man named "Ted" in connection with those deaths.

"We have nothing at this point to indicate a connection between this slaying and the 'Ted' slayings," Cotton said Saturday.

Two men found the body of Krista Kaye Blake, 20, last weekend while walking in a field. She had been missing from Vancouver since July of 1974.

Cotton noted Ms. Blake's hands had been tied behind her back, while the Ted victims' hands were not.

Cotton said officials have focused attention on a man in connection with the Blake slaying. But they won't take any action for several days, he said.

Cotton said officials are still trying to determine the cause of death. He did not rule out a link with the 1974 slaying of two women whose remains were found in the Dole Valley several months later. One of the women was never identified and Cotton says the case is still open.

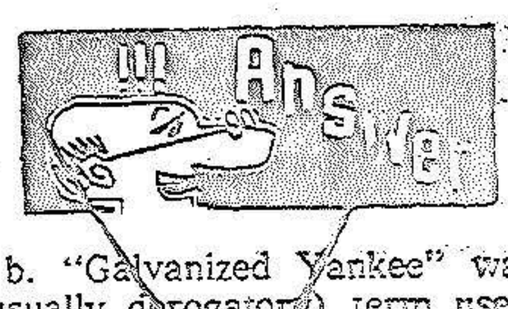

If you were a "galvanized Yankee," would you be a:

a. Pro-South Northerner?

b. Pro-North Southerner?

c. Maine fisherman?

b. "Galvanized Yankee" was a (usually derogatory) term used in the South during the Civil War to describe a Southerner who was sympathetic toward the Union, or switched allegiance after being captured. Alabamans were wont to "manifest the most perfect contempt for a man . . . known to be an unequivocal Union man, call him a 'galvanized Yankee' and apply other terms and ephithets to him."

TO: Rod Marron
FROM: Richard Jones

Dear Rod:

These are my impressions of the Donna Manson notebooks left by Detective Barcliff: It's the kind of half personal, half academic journal kept by many Evergreen students. Nothing psychologically unusual that I could determine. On the other hand, had anything unusual happened in her life during these months, or had she been anticipating anything unusual, she would probably have referred to it in this kind of a journal.

The more cryptic portions are I Ching throwings and casual attempts at writing poetry. Nothing significant.

Three questions emerge that have probably already been checked out by the authorities:

1. Who is "Gimli"? (Only because of the reference to his "broken hand cast.")

2. Who was the "paranoid speed freak" that was hanging around and who thought Security was after him? The reference to him was presumably made shortly before her disappearance. Her friend Megan is mentioned in connection with him and may remember him.

3. Who is Claude, the author of the February 10 verse to Donna? Probably not significant, but it sounds like he either knows her well or wants to, and there is no other referance to him anywhere in the journal. Again, her friend Megan would presumably know.

Police will get psychopath data in missing-women case

By ROSS ANDERSON

Police have reached an agreement with Western State Hospital over the release of sexual-psychopath information needed by police as they investigate the disappearances of seven women in the state.

The information will be available "within a week," said Capt. Herb Swindler, head of the Seattle homicide and robbery unit.

The Times disclosed last week that police had been barred by law from obtaining data on former sex-offenders who have been committed to the sexual-psychopath ward at the state institution at Steilacoom, Pierce County.

Following publication of the Times article, a meeting was held at Western State Hospital this week, and city and county police reached a compromise with officials of the State Department of Social and Health Services.

Police will be provided with "information on all sexual psychopaths who were released, furloughed or escaped within the past year," Swindler said.

Faced with a minimum of leads in the disappearances of at least seven women, police have felt that talking to former sex-offenders could provide clues or suspects.

However, Western State officials had refused to release even the names of sexual psychopaths because they felt two recently enacted laws — the 1973 Civil Commitment Act and Initiative 276 — protected the patients' confidentiality.

Since then, attorneys from social and health services and the King County prosecutor's office have agreed that the confidentiality provisions apply only to voluntary civil commitments — an insignificant number of sexual commitments.

"We took a long, hard look at the law and determined that there was some latitude to meet law-enforcement requests," said Douglas Jewett, a deputy prosecutor in the civil division. "The state simply wanted some time to look at the new laws before releasing the information."

Although the police will still be more restrained in seeking out and questioning former sex-offenders than Canadian police have been in a similar investigation, Captain Swindler said he was satisfied with the compromise.

Meanwhile, the question of law-enforcement access to sex-offender data is likely to come up at a legislative hearing at Western State Hospital next Friday.

Three subcommittees of the House of Representatives had scheduled the hearing some time ago to discuss other problems and "loopholes" in the 1973 Commitment Act.

"We've already had some drafting sessions with the attorney general's office and the Legislature," Jewett said. "And one of our priorities is to remove any unnecessary barrier to a legitimate law-enforcement agency."

(1) Has a search ever been made of the wooded area where the Seattle girl was found? As I recall this was a park in the Olympia vicinity.

(2) Has the information concerning the $500 reward been circulated outside this area? Because the posters were printed before this money was raised, it seems possible that this information may not have reached anywhere outside the "listening area" of local TV stations or radio stations and the newspapers in this area who printed a report of the reward.

(3) What has come of the report we made concerning Donna's contact with Hank Adams and the Dave Clinger who John Daugert named in his telephone call to us some weeks ago? How about contacting others active in the American Indian Movement in this area, for any possible clues. I asked the three girls (named in my first paragraph) about this--whether they had ever heard her talk about it, but their replies were negative, except that they were aware she was interested in the American Indian's cause. Rod Manson remarked to us that there was very little activity on the Evergreen campus by minority pressure groups.

We don't want to exert any further pressure on you in this matter, as we feel confident you have been doing everything possible to come up with something concrete, in the hope of finding our Donna. Is the possiblity of another search of the campus not feasible? Sometimes I get a strong desire to engage in my own search for her, but then I know how futile that might be. Where to begin?!?!?

Would the posters have been distributed to most of the towns right along the coast? I am thinking of her expressed desire to me that night on the phone to "go to the ocean." Some one may have offered to take her there. Again, this is pure conjecture on my part--but when you have nothing else to go on, your mind explores every possibility.

I located the missing blankets--they were in her locker.

Please call when you have time, or write. The waiting is so agonizing!

Yours sincerely,

Marie Manson

P.S. Another disturbing thought: are there any missing psychopaths in the Olympia area (recently released from Steilacomm ?), such as the man who is being held in connection with the two girls in Seattle.

CWSC Coed Is Missing

Susan E. Rancourt, 18, a freshman at Central Washington State College in Ellensburg, has disappeared, police said yesterday.

The girl, who is from Anchorage, was last seen Wednesday night when she attended a campus meeting.

Dr. Robert S. Miller, dean of students, told police Miss Rancourt did not return to her dormitory after the meeting.

All her money and student identification was left in her room. College officials said the girl, a good student, had given friends no indication anything was troubling her.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rancourt, were in Ellensburg to assist police.

College officials said Miss Rancourt is 5 foot 2 inches tall, 130 pounds, with blonde shoulder length hair and blue eyes. When last seen, she was wearing a yellow coat, yellow sweater and gray slacks.

cent bulletin to a number ice departments that the on County Sheriff's De- nt was looking for a partic- derly man indicates how ing the case has become ng Donna Gail Manson.

Manson, an Auburn woman was attending Evergreen College in Olympia, has issing since March 12. She daughter of Mr. and Mrs. anson, 124 O St. NE.

ston County Sheriff's De- Paul Barclift said the de- nt was looking for the eld- man not because they ed him, but because he happened to be in the Olympia area when she disappeared.

The man had a felony conviction dating back to 1947.

Barclift wants to talk with him —and several other men—because it is the nature of investigations to look into all possibilities.

In effect, the department is scraping the bottom of the barrel for any information as to why the pretty five-foot 19-year-old woman disappeared while enroute to a jazz concert at the campus one evening.

Barclift has conducted in-depth interviews with 20 of Miss Manson's friends. Many of them noted that she was depressed over her studies.

Evergreen State College features a no-grade system with each student largely determining what he will study.

Miss Manson's former roommate, Diana Ray, noted that she was having difficulties finding other students who shared the same study interests that she did.

But was that sufficient reason for Miss Manson to take off without telling her friends or family she was leaving? And would she have left virtually all her personal possessions and even spare change behind?

Barclift doesn't think so.

But without any information leading to her whereabouts, and without finding Miss Manson injured or dead, all he can do is check and recheck all possibilities, however flimsy they might be.

His efforts even include sending posters of Miss Manson to groups from the college studying in Mexico and Canada, on the hope that someone from this campus of 2,300 students might know something that will give him the information that will lead to her.

en at the campus are taking precautions against possible assaults.

During the women's art fair at the campus this week, an increased request for escort service by the security office during the evenings has been requested.

Not all of this interest in safety has been due to the Manson case, however.

On April 7, a woman hitchhiker was raped near the campus; a suspect is in custody and has been charged.

Two sexually oriented assaults have occurred on the campus, and five have been reported off the campus.

Due to limited bus service between the campus and Olympia, women students have been largely dependent on hitchhiking. Now, Russell reports, they are much more likely to thumb rides during the day and in groups.

If "something happened" to Miss Manson, Russell thinks there's a good possibility that happened on the campus.

Former roommate Miss Ray doubts this, however.

The campus area where Miss Manson left her dorm to walk to a jazz concert at the library was well lit, she said.

She had barely 200 yards to walk. If "anything happened," she believes, it happened off campus.

Maybe so, but Lt. Russell notes that the Evergreen campus covers 1,000 acres, much of it heavily wooded.

A Sheriff's Department search force of 150 men searched the campus for an entire day and turned up nothing, but "in some areas of the woods you can step over something without seeing it," Russell said.

Russell said he would like another search conducted, but he believes that organizing search might be difficult.

Getting a sizeable group of professional searchers together again would be difficult and non-professional searchers might get lost or in trouble in the dangerous marshy areas in some parts of the campus, he said.

Contacted Warren Hawkins at 11:00 hours this date. I showed the picture of Paul Andrew Olson to him and requested if this was the same person who had contacted him. He replied to the negative. Mr. Hawkins related the incident to me as follows:

Wednesday, 26 June 1974, the man came to his home. He stated he had an idea as to his daughter's disappearance. Related how he was in Bangkok and how girls are forced into prostitution and placed in brothels. Subject produced copies of Bankok Post newspapers and gave them to Mr. Hawkins. Had with him a folio of girls pictures as proof of how pretty the girls were. Subject left papers but not pictures. Seemed to know a lot about illegal shipping and hi-jacking. Was described as neat and polite and very concerned. When leaving, was asked his name and stated Paul Olson, with phone number JU 8-5901. Stated he wanted to remain anonymous, as he had testified for prosecution in a hold-up trial where suspect was released and didn't want anybody to know where he was. Departed in a small green car, possibly a Datsun.

A check with certain people revealed the telephone number (unlisted) to be that of a Helen B. Olson, 9112 Highline Avenue S.W., Tacoma.

A check with License Department revealed a Paul H. Olson, Jr. and Paul H. Olson, Sr., at 9112 Highline Avenue S.W., Tacoma. A further check shows that Paul H., Jr. has a 1966 Puegalt, license BKG 639, registered to him. Driver license 413 [redacted] shows description as follows: DOB 5-20-44, 150 lbs., 5'8", blue eyes. Further checking reveals Helen B. Olson as a registered nurse employed at American Lake Hospital.

While at the Fort Lewis CID Office, Agent Rick Johnson 968-2251 advised R/O of following:

A soldier stationed at Ft Lewis was responsible for several obscene telephone calls. During the conversation he is alleged to have made threats to the victim. He told her that he had kidnapped both Hawkens and Heidi Petersen and had killed them. This information was given to Det Regan, Pierce County SO. I contacted him and he advised they had talked to the soldier and he claimed they were idle threats, that he had read about them in the paper, and that he had no knowledge about them. Agent Johnson advised that subject was a speed freak and might possess the capability. Agent Johnson advised that the victim states that she does know the Hawkins girl. SWORN STATEMENT

I, Michael J GRAY, WANT TO MAKE THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT UNDER OATH:

MJG

Q. Sometime during mid morning on 19 Jun 74, I went to a telephone booth in Tillicum, looked up a name, it was Mrs Sheri, but I don't remember the last name. I called her from the phone booth, and I said something to the effect of taking her out. I talked with her for quite a long time, but I really don't know how long. I didn't get her at any time on the first call, at least I don't remember doing so. I wrote her number down on a match cover. I don't even know how many calls I made. Then today, I made about four calls. I don't remember what was said, but I really remember threatening her. I made the calls from a row of phone booths in Bldg 2126, which is where the Boom Room is located, on Ft Lewis. I remember when I made the second to the last call, that an MP approached the phone booths, I remember telling the woman that there was an MP coming. Actually, The MP did not stop at the phone booth itself, he just pulled up into the parking lot, and I remember seeing him with mike in his hand. I then left the phone booth, and after the MP left, I went back to the phone booth, but I don't even know why. I then called the woman again, and was on the phone until I was approached and apprehended by the CID. As they approached, I hung up the phone. The CID man told me to put my hands on the phone booth so that he could pat me down, and at that time, I threw a small vial containing some speed in the grass out in an open area near the phone booth. I really don't know why I called the woman, as I had no real intention of hurting her in any way. I guess I did it to rattle her. Q, I was using speed and was high on it ~~at least~~ part of the time,

Q. Have you ever met the woman that you called?

A. No.

Q. Do you remember making any threats to her at all?

A. Yes, I really don't remember what I said, but I remember one time I heard a child in the background and I said something to the effect of oh, you have children, it would be a shame if something happened.

Q. When you threw an object into the field when the CID approached you, ~~xxx~~ what was it?

A. An Excedrin bottle, and it had some speed in it. I don't remember how much.

Q. How long have you used speed (amphetamines)?

A. Lately, about two or three months. I use whatever I can get.

Q. Do you have anything you wish to add to this statement?

A. No / Yes, I do too have something to say, I'm really sorry that I did it. MJG

Bones found near home

Search for Heidi over?

SEATTLE(AP)—Police believe the 11-month, nationwide search for little Heidi Peterson has ended in a brushy area about a block from her home.

Park Department employes found the bones of a child and clothing matching that of the missing girl while retrieving a garbage can from the bottom of a scenic bluff Thursday afternoon.

Authorities said there were no outward clues to how or when the child died, but Police Lt. Pat Murphy said the clothing indicated that "in all probability, it is Heidi Peterson."

THIS MORNING, the King County Medical Examiner's office started studying the remains, which were taken from the scene Thursday in two plastic bags.

Dr. Donal Reay, deputy chief medical examiner, was heading the medical probe.

In the meantime, Friday homicide detectives returned to the site where the bones were found to search for more clues.

SALLY PETERSON, Heidi's mother, last saw her 4-year-old daughter last Feb. 21 as the girl and her brother Carl, then 2½, played in front of the family's modest Capitol Hill home.

Mrs. Peterson drove to the grocery store and about 15 minutes later her husband, Roy, stepped outside the house and found Carl sitting with a long face on a three-wheeled toy.

Heidi Peterson

Shortly before vanishing

"Heidi go," he quoted the boy as saying.

Police have maintained from the beginning that Heidi probably was abducted.

Assistant Police Chief M. D. Wilson said Thursday the area where the bones were found was "thoroughly searched several times" after the girl disappeared. He said he found it hard to believe the bones would not have been found earlier if they had been there all along.

Thousands of volunteers had searched for Heidi. More than 250,000 posters headlined "Where is Heidi?" were printed and distributed as the search gained nationwide attention. One veteran Seattle detective said he never had seen such public response on a case.

MRS. PETERSON, told a Seattle television station Thursday night, "It looks like the story has come to an end. It's not the end we prayed for, but it looks like the end of the story."

Mrs. Peterson also said she wanted to express her thanks and those of her husband to Puget Sound-area citizens "for all the help that everyone has given us over the past year."

Last October, Mrs. Peterson, saying "I've got to keep busy," went to Minneapolis after reading about a former Seattle man in custody in connection with sex-related crimes.

Seattle police said then that the man was also under investigation in connection with the disappearance of a teen-age girl here, but Mrs. Peterson said she learned nothing that would tie him to Heidi's disappearance.

Year-Long Hunt For Heidi Comes To End Near Home

SEATTLE (AP) — Police believe the 11-month nationwide search for missing 4-year-old Heidi Peterson has ended in a brushy area about one block from her home.

Park Department employes retrieving a garbage can from a hill below a scenic bluff found bones of a child and clothing matching that of the missing girl Thursday afternoon.

Friday morning the King County Medical Examiner's office started its study of the remains that had been taken from the scene Thursday in two plastic bags.

Dr. Donal Reay, deputy chief medical examiner, was heading the medical probe.

In the meantime Friday homicide detectives returned to the site where the bones were found to search for more clues.

"In all probability, it is Heidi Peterson," Seattle Police Lt. Pat Murphy said at the scene Thursday. He said the tentative identification was based on the clothing.

Police have maintained throughout the case that Heidi probably was abducted. Officers said there was no indication Thursday how and when the child whose bones were found died.

Assistant Police Chief M. D. Wilson, who is heading the investigation, said the blackberry bush area where the bones were found was "thoroughly searched several times" by police and volunteers after the girl disappeared last Feb. 21. Wilson said he finds it "hard to believe" the bones wouldn't have been found earlier if they had been there all along.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Roy Peterson, told a Seattle television station Thursday night, "It looks like the story has come to an end. It's not the end we prayed for, but it looks like the end of the story."

Heidi's mom plans child-seeking unit

SEATTLE (AP) — Mrs. Sally Peterson of Seattle says she wants to help parents of other missing children. Her daughter, Heidi, was found dead last week after a nationwide search had gone on for 11 months.

"A friend and I are going to establish some type of an organization at a national level so that anytime a child is reported missing and isn't found right away, there would be some sort of statistic, some reporting, at a national level."

She said the lack of such an agency was one of the most frustrating aspects of her search for Heidi.

Heidi's remains were found Jan. 23 only a block from her home. She had last been seen alive Feb. 21, 1974, as she played in her front yard.

Police Believe Heidi's Remains Moved Into Area

TNT 2-2-75

SEATTLE (AP) — The search continued Saturday for more bones or teeth in the area where Heidi Peterson's remains were found Thursday.

And while that search continued, some of the volunteers who helped look for the little girl 11 months ago remained reasonably certain they didn't overlook her body then.

"We might have missed her, but I don't think so," said Barney O'Connor, a pharmacist who joined in the search after Heidi was reported missing last Feb. 21. He and five others had helped search the scenic bluff where 4-year-old Heidi's bones were found by Park Department personnel. "We were pretty conscientious."

Because of the extensive search at the time, including police, police dogs and tracking dogs, authorities speculate that the remains were brought to the area later. Blackberry bushes where the bones were found grew as high as 10 feet last summer.

Roy Peterson, Heidi's father, has said, "There is no doubt in my mind that she was not there at the time of the searches. I believe that the body was put on that hill within the last few months, maybe the last few weeks."

The King County Medical Examiner's Office continued efforts to reconstruct the skeleton, believed to be at least 95 per cent complete. The remains had been identified through comparison with dental x-rays taken only a month before the girl disappeared.

Chief Deputy Medical Examiner Dr. Donald Reay said though cause of death is the next mystery to be solved, the skull showed signs of damage. One police investigator speculated that the skull was fractured.

Heidi was less than two months past her fourth birthday when she disappeared from her front yard that winter day. Her disappearance sparked search efforts and community concern one veteran policeman said was unlike anything he had ever seen.

Evidence shows Heidi died soon

SEATTLE (AP) — The King County Medical Examiner's Office said Friday that Heidi Peterson died within two months of her disappearance from the family home Feb. 21 last year.

Dr. Donald T. Reay, deputy chief medical examiner, said Heidi's dentist took X-rays of the child's teeth about a month before she vanished from the front yard of her home.

Reay said X-rays taken of the skull this week showed no growth change in the teeth. "If she had been alive longer than two or three months from the time the first X-ray was taken, then you would expect to find some growth."

Heidi's skeletal remains were found last week beneath blackberry brambles less than two blocks from her home.

Reay said [illegible] office also is sticking to [illegible] assumption that Heidi's death was a homicide, even though he has not been able to determine if the fractures found on the skull occurred before or after Heidi's death.

Seattle homicide detectives said they are reviewing statements made by residents of Heidi's neighborhood at the time of the disappearance.

And the police department moved to halt a spate of rumors surrounding Heidi's death by denying reports that a suspect had been arrested. Police Chief Robert Hanson said that the investigation "has not centered on any one individual."

The statement said, "All of the rumors to date are false."

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF OFFENSE, PROGRESS OF INVESTIGATION, ETC.

Kathy'D'Olivo, 4801 Dunbar Drive, Gig Harbor, WA; 206-858-3704
(long dark hair, parted in middle, 5'9", dob 10-8-52, hazel eyes)

7-28-74 9:30 pm

Writer contacted Kathy D'Olivo by telephone to ascertain if she had given a statement to the Pierce County S.O. The statement is being forwarded to this department.

Ms. D'Olivo stated that she had been walking to her car from the library when a man dropped boxes and packages that had been contained in a light nylon backpack, the type some students use to carry their books in. He had his right arm in a sling with metal braces on fingers of both hands (the type of brace used on broken fingers). He stated he had been in a skiing accident, but did not state where. He did not use his right arm.

She helped him carry the items to his VW bug. (She stated it was shiny, possibly brown in color) no ski racks that she can remember. The car was parked on 10th Street--just north of the railroad trestle, 1/4 block east of Chestnut Street. Subject dropped his key, she backed up so she could spot the key's reflection in the light, picked up the key and handed it to him. (See statement for details). Stated subject was soft spoken.

Ms. D'Olivo described the man as not clean cut looking or hippy, but kind of weird looking. He had long hair, below the ears, shaggy,dark brown. She stated that she had never seen him before or after this incident on campus. She stated that her image of the man is blurred and cannot remember if he had a mustache or not; whether he wore wire-rimmed glasses or not.

Gig Harbor Wa I have lived in Pierce County since 1952. I am making the following statement to Dep. Johnson #165, knowing that he is a ~~detective~~ Deputy with the Pierce County Sheriff's Office. I have been advised of my civil rights which are guaranteed to me under the State and Federal Constitution. I understand that I am entitled to an attorney if I want one and that if I do not have funds the Court will appoint an attorney to represent me at State expense. I know that I have a right not to say anything, and anything I might say can be used against me in court. I know also that I have a right to a jury trial. (At 10:10 P.M. (approx.)
I was walking from Bonillon Library at C.W.S.C. Behind me (NO Guard) someone dragging packages I turned around and saw a man dropping a few boxes & a back-pack of books. I asked if I could help him -- I thought he was going into the library. He began walking past the library I asked where he was going, he said his car was just up the way. I said O.K. I'd walk there, I was extremely cautious while with him - I never gave him the opportunity of walking behind me. His right arm was in a cloth sling and he had a metal brace on one or two fingers of his right hand. His left hand had a metal plate bracing his fingers on the palm side. There were bandages holding the brace on. He had brown hair (I think fairly dark brown). His hair was below the ear. It was dark and I didn't really notice his features. He was about

Missing Persons Report

ROBERTA KATHLEEN PARKS, AGE 20, DOB: 27 Feb. '54
Sackett Hall rm 325, Corvallis, Oregon
Home address: 1117 Rahard Drive
Lafayette, California

Phone Area 415-284-5461

Description: Long blond waist length hair, fair complexion, blue/green eyes 5'7", 125 lbs. - wearing navy blue cord slacks - navy blue top, light green cord jacket, platform sandals.

Since May 11, 1974, the following contacts have been made in an attempt to locate the missing girl.

PAUL KAEHLER - 51 Oak Street, Blackpoint, California, Phone Area 415 - 892-2323

Mr. Kaehler arrived in Corvallis on May 11, and offered his assistance locating his sister-in-law. He advised that on May 6, Kathy's father suffered a heart attack, and was taken to the hospital in California. His wife, Sharon KAEHLER, telephoned Kathy to advise her of her father's condition. At 8:20 p.m., on that date he also telephoned Kathy to inform her of her father's present condition, which was fair. He further advised that Kathy did not become excited because of her father's condition and he assured her that she was in good hands and that it was not necessary for her to return home. She gave no indication at that time that she was intending to return home for any reason. Paul Kaehler further advised that Kathy was under a great deal of pressure from her boy friend, CHRISTY MCPHEE, who she was at that time attempting to break up with. Christy McPhee was at that time employed as a scuba diver in Louisiana. He has corresponded with Kathy regularly in an attempt to convince her that their relationship continue. When Kathy enrolled at Oregon State University in the fall term of1973, Christy McPhee came out to Oregon and they lived together in an apartment above the Oregon Museum Tavern in Corvallis. She continued to maintain her room in Sackett Hall during the time that the two of them lived together in October of '73 until around Christmas. Just prior to Christmas, vacation, Kathy began experiencing pain in her abdomen, and was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital by ambulance. After several days she was released from the hospital and she and Christy hitchhiked to Canada over Christmas vacation. They stayed in Canada several days and then hitchhiked back to Corvallis where they lived together at the afore mentioned residence until early March 1974, when Christy hitchhiked back to Louisiana. Mr. Kaehler believes that Kathy was a very independant and sensitive girl and would not have run off on her own. He also believes that she would not have been easily picked up by a passing motorist.

A search of Kathy's room revealed that nearly all her clothing, luggage, cosmetics, toilet articles, etc., were still in her room. Numerous letters

Roberta Park's mother telephoned the Campus Security Office at 9:50 AM and requested that the area hospitals be checked to see if her daughter had been admitted. She seems to think it possible something may have happened to Roberta. Mrs. Parks also had Roberta's room checked to see if her makeup box was still there, as Roberta never goes anyplace without it. The makeup box was still in her room.

At 11:50 AM Mrs. Sharon KAEHLER (Roberta's sister) of Blackpoint, Nevada, telephoned, stating that her sister may have gone to the Spokane Fair. Roberta did mention that she planned on going sometime, but Mrs. Kaehler does not believe she was going this soon. An APB was also sent to Washington, attention the Spokane area by Sgt. B.J. Miller of the Corvallis Police Department as a result of this information.

Rachelle Brown, in the MU Catering Service was contacted at approximately 1:30 PM and stated that a Margaret Hill (a friend of Roberta's) had worked for them when they had the Football Training Table. Ray Hoyt or Lydia White have contacted Miss Hill, who now lives in Portland. She has not seen Miss Parks, nor does she have any idea where she might be.

Kathy Tornow is getting married tomorrow, today now - April 4th, (believe she meant May 4th). I've been thinking about her alot off and on today. I smoked some hash with Ed awhile ago. I'll finish this tomorrow - I'm very, very sleepy - so sleepy I can barely think. Goodnight - I love you.

Saturday evening

Christy - it was beautiful her today! The weather is great. I sat out with Joanne again in the sun a long while. This is "Moms" weekend. Mothers abounding everywhere. Everyone seems to be enjoying themselves - with this sun - how could they not? I just got back from riding my bike out in the country - the setting sun threw a goldish hue over everything. I also did my exercises for ½ hour, and there was a fair up in the M.U. Quad this morning. All the usual arts and crafts (the one where I got you your ring had better craftsmanship, I thought). Still, it was fun. I bought a long, full, dark green skirt - very light material and the blouse that went with it. It cost $11. I got a good deal. It's sewn pretty good, and the cost of material (a very full skirt) and labor would come to that, anyway, if not a little more. Seems like it would, but then they would be selling at a loss, right? Kathy Tornow is married now - wish I could have been at her wedding. I'm stoned again, so I think I must be letting myself ramble on pretty much in my writing. That's been my day, quite a bit of it, anyway, I want you to know I've been thinking of you. When I was riding my bicycle in the light of the evening sun, I thought of you and I was wishing you could have been with me, the world looked so beautiful. The air is sweet and smells a little like hay. Summer feels like she's on her way good and strong. Oh, Christy, please don't ever worry about losing me, don't ever give it a thought. You are in my heart, and I think of you often, no matter whom I'm with, or what I'm doing. Nothing you could ever do would ever make me love you less. I accept you completely. If I loved you any less because of the way you are and live, I would not really love you. But I do, so I can say I love you, and I will, all my life. I know I'll never find another you. You are a vital person, and have a hell of a lot to offer this world. I care for you, I want you to be happy, give yourself a good time and feel absolutely free in doing so, knowing that I'll love you, simply because you are you. I miss you, Christy, and I love you very much. Guess I'd better get this off to you.

I love you, (signed)
Kathy

The following is a transcribed copy of a letter which was written by Kathy, and found in her room. The letter bears no date or salutation and appears to be a recording of her thoughts at the time. It's unknown when Kathy wrote this letter which was never mailed. It was found in the waste basket in her room.

I have been thinking seriously about this coming summer and my future. I want to live and work in California for awhile. I do not want to live and work in Louisiana, the only reason I'd want to be there is because you are there. I've asked myself if I honestly feel ready to settle down and live with a man. Living together and being married have no difference, in my mind. In both situations, emotional bondage and dependency are present, as are other binding factors. To be completely honest with myself, which is not an easy thing to be sometimes, I have decided I am not ready to settle down. It is only fair to be honest to you, in turn, and tell you of my thoughts. I think it a better thing to be honest now, rather than sorry later.

There is something I feel I must do in becoming completely happy and at ease with myself inside, before I settle down. I must have the certain knowledge inside of me of realizing I can go it alone in this world. At this point, I know I am insecure and more than a little unsure of my own ability to cope with the world by myself. I want to have that feeling inside of me, and I want to build up my self confidence and faith in myself. After this is done, then I can think of settling down, knowing I am a better person for it.

This decision is nothing against you, you are a good man, and a loving one. I love you as much as ever. My feelings toward you have not changed in the least. My plans for my own future have, though.

It hasn't been easy for me to ask myself what I truly want for myself, but, I did, and I know, I just know I need more time to become my own person. I need time to grow, and feel worthy of myself. If I come to live with you now, I will never know complete personal independence. I feel I must know this before I can give completely without any reservations ever blocking my love.

I also think any ties of commitment should not be binding if they are decidely going to interfere with one's personal happiness and well being. If I promise to jump off a cliff, I think it's only fair for me to be able to change my mind, if I think it would be an unwise thing for me to go through with that commitment. I'm not equating living with you as being as throwing myself off a cliff, but, in a way, it is. I think after a year or so I would become discontent, simply because I have never had the chance of being on my own. I want to give myself that chance. I think it's best for me.

I feel as though I've just changed the course of my life before the future has even arrived. "Set me adrift in a sea of hope - I'll set my sail to a new horizon" Keep the faith in me, Christy. I love you, more than ever. Trust in me, I've got to have more time. I've got to know when I'm ready to settle down. You've got to accept that I have to know that if you love me like you tell me you do, you've got to give and take. We both do. Don't turn your love away from me, just give me time. I need time to grow and let my love grow. Please try to understand my feelings.

That letter is unsigned.

The following is a similar transcribed copy which is undated and unaddressed, written by Kathy and found in her room.

This is something I wrote a while back. There ain't anything like the "real thing", Christy, if what we feel for each other is the real thing. I think very strongly it can only grow stronger and stronger, and higher and higher.

There is someone you never forget, no matter who you may be with. There is always someone in the back of your mind. I think you are the one I will never forget.

My mother waited for her man five years, not "waited", actually, more, always had him in the back of her head, and he always had her in the back of his mind. They had an understanding between them. They were to go their separate ways, each was to go out with anyone they wanted. My father insisted that my mother go out and not sit at home. Both of them did just that. When my mom felt ready to settle down, she had her self-respect, confidence, and an honest liking for herself. She was sure my dad was the right one for her, just as dad thought she was the right girl for him, Now, neither one of them asked the other to wait, it would be fair to neither of them. More than likely they would end up hating each other if they had promised to wait for each other, fingers crossed. My ma came to dad when she knew in her heart she was ready to settle down. Their love for each other was true, and they were ready for each other.

Following is a transcribed copy of a letter written to Kathy from Christy dated April 23, 1974.

Dear Kathy:

I'm laying here in my bunk on the barge. I'm afraid Kathy, I'm afraid that we may be drifting apart. I don't want that to happen, Kathy, I love you, I love you more than I could love anyone else, and I'm pretty sure that you love me. I don't really understand why you made such a turnabout in plans I thought we had made. You said something about wanting to be independent and not have to be dependent on me. But then you say you're going to be living at your sisters. It seems to me you're just transferring it from me to them. I want you to be dependent on me to a certain extent. You really mean something to me, Kathy, you're the most important thing in my life. You make it seem like there's some meaning to my life when I have you, but without you there just doesn't seem to be very much. You give me something to work for, certain goals to achieve. Without you those dreams are unachievable. Sure, I could find something else to work for, but the life with you is the happy one. I don't want to be away from you for so long. I'm afraid you'll drift away from me and I might never see you again. When I think of not having you I get this really empty feeling or something in my gut. It happens all the time now because, since you dropped the bombshell last night, I think about it all the time. Tonight while eating dinner I thought about it and I couldn't eat. When I looked out the window at the ocean and thought of what it would be like without you I felt really sick, and all I wanted to do was go lie in my bunk. Writing this now makes me feel that way. I'm confused, Kathy. I love you. I never want to be without you. Please stay with me. I'm very weary Kathy, I must sleep.

April 24, 1974

Kathy, I got the word this morning I'm going home, the job is over. I'll be talking to you tonight but I'm sending this anyway. I really wonder why it is you changed your mind. I love you Kathy, I don't want to lose you.

Love Ya Always
Chris

The following is a transcribed copy of a letter to Kathy from Chris dated May 1, 1974.

To my dearest Kathy:

I hope you've been alright lately. I've only gotten the one letter from you so far. I hope you've written me more than that. You know when I said James and I were going to Baton Rouge to look at cars? Well, we never made it. Jeff still hasn't come back with the truck we're going to drive there in. But we'll probably go whenever Jeff comes back. I sure do miss you sweetheart. I wonder what you think of me when I'm so far away. I wish I was with you Kathy. I want so bad to be able to hold you in my arms. I love you so much Kathy. I'd be very happy just to wait for you. If I knew you'd be waiting for me also. I want you Kathy. I can't see myself with anyone else. You're the girl I want. I only hope I will be able to keep you as "my girl." Well hon, I've got to go now. I've got some things to do. I love you. I'll write or talk to you soon.

Write me often

Chris

Since Kathy's disappearance all points teletype bulletins have been sent to all police agencies in Oregon, California and Washington, notifying them of her disappearance, her description,and several possible destinations. She has indicated to friends in the past that she would like to get away from Oregon State University and possibly go to the World's Fair, or return to her sister's residence in Blackpoint, California. On another occasion she has mentioned that she would just like to leave campus and go to Portland and walk the streets. It is extremely doubtful at this time that she intended to return home because of her father's heart attack, as she has not arrived, after being missing for over a week. We have made inquiries of the main hospitals in the Portland, Corvallis Albany areas with negative results. Each of these hospitals have been requested to contact the Campus Security Office immediately if they receive information as to her location.

The Corvallis Police Department, Benton County Sheriff's office, Oregon State Police, FBI have been alerted as to her disappearance, and are coordinating their efforts with the Campus Security department to locate her.

Her boyfriend, Christy McPhee, and her brother-in-law, Paul Kaehler, believe that Kathy may have gone to the Newport beach area to seek solitude. We have placed telephone calls to various police agencies in the Newport, Florence, and Lincoln City areas, notifying them of her disappearance, and have also sent photographs to each of these departments and requested that they be on the look-out for her. We have also received cooperation from the local and main channels of the news media which have broadcasted Kathy's description, listing her as a missing person, and asking anyone that may have seen her to notify the Campus Security Department. This information has been channled through the OSU Department of Information.

The local Greyhound bus depot has been checked for possible leads to the location of Kathy. It was learned, however, that the ticket office closes at 9 p.m. on weekdays and that individual drivers would have to be located in order to possibly identify her. At this time attempts are being made to locate drivers of Greyhound buses who were in Corvallis on the night of May 6th or early morning hours of May 7th, 1974.

One positive lead which has been developed is Kathy's checking account at Citizen's Bank, downtown branch, Corvallis. On May 6th, she received a $50 check from her mother, of which she deposited $35 into her checking account. An interview of several friends of Kathy's at Sackett Hall revealed that she repaid approximately $10 in debts on this date prior to her disappearance. This would indicate that she had less than $10 on her person at the time she disappeared. A check with the employees of Citizen's Bank revealed that Kathy's bank balance is presently $40.50. They have agreed to immediately notify the Campus Security department in the event that they receive any checks written on her account at that bank.

The OSU Department of Information has supplied the Campus Security with copies of photographs of Kathy which have been sent out to police departments in areas which it is believed that Kathy may have gone.

Christy McPhee and Paul Kaehler have also contacted the Corvallis Gazette Times and had missing persons bulletins printed (800) which they are distributing in the area in an attempt to locate her. Information from Paul Kaehler is that Kathy's grandfather has offered $500 reward for information leading to her location.

Kathy's oldest sister, Sharon Kaehler, has stated that Kathy may have gone to the World's Fair in Spokane, Washington. Kathy did tell her about wanting to go to the fair, however, Sharon does not think she would go until she was out of school this term. Information was recently received from Mr. Paul Kaehler,(Kathy's brother-in-law) that her father is now aware of her disappearance.

Christy McPhee indicated that over Christmas vacation last year, he and Kathy had hitchhiked to his aunt's residence in Canada, and that she had become very fond of this area. His aunt, MARY McPHEE, area code 604-729-3438, was contacted, and she advised that she has not seen Kathy, but will call the Campus Security Office if Kathy arrives at her residence.

A telephone call was also placed to the Spokane Police Department and a photograph of Kathy sent to them. They will furnish this information to the Security Department at the World's Fair in Spokane, and notify us of any information they receive.

A telephone call was also placed to Berwick, Louisiana where Christy McPhee resides. They were alerted to the information of the disappearance of Kathy and a photograph and description sent to them. They will notify us immediately if she arrives in their city, looking for her boyfriend, Christy McPhee.

Kathy indicated to Christy that she would like to get a job dancing in a night club or "Go Go" club if she decided to live with him in Louisiana. Considering the possibility that she might go to Portland and seek work, the following contact was made.

EDDIE HEISLER THEATRICAL AGENCY
13606 S.E. McLoughlin Blvd.
Portland, Oregon
Phone 659-3545

Mr. Heisler was contacted by telephone and advised of the missing girl and the reward offered. He stated that all female entertainers in Portland must go through his agency for employment, regardless if it is a private club or not. Photos are taken of each girl and employment records kept. He has no record of Roberta Kathleen Parks, or Kathy Parks, but will contact the OSU Security office in the event she applys for employment. A missing persons bulletin was mailed to Mr. Heisler for his information.

JAMES WARREN, Investigator
Department of Justice
Eugene, Oregon

Mr. Warren has entered Kathy's name, date of birth, and social security number into the computer with I.R.S. and Social Security for the purpose of determining a record of her present employment, if any. Mr. Warren advises, however, that Social Security releases this information on a quarterly basis, and it may take several months for this information to be available. He has made this a high priority emergency request, and will contact the OSU Security Office if and when the information is received.

MR. & MRS. CHARLES PARKS - Kathy's parents
1117 Rahard Drive
Lafayette, California
Phone (415) 284-5461

On May 17, 1974, Mr. Parks telephoned the writer from the hospital in Lafayette to inquire about his daughter. He will be in this hospital for the next two weeks, and can be reached at phone (415) 939-3000, room 408. He was advised of the action being taken in an attempt to locate his daughter, and he will be kept advised daily of any progress made. Mrs. Parks was with him at the hospital at the time he called. She advises that Kathy might go to the World's Fair in Spokane as her younger sister, 101B, will be appearing there on May 25th as a member of a high school singing group known as "Acalanes." 101B plays the piano and sings. Kathy was aware of her appearance at the World's Fair at that time, and indicated she would like to be there and see her perform. The Spokane, Washington Police Department has been alerted of this, and will attempt to locate 101B when she appears at the fair. They have been notified of Kathy's disappearance and a photo and missing person bulletin has been mailed to them.

An incident involving a screaming girl being forced into a vehicle on campus on or about the same evening that Kathy disappeared was investigated and cleared after it was determined that it was nothing more than a prank and not related to this investigation. Sergeant Wayne Ross's report is attached.

Investigation is continuing and another report will follow.

I received a phone call on Monday night at around 10:00 PM, I got off the phone at about 11:00 PM. After I got off the phone I was headed for McNary Hall. I was going to visit Dan Woodward and Larry Niemela. On my way over to McNary I was walking by the bike racks when I heard a girl yell HELP. I stopped and saw these people pushing this girl into the back seat of a car. The car was shaped like a Volvo. It was a dark colored car. Either a black or dark blue or dark green/ I would say that there was five people in the car, not counting the girl they put in the back seat. There were three people in the back seat and two people in the front seat. The girl was laying on the laps of the three people. I would say that at least one of the five people involved was a girl.

The reason I say that it was Monday, May6th, is because I knew that what I had seen was around Mom's Weekend. Then I remembered that I had a phone call On Monday, which was May 6th. That is why I'm pretty sure that what I saw was on May 6th.

The car was out front of McNary Hall in front of the bike racks facing east. As soon as the girl in the back seat of the car, the car made a U-turn and went west on Jefferson Street.

The people involved appeared to be of college age. They could have been just playing around.

I would say that this happened a little past 11:00 PM. Probably 11:05 PM.

/s/ Brad Peterson

The following is a transcirbed copy of a written statement of Robert Mercer:

Approximately 11:00 Saturday night, May 4th, three boys and one girl carried another girl into a Volvo parked in McNary front area. They drove her to the Library fountain and were going to throw her in, but the fountain was empty. So they took her and dumped her into the fountain at the Corvallis Gazette Times and ditched her there. Then they met her back at the dorm about twenty minutes later.

MISSING PERSON

On May 9th at 2:30 P.M., the writer phoned Roberta Parks residence in LaFayette, California. Her younger sister, 101B [redacted] advised that she has not arrived home yet. The family is aware that she is missing from campus. The missing girl received a telephone call from another sister, Sharon Kaehler, Blackpoint, California, that her father had a heart attack. Roberta did not indicate that she intended to come home, however, they believe that she is probably on her way as she is quite excitable. Further information from her girl friend at OSU, JOANNE STEVENS, 329 West Hall, X-2066, is that Roberta withdrew money from her savings account but did not indicate she was going home.

Miss Stevens is also from LaFayette, California. She will be contacted for any additional information she may have regarding the location of Roberta Parks.

101B [redacted] said she would phone the OSU Security Office if and when Roberta arrives. She believes that Roberta has probably taken a bus home.

Miss Lydia White, Asst. Director of Residence Programs, has contacted Joanne Stevens. She learned that Roberta is a very independent girl who frequently travels on week-ends. Miss Stevens believes that the girl may have gone to the World's Fair or possibly home after learning of her father's illness. Miss White further advised that the girl's mother has now returned home from Alabama, and Lydia White will telephone her this evening for any new developments.

At approximately 8:22 PM 10 May 1974, an interview was held in the Head Resident's quarters at Sackett Hall and was attended by the following named persons:

1. Mr. Ray HOYT - Head Resident, Sackett Hall
2. Renee FERGISON - Student, West Hall room 323 (has Food Class with Roberta Parks)
3. Edward Warren SUMIDA - Student, Sackett Hall room 233, X3070 (friend of Roberta Parks)
4. Mirian Joan SCHMIDT - Student, Sackett Hall (friend and roommate of Roberta Parks)

Missing from the interview but are very close friends of Roberta Parks:

1. Joanne (Joey) STEVENS - Student, West Hall room 329
2. Sarah DUGAN - Student, West Hall room 313

The following information was received from Miss Schmidt, Miss Fergison, and Mr. Sumida. All agree Miss Parks had only a few friends with which she talked or went out with and then only around campus. For instance trips to the Library Building were very few as most of Miss Parks studying was done in her room. She (Parks) would go to the Memorial Union seldom and then not unless it was with one of the mentioned subjects in this report.

All agreed she was little moody at times and in many instances would stay by herself.

(X 3222) Miss Parks does take classes in Scuba Diving, conducted at the Men's Gym by Mr. Kramer. It was learned she has some of the equipment in her room but rents tanks and wet suits from the Divers Den, 2744 SW 3rd Street, City, (telephone number 753-2377). This class (a hobby) she is most interested in and has taken at least three (3) trips to the coast with the class.

At times Miss Parks would ride her bike on campus and also the bike paths at Avery Park. A check was made of her bike and it was found to be in the regular place with the chain and lock (lock is broken). Check of her room by roommate Miss Schmidt indicated the leg light which she used was still in her room, indicating this was not used on the night in question.

When asked if Miss Parks would hitch a ride to go any place away from campus, all indicated she would never hitch hike, but would ask Edward Sumida to take her. For instance if she wanted to pick up a wet suit or tanks for her diving class he would take her. On one occassion Mr. Sumida did take Miss Parks to Portland to go shopping and they returned early in the evening.

Miss Schmidt stated that on the night in question both she and Miss Parks

Roberta Park's mother telephoned the Campus Security Office at 9:50 AM and requested that the area hospitals be checked to see if her daughter had been admitted. She seems to think it possible something may have happened to Roberta. Mrs. Parks also had Roberta's room checked to see if her makeup box was still there, as Roberta never goes anyplace without it. The makeup box was still in her room.

At 11:50 AM Mrs. Sharon KAEHLER (Roberta's sister) of Blackpoint, Nevada, telephoned, stating that her sister may have gone to the Spokane Fair. Roberta did mention that she planned on going sometime, but Mrs. Kaehler does not believe she was going this soon. An APB was also sent to Washington, attention the Spokane area by Sgt. B.J. Miller of the Corvallis Police Department as a result of this information.

Rachelle Brown, in the MU Catering Service was contacted at approximately 1:30 PM and stated that a Margaret Hill (a friend of Roberta's) had worked for them when they had the Football Training Table. Ray Hoyt or Lydia White have contacted Miss Hill, who now lives in Portland. She has not seen Miss Parks, nor does she have any idea where she might be.

10 May 1974

An interview with Miss SCHMIDT (roommate) indicated Roberta PARKS did in fact have a problem as she (Parks) had been going to the Mental Health Clinic (403A [redacted]) for quite sometime. One of her problems was that she and her father did not get along and then she was recently notified her father had just been hospitalized with a slight heart attack. She did state she believed he (her father) would be in good hands.

Miss Schmidt stated lately Miss Parks had been reading the World Bible but did not think she had gone overboard with religion. When asked about habits (good or bad), Miss Schmidt replied no drinking, only that she smoked. When asked about drugs, Miss Schmidt was reluctant to answer and finally said Miss Parks was a frequent smoker of pot but used pot only while in Sackett Hall.

One other problem was a boyfriend living in Louisiana, who she had planned on living with this summer, but had changed her mind and had called him about her change of plans. Instead Miss Parks mentioned a trip to visit her sister (who lives out of state)sometime during the summer months.

Whether the information about her father, religion, pot, boyfriend, and the fact her Mental Health sessions were not helping may have brought a new low to Miss Parks could not be determined. But it should be considered a factor in her disappearance.

Miss Schmidt stated to this officer she could not understand why the two (2) friends of Miss Parks had gone to Portland when her roommate was missing. She was referring to a Joey STEVENS (west Hall) and Sarah DUGAN (west Hall). Both are Oregon State University students. She believed both of these persons were holding information back as neither wanted to talk to the police about this incident until Sarah Dugan talked to her father who is a FBI agent in Portland. Both parties are in Portland this weekend and will be back Monday, 13 May 1974.

An interview with Edward SUMIDA showed he was at a complete loss as to the disappearance of Miss Parks and could give no reason for her leaving.

When questioned regarding pot and how often Miss Parks used it he was afraid to answer until this Officer indicated this was for information of Miss Parks only. At this time Sumida stated he would give her a joint or two whenever she asked. When questioned if it was possible she (Parks) went off campus to obtain pot Sumida stated he did not think so. When asked about any other drugs, a negative reply was given.

Mr. Sumida stated he had taken Miss Parks to rent wet suits and tanks as he is the only one who has transportation (vehicle) that Miss Parks is friendly with.

Missing Persons Report

ROBERTA KATHLEEN PARKS, AGE 20, DOB: 27 Feb. '54
Sackett Hall rm 325, Corvallis, Oregon
Home address: 1117 Rahard Drive
Lafayette, California

Phone Area 415-284-5461

Description: Long blond waist length hair, fair complexion, blue/green eyes 5'7", 125 lbs. - wearing navy blue cord slacks - navy blue top, light green cord jacket, platform sandals.

Since May 11, 1974, the following contacts have been made in an attempt to locate the missing girl.

PAUL KAEHLER - 51 Oak Street, Blackpoint, California, Phone Area 415 - 892-2323

Mr. Kaehler arrived in Corvallis on May 11, and offered his assistance locating his sister-in-law. He advised that on May 6, Kathy's father suffered a heart attack, and was taken to the hospital in California. His wife, Sharon KAEHLER, telephoned Kathy to advise her of her father's condition. At 8:20 p.m., on that date he also telephoned Kathy to inform her of her father's present condition, which was fair. He further advised that Kathy did not become excited because of her father's condition and he assured her that she was in good hands and that it was not necessary for her to return home. She gave no indication at that time that she was intending to return home for any reason. Paul Kaehler further advised that Kathy was under a great deal of pressure from her boy friend, CHRISTY MCPHEE, who she was at that time attempting to break up with. Christy McPhee was at that time employed as a scuba diver in Louisiana. He has corresponded with Kathy regularly in an attempt to convince her that their relationship continue. When Kathy enrolled at Oregon State University in the fall term of1973, Christy McPhee came out to Oregon and they lived together in an apartment above the Oregon Museum Tavern in Corvallis. She continued to maintain her room in Sackett Hall during the time that the two of them lived together in October of '73 until around Christmas. Just prior to Christmas, found in her desk drawer from her boyfriend, Christy McPhee, indicate that Kathy was attempting to break off their relationship, that she wanted to be on her own and maintain her independence rather than being burdened with a marriage and a permanent responsibility. Information from Kathy's closest friends indicate that she was in a very depressed condition due to the fact she could not make a decision as to if she should break off her relationship with Christy or return to Louisiana after spring term and attempt to explain her feelings to him.

The following two girls were close friends of Kathys and gave the following statements.

#1. JOANNE STEVENS - 329 West Hall
Home address: Lafayette, California

Joanne attended Junior High School and high school with Kathy. She knows that Kathy was very close to Christy, who lived with her during fall and winter term. Kathy and Christy hitchhiked to Canada during the winter term just prior to Christmas. She also knows that Kathy has been seeing a psychiatrist while she has been a student at Oregon State University as well as a high school student in Lafayette, California. Kathy took frquent walks in the evening from her room in Sackett Hall to the Memorial Union Commons to get refreshments. This was usually between 9:30 p.m. and 11 p.m. in the evenings. Kathy recently told her that she had received a $50 check from her mother which she had deposited in her checking account at Citizen's bank in Corvallis. When Kathy failed to return to her room on the evening of May 6, she did not report her missing for the first two days because she did not want to alarm anyone and thought that Kathy probably just wanted to be alone and get away for a day or two as she was quite upset over her relationship with Christy.

#2. SARAH ANN DUGAN - 313 West Hall

She met Kathy through Joanne Stevens. They last saw Kathy when the three of them were playing basketball outside of Sackett Hall around 8 p.m. Monday, May 6. Kathy had already been notified of her father's heart attack by her sister Sharon, earlier that afternoon. Kathy was in a good mood, indicating that she probably should have been there when her father was in the hospital but that her sister had told her that her father was all right and that she was not to worry about it. Kathy told her that she takes walks in the evenings and has invited her to go with her, however, she never has.

MIRIAN JOAN SCHMIDT - roommate of Kathy - Sackett Hall rm 325

She has been Kathy's roommate since fall term of last year. Kathy receives letters from Christy on a regular basis, and to her knowledge, she has dated only one person during the time that she has known her. She knows this person only by

2. Possession of dangerous drugs

3. Possession of stolen credit cards

This subject was operating a green Ford Mustang, license CHU 824, at the time of his arrest. The vehicle is registered to a Michael F. WELLER, same address, phone number 752-4921. This subject was contacted at the Benton County jail and questioned in regards to his relationship with Kathy. He gave the following statement in substance.

He met Kathy early in the fall term at the Memorial Union and made a date with her. He took her to Nendls for dinner on that evening. Shortly after that Kathy's boyfriend from Louisiana arrived and he did not date her again. He saw her two or three times after that and went to her apartment but did not take her out again. Kathy told him she was in love with her boyfriend, Christy, and he made no further attempts to date her. He saw Kathy with Christy one time at the MU Commons, but did not talk to her. Kathy told him she did not know if she wanted to go to New Orleans to see Christy or home to San Francisco. She also told him that Christy was a scuba diver and was presently living in New Orleans. He resides at 329 N.W. 12th Street with Michael F. Weller. Michael has a brother attending OSU by the name of John WELLER. Both of them are from Lafayette, California, however, neither of the Weller boys knew Kathy until they enrolled at OSU. John Weller resides at room 406 Bloss Hall, telephone number 754-3867. Lawrence SHEARS was also questioned as to his location and activities on the night that Kathy disappeared. He claimed that around noon on May 6, he was with a subject by the name of BRUCE FRANZEN from Portland. They went to Eugene and visited Franzen's friends on the University of Oregon campus, and then returned to the residence of DAN MCCRAW, telephone number 777-7631. Bruce Franzen was with him when they were at the McCraw's residence. They left his house around 12:30 a.m on May 7, and arrived back in Corvallis around 2 or 2:30 a.m. on that date. He did not see Kathy or telephone her on that night. He last heard from Kathy two weeks ago when she called him to "Shoot the bull". He went over to see her a couple of times at her apartment at Sackett Hall, but her roommate said that she was asleep and he did not get to see her. He does not know anyone that Kathy has dated or associated with during the time that he knew her as Kathy talked extensively about being in love with her boyfriend from Louisiana.

MICHAEL WELLER - 329 N.W. 12th, Corvallis, Phone 752-4921

He stated that he last saw Kathy about a month ago when he invited her to a party at his apartment. Kathy said she would make it if she could, however, she did not arrive. He met her at the MU Commons during the winter term. He attended high school at Lafayette, California, however, he was a senior when she was a sophomore, and he does not remember ever having seen her. His brother, John, also went to school with Kathy but he doesn't believe that John knew her either.

[redacted] DOB: 4/26/51 Student, OSU

EDWARD SUMIDA - 233 Sackett B

He has known Kathy since Winter term this year. He also met her boyfriend, Christy, when he was living with Kathy during that time. Around 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. on May 6th, Kathy came to his room to talk. She was carrying a World Bible with her at the time. She mentioned that her brother-in-law, Paul, had called her earlier that evening and told her that her father had suffered a heart attack and was in the hospital. His condition was not critical, however, and she did not appear to be upset or depressed about it. Kathy left his room around 10:15 p.m. and he has not seen her since. For the past month, she has been telling him about her indecision as what to do about her relationship with Christy. She said she had told Christy of her decision to be on her own and did not want to go to Louisiana and live with him. She further told him that Christy had reluctantly accepted this decision. Kathy occasionally smokes marijuana and hashish, however she appeared perfectly normal when he saw her on the evening of May 6th, and did not act depressed about anything.

CHERELL SMITH - 327 Sackett Hall

She is a very shy girl and befriended Kathy during the last several months. On the evening that Kathy disappeared around 10:30 p.m. she and Kathy were doing physical exercises in the hallway outside of their room. They did their exercises for about one-half hour until they both returned to their rooms. She saw Kathy go into her room. Kathy's roommate, Bunny Schmidt, had told Kathy to come over to room 324 and see her when she finished her exercises. At about 11 p.m. Cherell came out of her room to see Kathy leaving her room walking down the hallway carrying her purse and wearing her coat. She spoke to Kathy who told her that she was going to the MU to get something to eat. Kathy appeared to act normal at the time and nothing was unusual about her. She did not seem depressed. Kathy asked her what time it was and she told her it was 11 o'clock. Kathy replied that she still had a half-hour before the MU closed. (The MU Commons closes at 11 p.m. on weekdays). She believes that Kathy was a very sensitive and quiet person and it was her desire to get to know her better. She has not seen Kathy since that time.

LORRAINE FARGO - 227 Sackett B, X 1196

She and Kathy had a mutual relationship in that both of them had the same problem with their boyfriends. Lorraine had resolved her problem by breaking up with her boyfriend, and Kathy had been confiding in her regarding her problems

Lorraine could see that Kathy was obviously very depressed and she suggested that they return to her room and discuss the matter. Kathy replied that she felt like being alone and just walking, and trying to straighten things out in her mind. She last saw Kathy turn the corner walking north up College Drive, toward Monroe Street, and she has not seen her since. During the past two weeks, Kathy has come to her room and discussed her problems, particularly her relationship with Christy. Kathy would become very emotional and begin crying until she was able to calm her. Kathy was somewhat of a loner and introvert, quiet and reserved. She was very particular about her health and appearance. She does not believe that Kathy would intentionally leave without notifying someone. If Kathy did leave on her own, she would have taken luggage with her unless she was intending on staying only overnight. She has no idea where Kathy would have gone. It was a very warm evening on May 6, 1974.

RICHARD P. CRAMER, Kathy's instructor in scuba diving during Winter term

Mr. Cramer took Kathy to the Newport Beach twice during Winter term to practice diving in the ocean. They went to Whale Cove which is approximately seven to eight miles north of Newport, however, the water was too rough and they returned to Newport where they practiced scuba diving under the Newport bridge. Kathy wanted to qualify for diving as her boyfriend, Christy, was a qualified diver. She did not adapt to the water well, and appeared to be afraid of the water. Several days prior to her disappearance, she came into his office and told him that she had broken up with her boyfriend, Christy. She was very depressed and stated that she needed to get ahold of herself, and wanted someone to confide in. She gave him no indication that she intended to leave the area or to possibly go to the Newport beach area for solitude.

DANIEL R. ANNETT - 980 S.E. Denman, Corvallis 752-3158

He is a student at OSU and met Kathy at the MU Commons during winter term. He stated that the only time that he ever talked with her was at the MU Commons area, with the exception of one occassion that he took her to a movie and to a party afterwards during the same night. This was about the second or third weekend in April. He believed her to be a very intense personality. They would talk at times about subjects other than superficial ones even though he did not know her very well. She seemed to want very badly to open up to others but then realized that she didn't know how to go about it. She would then become very frustrated and abandon the idea. He believes that the topics of conversation that they had which would be revelent in any respect to her disappearance is the fact that she had mentioned frequently that as soon as this term was over (Spring term) she would be going to New Orleans to be with her boyfriend, Chris. He also got the impression from things that she said that her parents did not approve of Chris. He believes that she may have gone to New Orleans without notifying her parents be-

Dr. NICHOLAS YONKER, Dept. Religious Studies, OSU, X 2921

Dr. Nicholas had Kathy in his class of Introduction to World Religions. She was scheduled to take an exam on April 23, however she did not show up. She contacted him two or three days later and asked if she could make up the exam, which he allowed her to do. When he talked to her on that day, her eyes were glazed and teary. He received the impression that she appeared to be under the influence of drugs, however she was perfectly coherent. She was obviously depressed and said she had personal problems. She appeared to be dazed and rather confused about something. He has not seen her since then.

CARL HOFFMAN, Grad Student on Sabattical leave. Residing at rm 105 College Inn 752-7127

Mr. Hoffman called and stated he has talked to Kathy Parks several times while they were in the MU Commons. The last time was about three weeks ago prior to her disappearance.

He stated she was a very mixed up girl, and seemed to be searching for a friend she could confide in. Mr. Hoffman is in his 50's and they seemed to have a good rapport. She wanted to know if she could talk further with him at some later time. He advised her to call him at the College Inn and he would be glad to talk to her about her problems. Kathy would always wave to Mr. Hoffman when they met, and seemed on friendly terms. He assured me that any calls or contacts she may initiate, he would immediately notify this office. He has not seen nor heard from her since he talked to her at the MU Commons about three weeks prior to her disappearance. He met Kathy's boyfriend, Chris, when he saw them at the MU.

CHRISTY J. MCPHEE, 1724 Riverroad, Berwick, Louisiana, phone 504-384-5241 Zip Code 70342

Christy arrived in Corvallis from Louisiana on May 12, after learning that Kathy was missing from OSU. He gave the following statement.

"From the best of my knowledge I last talked to Kathy on Thursday, May 2. I believe she called me collect in Louisiana. She just wanted to talk. There was nothing striking about her conversation. She just seemed relieved that I wasn't giving her a bad time about wanting to be on her own for a while. She seemed to think that would be best and nothing but good could come of it. The last letter that I received from her was on Friday, May 10. It was dated May 6 and post marked May 7. In the letter she sounded depressed over her father's heart attack and other things not specified. She seemed to have had a bad day that day and just said that she wanted to go out and walk around. That was the last I have heard from her. From what I have heard of her actions immediately

Dear Christy,

I got your letter today I often wonder what you think of me, being so far away. I had a usual day today, somewhat. Ma reports my Aunt Mary opened her eyes a few days ago, and actually looked human again for the first time since she got sick. That's a relief. Sharon called from my folk's house this morning (Ma is still in Alabama). Dad had a heart attack last night around midnight. Evidently he was conscious enough to call the doctor; get Sue out of bed to take him to the hospital. He's in the intensive caresection for cardiac patients now. Sharon says he's O.K. now. I'm shook up about it, and I know dad must be, also. I hope he changes his lifestyle after this. I'm feeling down right now, due to a combination of things, I suppose. To tell you the truth, I don't even feel like finishing this letter. I think I'll go walk around outside a while. I'm sorry this is such a bum letter - I really am. But, after all, everyone has their ups and downs. This day has especially had its share of bad news. Well - I'm looking forward to seeing you - very much. When you come, please put your arms around me and make me feel like everythings O.K. I really miss you. I'm needing the comfort of your presence now. I love you,

Kathy

Following is a transcribed letter from Kathy to Christy McPhee, postmarked May 6, 1974. The letter is not dated.

Christy, it was wonderful speaking with you - you lifted my cloud of loneliness for you. Bless Ma Bell - even though she's dammed. I've just completed my ½ hour of overall exercises. Yes - this is my "May month of Physical Fitness Program," 2nd night of ½ hour exercises. I always feel so relaxed and limber afterwards - going to keep at it for a least a month, this time around. I'm also playing a lot of basketball and riding my bike lately, so it's not as if I don't get enough exercise as it is. Right now I think I must feel the same way a kitten does asleep before a fire. I'm content after talking with you, relaxed from doing those exercises, sleepy because I'm stoned, and drifting on a wave of classical music. Today I heard "Nutcracker Suite" for the first time in years, it seems. It sounded beautiful to me. I love certain classical pieces very much, and too often I miss hearing them. What they have got on the radio now is O.K., but I especially like old familiar favorites I grew up with.

I love you - I feel I always will. You've lightened my heart tonight. I'm happy you were there - it was nice to hear your voice. Well - I'm very sleepy now - so, I think I'll go to bed - Remember - I care for you

Friday night

I saw B.B. King tonight - God - he is really something else. I'll never forget him as long as I live. He radiates warmth and good feelings like no

Kathy Tornow is getting married tomorrow, today now - April 4th, (believe she meant May 4th). I've been thinking about her alot off and on today. I smoked some hash with Ed awhile ago. I'll finish this tomorrow - I'm very, very sleepy - so sleepy I can barely think. Goodnight - I love you.

Saturday evening

Christy - it was beautiful her today! The weather is great. I sat out with Joanne again in the sun a long while. This is "Moms" weekend. Mothers abounding everywhere. Everyone seems to be enjoying themselves - with this sun - how could they not? I just got back from riding my bike out in the country - the setting sun threw a goldish hue over everything. I also did my exercises for ½ hour, and there was a fair up in the M.U. Quad this morning. All the usual arts and crafts (the one where I got you your ring had better craftsmanship, I thought). Still, it was fun. I bought a long, full, dark green skirt - very light material and the blouse that went with it. It cost $11. I got a good deal. It's sewn pretty good, and the cost of material (a very full skirt) and labor would come to that, anyway, if not a little more. Seems like it would, but then they would be selling at a loss, right? Kathy Tornow is married now - wish I could have been at her wedding. I'm stoned again, so I think I must be letting myself ramble on pretty much in my writing. That's been my day, quite a bit of it, anyway, I want you to know I've been thinking of you. When I was riding my bicycle in the light of the evening sun, I thought of you and I was wishing you could have been with me, the world looked so beautiful. The air is sweet and smells a little like hay. Summer feels like she's on her way good and strong. Oh, Christy, please don't ever worry about losing me, don't ever give it a thought. You are in my heart, and I think of you often, no matter whom I'm with, or what I'm doing. Nothing you could ever do would ever make me love you less. I accept you completely. If I loved you any less because of the way you are and live, I would not really love you. But I do, so I can say I love you, and I will, all my life. I know I'll never find another you. You are a vital person, and have a hell of a lot to offer this world. I care for you, I want you to be happy, give yourself a good time and feel absolutely free in doing so, knowing that I'll love you, simply because you are you. I miss you, Christy, and I love you very much. Guess I'd better get this off to you.

I love you, (signed)
Kathy

The following is a transcribed copy of a letter which was written by Kathy, and found in her room. The letter bears no date or salutation and appears to be a recording of her thoughts at the time. It's unknown when Kathy wrote this letter which was never mailed. It was found in the waste basket in her room.

There is something I feel I must do in becoming completely happy and at ease with myself inside, before I settle down. I must have the certain knowledge inside of me of realizing I can go it alone in this world. At this point, I know I am insecure and more than a little unsure of my own ability to cope with the world by myself. I want to have that feeling inside of me, and I want to build up my self confidence and faith in myself. After this is done, then I can think of settling down, knowing I am a better person for it.

This decision is nothing against you, you are a good man, and a loving one. I love you as much as ever. My feelings toward you have not changed in the least. My plans for my own future have, though.

It hasn't been easy for me to ask myself what I truly want for myself, but, I did, and I know, I just know I need more time to become my own person. I need time to grow, and feel worthy of myself. If I come to live with you now, I will never know complete personal independence. I feel I must know this before I can give completely without any reservations ever blocking my love.

I also think any ties of commitment should not be binding if they are decidely going to interfere with one's personal happiness and well being. If I promise to jump off a cliff, I think it's only fair for me to be able to change my mind, if I think it would be an unwise thing for me to go through with that commitment. I'm not equating living with you as being as throwing myself off a cliff, but, in a way, it is. I think after a year or so I would become discontent, simply because I have never had the chance of being on my own. I want to give myself that chance. I think it's best for me.

I feel as though I've just changed the course of my life before the future has even arrived. "Set me adrift in a sea of hope - I'll set my sail to a new horizon" Keep the faith in me, Christy. I love you, more than ever. Trust in me, I've got to have more time. I've got to know when I'm ready to settle down. You've got to accept that I have to know that if you love me like you tell me you do, you've got to give and take. We both do. Don't turn your love away from me, just give me time. I need time to grow and let my love grow. Please try to understand my feelings.

That letter is unsigned.

The following is a similar transcribed copy which is undated and unaddressed, written by Kathy and found in her room.

This is something I wrote a while back. There ain't anything like the "real dad was the right one for her, just as dad thought she was the right girl for him, Now, neither one of them asked the other to wait, it would be fair to neither of them. More than likely they would end up hating each other if they had promised to wait for each other, fingers crossed. My ma came to dad when she knew in her heart she was ready to settle down. Their love for each other was true, and they were ready for each other.

Following is a transcribed copy of a letter written to Kathy from Christy dated April 23, 1974.

Dear Kathy:

I'm laying here in my bunk on the barge. I'm afraid Kathy, I'm afraid that we may be drifting apart. I don't want that to happen, Kathy, I love you, I love you more than I could love anyone else, and I'm pretty sure that you love me. I don't really understand why you made such a turnabout in plans I thought we had made. You said something about wanting to be independent and not have to be dependent on me. But then you say you're going to be living at your sisters. It seems to me you're just transferring it from me to them. I want you to be dependent on me to a certain extent. You really mean something to me, Kathy, you're the most important thing in my life. You make it seem like there's some meaning to my life when I have you, but without you there just doesn't seem to be very much. You give me something to work for, certain goals to achieve. Without you those dreams are unachievable. Sure, I could find something else to work for, but the life with you is the happy one. I don't want to be away from you for so long. I'm afraid you'll drift away from me and I might never see you again. When I think of not having you I get this really empty feeling or something in my gut. It happens all the time now because, since you dropped the bombshell last night, I think about it all the time. Tonight while eating dinner I thought about it and I couldn't eat. When I looked out the window at the ocean and thought of what it would be like without you I felt really sick, and all I wanted to do was go lie in my bunk. Writing this now makes me feel that way. I'm confused, Kathy. I love you. I never want to be without you. Please stay with me. I'm very weary Kathy, I must sleep.

April 24, 1974

Kathy, I got the word this morning I'm going home, the job is over. I'll be talking to you tonight but I'm sending this anyway. I really wonder why it is you changed your mind. I love you Kathy, I don't want to lose you.

Since Kathy's disappearance all points teletype bulletins have been sent to all police agencies in Oregon, California and Washington, notifying them of her disappearance, her description,and several possible destinations. She has indicated to friends in the past that she would like to get away from Oregon State University and possibly go to the World's Fair, or return to her sister's residence in Blackpoint, California. On another occasion she has mentioned that she would just like to leave campus and go to Portland and walk the streets. It is extremely doubtful at this time that she intended to return home because of her father's heart attack, as she has not arrived, after being missing for over a week. We have made inquiries of the main hospitals in the Portland, Corvallis Albany areas with negative results. Each of these hospitals have been requested to contact the Campus Security Office immediately if they receive information as to her location.

The Corvallis Police Department, Benton County Sheriff's office, Oregon State Police, FBI have been alerted as to her disappearance, and are coordinating their efforts with the Campus Security department to locate her.

Her boyfriend, Christy McPhee, and her brother-in-law, Paul Kaehler, believe that Kathy may have gone to the Newport beach area to seek solitude. We have placed telephone calls to various police agencies in the Newport, Florence, and Lincoln City areas, notifying them of her disappearance, and have also sent photographs to each of these departments and requested that they be on the look-out for her. We have also received cooperation from the local and main channels of the news media which have broadcasted Kathy's description, listing her as a missing person, and asking anyone that may have seen her to notify the Campus Security Department. This information has been channled through the OSU Department of Information.

The local Greyhound bus depot has been checked for possible leads to the location of Kathy. It was learned, however, that the ticket office closes at 9 p.m. on weekdays and that individual drivers would have to be located in order to possibly identify her. At this time attempts are being made to locate drivers of Greyhound buses who were in Corvallis on the night of May 6th or early morning hours of May 7th, 1974.

One positive lead which has been developed is Kathy's checking account at Citizen's Bank, downtown branch, Corvallis. On May 6th, she received a $50 check from her mother,

Christy McPhee and Paul Kaehler have also contacted the Corvallis Gazette Times and had missing persons bulletins printed (800) which they are distributing in the area in an attempt to locate her. Information from Paul Kaehler is that Kathy's grandfather has offered $500 reward for information leading to her location.

Kathy's oldest sister, Sharon Kaehler, has stated that Kathy may have gone to the World's Fair in Spokane, Washington. Kathy did tell her about wanting to go to the fair, however, Sharon does not think she would go until she was out of school this term. Information was recently received from Mr. Paul Kaehler, (Kathy's brother-in-law) that her father is now aware of her disappearance.

Christy McPhee indicated that over Christmas vacation last year, he and Kathy had hitchhiked to his aunt's residence in Canada, and that she had become very fond of this area. His aunt, MARY McPHEE, area code 604-729-3438, was contacted, and she advised that she has not seen Kathy, but will call the Campus Security Office if Kathy arrives at her residence.

A telephone call was also placed to the Spokane Police Department and a photograph of Kathy sent to them. They will furnish this information to the Security Department at the World's Fair in Spokane, and notify us of any information they receive.

A telephone call was also placed to Berwick, Louisiana where Christy McPhee resides. They were alerted to the information of the disappearance of Kathy and a photograph and description sent to them. They will notify us immediately if she arrives in their city, looking for her boyfriend, Christy McPhee.

Kathy indicated to Christy that she would like to get a job dancing in a night club or "Go Go" club if she decided to live with him in Louisiana. Considering the possibility that she might go to Portland and seek work, the following contact was made.

EDDIE HEISLER THEATRICAL AGENCY
13606 S.E. McLoughlin Blvd.
Portland, Oregon
Phone 659-3545

Mr. Heisler was contacted by telephone and advised of the missing girl and the reward offered. He stated that all female entertainers in Portland must go through his agency for employment, regardless if it is a private club or not. Photos are taken of each girl and employment records kept. He has no record of Roberta Kathleen Parks, or Kathy Parks, but will contact the OSU Security office

MR. & MRS. CHARLES PARKS - Kathy's parents
1117 Rahard Drive
Lafayette, California
Phone (415) 284-5461

On May 17, 1974, Mr. Parks telephoned the writer from the hospital in Lafayette to inquire about his daughter. He will be in this hospital for the next two weeks, and can be reached at phone (415) 939-3000, room 408. He was advised of the action being taken in an attempt to locate his daughter, and he will be kept advised daily of any progress made. Mrs. Parks was with him at the hospital at the time he called. She advises that Kathy might go to the World's Fair in Spokane as her younger sister, 101B will be appearing there on May 25th as a member of a high school singing group known as "Acalanes." 101B plays the piano and sings. Kathy was aware of her appearance at the World's Fair at that time, and indicated she would like to be there and see her perform. The Spokane, Washington Police Department has been alerted of this, and will attempt to locate 101B when she appears at the fair. They have been notified of Kathy's disappearance and a photo and missing person bulletin has been mailed to them.

An incident involving a screaming girl being forced into a vehicle on campus on or about the same evening that Kathy disappeared was investigated and cleared after it was determined that it was nothing more than a prank and not related to this investigation. Sergeant Wayne Ross's report is attached.

Investigation is continuing and another report will follow.

Bill Harris received a report from Brad PETERSON of an incident that happened on the north side of McNary Hall involving a screaming girl being put into a black Volvo, then driving back onto campus. He asked that we try to trace it down.

At 6:42 PM I went to McNary Hall to start interviewing people on the north half of the building. I talked to the clerk at the main desk first to see if she had any ideas or had heard anything, she said she had not heard a thing. As we were talking, a resident of McNary walked up and I asked him where he lived in the building and if he had seen or heard of any of the incident I described to him. He stated he did, along with his friend who was visiting him. His name is: Robert MARLOWE
428 McNary Hall

his friend is: Doug PARKINSON

They each gave a statement of what they saw.

After meeting Officer Glass on a lower floor and finding he had not results we went back to the main desk relating what we had and saying it looked like someone may have been taken for a dip in the fountain. At this time Mrs. Wright, the desk clerk said they had had several of those lately and someone said there could have been a girl from McNary involved. At this I had her call the girl RA's from 2nd and 3rd floors to talk to them. Barbara CHAPMAN, room 201, X-1258, RA on 2nd said she had a girl who had been thrown in several times. Her names is: Mary HARKINS
236 McNary Hall

At 10:15 PM I contacted her and Robert MERCER, 621 McNary Hall, X-2887 one of the people involved in the incident. He gave me all the names of the rest:

I received a phone call on Monday night at around 10:00 PM, I got off the phone at about 11:00 PM. After I got off the phone I was headed for McNary Hall. I was going to visit Dan Woodward and Larry Niemela. On my way over to McNary I was walking by the bike racks when I heard a girl yell HELP. I stopped and saw these people pushing this girl into the back seat of a car. The car was shaped like a Volvo. It was a dark colored car. Either a black or dark blue or dark green/ I would say that there was five people in the car, not counting the girl they put in the back seat. There were three people in the back seat and two people in the front seat. The girl was laying on the laps of the three people. I would say that at least one of the five people involved was a girl.

The reason I say that it was Monday, May6th, is because I knew that what I had seen was around Mom's Weekend. Then I remembered that I had a phone call On Monday, which was May 6th. That is why I'm pretty sure that what I saw was on May 6th.

The car was out front of McNary Hall in front of the bike racks facing east. As soon as the girl in the back seat of the car, the car made a U-turn and went west on Jefferson Street.

The people involved appeared to be of college age. They could have been just playing around.

I would say that this happened a little past 11:00 PM. Probably 11:05 PM.

The following is a transcirbed copy of a written statement of Robert Mercer:

Approximately 11:00 Saturday night, May 4th, three boys and one girl carried another girl into a Volvo parked in McNary front area. They drove her to the Library fountain and were going to throw her in, but the fountain was empty. So they took her and dumped her into the fountain at the Corvallis Gazette Times and ditched her there. Then they met her back at the dorm about twenty minutes later.

On Saturday night, May 4, 1974, at 11:00 PM I was taken from my room in McNary (236) by Robert Mercer, Stan Rutledge, Jef Schrum and Diane Luckeroth outside, through the bikerack and taken into a black Volvo. I was screaming and yelling my head off because I knew what would be at the end of our ride. We drove to the Library fountain, which was empty. We then went to the fountain in fron of the Corvallis Gazette Times and I was thrown in the water. I walked back to my room at McNary and my "friends" were already there.

Transcribied copy of written statement of Robert Marlowe:

As close as I can remember, I saw two people putting a girl with long hair, wearing blue jeans, into a dark colored (dark blue or black) small foreign car (I remember thinking it was a VW). There was a person in the back seat of the car and also one in the drivers seat besides the two who put the girl in the car.

The girl made it clear she did not want to go with them. I distinctly remember that at one point she said, "They're kidanpping me."

After they loaded her in the car, the car made a U-turn and headed back up to the signal light. The aar proceeded up campus towards the Library pool (the people who loaded the girl into the car had said they were going to throw her into the pool).

At t;his time aI quit paying attention because it did appear that they were going to throw her into the pool.

I saw all this take place from my window in 428 McNary. As I remember it, it happéned on May 6th around 11:00 PM.

/s/ Robert Marlowe

Transcribed copy of written statement of Doug Parkison:

In regards to the incident out in front of McNary at 11:00 PM or thereabouts on May 5 or May 6, I heard this girl yelling and screaming something like "no, don't". This arrested my interest since it was a real quiet night. I stood up to look out my window to see what was going on. I heard something like "let's take her up to the library and dunk her". She protested quite vehemently. I assumed she was one of the boys girlfriends. They slid her into the backseat of the small car. It could have been a volkswagon or a Volvo type. I felt it was a VW at first sight, but being poor at car identification it might have been a Volvo. But I say it was a VW that I say. It seemed at first recollection that black was its color, but the impression came that it was red. Now, I can not be sure of the color. Rob and I distinctly talked over the possibility of strange occurances and criminal actions. But we became intrigued in license plate. I am unable to remember it. I was interested in seeing if they went up straight past the library which they did. This convinced me their intentions were honourable.

At least two boys helped put the girl bodily into the back seat where someone was in the backseat the whole time of the loading operation.

Then one got in the backseat, the other got in the car to where I'm not sure. But all took off together and made an U-turn in the street below our window at room 428.

The girl had long hair a little longer than shoulder length, a blondish

Case No 74-00336

Date 7/25/74 Time 10:50 am Place Office of Veterans Affairs

Statement of: Dorothy Nourse Address 605 E. 1st Ave-Ellensburg, WA

As I was coming back to work to the campus and crossing the street at 7th and Walnut I noticed a young man leaning against the post at the corner (No Parking-Here to Corner) of Muzzall Hall. The young man was staring very intently at a large group of girls (Cheerleaders). These girls were in the middle of the block between Sampson and Walnut on 7th - their baggage was all lined up and they were waiting for transportation to take them from the campus. (This was at 1:00 pm on July 19, 1974)

The young man definitely fits the description of the composite sketch in the Crier July 25, 1974. He had medium brown curly hair that seemed to be cut the same length all over and middle-of-the-neck length (fine- bushy) - he particularly attracted my attention because he was staring so hard and when I got to him and looked directly in his face he just continued this stare. He had dark brown eyes (I looked directly into them and couldn't see the pupils)- He was dressed in medium brown shirt and medium brown trousers (not tan) - slight built - and narrow, pointed nose - slender face (Approximately 150 - 160 lbs -5 ft 7 in. tall) His complexion was smooth.

He did not have a cast on either arm.

I had such a peculiar feeling about the man - after I walked a little further I decided to turn around and ask him something (probably, If he was looking for someone) - but when I started towards him again - he walked very briskly away from me-taking short, fast steps.

Statement of: Jane Marie Curtis Address 416 Walnut Apt. #4.

I am a college student (Junior) who works in the Curr. Lab. at C.W.S.C. Library. After work Sunday nite, (mid) (APRIL) Spring Quarter)... about 9:00 P.M. I walked out of the Library to go back to my apartment. Right outside of main entrance a man came up behind me and grabbed me around the neck with his left arm... I couldn't see his face... I could only see his arm. He said "Don't say anything or I'll kill you"... I was very frightened... I thought he was going to rape me... I was very frightened that he was going to kill me... I was very scared... I thought he was going to kill me... I was very scared... I thought he was going to kill me... I was very scared... I thought

I asked how he hurt his arm... he said me it was a stinging accident... he hit a tree... he told me it happened at Crystal Mt. Wash. Then a Skier, and to me he just didn't look like the Skier type. He was quietly dressed with a dark wool hat on... dark long hair When he looked at me... it sort of bugged me... 2 big eyes staring at me weirdly (don't remember if he had wire glass on or not) ... we walked under railroad tracks and turned right -- north side of trestle on Chestnut. His car was parked there on the right side of road... facing towards "Big John's"... I remember clearly it was a "yellow Volkswagon" --- with the high back seats --- but I remember the passenger seat wasn't in the car --- it was gone. When we were standing next to car... he started complaining about his arm: "Oh, my arm hurts!"

Sheriff Redmond:

One of your deputies phoned me yesterday regarding the meeting set for today for a coordinated investigation of the four missing coeds from Washington. I was unable to attend the meeting due to the short notice, however, enclosed is a copy of our department's reports covering approximately the first two weeks of the investigation concerning the missing coed at Oregon State University, Roberta Kathleen Parks. As of this date, we have no positive leads to her present location.

Kathy was a rather reserved girl who had few close friends during her year on this campus. She had very few dates here as her fiance was the only young man she was interested in. He is presently staying on campus and assisting us in checking out leads.

There has been no evidence found to indicate foul play in her disappearance, and her emotional state of mind at the time indicates she may have intentionally left this area and does not want to be found.

On June 1, approximately 200 volunteers conducted a search of this county, covering wooded areas, back roads and rivers. No evidence of Kathy was found.

Let me know if we can be of further assistance, and I wish you luck in your search for Donna Gail Manson. If you believe there is a connection between the missing girls in Washington and Kathy Parks from this university, please let me know.

Sincerely,

William R. Harris

MISSING PERSON

On May 9th at 2:30 P.M., the writer phoned Roberta Parks residence in LaFayette, California. Her younger sister, 101B [redacted], advised that she has not arrived home yet. The family is aware that she is missing from campus. The missing girl received a telephone call from another sister, Sharon Kaehler, Blackpoint, California, that her father had a heart attack. Roberta did not indicate that she intended to come home, however, they believe that she is probably on her way as she is quite excitable. Further information from her girl friend at OSU, JOANNE STEVENS, 329 West Hall, X-2066, is that Roberta withdrew money from her savings account but did not indicate she was going home.

Miss Stevens is also from LaFayette, California. She will be contacted for any additional information she may have regarding the location of Roberta Parks.

Susan Parks said she would phone the OSU Security Office if and when Roberta arrives. She believes that Roberta has probably taken a bus home.

Miss Lydia White, Asst. Director of Residence Programs, has contacted Joanne Stevens. She learned that Roberta is a very independent girl who frequently travels on week-ends. Miss Stevens believes that the girl may have gone to the World's Fair or possibly home after learning of her father's illness. Miss White further advised that the girl's mother has now returned home from Alabama, and Lydia White will telephone her this evening for any new developments.

At approximately 8:22 PM 10 May 1974, an interview was held in the Head Resident's quarters at Sackett Hall and was attended by the following named persons:

1. Mr. Ray HOYT - Head Resident, Sackett Hall
2. Renee FERGISON - Student, West Hall room 323 (has Food Class with Roberta Parks)
3. Edward Warren SUMIDA - Student, Sackett Hall room 233, X3070 (friend of Roberta Parks)
4. Mirian Joan SCHMIDT - Student, Sackett Hall (friend and roommate of Roberta Parks)

Missing from the interview but are very close friends of Roberta Parks:

1. Joanne (Joey) STEVENS - Student, West Hall room 329
2. Sarah DUGAN - Student, West Hall room 313

The following information was received from Miss Schmidt, Miss Fergison, and Mr. Sumida. All agree Miss Parks had only a few friends with which she talked or went out with and then only around campus. For instance trips to the Library Building were very few as most of Miss Parks studying was done in her room. She (Parks) would go to the Memorial Union seldom and then not unless it was with one of the mentioned subjects in this report.

All agreed she was little moody at times and in many instances would stay by herself.

(X 3222) Miss Parks does take classes in Scuba Diving, conducted at the Men's Gym by Mr. Kramer. It was learned she has some of the equipment in her room but rents tanks and wet suits from the Divers Den, 2744 SW 3rd Street, City, (telephone number 753-2377). This class (a hobby) she is most interested in and has taken at least three (3) trips to the coast with the class.

At times Miss Parks would ride her bike on campus and also the bike paths at Avery Park. A check was made of her bike and it was found to be in the regular place with the chain and lock (lock is broken). Check of her room by roommate Miss Schmidt indicated the leg light which she used was still in her room, indicating this was not used on the night in question.

When asked if Miss Parks would hitch a ride to go any place away from campus, all indicated she would never hitch hike, but would ask Edward Sumida to take her. For instance if she wanted to pick up a wet suit or tanks for her diving class he would take her. On one occassion Mr. Sumida did take Miss Parks to Portland to go shopping and they returned early in the evening.

Miss Schmidt stated that on the night in question both she and Miss Parks intended to go to another room (334) in Sackett Hall to visit, this was around 10:55 PM to 11:00 PM. When departing their room Parks said "Go ahead and I'll be over in a while." Miss Schmidt went to room 334 in Sackett and about fifteen (15) minutes later she went back to see why Miss Parks was not coming over, this was when Miss Schmidt found her roommate missing.

Each of those interviewed stated they could not understand why or what has happened and also why none has been called by Miss Parks as each considered they all are best of friends.

The interview closed at approximately 10:15 PM 10 May 1974.

Missing Person

10 May 1974

An interview with Miss SCHMIDT (roommate) indicated Roberta PARKS did in fact have a problem as she (Parks) had been going to the 403 [redacted] for quite sometime. One of her problems was that she and her father did not get along and then she was recently notified her father had just been hospitalized with a slight heart attack. She did state she believed he (her father) would be in good hands.

Miss Schmidt stated lately Miss Parks had been reading the World Bible but did not think she had gone overboard with religion. When asked about habits (good or bad), Miss Schmidt replied no drinking, only that she smoked. When asked about drugs, Miss Schmidt was reluctant to answer and finally said Miss Parks was a frequent smoker of pot but used pot only while in Sackett Hall.

One other problem was a boyfriend living in Louisiana, who she had planned on living with this summer, but had changed her mind and had called him about her change of plans. Instead Miss Parks mentioned a trip to visit her sister (who lives out of state)sometime during the summer months.

Whether the information about her father, religion, pot, boyfriend, and the fact her 403 [redacted] were not helping may have brought a new low to Miss Parks could not be determined. But it should be considered a factor in her disappearance.

Miss Schmidt stated to this officer she could not understand why the two (2) friends of Miss Parks had gone to Portland when her roommate was missing. She was referring to a Joey STEVENS (west Hall) and Sarah DUGAN (west Hall). Both are Oregon State University students. She believed both of these persons were holding information back as neither wanted to talk to the police about this incident until Sarah Dugan talked to her father who is a FBI agent in Portland. Both parties are in Portland this weekend and will be back Monday, 13 May 1974.

An interview with Edward SUMIDA showed he was at a complete loss as to the disappearance of Miss Parks and could give no reason for her leaving.

When questioned regarding pot and how often Miss Parks used it he was afraid to answer until this Officer indicated this was for information of Miss Parks only. At this time Sumida stated he would give her a joint or two whenever she asked. When questioned if it was possible she (Parks) went off campus to obtain pot Sumida stated he did not think so. When asked about any other drugs, a negative reply was given.

Mr. Sumida stated he had taken Miss Parks to rent wet suits and tanks as he is the only one who has transportation (vehicle) that Miss Parks is friendly with.

found in her desk drawer from her boyfriend, Christy McPhee, indicate that Kathy was attempting to break off their relationship, that she wanted to be on her own and maintain her independence rather than being burdened with a marriage and a permanent responsibility. Information from Kathy's closest friends indicate that she was in a very depressed condition due to the fact she could not make a decision as to if she should break off her relationship with Christy or return to Louisiana after spring term and attempt to explain her feelings to him.

The following two girls were close friends of Kathys and gave the following statements.

#1. JOANNE STEVENS - 329 West Hall
Home address: Lafayette, California

Joanne attended Junior High School and high school with Kathy. She knows that Kathy was very close to Christy, who lived with her during fall and winter term. Kathy and Christy hitchhiked to Canada during the winter term just prior to Christmas. She also knows that Kathy has been seeing a psychiatrist while she has been a student at Oregon State University as well as a high school student in Lafayette, California. Kathy took frquent walks in the evening from her room in Sackett Hall to the Memorial Union Commons to get refreshments. This was usually between 9:30 p.m. and 11 p.m. in the evenings. Kathy recently told her that she had received a $50 check from her mother which she had deposited in her checking account at Citizen's bank in Corvallis. When Kathy failed to return to her room on the evening of May 6, she did not report her missing for the first two days because she did not want to alarm anyone and thought that Kathy probably just wanted to be alone and get away for a day or two as she was quite upset over her relationship with Christy.

#2. SARAH ANN DUGAN - 313 West Hall

She met Kathy through Joanne Stevens. They last saw Kathy when the three of them were playing basketball outside of Sackett Hall around 8 p.m. Monday, May 6. Kathy had already been notified of her father's heart attack by her sister Sharon, earlier that afternoon. Kathy was in a good mood, indicating that she probably should have been there when her father was in the hospital but that her sister had told her that her father was all right and that she was not to worry about it. Kathy told her that she takes walks in the evenings and has invited her to go with her, however, she never has.

MIRIAN JOAN SCHMIDT - roommate of Kathy - Sackett Hall rm 325

She has been Kathy's roommate since fall term of last year. Kathy receives letters from Christy on a regular basis, and to her knowledge, she has dated only one person during the time that she has known her. She knows this person only by Larry, and believes him to be wierd and Kathy complained that he was bothersome to her. It was learned that this subject's name is:

LAWRENCE CONSTANT SHEARS, DOB: 10 Oct. '53 present address: 329 N.W. 12th, Corvallis

Subject was arrested by Corvallis Police Department at 7:30 a.m. 5/11/74, for the following charges:

1. Possession of burglary tools

2. Possession of dangerous drugs

3. Possession of stolen credit cards

This subject was operating a green Ford Mustang, license CHU 824, at the time of his arrest. The vehicle is registered to a Michael F. WELLER, same address, phone number 752-4921. This subject was contacted at the Benton County jail and questioned in regards to his relationship with Kathy. He gave the following statement in substance. 752-2316

He met Kathy early in the fall term at the Memorial Union and made a date with her. He took her to Nendls for dinner on that evening. Shortly after that Kathy's boyfriend from Louisiana arrived and he did not date her again. He saw her two or three times after that and went to her apartment but did not take her out again. Kathy told him she was in love with her boyfriend, Christy, and he made no further attempts to date her. He saw Kathy with Christy one time at the MU Commons, but did not talk to her. Kathy told him she did not know if she wanted to go to New Orleans to see Christy or home to San Francisco. She also told him that Christy was a scuba diver and was presently living in New Orleans. He resides at 329 N.W. 12th Street with Michael F. Weller. Michael has a brother attending OSU by the name of John WELLER. Both of them are from Lafayette, California, however, neither of the Weller boys knew Kathy until they enrolled at OSU. John Weller resides at room 406 Bloss Hall, telephone number 754-3867. Lawrence SHEARS was also questioned as to his location and activities on the night that Kathy disappeared. He claimed that around noon on May 6, he was with a subject by the name of BRUCE FRANZEN from Portland. They went to Eugene and visited Franzen's friends on the University of Oregon campus, and then returned to the residence of DAN MCCRAW, telephone number 777-7631. Bruce Franzen was with him when they were at the McCraw's residence. They left his house around 12:30 a.m on May 7, and arrived back in Corvallis around 2 or 2:30 a.m. on that date. He did not see Kathy or telephone her on that night. He last heard from Kathy two weeks ago when she called him to "Shoot the bull". He went over to see her a couple of times at her apartment at Sackett Hall, but her roommate said that she was asleep and he did not get to see her. He does not know anyone that Kathy has dated or associated with during the time that he knew her as Kathy talked extensively about being in love with her boyfriend from Louisiana.

He stated that he last saw Kathy about a month ago when he invited her to a party at his apartment. Kathy said she would make it if she could, however, she did not arrive. He met her at the MU Commons during the winter term. He attended high school at Lafayette, California, however, he was a senior when she was a sophomore, and he does not remember ever having seen her. His brother, John, also went to school with Kathy but he doesn't believe that John knew her either.

THOMAS LEROY HAYDEN - Black/Male, DOB: 4/26/51, Student, OSU

He met Kathy during Winter term at the MU Commons. He spoke to her on several occasions, and their conversation consisted mainly of general topics. She frequently spoke of her boyfriend, Chris, who was somewhere back south. She indicated she was going to either go back there and see him or live with her sister in California after school was out. He never saw her any place other than at the MU, and never dated her or went over to her apartment. He believes she may have gone back south to see Chris as she told him several times that she was in love with this person.

ties with." She believes Kathy was very unpredictable, very insecure, and possibly capable of suicide.

The following is an account as to Katy's activities during the evening of May 6, 1974.

EDWARD SUMIDA - 233 Sackett B

He has known Kathy since Winter term this year. He also met her boyfriend, Christy, when he was living with Kathy during that time. Around 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. on May 6th, Kathy came to his room to talk. She was carrying a World Bible with her at the time. She mentioned that her brother-in-law, Paul, had called her earlier that evening and told her that her father had suffered a heart attack and was in the hospital. His condition was not critical, however, and she did not appear to be upset or depressed about it. Kathy left his room around 10:15 p.m. and he has not seen her since. For the past month, she has been telling him about her indecision as what to do about her relationship with Christy. She said she had told Christy of her decision to be on her own and did not want to go to Louisiana and live with him. She further told him that Christy had reluctantly accepted this decision. Kathy occasionally smokes marijuana and hashish, however she appeared perfectly normal when he saw her on the evening of May 6th, and did not act depressed about anything.

CHERELL SMITH - 327 Sackett Hall

She is a very shy girl and befriended Kathy during the last several months. On the evening that Kathy disappeared around 10:30 p.m. she and Kathy were doing physical exercises in the hallway outside of their room. They did their exercises for about one-half hour until they both returned to their rooms. She saw Kathy go into her room. Kathy's roommate, Bunny Schmidt, had told Kathy to come over to room 324 and see her when she finished her exercises. At about 11 p.m. Cherell came out of her room to see Kathy leaving her room walking down the hallway carrying her purse and wearing her coat. She spoke to Kathy who told her that she was going to the MU to get something to eat. Kathy appeared to act normal at the time and nothing was unusual about her. She did not seem depressed. Kathy asked her what time it was and she told her it was 11 o'clock. Kathy replied that she still had a half-hour before the MU closed. (The MU Commons closes at 11 p.m. on weekdays). She believes that Kathy was a very sensitive and quiet person and it was her desire to get to know her better. She has not seen Kathy since that time.

LORRAINE FARGO - 227 Sackett B, X 1196

She and Kathy had a mutual relationship in that both of them had the same problem with their boyfriends. Lorraine had resolved her problem by breaking up with her boyfriend, and Kathy had been confiding in her regarding her problems with Christy. Shortly after 11 p.m. on May 6, she was returning to Sackett Hall from the library when seeing Kathy walking east on Jefferson at the intersection of College Drive and Jefferson Street, at the southwest corner of Memorial Union Hall. Kathy was wearing her corduroy jacket, and carrying her purse at the time. She had no luggage with her, and appeared to be "very low" at the time. They stopped and talked for approximately 5 minutes at this location. She appeared to be dazed and in a dream. Kathy told her in a very casual manner of her father's heart attack. She appeared to be completely unmoved by this. Kathy said she had told Christy of her feelings, that she wanted to be on her own, that she did not want any obligations, and did not want to continue their relationship on a permanent basis. Kathy also said that she had not been to class in a week and that she had been drinking heavily. She was also a heavy cigarette smoker.

Lorraine could see that Kathy was obviously very depressed and she suggested that they return to her room and discuss the matter. Kathy replied that she felt like being alone and just walking, and trying to straighten things out in her mind. She last saw Kathy turn the corner walking north up College Drive, toward Monroe Street, and she has not seen her since. During the past two weeks, Kathy has come to her room and discussed her problems, particularly her relationship with Christy. Kathy would become very emotional and begin crying until she was able to calm her. Kathy was somewhat of a loner and introvert, quiet and reserved. She was very particular about her health and appearance. She does not believe that Kathy would intentionally leave without notifying someone. If Kathy did leave on her own, she would have taken luggage with her unless she was intending on staying only overnight. She has no idea where Kathy would have gone. It was a very warm evening on May 6, 1974.

Mr. Cramer took Kathy to the Newport Beach twice during Winter term to practice diving in the ocean. They went to Whale Cove which is approximately seven to eight miles north of Newport, however, the water was too rough and they returned to Newport where they practiced scuba diving under the Newport bridge. Kathy wanted to qualify for diving as her boyfriend, Christy, was a qualified diver. She did not adapt to the water well, and appeared to be afraid of the water. Several days prior to her disappearance, she came into his office and told him that she had broken up with her boyfriend, Christy. She was very depressed and stated that she needed to get ahold of herself, and wanted someone to confide in. She gave him no indication that she intended to leave the area or to possibly go to the Newport beach area for solitude.

DANIEL R. ANNETT - 980 S.E. Denman, Corvallis 752-3158

He is a student at OSU and met Kathy at the MU Commons during winter term. He stated that the only time that he ever talked with her was at the MU Commons area, with the exception of one occassion that he took her to a movie and to a party afterwards during the same night. This was about the second or third weekend in April. He believed her to be a very intense personality. They would talk at times about subjects other than superficial ones even though he did not know her very well. She seemed to want very badly to open up to others but then realized that she didn't know how to go about it. She would then become very frustrated and abandon the idea. He believes that the topics of conversation that they had which would be revelent in any respect to her disappearance is the fact that she had mentioned frequently that as soon as this term was over (Spring term) she would be going to New Orleans to be with her boyfriend, Chris. He also got the impression from things that she said that her parents did not approve of Chris. He believes that she may have gone to New Orleans without notifying her parents because of this. He last saw her about two weeks ago at the MU. She was talking to some people he did not know; he greeted her and continued on his way. She spent alot of time at the MU Commons, generally by herself. She was somewhat of a loaner. He feels that she might be capable of erratic behaviour that might prompt her to just take off based on his own observation of the intenseness of her attitude if something was not just right in her world. She gave him the impression she genuinely loved Christy and that is where she would have gone.

Dr. NICHOLAS YONKER, Dept. Religious Studies, OSU, X 2921

Dr. Nicholas had Kathy in his class of Introduction to World Religions. She was scheduled to take an exam on April 23, however she did not show up. She contacted him two or three days later and asked if she could make up the exam, which he allowed her to do. When he talked to her on that day, her eyes were glazed and teary. He received the impression that she appeared to be under the influence of drugs, however she was perfectly coherent. She was obviously depressed and said she had personal problems. She appeared to be dazed and rather confused about something. He has not seen her since then.

Mr. Hoffman called and stated he has talked to Kathy Parks several times while they were in the MU Commons. The last time was about three weeks ago prior to her disappearance.

He stated she was a very mixed up girl, and seemed to be searching for a friend she could confide in. Mr. Hoffman is in his 50's and they seemed to have a good rapport. She wanted to know if she could talk further with him at some later time. He advised her to call him at the College Inn and he would be glad to talk to her about her problems. Kathy would always wave to Mr. Hoffman when they met, and seemed on friendly terms. He assured me that any calls or contacts she may initiate, he would immediately notify this office. He has not seen nor heard from her since he talked to her at the MU Commons about three weeks prior to her disappearance. He met Kathy's boyfriend, Chris, when he saw them at the MU.

CHRISTY J. MCPHEE, 1724 Riverroad, Berwick, Louisiana, phone 504-384-5241 Zip Code 70342

Christy arrived in Corvallis from Louisiana on May 12, after learning that Kathy was missing from OSU. He gave the following statement.

"From the best of my knowledge I last talked to Kathy on Thursday, May 2. I believe she called me collect in Louisiana. She just wanted to talk. There was nothing striking about her conversation. She just seemed relieved that I wasn't giving her a bad time about wanting to be on her own for a while. She seemed to think that would be best and nothing but good could come of it. The last letter that I received from her was on Friday, May 10. It was dated May 6 and post marked May 7. In the letter she sounded depressed over her father's heart attack and other things not specified. She seemed to have had a bad day that day and just said that she wanted to go out and walk around. That was the last I have heard from her. From what I have heard of her actions immediately prior to her disappearance, just doesn't sound like her. (Tearing the picture off the wall I drew for her, throwing away one of my letters) Everything is so unusual it's just not like her to take off like that. I just don't know where she could be".

Following is a copy of the letter Kathy wrote to Christy dated May 6, 1974, postmarked May 7, 1974.

Dear Christy,

I got your letter today I often wonder what you think of me, being so far away. I had a usual day today, somewhat. Ma reports my Aunt Mary opened her eyes a few days ago, and actually looked human again for the first time since she got sick. That's a relief. Sharon called from my folk's house this morning (Ma is still in Alabama). Dad had a heart attack last night around midnight. Evidently he was conscious enough to call the doctor; get 101B out of bed to take him to the hospital. He's in the intensive caresection for cardiac patients now. Sharon says he's O.K. now. I'm shook up about it, and I know dad must be, also. I hope he changes his lifestyle after this. I'm feeling down right now, due to a combination of things, I suppose. To tell you the truth, I don't even feel like finishing this letter. I think I'll go walk around outside a while. I'm sorry this is such a bum letter - I really am. But, after all, everyone has their ups and downs. This day has especially had its share of bad news. Well - I'm looking forward to seeing you - very much. When you come, please put your arms around me and make me feel like everythings O.K. I really miss you. I'm needing the comfort of your presence now. I love you,

Kathy

Following is a transcribed letter from Kathy to Christy McPhee, postmarked May 6, 1974. The letter is not dated.

Christy, it was wonderful speaking with you - you lifted my cloud of loneliness for you. Bless Ma Bell - even though she's dammed. I've just completed my ½ hour of overall exercises. Yes - this is my "May month of Physical Fitness Program," 2nd night of ½ hour exercises. I always feel so relaxed and limber afterwards - going to keep at it for a least a month, this time around. I'm also playing a lot of basketball and riding my bike lately, so it's not as if I don't get enough exercise as it is. Right now I think I must feel the same way a kitten does asleep before a fire. I'm content after talking with you, relaxed from doing those exercises, sleepy because I'm stoned, and drifting on a wave of classical music. Today I heard "Nutcracker Suite" for the first time in years, it seems. It sounded beautiful to me. I love certain classical pieces very much, and too often I miss hearing them. What they have got on the radio now is O.K., but I especially like old familiar favorites I grew up with.

I love you - I feel I always will. You've lightened my heart tonight. I'm happy you were there - it was nice to hear your voice. Well - I'm very sleepy now - so, I think I'll go to bed - Remember - I care for you

Friday night

I saw B.B. King tonight - God - he is really something else. I'll never forget him as long as I live. He radiates warmth and good feelings like no other performer I've ever seen or heard. He puts his heart into his music. A wonderful, wonderful man and musician. I wanted to shake his hand, just touch him to let him know how much he touched me - he moved me very deeply. Sort of the feeling I have for Ray Charles. B.B. King truly is the "King of Blues" dedicated to the core. Tony Joe White also played (Poke Salad Annie) He was O.K. in my opinion, in an A.M. radio style. B.B. King had the whole show, though I wish you could have heard him with me.

I sat out in the sun for 2 hours with Joanne today. Love to feel the sun's warmth on my body.

4/25/74, it was decided to throughly check out the story of DAVE NIDEROS boyfriend of victim who passed thru Ellensburg on the night of victim's disappearance. It was also decided to check locations he is known to frequent. DAVE NIDEROST claimed he left Quincy at 5:30 pm 4/17/74, and drove to La Conner stopping for gas and meal but stated he made no stops in Ellensburg and did not see the victim.

Officer stopped first at Camano Island where the Niderosts have a cabin a nd where the victim and others went to a party over a month ago. With an Island County Deputy the land records of a large real estate firm were checked for property belonging to Niderost. One holding was found in Utsalady Bay. Officers checked this vacation home and found it unoccupied. From all indications it had not been entered or used for weeks. It was located in a close cluster of houses and a neighborhood check disclosed the last time it was used was over amonth ago. (It later developed that this was not the 'house on the beach' where victim and Diana PITT spent a holiday.)

Officer next checked the house with the purple mailbox that the Martins report ed they saw the victim (after seeing her picture on TV). This was an old farm house, 1/4 mile back off the road, address 556 E. Utsalady Rd. and abou a mile from the Niderost cabin. The farm was occupied by WAGNER, JANE and OLIVER, JOHN who are a pair of college graduates raising goats and herbs

They were concerned but denied any knowledge of the victim. They remembered talking to the Martins on Sunday. Jane WAGNER looks very much like the victim except for age, -hair color and height (5'4") and could have easily been mistaken for the victim. Before leaving the island officer checked with grocery stores, gas stations, and resturants. Almost all claimed they had seen many girls who looked like victim. All were aware of the disappearance from newspapers and TV. Officer left fliers at eact location.

Officer next visited Mrs. Dave Niderost at 1858 Childress, La Conner. She is the aunt of young Dave. She could shed no light what-so-ever on the matter. She did not care for young Dave or his 17 year old brother 101B

Officer next visited Mrs. Dave Niderost at 1858 Childress, La Conner. n She is the aunt of young Dave. She could shed no light what-so-ever on the matter. She did not care for young Dave or his 17 year old brother 101B

Officer next visited Mr. and Mrs. Al Niderost of 1860 Childress, La Conner 466-3200 or Everett registry JS6-4584 (dial Mt. Vernon mobile operator). He stated that on the evening of my call to him (4/19/74) he went down to the house used by the boys (1814 Childress) and found a large drug party in progress. Neither Dave nor the victim were there, only 101B and his friends. States he checked the house (a very large, expensive home) then called the S.O. to break up the party. We went to 1814 Childress and Al entered first and stated [redacted]101B was getting ready to 'shoot up some stuff'. He was obviously disturbed and hostile and somewhat frantic at the sight of a stranger. The phone number was obtained (387-9922). Officer called the Camano Island S.O. and had them get a location on the number and set a place for a later meeting.

Officer next checked with Mrs. LASOURD who lives near the Niderosts. Dave Niderost claimed he was with her son John on his trip from Quincy to La Conner and slept at their home that night. Mrs. LaSourd confirmed this but stated they did not arrive until 2AM 4/18/74. This would leave 4 hours unaccounted for in the trip. When questioned about this she stated they did not arrive until 2am, 4-18-74. This would leave 4 hours unaccounted for in the trip. When questioned about this she stated John told her they went to a party at the home of Gail McCormick, Mt. Vernon address unknown, phone 757-0670. Over the next few days officer was unable to make phone contact at that number except with a "Mike" who was in and out of the party in question and didn't remember who was there. Tom Zimmerman, brother-in-law of victim, works with Gail McCormick and states he will contact him.

Officer again met with the Camano Island deputy who had ascertained the location of the phone number to be 115 Iverson Rd., Long Beach. Officers checked at that location and found the occupants to be Johnson, Clifford S. and Hoggins, Terry B. Both were high on drugs and refused entry to the house. all questions until actually pinned down. After laborous questioning it was learned that Cliffordlived there with Dave until a few weeks ago when Dave moved out. Terry moved in to replace Dave. Clifford first denied ever seeing the victim then finally admitted she and her roommate had been there to a party over a month ago. It was his impression that the victim had since jilted Dave. It was finally learned that they had just that very momen ben watching a TV newscast about the victim in which her father appeared. Officers made visual check of the outside grounds. The deputy (Green) stated he would try and develop something on these subjects. The beach house is owned by a Dr. Bradby of Everett and is rented to subjects. He will reoccupy on 6-3-74.

4-26-74, Officer checked with Skagit County deputy Gary Frasier and discussed information already in file from people in his area who claimed they had seen females of victim description hitch-hiking in the Shannon Lake area. He also discussed a letter they had received from Mt. Vernon. He will send all information to us.

Officer checked with DR. EARLING, music director at Shoreline C.C., 546-4625 or 774-7894. Hewas in charge of the group visiting Muzall the night of victims disappearanc She was supposed to have talked to a member of his group. He called together most of the group (except for 7 males). Mr. Tyler stated that at 10:30 pm, 4/26/74, he left the dance and started home. Official Detective Stories October Issue

I read with interest the story "Vanishing Girls" in Official Detective Magazine.

I am fairly certain you also have avoided why these girls cannot be found. Since construction was going for all these campuses, would it be possible that all three bodies were buried on and in the construction sites by the murderer. Perhaps it could be a construction official who knows where to put the bodies when the actual digging is over & I imagined the areas are asphalted or concreted afterwards.

It can even be assumed, that in the cases of the Lotte girls, the same solution. I can travel all over my town of Pittsburgh & see various road constructions open. Perhaps an official or construction laborer is involved.

I have been known to be physical at times & I really feel this is why these girls cannot be found. Isn't it odd!

I am a policeman's wife, although I've been reading this particular subject for years, police work fascinates me. I feel & know & realize you cannot dig up those areas only on an assumption. I only hope & God forbid, if there are more bodies you could possibly check their alibis thoroughly. There also is the possibility that the murderer could be a teacher, professor, student etc. & they are using the digging sites getting friendly with construction officials, to see where the digging has ceased.

I only hope & will pray that you men will find this nut. My three children are growing up & I want them to have a chance to live & their children too. I know as a policeman's wife you men earn every cent you get. God Bless You & Help You in your search.

Skull finding sets off search

A sheriff's search party today was combing a wooded area northeast of Mt. Rainier National Park, seeking clues to the identity of a human skull found by two loggers yesterday afternoon.

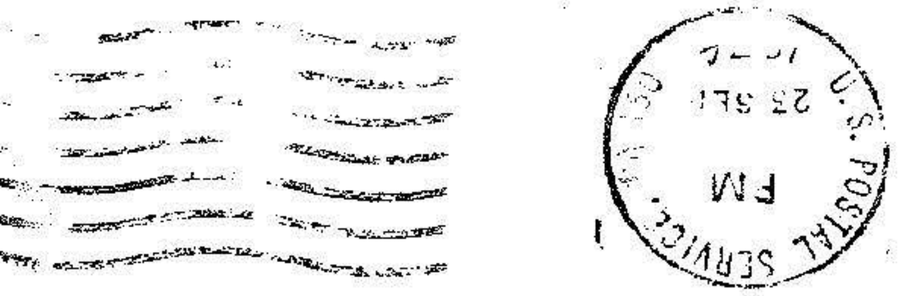

The skull, another bone, some blonde hair and clothing, including a woman's bra, were found scattered through brush a short distance east of Greenwater.

Pete Garza, 41, of Yakima, and Daniel Garza, 44, of Nampa, Idaho, told sheriff's deputies they were thinning timber for Weyerhaeuser Co. yesterday morning when they found the hair and shreds of clothing near the West Fork Road.

Deputies described the clothing as blue corduroy slacks, an imitation-suede coat, a beige shirt with an embroidered collar and the bra.

Coroner Jack Davelaar said this morning a dental examination would be made and a dental-work chart prepared. This will be circulated in an attempt to identify the victim.

Another Coed Disappears Near UW

SEATTLE (AP) — Homicide detectives were checking Wednesday into the disappearance of an 18-year-old University of Washington co-ed from a residence just a block away from the home of a co-ed missing more than four months.

Police said Georgann Hawkins of the Tacoma suburb of Lakewood was last seen early Tuesday after she left a friend's home to return to her sorority house.

She had told the friend she was returning to her room to study for a final exam, but never showed up. Several acquaintances reported talking to her as she walked back to the sorority.

Police said they were seeking any links between her disappearance and that of Lynda Ann Healy, 21, last January. Miss Healy disappeared from her basement room.

Blood was found in the room and detectives suspect foul play.

Divers Search Park Lake After 2 More Girls Vanish

ISSAQUAH, Wash. (AP) — Divers were ordered into the search Wednesday for two young women missing since last Sunday.

The two were last reported seen at or en route to Lake Sammamish State Park.

Police said the two women didn't know each other.

The missing women are Denise Marie Naslund, 19, Seattle, and Jannice Anne Ott, 23, of Issaquah.

Miss Naslund had come to the park Sunday with her boyfriend to join a party there.

At about 4 p.m. she excused herself to go to a park rest room and didn't return.

Mrs. Ott, whose husband is attending medical school in California, shares an apartment with a 25-year-old female friend.

Mrs. Ott left a note for her roommate at the house saying, "I'll be at Lake Sammamish sunning myself."

That was the last heard from her.

A day-long search Tuesday by about 100 volunteers turned up no clues to the disappearance of either woman.

Police said both have close ties to relatives or friends and there appeared to be no reason for either not to have made some sort of contact since Sunday.

It wasn't known whether Mrs. Ott ever reached the park.

Both women are similar in appearance to five other young women who have disappeared under mysterious circumstances in the northwest since the beginning of the year. The five all were college or university students and were last seen either on campus or close by.

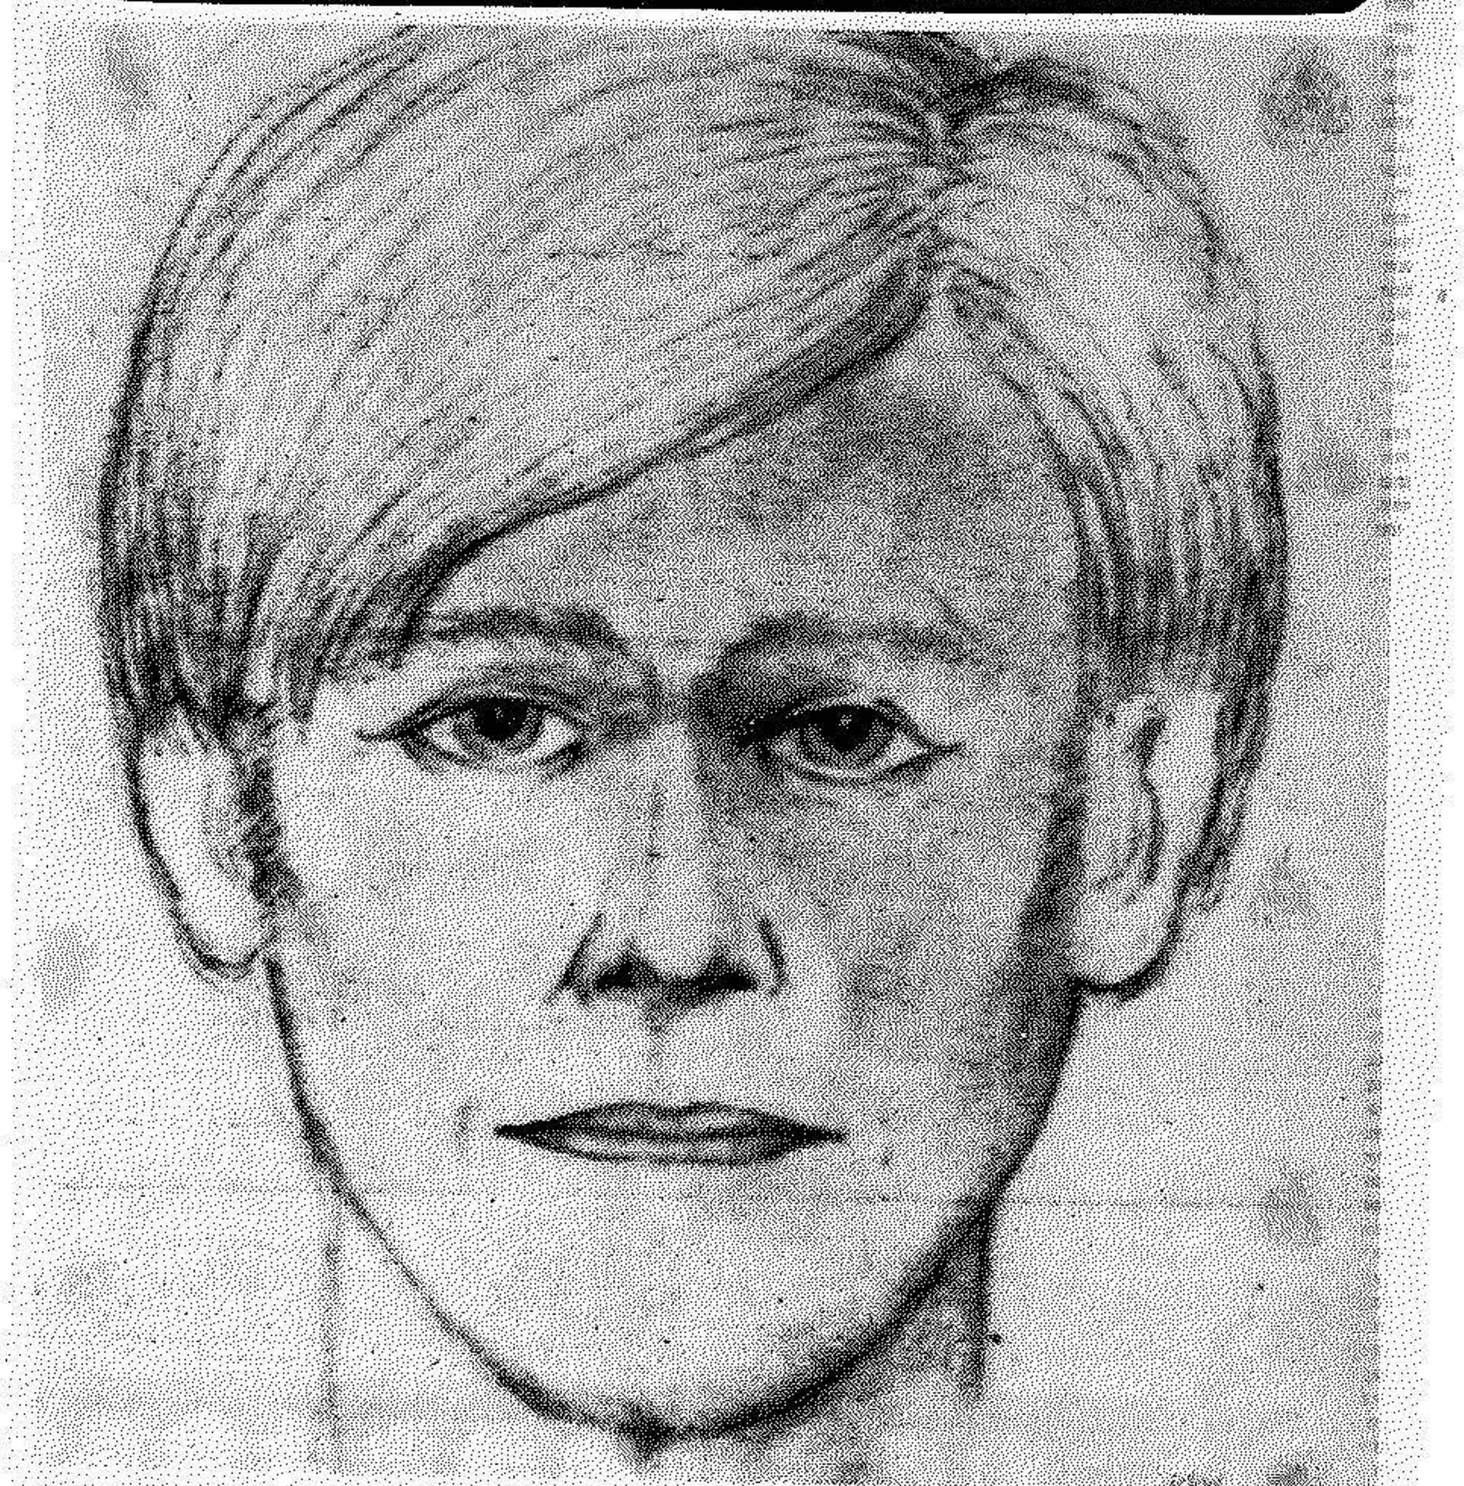

They are Lynda Ann Healy, 21, Seattle, a student at the University of Washington missing since Jan. 31; Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18, missing since April 17 from Central Washington State College, Ellensburg; Donna Gail Hanson, 19, disappeared March 12 at Evergreen State College, Olympia; Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, missing May 6 from Oregon State University at Corvallis and Georgann Hawkins, 18, who disappeared June 11 from a location near her University of Washington sorority house.

NEW POLICE SKETCH OF 'TED'
Sought In Missing Women Case (Associated Press Wirephoto)

More Info On 'Ted'

SEATTLE (AP) — King County Police issued Thursday a third version of the man called "Ted," sought in connection with the disappearance of one of two women from Lake Sammamish State Park July 14.

Janice Ott, 23, one of two women who disappeared from the park Sunday, was seen walking toward the man's car.

Police said the changes of the sketch reflect additional information from witnesses wh said they saw the man.

Mrs. Ott and Denise M. Naslund, 18, haven't been seen since that Sunday at the beach. Families of both young women have offered $1,000 rewards for information on their whereabouts.

Did 'Ted' Abduct N.Y. Coed?

SEATTLE'S 'TED'

BY STEPHEN GREEN

A suspect in a Syracuse, N.Y., abduction bears a strong resemblance to the elusive "Ted" who figured in the disappearance of at least two local women, police here learned yesterday.

The two are among six Washington women who have mysteriously dropped from sight since Jan. 31.

The Syracuse case concerns a young coed who vanished 20 months ago. A description and composite drawing of a young man the coed was last seen with is similar to that of "Ted," the man who was seen leaving Lake Sammamish State Park July 14 with Janice Ott, 23, of Issaquah.

Syracuse police said yesterday that Karen Levy, 18, a Syracuse University freshman, posted a notice on a school bulletin board asking for a ride to Monmouth, N.J., where her boyfriend was attending college.

A man calling himself Bill Lacy responded. He claimed he was in Syracuse on business and was heading back to the Monmouth area.

Like "Ted," Lacy was described as being slim, clean-cut and in his early 20s. He had brown hair like Ted's. However, he was near six feet in height compared to Ted's five feet six or seven.

Capt. Herbert Swindler of Seattle's Homicide and Robbery Section said yesterday that estimates of height "are frequently way off." Lacy also parted his hair differently and wore it shorter, but facial features were similar.

Miss Levy was last seen heading toward a parking lot near the Syracuse campus with Lacy. As in the cases of the missing Washington women, no trace of Miss Levy or the young man has been found.

The lead came to light yesterday from information given to The Post-Intelligencer by an Olympia resident who responded to The P-Is plea for information on the baffling disappearances.

The P-I has posted a $5.000 reward for information leading to the conviction of the person or persons responsible for the disappearances of the six Washington women and four-year-old Heidi Peterson.

In a related development yesterday, Ellensburg, Wash. police said an attempted abduction occurred four days after Susan Rancourt, 18, disappeared from the CWSC campus.

The information came from a library worker who told of an unidentified coed who was approached April 21 by a young man with his arm in a sling. The "Ted" at Lake Sammamish had his arm in a cast.

The man asked for help in loading some books in his car. The girl assisted him. Then he ordered her to start the car.

The coed refused and was told to get in the car. She ran to t he library and told several people what had happened. The young man apparently did not try to follow her.

City and county police said yesterday that both the Syracuse and Ellensburg reports will be investigated. At the moment, the strongest leads in any of the disappearances relate to the so-called Ted. But the disappearances may not all be connected.

Mrs. Ott and Denise Naslund, 19, both vanished from the state park on the same day, July 14. Miss Rancourt was last seen on the evening of April 17 near her dormitory.

The other disappearances involve University of Washington coeds Linda Ann Healy, 21, and Georgann Hawkins, 18.

Donna Manson, 19, was on her way to a concert March 12 at Evergreen State College near Olympia when she was last seen. Yesterday the Manson family added another $1.000 to the $500 reward offer for information leading to her whereabouts. The reward is being administered by the college.

Heidi Peterson, 4 ,was apparently taken from the front yard of her home on Feb. 21.

No trace of any f the missing people has been found.

Lt. Richard Kraske of the county Homicide and Robbery unit made a plea again yesterday for photographs or film taken at Lake Sammamish State Park on July 14.

"We're looking for crowd shots or parking lot shots. Anything that might have unidentified people in it. We will return any film that is given to us."

County police yesterday added six more men to the investigation to handle the leads that have been coming in since The P-I posted its reward. The county now has 12 men working on the case who have put in more than 5,000 hours of investigation.

City police have assigned seven men to work on the disappearances.

CWSC Coed Met A Man Wearing A Cast

SEATTLE (AP) — Police say a Central Washington State College coed at Ellensburg had an ominous encounter with a young man wearing a cast on his arm four days after another coed there disappeared without a trace.

The mysterious "Ted" sought in connection with the disappearance of two women at Lake Sammamish State Park July 14 also had a cast on his arm.

Police said the unidentified coed at Ellensburg was approached April 21 by a man who asked for help in loading some books into the car. The girl refused and was told to get into the car. She ran to the library and told several people what had happened, police said, and the young man apparently didn't try to follow her.

Four days earlier Susan Rancourt, 18, of Anchorage had disappeared from the campus.

In another development Tuesday, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, which is offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of the person or persons responsible for the disappearance of six Washington women and 4-yearold Heidi Peterson, said one tip it received concerns the disappearance of a young New York state woman.

The P-I said a suspect in a Syracuse, N.Y. abduction 20 months ago resembled the "Ted" sought in the disappearances of Janice Ott, 23, of Issaquah and Denise Naslund, 19, at Lake Sammamish State Park. But the P-I said the suspect "Bill Lacey" sought in connection with the disappearance of Karen Levy, 18, was said to be near 6 feet tall compared to 5 foot-6 or 7 for "Ted."

Another search set near Issaquah

Tacoma, Thurs., Jan. 30, 1975 The News Tribune

SEATTLE (AP) — King County Detective Lt. Richard Kraske said Thursday he plans another search this weekend of the wooded area near Issaquah where the remains of two young women were found last September.

Kraske was noncommital when asked if the search was prompted by any new information. "It's just a review of the case," he said.

The bones of Janice Anne Ott, 23, of Issaquah and Denise Marie Naslund, 18, of Seattle, were found in the area 25 miles east of Seattle. Both had disappeared from Lake Sammamish State Park on July 14.

Both had been seen that July day in the company of the mysterious "Ted," a young man who wore a cast on one arm.

The search for "Ted" has been one main feature into the investigation of the disappearance of several women of college age in Washington during 1974.

Some police officers had commented after the remains of four-year-old Heidi Peterson were found last week that perhaps it would be a good idea to search again the area where the Ott and Naslund remains were found.

The blackberry bramble where Heidi's body was found had been thoroughly searched in the months following her disappearance.

Neither Ted's identity nor the causes of the women's deaths have been determined.

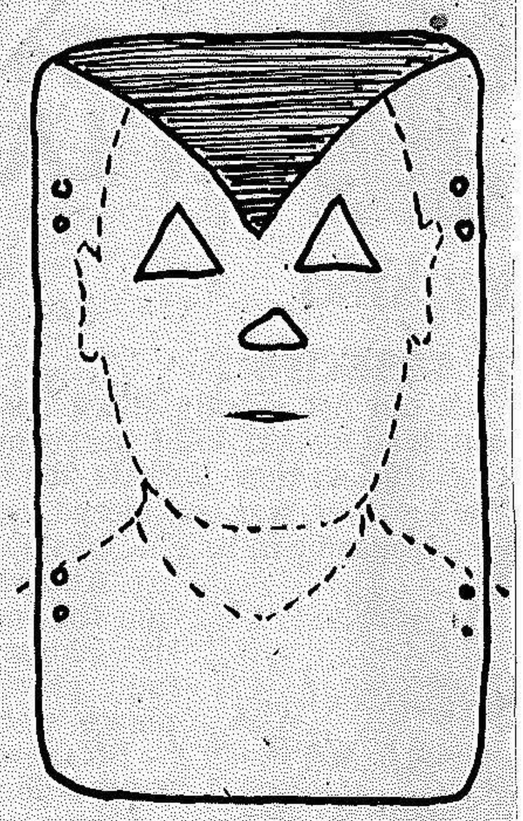

The unusual mask is about two feet long and 18 inches wide and was made from a heavy vinyl-like material. It contains roughly-cut eye, nose and mouth holes and smaller eyelets for attaching strings to hold it in place.

The most unusual feature, however, is a red-orange triangular-shaped painted marking extending from the top of the mask to approximately between the eyes.

ALTHOUGH the origin of the mask was undetermined, a number of ritualistic religious cults reportedly have existed in the Bellevue-Issaquah-North Bend area in recent years.

Former North Bend Police Chief Lester Kennedy, now chief at Aberdeen, told The News Tribune his office investigated such a cult in North Bend two years ago. The investigation waned, he said, when deputies were unsuccessful in infiltrating the group. North Bend is about 10 miles east of Issaquah.

Lakes High School senior Dick Seeley, 18, was the first to spot the bones on a road approximately 200 yards from where remains of the two women were found. None of the bones could be readily distinguished as human.

Vinyl not mask, just a model plane wing cover

A piece of vinyl found Sunday near Issaquah where the remains of two young women were located last September is a model airplane wing cover, not a ceremonial mask, King County Police reported today.

Volunteer searchers who found the vinyl had theorized it might be a ceremonial mask of some ritualistic cult.

Bones found by searchers at the same time have been identified tentatively as those of an animal, police added.

THE VINYL and bones were found in a search by the Northwest Bloodhounds Search and Rescue team and Lakes High School students. They were located about 2,800 feet from where the remains of Denise Naslund and Janice Anne Ott were found last September, along with partial remains of an unidentified third person.

The searches have continued in attempts to find more skeletal remains of the unidentified person and clues to the fate of the three.

THEY ARE believed to be the victims of a man, never identified, who was seen leaving Lake Sammamish State Park with Mrs. Ott last July 14.

Police said two supposed eye-holes in the "mask" found Sunday were actually rips in the vinyl. Its use becomes apparent when it is folded, they said.

Balsa strips from the wing structures are still attached to the vinyl and subsequent search of the area turned up a model airplane engine, police said.

Examiners studying two skulls; searchers seek more bones

By RICHARD SYPHER
TNT Staff Writer

Searchers continued to probe dense woods near North Bend for more human remains today while medical examiners in Seattle attempted to identify two human skulls found in the same vicinity last weekend.

Authorities said dental charts of six missing Washington women will be compared with teeth found in the skulls in an effort to make identification.

A King County police detective was quoted Monday as saying the skulls "probably" were those of young women about 20 years of age.

THE FIRST SKULL, found Saturday by two forestry students from Green River Community College, did not have a lower jaw, but detectives described the upper jaw as having had "quite a bit" of dental work.

A Monday search of the same wooded terrain — five miles south of the intersection of Interstate 90 and Highway 18 turned up the second skull about 150 feet from where the first was found.

The new bones site is about 10 miles east of the wooded area where the remains of Janice Anne Ott, 23, and Denise Naslund, 18 were found last Sept. 7. Both had disappeared July 14 from nearby Lake Sammamish State Park.

In all, six young women are known to have disappeared in Washington last year in addition to Miss Naslund and Mrs. Ott. They are:

— Linda Ann Healy, 21, of Seattle, who vanished from her University District home Jan. 31, 1974.

— Donna Gail Manson, 19, of Auburn, who disappeared from The Evergreen State College campus in Olympia last March 12.

— Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18, of Anchorage, Alaska, who dropped from sight on the Central Washington State College campus in Ellensburg April 17.

— Brenda Ball, 22, of Seattle, who vanished from a Burien tavern last June 1.

— Georgann Hawkins, 18, of Lakewood, who disappeared from an alley behind her sorority house last June 11.

— Mrs. Vonnie Stuth, 19, who disappeared from her south Seattle home last Thanksgiving.

ALL OF THE WOMEN were between 18 and 22 years of age, all wore their long, straight hair parted in the middle, weighed between 100 and 125 pounds and were highly attractive.

In an apparently unrelated incident, the partially clad body of a 16-year-old girl was found by Chehalis police about 5:30 p.m. Monday a short distance west of the Chehalis city limits.

The unidentified teen-ager reportedly had been strangled.

Lewis County Undersheriff Donald Barnes said a 22-year-old man has been taken into custody in connection with the case.

Body tentatively identified as coed's

Brenda Carol Ball

Susan Elaine Rancourt

By RICHARD SYPHER
TNT Staff Writer

Human remains found Monday near North Bend were identified tentatively today as those of Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18-year-old blue-eyed blonde coed from Anchorage, Alaska.

King County medical examiners Tuesday positively identified a second skull found in the same area as that of Brenda Carol Ball, 22, of Burien. She had vanished early June 1 from the Flame tavern in Burien.

Miss Rancourt had disappeared mysteriously from the Central Washington State College campus in Ellensburg the night of April 17, apparently while returning from a campus meeting.

The spot where the remains of both women were found is almost a direct line west of Ellensburg near Interstate 90 and approximately 10 miles from the wooded site where the skeletal remains of two other missing women, Denise Naslund, 18, and Janice Ott, 23, were discovered last Sept. 7.

ALTHOUGH KING COUNTY police stressed that positive identification had not been made of Miss Rancourt, the young woman's father told the Associated Press that his daughter was identified tentatively from dental records.

"It's not something we haven't expected," he said.

Both CWSC Dean of Student Development Robert Miller and Alfred Pickles, chief of the college's campus police, said the second skull almost certainly is that of Miss Rancourt.

"We are 90 per cent certain it is hers," Miller said.

Miss Ball's disappearance originally was not connected to those of other missing Washington women because the nature of her case did not match the others.

SHE WAS last seen alive at about 2 a.m. June 1 when she reportedly asked a tavern musician for a ride home. He declined.

The attractive brunette was not reported missing until June 17, more than two weeks after she disappeared. Her mother and her roommates told police she was in the habit of leaving home for extended periods and that she had mentioned plans to hitchhike to Eastern Washington.

Like the other dead and missing women, Miss Ball was highly attractive and wore her long, straight hair parted in the middle.

Her ramains were found Saturday by two Green River Community College forestry students. The second skull was located by searchers Monday.

King County Police homicide Capt. Nick Mackie said clothing and jewelry were not found at the scene and that he assumed both bodies had been dumped nude.

MACKIE SAID a careful search of the new site will continue "as long as we're finding something."

A young white man, known only as "Ted," has been sought by police since the disappearances of Miss Naslund and Mrs. Ott last July. Several witnesses later told authorities they saw Miss Ball taking with a man of the same description at The Flame hours before she vanished.

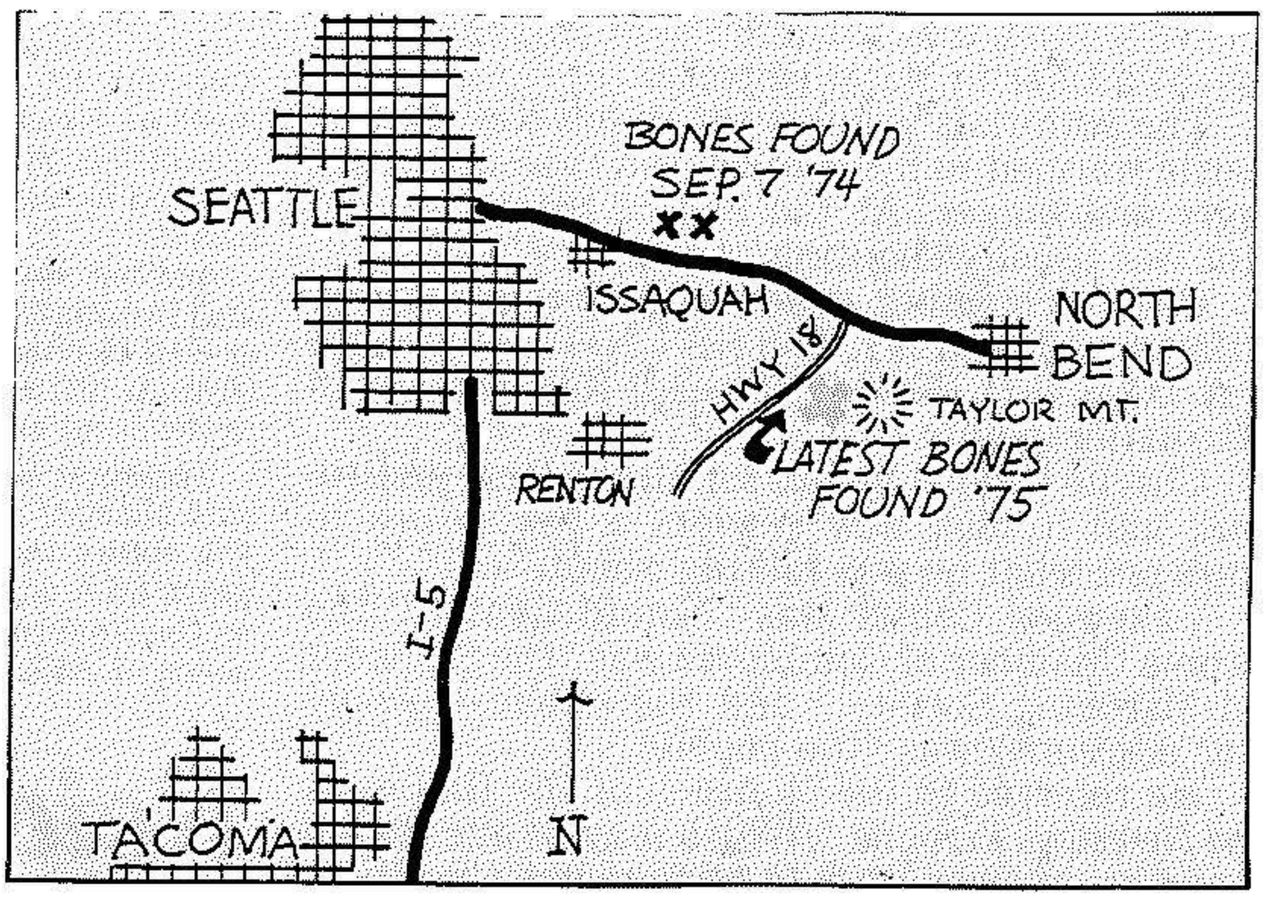

Positive identification of Miss Rancourt would leave unaccounted for four other young women who disappeared in Washington last year. They include:

—Linda Ann Healy, 21, of Seattle, who vanished from her University District home Jan. 31, 1974.

—Donna Gail Manson, 19, of Auburn, who disappeared from The Evergreen State College campus in Olympia last March 12.

—Georgann Hawkins, 18, of Lakewood, who dropped from sight in an alley behind her University of Washington sorority house last June 11.

—Mrs. Vonnie Stuth, 19, who disappeared from her south Seattle home last Thanksgiving Eve.

IDENTIFICATION DIFFICULT

Third Skull Is Found

SEATTLE (AP) — Portions of the third skull found in a four-day period in a wooded area near North Bend will be difficult to identify because the remnants contain no teeth, police say.

The skull was found Wednesday.

Identification of the first skull was released Tuesday. Dental charts established it as that of Brenda Carol Ball, 22, of Burien. She was last seen at a Seattle tavern June 1.

Police said identification of the second skull remains undetermined although Dale Rancourt of Anchorage, Alaska, said authorities told him initial examination tentatively identified it as that of his daughter, Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18, disappeared from Central Washington State College April 17.

King County authorities said Rancourt may have misinterpreted what officials told him.

Lt. Richard Kraske did say, however, that the skull is not that of Linda Ann Healy, Donna Gail Manson or Georgeann Hawkins. All those young women, as well as Roberta Kathleen Parks and Miss Rancourt, disappeared from the Northwest between Jan. 31 and June 11, 1974.

The area where the three skulls were found is within a five-mile radius of where the skeletal remains of Denise Naslund, 18, of Seattle and Janice Ott, 23, of Issaquah were found last September. The new site is about 23 miles east of Seattle near the intersection of Interstate 90 and Highway 18.

Mrs. Ott and Miss Naslund disappeared July 14 from Lake Sammamish State Park, about 15 miles east of Seattle. Both had been seen in the company of a slender, fair-haired, soft-spoken man with his arm in a cast, who reportedly called himself "Ted."

Authorities are searching for "Ted."

Police hold little hope of identifying third skull

By RICHARD SYPHER

King County Police offered little hope today of identifying a third skull found Wednesday in the wooded area near North Bend where portions of two other bodies were discovered earlier.

The partial skull contained no teeth to compare with dental records of Washington's five still-missing women.

DENTAL CHARTS were used to make positive identification of a skull found last Saturday as that of Brenda Carol Ball, 22, of Burien, who vanished last June 1 from Burien's Flame Tavern.

A second skull, located by searchers Monday about 150 feet from the first, was identified tentatively as that of Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18, a Central Washington State College freshman from Anchorage, Alaska. She disappeared from the campus at Ellensburg last April 17.

Further dental checks are needed to make positive identification, a police spokesman said.

Police homicide Lt. Richard Kraske did say that the second skull is not that of coeds Linda Ann Healy, 21; Donna Gail Manson, 19, or Georgann Hawkins, 18, all of whom vanished last year without a trace.

Also missing is Mrs. Vonnie Stuth, 19, who disappeared from her south Seattle home Thanksgiving Eve.

The remains of two other women, Denise Naslund, 18, and Janice Ott, 23, were found last Sept. 7 in another wooded region about 10 miles from the latest bones site. Both vanished last July 14 from Lake Sammamish State Park near Issaquah.

DISCOVERY OF the third skull brings to six the number of separate human remains found in both the Issaquah and North Bend sites, although only Miss Naslund, Miss Ball and Mrs. Ott have been identified positively.

Searchers found parts of a third spinal column and other bones during recovery of the Naslund and Ott remains last year.

Police said the latest find consisted of the cranium portion of a skull found about 300 feet east of where the second skull was located Monday.

The search area is about 25 miles northeast of Tacoma in a stand of second-growth evergreens about five miles south of the intersection of Interstate 90 and Highway 18.

All Four Women's Bones Identified

Daily Olympian March 7 1975

SEATTLE (AP) — Remains of a fourth young woman found in a heavily wooded area near Seattle have been "positively identified" as those of Susan Elaine Rancourt, 18, of Anchorage, Alaska, her dentist said Friday.

She had disappeared from Central Washington State College in Ellensburg last April 17. She is among nine women who have disappeared from Washington and Oregon in 1974. The remains of four have been found and identified within the past week.

A jawbone flown to Corvallis, Ore., by King County police was identified Thursday night as that of Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, of Lafayette, Calif. She disappeared May 6 from Oregon State University where she was a student.

Earlier Thursday, police identified remains found in the area near North Bend—about 23 miles from Seattle—as those of Lynda Ann Healy, 21, a University of Washington student who disappeared from her rooming house Feb. 1, 1974.

She was the first of several young women to vanish from the Puget Sound area.

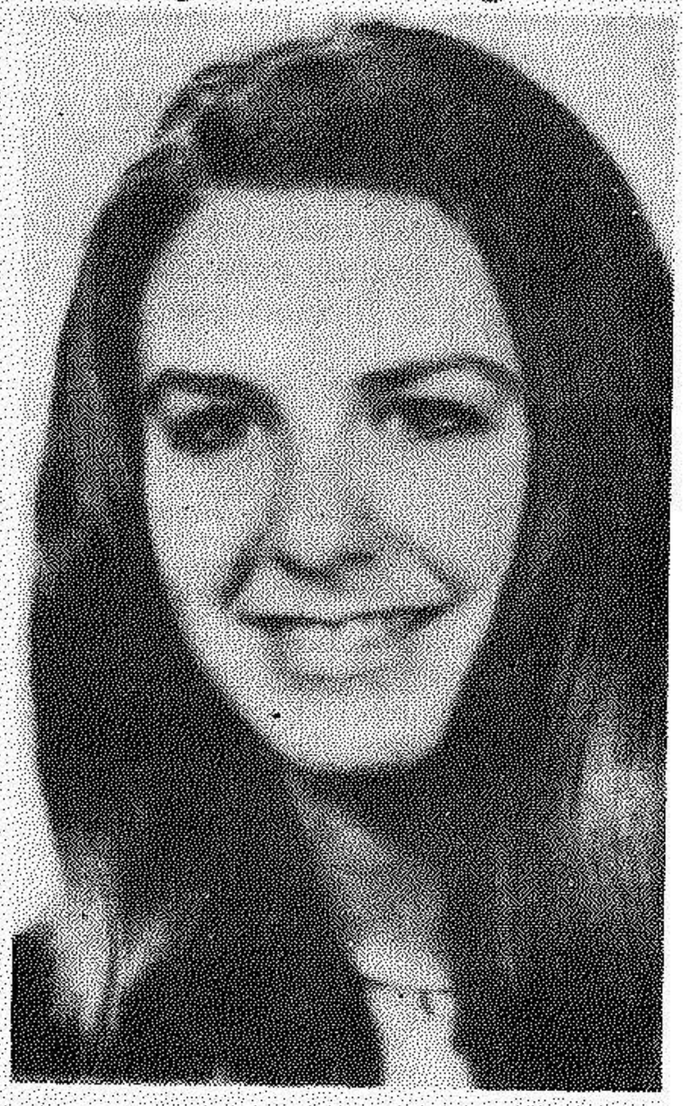

Miss Healy's family announced Friday memorial services would be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Eastgate Congregational Church, Bellevue. In addition, a memorial fund in Miss Healy's name has been formed to benefit the Explorer's Search and Rescue Team, her parents said.

Dental charts were used to make all identifications.

OSU information officer Wally Johnson said of Miss Parks that there was "no way of determining at this point where, when or how she died."

Because Miss Parks was last seen on the Oregon campus before her remains were found at the Washington site, OSU campus police have asked the FBI to join the investigation.

The remains of Brenda Carol Ball, 22, of Burien, were identified by police Tuesday. She had been missing since June 1, 1974, when she was seen leaving a Seattle tavern at 2 a.m.

The area where the remains were found is within a five-mile radius of where the skeletal remains of Denise Naslund, 18, of Seattle, and Janice Ott, 23, of Issaquah, were found last September.

Mrs. Ott and Miss Naslund disappeared July 14, 1974, from Lake Sammamish State Park, about 15 miles east of Seattle. Both had been seen with a slender, fair-haired man who reportedly called himself "Ted." The man, who spoke with a slight British accent, had one arm in a cast and was said to have asked several young women at the park for assistance in getting belongings into his car.

A man resembling "Ted" in some aspects, including the cast and the car, a brown Volkswagen, was seen on the CWSC campus a few days before Miss Rancourt disappeared.

A widespread search for "Ted," reaching as far as Australia at one point because of his accent, continues.

Get tough on sex-psychos

By ROBERT H. MOTTRAM
TNT Staff Writer

Warren B. Hawkins of Lakewood, father of one of Washington's missing coeds, said today he agrees with the aims of a new group formed to seek tougher treatment for criminals and sexual psychopaths.

He is the father of Georgann Hawkins, 18, a University of Washington freshman who disappeared last June 11 from an alley behind her sorority house. She still has not been found.

Hawkins spoke this morning as an intensive search continued in the North Bend area, where King County officials said they already have recovered parts of the remains of four young women.

The newly formed group he referred to is made up of the families of other missing young women. It was organized by Mrs. Kenneth Linstad of Seattle, whose daughter, Vonnie Stuth, has been missing since last Thanksgiving Eve from her South Seattle home.

The group intends to develop a strategy for bringing about reforms in the criminal-justice system. In a letter to Gov. Dan Evans, Mrs. Linstad listed the "rights" of accused persons, saying a suspect's rights "go on and on and on. That leaves me to question the rights of the missing girls. There seem to be none."

Hawkins said he did not attend the group's first meeting, Feb. 25, but probably would attend the next one, March 18.

"It's inconceivable to me that a person who commits acts of this sort is now at liberty in society," Hawkins said. "But the problem of lining up . . . this bureaucracy of law enforcement and bringing criminals to justice is just so frustrating.

"It appears the general public is almost in unison about what to do with criminals of this sort. Yet our justice system is almost the opposite, and nothing is ever corrected, and people continue to fall victim to people like this."

Hawkins said one of the things disturbing him was "the jurisdictional type of police work that goes on. It seems that if a crime happens, say, in the City of Tacoma, but the body is found in the county, the city won't do anything to help the county because it's not their case."

He said this was apparent in the case of Lynda Ann Healy, who disappeared from her Seattle home in January 1974, and whose remains were among those found at the North Bend location.

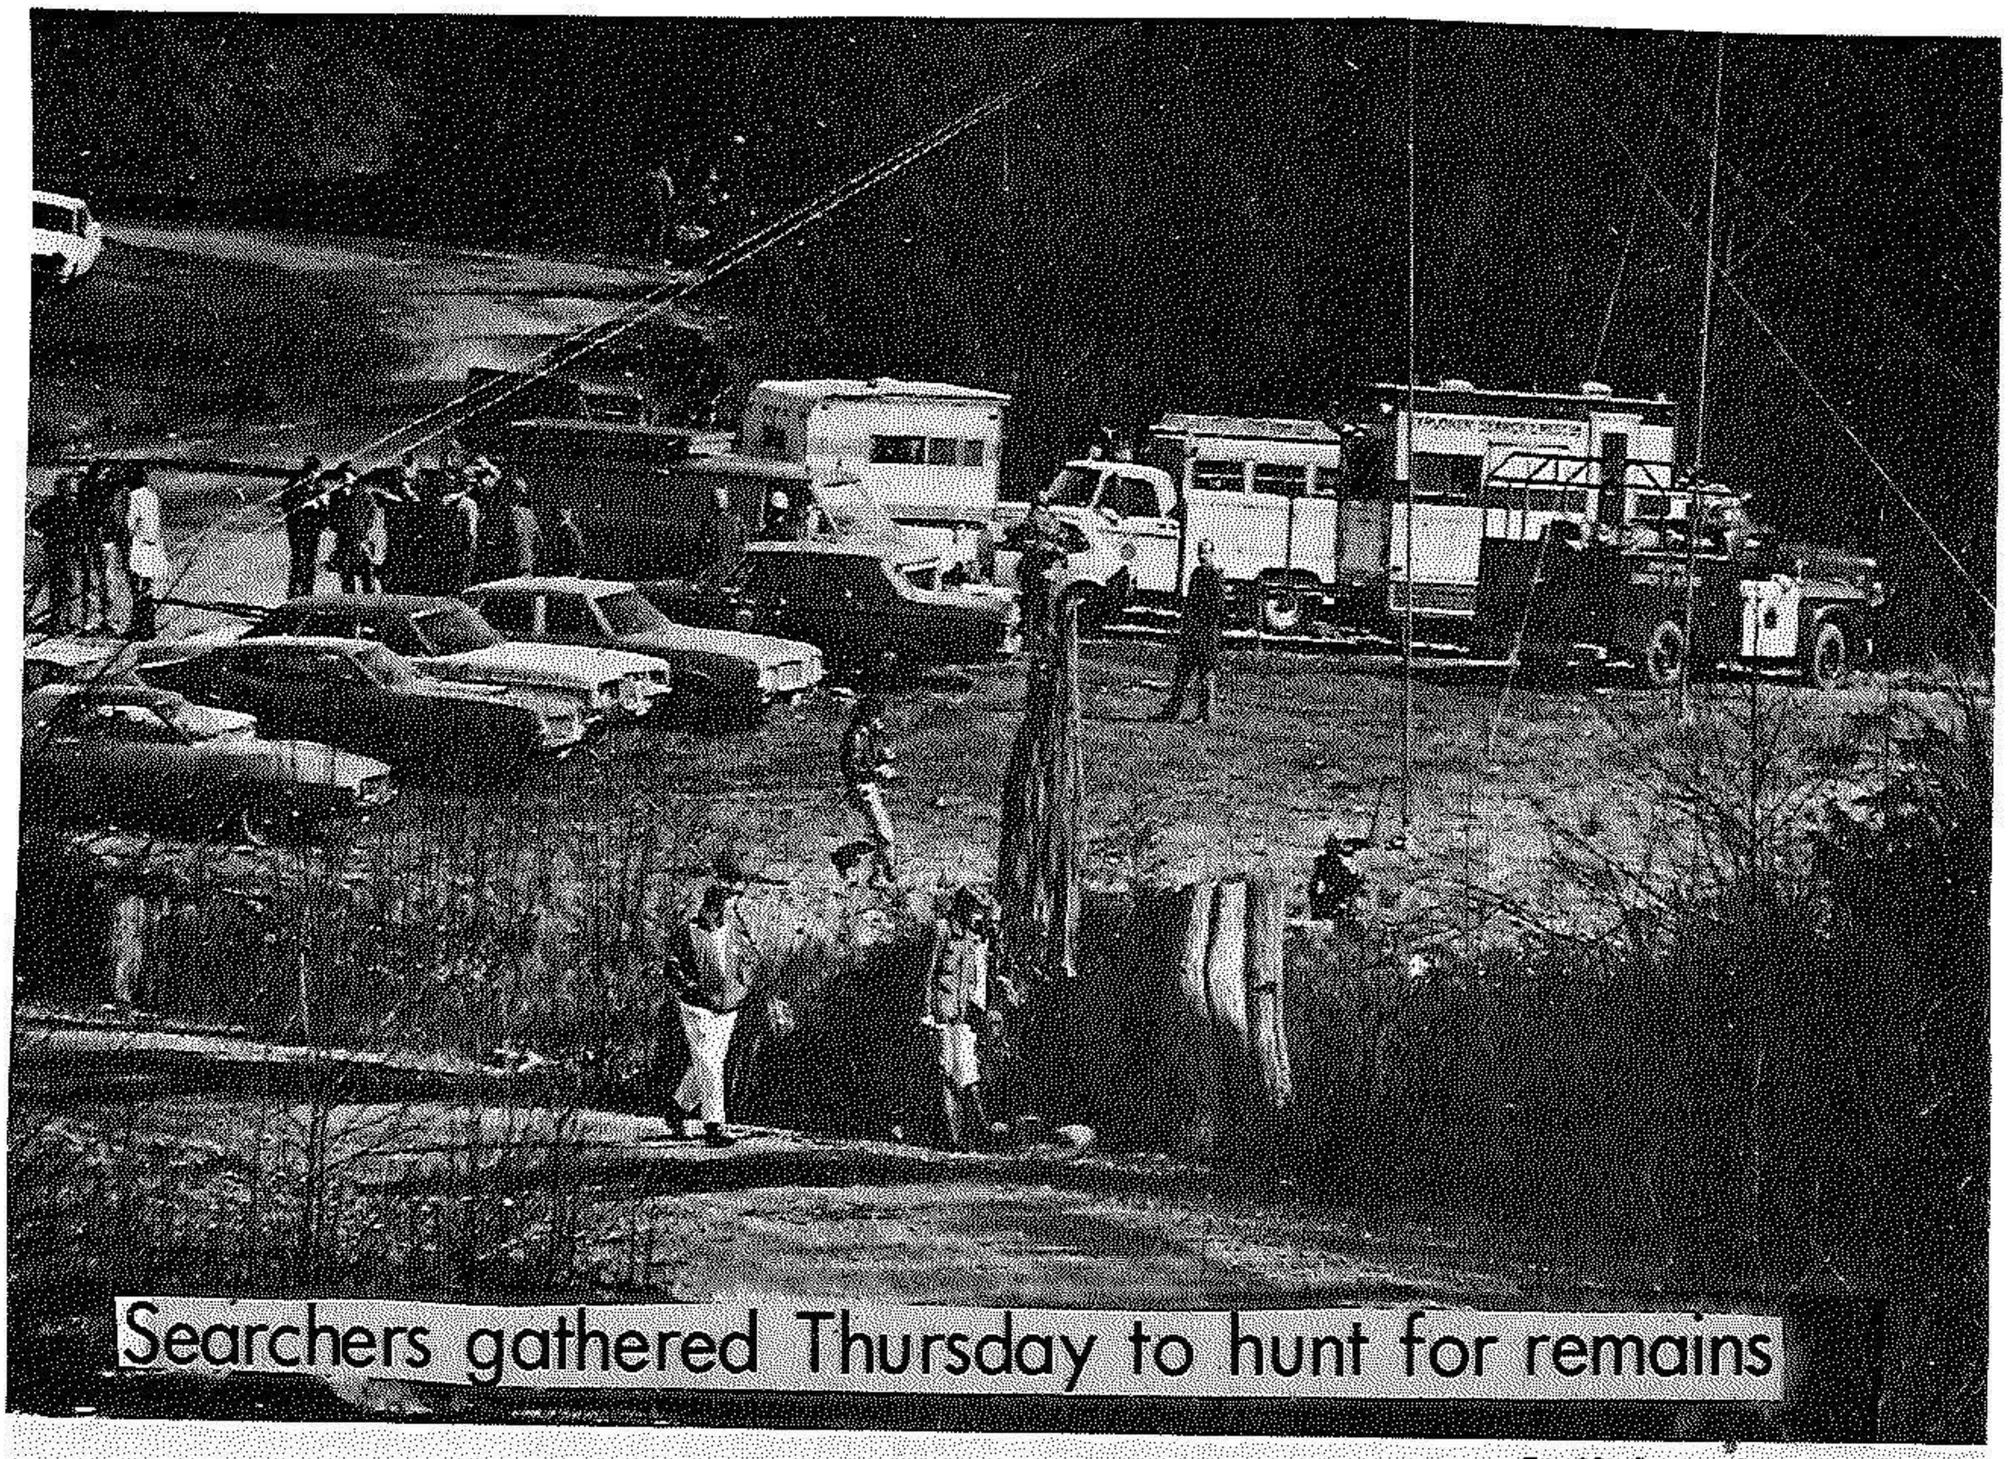

It "seems ludicrous," he said, that Seattle and King County police had not cooperated more in that case.

Two more identified

These two coeds, Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, left, and Lynda Ann Healy, 21, were identified Thursday from skeletal remains found earlier this week near North Bend. Miss Parks vanished May 6 from the Oregon State University campus in Corvallis, and Miss Healy disappeared from her University District home in Seattle Jan. 31, 1974.

Ready with his radio

One of the most bizarre mass-murder cases in Washington State history continued to unfold near North Bend today after identification Thursday of two more dead college coeds.

King County Police said an intensified, inch-by-inch search of the wooded terrain southwest of North Bend will continue until no more bones can be found.

Identified from dental records Thursday were the remains of Lynda Ann Healy, 21, a University of Washington senior, and Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, a junior at Oregon State University.

A SKULL FOUND last Saturday earlier was identified as that of Brenda Carol Ball, 22, of Burien. Bones found during a search Monday have been identified as those of Central Washington State College coed from Alaska, Susan Elaine Rancourt.

Miss Ball vanished from the Flame Tavern in Burien last June 1, while Miss Rancourt, 18, dropped from sight on the night of April 17 while returning from a campus meeting.

The first of at least eight Washington and Oregon women to disappear mysteriously last year, Miss Healy vanished from her University District home in Seattle on Jan. 31, 1974.

The tall, slender part-time radio ski-report announcer was last seen entering her bedroom in the two-story older home at 5517 12th Ave. N. Blood was found on the pillow of her still-made bed the following morning.

BUT IT WAS with the identification of Miss Parks that the macabre case developed a deepening mystery.

The 5-foot-7 blonde vanished May 6 from the Oregon State University campus in Corvallis — 210 miles south of North Bend.

Like the others, Miss Healy and Miss Parks were highly attractive and wore their long hair parted in the middle.

Identification of the two young women brought to seven the number of sets of partial remains found both at North Bend and at an earlier site near Issaquah.

POSITIVE IDENTIFICATION of Miss Rancourt leaves Donna Gail Anson, Georgann Hawkins and housewife Vonnie Stuth still unaccounted for.

Miss Manson, 19, of Auburn, disappeared March 12 from The Evergreen State College, Miss Hawkins, 18, of Lakewood vanished June 11 from an alley behind her University of Washington sorority house. Mrs. Stuth, 19, disappeared from her South Seattle home last Thanksgiving Eve.

Meanwhile, about 100 searchers, crawling on their hands and knees, continued to comb the wooded graveyard near North Bend that apparently was used as a depository for bodies of an as yet undetermined number of young women.

Participating are search-and-rescue teams from Tacoma, Seattle and Skagit County, the Civil Air Patrol and about 40 Explorer Scouts.

The location is only about 10 miles from the spot near Issaquah where remains of Janice Ott, 23, and Denise Naslund, 18, were found last Sept. 7. Both had disappeared July 14 from Lake Sammamish State Park.

Still more bones found in woods

More bones were unearthed Friday at the heavily wooded area near North Bend where the partial remains of four young women were found earlier this week, King County Police reported.

The latest discoveries apparently are part of the remains of the four, police said. Three young women remain missing in what police believe are related cases.

County officers also announced formation of a special task force of county and Seattle police to work exclusively on the cases of six women whose remains have been found and the three missing women.

THE REMAINS have been found at the North Bend site and one near Issaquah since last September. The bones of a seventh unidentified person also have been found.

County Capt. Nick Mackie told a news conference Friday that the four victims are linked to the mysterious "Ted" described by other women.

The man wanted in the deaths of the four women "very definitely" lives "or has lived in that south and east county area," Mackie said.

"That person has branched out and always gone back to that area," he said.

THE SIX women whose remains have been found have been identified as: Janice Ott, 23, Issaquah, and Denise Naslund, 19, Seattle, both found in a wooded area near Issaquah last September; Brenda Ball, 22, Burien, Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, a student at Oregon State University at Corvallis, Lynda Ann Healy, 21, University of Washington student, and Susan Rancourt, 18, a Central Washington State College student, all found at the site near North Bend.

Still missing are Donna Manson, 19, an Evergreen State College student, Georgann Hawkins, a UW student from Tacoma, and Vonnie Stuth, 19, Burien.

Ted's specter lurks at death site

TNT March 9 1975

NORTH BEND — The shadowy presence of man named Ted hangs thickly over gloomy aylor Mountain, as the scattered bones of the omen who may have been his victims mount ily in a macabre murder graveyard.

"Ted," a mysterious, smooth-talking, curly- ired young man with a knack for eliciting mpathy, is the only suspect in the slayings of pretty young women whose remains have en found here.

Maddeningly, he remains a wraithlike figure, known, unseen and — so far — untraceable.

Seven persons think they have seen Ted in tion, glibly talking young women into accom- nying him on imagined errands.

Two coeds at Central Washington State Col- ge told of being approached by a man who lled himself Ted, one arm in a sling, who ked them to help carry some books. The girls fused.

The same night, Susan Rancourt, 18, an ttractive blonde student from Anchorage, laska, vanished.

Five young women said they were approached by Ted at Lake Sammamish State Park in July. His arm in a sling, he wanted help carrying a sailing dinghy to his car. They refused.

The same day, Janice Ott, 23, and Denise Naslund, 19, both long-haired and pretty, disappeared from the park.

A University of Washington coed met a man with a cast on his leg near the campus' Greek Row one night in June. He kept dropping a briefcase and appeared to be soliciting help.

Half an hour later, Georgeanne Hawkins, 18, a pretty, dark-haired former Daffodil princess from Tacoma, disappeared from an alley behind her sorority house.

The skeletal remains of Susan Rancourt, Janice Ott and Denise Naslund have been found on Taylor Mountain — along with the remains of other missing girls: Lynda Ann Healy, 21, Brenda Ball, 22, and Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20.

Georgeanne Hawkins is still missing. So are two other women who have mysteriously disappeared, Donna Gail Manson, 19, and Vonnie Lee Stuth, also 19.

Police point to the marked similarity in appearance of all the dead and missing women. All were short to medium height, all extremely attractive, all wore their hair long and parted in the middle.

"He must be looking for something in particular," said King County Police Captain Nick Mackie.

Mackie, a tall, taciturn detective, heads the task force of county and Seattle Police Department officers who have redoubled their six-month-long efforts to find the elusive Ted.

The location of the bones has led Mackie to conclude that Ted "very definitely lives or has lived" in that southeast King County area.

But despite that knowledge, and additional testimony from witnesses about a "metallic brown Volkswagen" and the man's "slight English or Canadian accent," police are no closer than they were before the bodies were found.

The biggest frustration, Mackie said, is that the badly-decomposed and animal-scattered remains offer no clue as to how the young women died.

Knowing the method of murder "would have a great bearing on what sort of suspect you're looking for," the detective said.

Mackie and his men already know one thing about Ted, however. He is not dumb.

CRIME TASK FORCE BEGINS SEARCH

Daily O 3-11-75

All Evidence On Missing Women Re-Examined

SEATTLE (AP) — A newly formed seven-man task force made up of officers from the King County and Seattle police departments has begun reassessing evidence concerning the state's missing women, officials said.

Sheriff Larry Waldt said the task force is studying all the evidence collected about the cases since last year and handling new leads provided by the public.

County courthouse phones have been ringing constantly with fresh sightings of the elusive "Ted" since the discovery of remains of four young women missing since last year generated new interest in the case, he said. An eight-day search of the area was concluded last Saturday.

The county has eight large file cases of information compiled over the six-month period in 1974 when the disappearances were taking place. The task force plans to conduct the complete investigation of 910 "Ted" look-alikes.

Investigations of 385 Volkswagen beetles—the type of car "Ted" was said to be driving— and probes of 159 other cars are scheduled. Contacts with law enforcement agencies in 22 states, Canada and Mexico are being maintained for continuing investigation.

"They're going to review everything," Waldt said, "on the possibility that there might be some connection or fact that has been overlooked."

The task force will operate out of the county police criminal investigation division, Waldt said, adding that it will probably be at least two weeks before the seven men are up to date and fully functioning in the case.

Police officials said there is probably a link between the deaths of Janice Ott and Denise Naslund, whose skeletal remains were found last September near Issaquah and the bodies found near North Bend last week. The remains found in the wooded site 23 miles east of Seattle were identified as those of Brenda Carol Ball, Susan Elaine Rancourt, Roberta Kathleen Parks and Linda Ann Healy.

"Ted" is said to have asked the assistance of several young women at Lake Sammamish State Park July 14, the day Mrs. Ott and Miss Naslund disappeared. Mrs. Ott was seen leaving the area with him.

The fair-haired, soft-spoken man had a cast on his arm and asked for help loading his sailboat onto his car. One of the women he approached described him as "charming."

A similar man was reportedly seen in Ellensburg near the time of Miss Rancourt's disappearance from the Central Washington State College campus April 17. Descriptions of the man are similar to those given after the abductions in July and include the cast. However, the Ellensburg women approached by him said he was somewhat unkempt and "weird-looking."

Five women at Lake Sammamish and two at Central turned down his requests. The women at the park said they noticed him watching them before he made his move.

Third skull could be Georgann Hawkins'

TNT 3-18-75

Could the unidentified third skull found in a wooded death site near Issaquah be that of Tacoma's Georgann Hawkins or Donna Gail Manson of Auburn?

The possibility is strong, says King County Police Capt. Nick Mackie, "but there is just no way to find out for sure."

The unidentified skull fragment was found near the scattered remains of Janice Ott and Denise Naslund, two young Seattle-area women who disappeared from nearby Sammamish State Park on July 14 of last year.

BECAUSE THE skull's lower jaw is missing, it cannot be identified by the usual method of comparing dental charts.

"Georgann Hawkins disappeared immediately before Naslund and Ott," Mackie said, "So it is conceivable that it might be her."

"Then again," he added, "it might be Donna Manson, or somebody else entirely."

Donna Manson, 19, disappeared from the Evergreen State College on March 12, 1974. Georgann Hawkins, 18, vanished from an alley behind her University of Washington sorority house on June 11.

THE BODIES of five other missing women have turned up either at Issaquah, or at another murder graveyard on Taylor Mountain near North Bend.

The Taylor Mountain site held the remains of Lynda Ann Healy, 21, of Seattle; Susan Rancourt, 18, of Central Washington State College, and Kathy Parks, 20, of Oregon State University.

A special combined county-city task force has made little progress in the search for "Ted," the mysterious smooth-talking young man who may be connected with the deaths.

"Time is working against us," Mackie said.

MACKIE SAID the team has lost faith in the usefulness of a widely distributed composite drawing of "Ted" as he was described by witnesses who saw him approach Denise Naslund.

"It's a drawing of Ted as he probably looked in July of 1974," he said. "There's not much chance he looks anything like that now. All it does each time it appears is to bring us another couple hundred phone calls that have to be checked out."

The seven detectives assigned to the case are spending much of their time rechecking past tips and leads, Mackie said.

Woman Victims May Have Been Beheaded

SEATTLE (AP) — There is a possibility that the four young women whose remains were found in a wooded area near North Bend early this month were decapitated, a spokesman at the King County medical examiner's office has said.

"It would fit the facts," he said Wednesday.

Only skull and lower jawbones were found at the Taylor Mountain site. All other bones found in the area were identified as belonging to animals.

He said the theory of decapitation "is plausible and would explain the failure to find any other type of human bones. It would be reasonable to expect to find other remains if they had been left there along with the heads." Daily O 3-27-75

Susan Rancourt Service Held

LA CONNER, Wash. (AP) — About 300 persons gathered Saturday for a memorial service for Susan Rancourt, 18, of Anchorage, whose remains were found with those of three other young women last month at Taylor Mountain east of Seattle.

She was eulogized by Chief Al Pickles of the Central Washington State College security department. Pickles was enrolled in a jogging class with Miss Rancourt and later became friends of her parents during the search following her disappearance last April from the Ellensburg campus.

Miss Rancourt attended high school here for three years before her family moved to Anchorage.

In all, the skeletal remains of seven women have been found since last summer in King County. Authorities have been seeking a young man who called himself "Ted" in connection with the deaths. Six of the remains have been identified. Daily O 4-7-75

'NAME OF THE GAME IS TENACITY'

Police Search For Elusive Ted

SEATTLE (AP) — The detective heading the search for "Ted," the elusive young man sought in the deaths of at least seven young Northwest women, admits there is a "good likelihood the case will never be solved."

Capt. Nick Mackie of the King County police says the chances of tracking "Ted" are "very remote" with the evidence the police have.

"We have no crime scene evidence, no means of death," Mackie said Tuesday. "It's the worst case I've ever been on. There's just nothing."

Mackie, who heads an 11-man task force, says police will need a "break" to solve the slayings. He said police have come to a dead end in their attempts to create a psychological profile on the suspect. He said psychiatrists attempted to find a "common denominator" among the victims but were unsuccessful. Mackie said psychiatrists also were unable to develop a profile on "Ted" with the limited evidence available.

The skeletal remains of six women, along with those of a seventh, unidentified woman, have been found in the mountains near Issaquah, east of Seattle. Police are looking for a young man known only as "Ted" as the prime suspect in the slayings. He was seen with one victim after he asked her to help load a sailboat on his car. One of his arms was in a sling.

Mackie said the task force has files on 2,247 "Ted" lookalikes. Mackie said the task force of city and county police has narrowed its list to "well under 200" individuals.

Mackie said his pessimistic prediction that the case might never be solved isn't a declaration of discouragement. "The name of the game is tenacity," he said.

Mackie said the 11-man task force is expected to work fulltime on the case until June 1 when vacation schedules will require the officers to return to regular duties. Mackie said by then, even if "Ted" hasn't been found, police will have followed all present leads and can turn the case over to a fewer number of officers.

Mackie said about six members of the task force returned to the Taylor Mountain site where five of the skeletal remains were found.

The captain said the detectives went to Taylor Mountain "to get a feel of the place." He said no new clues were found.

Aid sought in 'Zodiac' murders; witches at UW discounted

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Sonoma County authorities say they want help from the news media and the public in the search for a witchcraft-obsessed psycopath who may have killed up to 40 women in five Western states.

Sonoma County Sheriff Don Striepeke invited 50 newspapers, radio and television stations to a news conference today to hear details of his theory on the person who may be the so-called Zodiac killer.

Striepeke and his chief investigator in the case, Detective Sgt. Erwin Carlstedt, theorize that a pattern connects certain killings in the San Francisco area; Santa Rosa; Salt Lake City, Utah; Aspen, Colo.; Seattle, Wash., and Santa Fe, N.M.

(In Seattle, however, Capt. Nick Mackie of the King County Police Department said investigators have concluded there is no connection between the California murders and the murders and disappearances of nine young women in the Northwest.)

Carlstedt believes the same man, apparently a person of great physical strength, killed his victims in the belief they would be his slaves in an afterlife.

There were six unsolved murders of young women in 1972 and 1973 in Sonoma County, and Striepeke said double rectangles of twigs and stones were found near three of the victims. He said the design is an ancient English symbol meaning "to carry the souls away, to take them to paradise."

Carlstedt said all victims were under 30 and found nude in locations apart from where they were slain. Their clothing usually was missing, almost all were strangled, but at least one was poisoned and another was drowned.

He believes one killer is responsible for 28 killings or disappearances of girls or young women in Northern California dating back to 1963.

The Zodiac killer claimed 37 victims in his last message to authorities, mailed to a San Francisco newspaper earlier this year.

SEATTLE (AP) — A Seattle police captain says he has no evidence to indicate that a Miami, Fla., mother's tales of a witches' coven operating at the University of Washington have any connection with the death of 4-year-old Heidi Peterson or the slayings of six young women.

Capt. Herbert Swindler said today the woman has written him numerous times, saying her 23-year-old daughter had left the UW abruptly last December. The mother's letters indicated her daughter had encountered a coven while taking graduate courses in psychology.

A Miami Herald story Thursday said police believed the young Miami woman may be the key to a series of slayings of young Northwest women.

"I never said anything like that," Capt. Swindler said from his home. "I did say this is not your run-of-the-mill sexual psychopath running around. And I did say we were looking into the occult. We have been for months, as we are looking at a number of other angles."

The Herald said the young woman fled from Seattle in fear and went into hiding in New Hampshire.

"I did ask this mother to have her daughter write to me and give me details of what she said she observed," Swindler said. "But the daughter never did."

The mother reportedly said her daughter identified a female teacher as a leader of the cult and said that the satanic rituals, including the desecration of a crucifix, were practiced weekly in the teacher's home.

Capt. Swindler said he thought the mother had taken a crucifix incident and her daughter's reports of feeling "hypnotized" at psychology research meetings and made assumptions about witches and covens.

Only head bones found

Decapitation seen in 'Ted' slayings

SEATTLE (AP) — There is a possibility that the four young women whose remains were found in a wooded area near North Bend early this month were decapitated, a spokesman at the King County medical examiner's office said Wednesday.

"It would fit the facts," he said.

Only skull and lower jawbones were found at the Taylor Mountain site. All other bones found in the area were identified as belonging to animals.

He said the theory of decapitation "is plausible and would explain the failure to find any other type of human bones. It would be reasonable to expect to find other remains if they had been left there along with the heads."

The official said the theory also would explain why no clothing had been found at the site.

The remains of Denise Naslund and Janice Ott and a third person found near Issaquah last September included both skull and body parts.

Still missing are three Northwest women whose disappearances occurred under circumstances similar to those whose remains have been found.

Computers may probe coeds case

Computers may be brought to bear in the baffling case of dead and missing Northwest coeds, a King County Police spokesman said Tuesday.

Capt. Nick Mackie said a police homicide task force is considering use of computers to weed out a list of several hundred "Ted" suspects and to sift through mountains of evidence.

"Ted" is a blonde, athletic-looking young man believed responsible for at least two of the deaths last year. So far, parts of seven bodies have been recovered in the Issaquah-North Bend area.

Mackie said use of the computer is "just a chance, but it's an avenue we haven't taken."

As the mystery deepens

Baffled authorities piling up data on 'Ted'

A Seattle-King County task force investigating the murders of at least six young women in King County now has about 1,200 names in its file of "Ted" suspects.

Ted is believed to be the name of a young man seen talking with 23-year-old Janice Ott shortly before she vanished July 14 from Lake Sammamish State Park. Mrs. Ott's remains were found two months later near Issaquah.

The tanned, athletic-appearing young man also is believed to have enticed Denise Naslund nl8, to accompany him the same day. Miss Naslund's remains were found near Mrs. Ott's.

Police suspect Ted, if that indeed is his name, may be a factor in all six deaths and the disappearances of two other college coeds in Washington last year.

King County Police Capt. Nick Mackie said his office has received hundreds of reported "Ted-sightings" and that each report is ranked according to its apparent value.

Mackie said 40,000 persons were at Lake Sammamish State Park July 14, yet no one has come forward with any concrete evidence associating Ted with a specific vehicle.

Other young women approached by the suspect have given sketchy information on a brown Volkswagen bug believed driven by him. Mackie said the task force is investigating nearly 600 cars of the same description.

Ted was described as 5 feet 8, 150 to 160 pounds, blonde or light brown hair and blue eyes. He was tanned and wore what appeared to be a tennis outfit. Some witnesses said he spoke with a slight, possibly faked, accent.

Police have viewed several hundred snapshots and movies taken at the park that day in an effort to spot Ted. So far, they've had no luck.

"Sometimes I just can't believe we didn't come up with a picture of the guy," Mackie said. "It just boggles the mind."

Task Force Called Off

SEATTLE (AP) — The task force investigating the deaths and disappearance of several young Northwest women will be disbanded May 30, King County Police Capt. J.N. "Nick" Mackie said Tuesday.

The task force, composed of county and Seattle detectives, has been reviewing all information gathered on the cases.

Capt. Mackie said all but a few suspects have been eliminated. Additional investigation will be processed by two detectives in the homicide unit, Mackie said.

Mystery still baffles

The News Tribune Tacoma, Mon., June 2, 1975

Investigative task force dissolved

Unable to develop any solid leads after months of investigating, a police task force looking into the deaths and disappearances of nine Northwest women has been disbanded.

The 11-person Seattle-King County police unit was formed last March after the discovery of remains of four missing young women in the Taylor Mountain area near North Bend.

Earlier, skeletal remains of two other young women were found in another wooded area a few miles away near Issaquah. A man known only as "Ted," who was seen talking with one of the women prior to her disappearance, became a suspect in all the deaths.

POLICE BELIEVED if they could find Ted, the case could be cracked wide open. As news of the search spread, the task force received hundreds of tips from citizens who believed they had seen the suspect.

Volkswagens, like the one the suspect was believed to be driving, were checked, witnesses were reinterviewed and death sites reexamined. Despite the efforts, no substantial clues were uncovered.

Officers also took a hard look at Gary Addison Taylor, the man who has been charged with the murder of another young woman—Vonnie Stuth—whose body was found May 24 buried near Taylor's Enumclaw home.

But witnesses agreed: Taylor is not "Ted."

MAKING THE investigation particularly difficult is the fact that it is replete with uncertainties.

Police do not know for certain that Ted is a "good" suspect. Neither do they know for certain how any of the young women died. And they are mystified by two eerie aspects of the macabre case:

—Of the last four remains found, only heads and jawbones were located—not bodies. Partial skeletons were found with the remains located near Issaquah.

—One of the four victims found in March—Roberta Parks— was last seen alive on the Oregon State University campus in Corvallis—more than 200 miles from where her body was found.

Theories, ranging from roving sex maniacs to devil cults, have made the rounds. But, officially, police are certain of only one thing.

They are stumped.

HOMICIDE - MISSING PERSONS CONFERENCE

THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT
EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE, 3 JULY 1974, 0900 HOURS

SYNOPSIS:

The conference was suggested due to the continuing disappearances of young women in Washington State and the possibility that a lead had been overlooked (not exchanged) due to a number of departments being involved over a period of time and considerable physical distance.

Information had been exchanged by teletypes, telephone, mail and meetings of individual investigators, but necessarily, these contacts had been brief, and they had been restricted to the exchange of basic information. There had not been the opportunity for any detailed discussion.

Initially, it was somewhat of a surprise that the news media was as interested as the participating law enforcement agencies, but after some reflection on a joint conference, that interest became obvious and was welcomed by all participants.

It was recognized that a joint conference of this type might be very beneficial to all concerned, and it may be expected that there will be other joint news media - law enforcement conferences in the future, especially if there is again a strong mutual interest, as there is in this particular case.

Highlights of the conference are recorded in the details of these minutes, but it should be realized that a considerable number of individual meetings (exchanges of information and ideas) took place among interested parties in addition to the recorded program.

Although the conference did not produce any startling new information or positive investigative leads, it was very successful from the liaison, communications and cooperation standpoint.

If we keep on exchanging information, if we keep asking ourselves how we can help each other, and how we can keep each other current, then the conference will truly have accomplished its primary purpose.

The members of the Thurston County Sheriff's Department and Evergreen State College Security wish to thank all participants for their time and effort. We appreciated your interest and input.

DETAILS:

SHERIFF DON REDMOND, THURSTON COUNTY:

The conference was opened with an introduction by Sheriff Don Redmond, Thurston County. He stated the meeting was called in an effort to gain better knowledge of what everyone is doing and to learn what we can do to help each other.

CHIEF SECURITY OFFICER ROD MARROM, EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE:

Rod was first on the agenda, with information on the missing 19-year-old coed, DONNA GAIL MANSON. Miss Manson has been missing from the Evergreen Campus since March 12, 1974. He theorized that possibly a person with some college connection was involved, thusly accounting for the missing girls from the different colleges.

DETECTIVE JANICE MARKS, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Jan gave a summary on the homicide case of 14-year-old BRENDA J. BAKER. Her body was located in Millersylvania State Park, Thurston County, on the 17th of June, 1974. She was last seen by a friend as she was hitchhiking May 27th of this year. During the question and answer session, similarities between this and the 101C Homicide case were brought out; the age, the hitchhiking factor, knife wounds on the body and places of discovery--both in public parks of Thurston County.

DETECTIVE PAUL BARCLIFT, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Paul elaborated on the 101C case, where a 101C girl was found in the Capital Forest Park in Thurston County on 6 December 1973, with her throat slit and various other knife wounds. She was last seen hitching a ride with an individual in a truck on Aurora Avenue, Seattle, on November 25, 1973.

OFFICER CHERYL SCHMEIZER, CENTRAL WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

Cheryl gave information on SUSAN ELAINE RANCOURT, a 18-year-old female student missing from that college since April 17, 1974. She was last seen walking toward her dormitory at approximately 10:00 p.m. Their investigation has produced no clues. She was not known to hitchhike, nor did she drive.

SERGEANT K. C. JONES, TUMWATER POLICE DEPARTMENT:

K. C. revealed details of a missing 17-year-old girl from the Tumwater area. 101A has been missing from her home since February 2, 1974. On that date, her parents had gone out, returning at about 10:30 p.m. to find 101A gone. There is a record of her running away one time, but she remained in the area, staying with a friend and returned home after two days. There were no current problems between her and her parents; she took nothing with her; doesn't drive; is not known to hitchhike She has not contacted anyone since the date of her disappearance.

NOTE: The young lady in question has subsequently been located as the direct result of a local newspaper article.

DETECTIVE GEORGE CUTHILL, SEATTLE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

George was next on the agenda with details of the LYNDA ANN HEALY case. Miss Healy, a 21-year-old senior at the University of Washington, was reportedly last seen on the night of January 31, 1974, when she was returning to her room. Her alarm was set to go off for work the next morning, but her bed was made, although several small amounts of blood were found on the pillow when the cover was turned back. She was known to hitchhike; her backpack was missing, but her ID was found still in her bedroom. She has not been seen since, nor has she contacted anyone.

Detective Cuthill went on to give information regarding the second girl missing from the University of Washington, 18-year-old GEORGANN HAWKINS. Miss Hawkins was walking to a sorority house and as in the other above-related cases, there are no clues. Miss Hawkins is described as an All-American-type girl, not a drug user, nor was she known to be promiscuous.

During the question and answer session on the above, it was theorized that perhaps a woman was involved in these alleged abductions. A woman would not normally be suspicious if another woman approached her.

Detective Cuthill also discussed a [redacted] that escaped from [redacted] James Edward Ruzicka, a confessed murderer of two girls in King County. He is currently incarcerated in Oregon State to stand trial for rape of a 14-year-old girl from that area. He was originally sent to [redacted] in 1973 for a rape which occurred about four blocks from where Lynda Healy is missing. He left [redacted] the morning of January 31, 1974.

DETECTIVE TELBERG, SEATTLE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

Tel related information he had on the missing coed from Oregon State University. ROBERTA KATHLEEN PARKS, age 20, was last seen around 11:00 p.m., May 6, 1974. No luggage was taken and her bicycle was still where she left it. She was known to have had psychiatric problems and was unpredictable. She has not been seen or heard from since that date.

A. M. ZATKOVICH, DIRECTOR, PIERCE COUNTY EMERGENCY SERVICES:

Tony was introduced by Sheriff Redmond, and he told of some of his experiences when he was in police work, particularly of an investigation into the disappearance of a young girl from her home in the Tacoma area, which remains unsolved. He also expressed his views on the hitchhiking law.

EARL SUN, RETIRED DETECTIVE OF HOMICIDE, MULTNOMAH SAFETY DEPARTMENT:

Earl had been instrumental in the solving of a homicide investigation which occurred almost a decade ago. He brought out things that hamper an investigation of this type; such as, lack of time and money, and he suggested several things that might aid in the breaking of a case, i.e. additional help from the news media, the offering of a reward, an anniversary story on homicides that are unsolved, and he also suggested a central filing system which would accumulate any and all information on crimes that would be accessible to any interested department.

CAPTAIN CARL SKAGGS, PIERCE COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE:

Carl discussed the effects of the hitchhiking law; especially its effect on 13, 14, 15 and 16-year-olds who do not have the experience in determining with whom to ride or not to ride. He also mentioned a piece of legislation that is pending that would emancipate 16-year-olds. He feels that certain laws currently in effect for juveniles have certain drawbacks, but feels this new proposal needs looking into.

SERGEANT GEORGE TELLEVIK, WASHINGTON STATE PATROL:

George, who is connected with data processing, gave information relevant to the entering of items into the Washington Crime Information Center.

REPRESENTATIVE SHIRLEY WINSLEY, HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE:

Representative Winsley was concerned about "loopholes" in some of this State's laws, that might be a hinderance to law enforcement personnel in the apprehension or conviction of criminals. A discussion ensued that there seems to be more concern for the rights and liberties of criminals than for those of citizens. Representative Winsley will continue to work closely with all law enforcement agencies, and she would be very interested in periodic briefings and/or status reports on items of mutual interest.

INSPECTOR CHARLES GRAEF, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Chuck stressed the importance of timely teletypes in the event of homicides and suspicious disappearances, urged full cooperation among all agencies in the distribution of flyers and photos, and encouraged release of maximum information to the news media as soon as available. Public response as the result of good media coverage has furnished quite a few leads in many major criminal investigations.

DETECTIVE PAUL BARCLIFT, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Paul explained that a complete personal history statement on each victim, beginning with the date of birth, including schools attended, associates, likes or dislikes and other general background information, would be a valuable aid to investigation. This should be compiled and distributed to other departments.

CONCLUSION:

In conclusion, Sheriff Redmond stressed the fact that we need a lot of help from the people, more cooperation from establishments like Western State, and increased cooperation and communication of all law enforcement agencies.

Sheriff Redmond offered the continued future assistance of his Department in all related matters, including possibly developing programs of "Self Protection Measures For Women" anywhere in the State of Washington.

She was last seen by a friend as she was hitchhiking May 27th of this year. During the question and answer session, similarities between this and the 101C Homicide case were brought out; the age, the hitchhiking factor, knife wounds on the body and places of discovery--both in public parks of Thurston County.

DETECTIVE PAUL BARCLIFT, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Paul elaborated on the 101C case, where a 101C girl was found in the Capital Forest Park in Thurston County on 6 December 1973, with her throat slit and various other knife wounds. She was last seen hitching a ride with an individual in a truck on Aurora Avenue, Seattle, on November 25, 1973.

OFFICER CHERYL SCHMEIZER, CENTRAL WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

Cheryl gave information on SUSAN ELAINE RANCOURT, a 18-year-old female student missing from that college since April 17, 1974. She was last seen walking toward her dormitory at approximately 10:00 p.m. Their investigation has produced no clues. She was not known to hitchhike, nor did she drive.

SERGEANT K. C. JONES, TUMWATER POLICE DEPARTMENT:

K. C. revealed details of a missing 17-year-old girl from the Tumwater area. 101A has been missing from her home since February 2, 1974. On that date, her parents had gone out, returning at about 10:30 p.m. to find 101A gone. There is a record of her running away one time, but she remained in the area, staying with a friend and returned home after two days. There were no current problems between her and her parents; she took nothing with her; doesn't drive; is not known to hitchhike She has not contacted anyone since the date of her disappearance.

NOTE: The young lady in question has subsequently been located as the direct result of a local newspaper article.

DETECTIVE GEORGE CUTHILL, SEATTLE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

George was next on the agenda with details of the LYNDA ANN HEALY case. Miss Healy, a 21-year-old senior at the University of Washington, was reportedly last seen on the night of January 31, 1974, when she was returning to her room. Her alarm was set to go off for work the next morning, but her bed was made, although several small amounts of blood were found on the pillow when the cover was turned back. She was known to hitchhike; her backpack was missing, but her ID was found still in her bedroom. She has not been seen since, nor has she contacted anyone.

Detective Cuthill went on to give information regarding the second girl missing from the University of Washington, 18-year-old GEORGANN HAWKINS. Miss Hawkins was walking to a sorority house and as in the other above-related cases, there are no clues. Miss Hawkins is described as an All-American-type girl, not a drug user, nor was she known to be promiscuous.

During the question and answer session on the above, it was theorized that perhaps a woman was involved in these alleged abductions. A woman would not normally be suspicious if another woman approached her.

Detective Cuthill also discussed a 403 [redacted] that escaped from 403 [redacted], James Edward Ruzicka, a confessed murderer of two girls in King County. He is currently incarcerated in Oregon State to stand trial for rape of a 14-year-old girl from that area. He was originally sent to 403 [redacted] in 1973 for a rape which occurred about four blocks from where Lynda Healy is missing. He left 403 [redacted] the morning of January 31, 1974.

DETECTIVE TELBERG, SEATTLE POLICE DEPARTMENT:

Tel related information he had on the missing coed from Oregon State University. ROBERTA KATHLEEN PARKS, age 20, was last seen around 11:00 p.m., May 6, 1974. No luggage was taken and her bicycle was still where she left it. She was known to have had psychiatric problems and was unpredictable. She has not been seen or heard from since that date.

A. M. ZATKOVICH, DIRECTOR, PIERCE COUNTY EMERGENCY SERVICES:

Tony was introduced by Sheriff Redmond, and he told of some of his experiences when he was in police work, particularly of an investigation into the disappearance of a young girl from her home in the Tacoma area, which remains unsolved. He also expressed his views on the hitchhiking law.

EARL SUN, RETIRED DETECTIVE OF HOMICIDE, MULTNOMAH SAFETY DEPARTMENT:

Earl had been instrumental in the solving of a homicide investigation which occurred almost a decade ago. He brought out things that hamper an investigation of this type; such as, lack of time and money, and he suggested several things that might aid in the breaking of a case, i.e. additional help from the news media, the offering of a reward, an anniversary story on homicides that are unsolved, and he also suggested a central filing system which would accumulate any and all information on crimes that would be accessible to any interested department.

CAPTAIN CARL SKAGGS, PIERCE COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE:

Carl discussed the effects of the hitchhiking law; especially its effect on 13, 14, 15 and 16-year-olds who do not have the experience in determining with whom to ride or not to ride. He also mentioned a piece of legislation that is pending that would emancipate 16-year-olds. He feels that certain laws currently in effect for juveniles have certain drawbacks, but feels this new proposal needs looking into.

SERGEANT GEORGE TELLEVIK, WASHINGTON STATE PATROL:

REPRESENTATIVE SHIRLEY WINSLEY, HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE:

Representative Winsley was concerned about "loopholes" in some of this State's laws, that might be a hinderance to law enforcement personnel in the apprehension or conviction of criminals. A discussion ensued that there seems to be more concern for the rights and liberties of criminals than for those of citizens. Representative Winsley will continue to work closely with all law enforcement agencies, and she would be very interested in periodic briefings and/or status reports on items of mutual interest.

INSPECTOR CHARLES GRAEF, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Chuck stressed the importance of timely teletypes in the event of homicides and suspicious disappearances, urged full cooperation among all agencies in the distribution of flyers and photos, and encouraged release of maximum information to the news media as soon as available. Public response as the result of good media coverage has furnished quite a few leads in many major criminal investigations.

DETECTIVE PAUL BARCLIFT, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Paul explained that a complete personal history statement on each victim, beginning with the date of birth, including schools attended, associates, likes or dislikes and other general background information, would be a valuable aid to investigation. This should be compiled and distributed to other departments.

CONCLUSION:

In conclusion, Sheriff Redmond stressed the fact that we need a lot of help from the people, more cooperation from establishments like Western State, and increased cooperation and communication of all law enforcement agencies.

Sheriff Redmond offered the continued future assistance of his Department in all related matters, including possibly developing programs of "Self Protection Measures For Women" anywhere in the State of Washington.

HOMICIDE - MISSING PERSONS CONFERENCE

EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE, 3 JULY 1974, 0900 HOURS

SYNOPSIS:

The conference was suggested due to the continuing disappearances of young women in Washington State and the possibility that a lead had been overlooked (not exchanged) due to a number of departments being involved over a period of time and considerable physical distance.

Information had been exchanged by teletypes, telephone, mail and meetings of individual investigators, but necessarily, these contacts had been brief, and they had been restricted to the exchange of basic information. There had not been the opportunity for any detailed discussion.

Initially, it was somewhat of a surprise that the news media was as interested as the participating law enforcement agencies, but after some reflection on a joint conference, that interest became obvious and was welcomed by all participants.

It was recognized that a joint conference of this type might be very beneficial to all concerned, and it may be expected that there will be other joint news media - law enforcement conferences in the future, especially if there is again a strong mutual interest, as there is in this particular case.

Highlights of the conference are recorded in the details of these minutes, but it should be realized that a considerable number of individual meetings (exchanges of information and ideas) took place among interested parties in addition to the recorded program.

Although the conference did not produce any startling new information or positive investigative leads, it was very successful from the liaison, communications and cooperation standpoint.

If we keep on exchanging information, if we keep asking ourselves how we can help each other, and how we can keep each other current, then the conference will truly have accomplished its primary purpose.

The members of the Thurston County Sheriff's Department and Evergreen State College Security wish to thank all participants for their time and effort. We appreciated your interest and input.

DETAILS:

SHERIFF DON REDMOND, THURSTON COUNTY:

The conference was opened with an introduction by Sheriff Don Redmond, Thurston County. He stated the meeting was called in an effort to gain better knowledge of what everyone is doing and to learn what we can do to help each other.

CHIEF SECURITY OFFICER ROD MARROM, EVERGREEN STATE COLLEGE:

Rod was first on the agenda, with information on the missing 19-year-old coed, DONNA GAIL MANSON. Miss Manson has been missing from the Evergreen Campus since March 12, 1974. He theorized that possibly a person with some college connection was involved, thusly accounting for the missing girls from the different colleges.

DETECTIVE JANICE MARKS, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

Jan gave a summary on the homicide case of 14-year-old BRENDA J. BAKER. Her body was located in Millersylvania State Park, Thurston County, on the 17th of June, 1974. She was last seen by a friend as she was hitchhiking May 27th of this year. During the question and answer session, similarities between this and the 101C Homicide case were brought out; the age, the hitchhiking factor, knife wounds on the body and places of discovery--both in public parks of Thurston County.

DETECTIVE PAUL BARCLIFT, THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT:

A. No.

Q. Was anyone smoking it?
A. No, I don't think so. I can't say because it was two months ago.

STATEMENT

CASE NO. _____ Date April 2, 1974 Time 10:30 a.m.

Name of Person from whom Statement is taken KATHERINE STEPHENS

PERSONS PRESENT:

J. W. JONES

PLACE Stephens residence

I, Katherine Stephens, 24 years of age, a resident of PE ELL, WASH.

_____, make the following statement of my own free will and accord. No threats, promises or offers of gratuity, reward or leniency have been made nor has violence or force been used to obtain this statement, and I understand that this statement may be used against me in a Court of Law. I have been advised that I may remain silent and that I am not required to make any statement whatsoever. Further, I have been advised and understand that I have the right to legal counsel and acknowledge that I have been afforded the opportunity to consult counsel before making this statement. I understand that if I do not have sufficient funds to employ legal counsel, the Court will appoint counsel for me at public expense.

After having read the above, and being of sound mind and not under the influence of intoxicating beverages or narcotic drugs, I desire to make the following statement:

On or about March 13, 1974 I saw a girl about 5 ft. tall, slender build with long dark curly hair, wearing a maxi-coat, long pants, moccassins, and carrying a purse, she had blue eyes and a pale complexion, standing on the corner of Pearl and Main Streets in Centralia, Wash. I was about 8 ft. from her. I looked at her closely because she appeared to be very pale and sickly and close to tears. I felt that she may be sick and faint. When I saw the picture in the Chronicle of a girl missing from Olympia I felt that it was the same girl I had seen. This was around 2:30 in the afternoon. She was alone.

I have read the above statement and it is true and correct, to the best of my knowledge.

Mr. Paul Barclift, Detective
Office of the Sheriff
Thurston County
P. O. Box 1937
Olympia, Washington 98507

Dear Paul,

Enclosed is the newspaper clipping which I mentioned in our telephone conversation of today. Unfortunately it does not have the date (I usually make a note of the date)--notice on the back of the clipping a note as to George Meany's 80th birthday, whatever date that was--at any rate, after Nixon's resignation. Hope the information will be of some use to you.

Again, Lyle and I want to express our deep appreciation for all you and your co-workers have done in behalf of locating Donna. We would like to have you convey our feelings to all the hundreds of volunteers who participated in this most recent and all the previous searches--we are indebted to them for their unselfish efforts to locate her, and while thus far it has proved unfruitful, we know you have done everything possible. These have been long, agonizing months for us and for the parents of the other missing girls. And although the anxious waiting is over for parents and family of Janice Ott and Denise Naslund, we know they will not rest until the maniac who committed the act is brought to justice.

Yours sincerely,

Marie E. Manson

Dear Paul:

It has been some time since we have been in contact with you, but I assume you are still working on the case of Donna's disappearance on March 12, 1974.

From time to time, articles appear in the Seattle papers which interest me, even though there is probably only a vague possibility that they would have any bearing on Donna's case. Such an article appeared in yesterday's issue of the Seattle TIMES, a copy of which is enclosed.

I have underlined the last sentence in this short article, since it occurred to me there is a possibility that Donna may have been overlooked in this investigation. Then, this latest find (Krista Kaye Blake, found near Battle Ground, Clark County) could be related in that it occurred within several months of Donna's disappearance.

I have also wondered about the man who is suspected in the case of Kathy Sue Miller (found in June, 1973)--Harvey Louis Carignan. This is the man who is still being held by the Hennepin County, Minnesota sheriff's office in connection with sexual assaults on teenage girls in that state. This is the same man who had a map with 181 locations marked in states between the West Coast and Midwest--some of which proved to be the sites where victims had been found. Have you ever checked this out in regard to Donna?

I suppose you wonder why I am asking these things--but as you can imagine, it is something which is always in our consciousness, no matter how hard we try to forget. To our knowledge, Donna and the Hawkins girl (Tacoma) are the only two not yet found who were connected with the 1974 disappearances.

I would appreciate a reply whenever you can get to it.

Best Regards,

Marie Manson

P.S.: Is there any further investigation in process regarding the controversial Ted Bundy? The circumstances and occurrences in Utah seem oddly coincidental, although I realize no hard evidence against him has been found.

Mr. Paul Barclift, Detective

Dear Paul:

About a month ago I wrote to you concerning Donna's case--asking a few questions which had been troubling me, and wondering whether there had been any activity on her case at all since the last time we were in contact with you (more than a year).

To date I have not received a reply to my letter, and although I know you must be overloaded with other cases which are more active, I would appreciate a reply at your earliest convenience.

Another question occurred to me in the meantime. This concerns Ted Bundy. Was he ever subjected to a lie detector test in connection with any of the cases in this area? It seems this would be a rather crucial factor in determining whether or not he is possibly guilty of any of the crimes for which he is suspect. Would it be possible for you to check on this for me? Thank you.

Sincerely,

Marie E. Manson

11). C.P. REPORTED THAT DURING SOCIAL PSYSC CLASS, AUG 74, AT ST MARTINS IN DR GALLAGHER'S CLASS A PERSON OF SIMILAR DESCRIPTION TO "TED" WAS WEARING A CAST ON HIS LEFT LEG. THIS PERSON WAS NOT KNOWN BY FOSTER, BUT WITH THE ATTACHED NOTE, DR GALLAGHER COULD PROVIDE A NAME. C.P. ALSO FEELS THAT SUBJECT MAY BE PART OF THE MILITARY BOOTSTRAP PROGRAMM. HER REASON FOR THIS REPORT IS THAT WHILE WEARING THE CAST, THE SUBJECT MADE COMMENTS ABOUT HOW DIFFICULT IT WAS TO GET TO HIS CAR WITH HIS BOOKS. HOWEVER PRIOR TO WEARING THE CAST, SUBJECT WAS QUIET AND RESERVED, BUT NOT UNFRENDLY. FOSTER FELT THAT THIS SHOULD BE BROUGHT TO THIS DEPT. ATTENTION

I made a phone call to Steve Brown as soon as I got back from vacation to buy something and he told me the police were going to question me about Dona Manson. He stated he had it under control (whatever that means). About 30 minutes later the Deputy showed up which in all probability means he called the sheriff because nobody except my foster parents knew I was back. He told me, well we had a little business going which his friend from Tacoma Ted Bundy brought the dope to us or bought it for Steve. They had an apartment located in Ash, where I seen a little of Bundy, also a store and a Dorm Apt. There were a one girl one was from Olympia Juvenile where Steve Brown worked at that I met in Juvenile myself which I later met again after I got out of Juvenile at his Dorm Apt. The night I met her at his Apt, Bundy came in she left with him because Steve told me to stay away from her because she had VD. We went to the student chow hall and ate dinner at this time Steve indicated he was mad about a bad.....

dope deal and we talked of it. But when we were leaving (I think he said) something about a spot where there was construction. And I feel that he meant where they, Bundy and him, put the body.

The next day after the police let me go, Steve told me I could have the Ash Apt it was paid up for a while and he was leaving to Washington DC. A couple of my friends and I tried to get Steve busted because he was apparently putting the scam on me so we got together, Mike Kilborne and his wife (and also the Security Chief at Evergreen Col) and another guy to go look in a Dorm Storage area in Dorm A where we put dope. The security guy had the keys so he went down there and found no body. Boy this time Mike Kilborn thought Steve did it for sure. There were another group of people involved with our drugs in Dorm B where steve had contacts. I feel the chances are good that Bundy was deffinately around Steve. There are some other people and names that were around Steve and me and Bundy and a couple of locations you could look at but this is just a general idea all this isnt in order. A girl from Tacoma named Beth who went to school there knew and seen Bundy too.

STATEMENT OF: REBECCA ANN SIEVERS

DATE OF BIRTH: 11-14-52

PRESENT ADDRESS: Rt. 15, 2245-1 Overhulse Road NW, no phone

I do hereby give the following statement to C. R. McFarland , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Q. Rebecca, it is reported to me that you have reason to believe you saw a suspect known only as Ted, whom the police in King County are interested in, at The Evergreen College?
A. It was in the Evergreen Ash Commons.

Q. To the best of your memory would you describe this individual?
A. He was tanned, blond hair, it looked dirty and it was longish in front, slightly over one eye, and parted to the side, collar length in back. He was about 5'8 ~~to 5'10~~", 160 lbs, broad shoulders, muscular build.

Q. Did you notice any abnormal deformities?
A. No, except he stood rigid.

Q. What were you currently doing at the time you saw the fellow?
A. I had been in the laundry room and I was folding clothes.

Q. Did this individual say anything to you or make any gestures?
A. When I turned to get my clothes out of the dryer, I turned around and I noticed him standing slightly concealed behind the door and staring at me. I looked at him and he started to walk forwards and he said, "Hello there you doing your laundry" and then it looked like he was going to continue talking and he kept coming forward and then we heard somebody coming in the door and a girl came in with a bike and he turned and walked out the door. He had been standing there toward the other girl. When they first saw each other, they were both behind a partition and then immediately, the girl turned around and he helped her with the door and she rode off and he went out and went around a wall and the next thing I knew, I saw his reflection in one of the glass panels in the door.

Q. Was he still watching you?
A. No, I couldn't see him and as far as I know, he couldn't see me, but I saw his reflection in the door.

Q. In your own mind, at the time, did you consider that he was waiting for you?
A. Yes.

Q. Did anything in his manner or actions indicate that he was contemplating violence?

A. He seemed really impatient like he was waiting and his manner was quick. He was sure of himself, except his voice seemed un-natural.

Q. Would you describe his voice as possibly having an accent?
A. It is possible.

Q. Would you say he overemphasized his pronunciation of the words?
A. Yes, because he wasn't talking real loud, but to make up for that, he had to talk really clear.

Q. Do you know if he had any conversation with the other girl?
A. Yes, he did. I heard them talking.

Q. Could you decipher any of the words?
A. No.

Q. At what point did you observe this picture in the Evergreen Campus News?
A. This morning, just before I went to Rod Marrom's.

Q. Did you recognize this picture in the paper to be the individual you saw Tuesday?
A. Yes, the similarity really struck me. The main difference is that his hair wasn't as soft looking and as blond.

Q. You indicated to Mr. Marrom that the individual possibly needed a shave, would you say that he may possibly be starting to grow a beard now?
A. Possibly.

Q. Was the individual still there when you departed?
A. I didn't notice. I tried to ignore him. I walked out the door as quick as I could and ran.

Q. When you departed did you see any type of transportation that he may have used?
A. No, there were cars parked there.

Q. To the best of your memory, would you describe his clothing?
A. It seemed like he was wearing tan cords, short sleeved open neck shirt, possibly lightish plaid.

Q. Did you notice if he had any tattoos on his arms?
A. No.

Q. What was the actual date this happened?
A. Tuesday night, 30 July 1974 about midnight.

I, Rebecca Ann Sievers, have read this statement of two pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Watergate: the real story

The other day, a friend and I were talking about politics and films in a conversation that could well be entitled "Lesser Forms of Entertainment." The first part of the conversation was filled with robust pride about the slow, but beautiful regicide taking place in the District of Columbia.

Over coffee and cinnamon rolls we chuckled about the early ACLU meetings we had attended and the petitions we had signed to see the President removed from office. Perhaps the most encouraging thing in the whole affair was how quickly Nixon had fallen in the polls after a landslide election.

"The People," my friend mused, "came through this time. The people are in revolt."

"And the media," a nearby waitress added. "The media is showing how courageous it can be."

My friend nodded his agreement, but I wondered. if the Congress were impeaching the President because of the illegal bombing of Cambodia, that would be one thing. But Watergate, although definitely an impeachable sort of crime, seemed too ordinary to warrant a reversal of normal political inertia.

Suddenly my mind became filled with distorted scenarios of the past and near future.

All were based, I think, on my odd and slightly paranoid premise that if an institution or individual is weak enough to be felled by an attack, he is likewise not worth attacking. This premise is particularly true of bureaucratic fighting but far less so of violent confrontations.

"But if the President of the United States in your mind is too weak to be worth attacking," my friend broke in, after taking a puff of his pipe, "who is worth attacking?"

"Whoever holds the real power!" I blurted out too loudly. In the following frantic hours we came up with four scenarios to who engineered the Watergate impeachment:

The Military

In this scenario, modeled roughly after the movie Z, the military is the actual power behind the civilian government. As the special prosecutor comes closer and closer to the truth, the military panics and the civilian government gets thrown out.

In this case the impeachment trial would rate as a huge diversionary tactic, perhaps engineered by General Haig. Support for this idea comes from the Joint Chief of Staff's spying on the National Security Council. Also worth noting is that Nixon's successor Gerald Ford has the perfect makings of a puppet. He is dumb, thought to be honest, pro-military, and his chief of staff would be a former four star general.

The CIA

This scenario has a more or less religious tone about it. First of all it was first proposed seriously by Jesus freak Charles Colson, but perhaps more important it assumes the omniscience of the Central Intelligence Agency. A detailed version of this idea relates that the CIA does not want actual control of the government, but simple veto power, similar to the military in many South American countries.

The events when honestly told run like this: After successfully killing both Kennedys the CIA became dumbfounded when "their" president, Nixon, turned against a solid Cold War policy. Still, having matured since 1963, they decided to bide their time. Three events brought them to actively fight Nixon: (1) The knowledge that Hoover had vetoed the Huston plan, so that Nixon would be anxious to set up an extra-governmental spy agency (2) Nixon's landslide election would make him confident enough to, as Colson relates, start an investigation of the CIA and (3) Hoover's death would allow Nixon to appoint a director who would launch offenses against the CIA's domestic activities, something that Hoover would have refused to do.

Working quickly, the CIA encouraged former agent E. Howard Hunt to undertake the domestic espionage, banking on the time when Hunt would turn against the president. This scenario also places the CIA in the role of the secret informer to the Washington Post, "Deep Throat".

The Big Business Community

The logic behind this is simple: In order to find out who is responsible for a crime, look to see who had a motive to do it. The business community's profit has been two-fold. On one hand they are living under a de facto "laissez faire" system. With the executive, who must enforce the laws, busy fighting impeachment, they can have somewhat of a picnic, as the energy crisis demonstrated. Far more subtly, the business community is gaining valuable special interest legislation because of impeachment. In order to buy votes, Nixon has had to acquiesce to the wishes of many conservative special interest Senators. The politics of Impeachment are thus a double blessing for the business community.

A further motive, and explanation of the timing is explained by the Agnew affair. Seeing that the Justice Department had violated a sacred tacit agreement between business and government by preparing to indict the Vice President for bribery, they felt that more direct action had to be taken.

That direct action took place in an insidiously subtle manner. First influential Republicans, who are controlled by Big Business, told the President to hire Archibald Cox as special prosecutor. They did this knowing that Cox was a "Harvard man" and represented everything Nixon found distasteful. When a few months later, Nixon could take no more of Cox, these same influential Big Businessmen advised the President to fire Cox. It was this decisive, seemingly unexplainable action which turned Impeachment into a reality.

The Far Left

This scenario, the most complex of all, ties the kidnapping of Patricia Hearst in with the Watergate Affair. The Far Left became enraged with the governments of the Communist Bloc, particularly Mao, following Nixon's move at detente. They felt that Mao had betrayed them. In a desperate effort to gain face, the leftists poured money and support into the McGovern camp, in a future hope that if a Socialist became president Mao would seem to have less obviously sold out. When the McGovern scheme failed, the Far Leftists furiously mounted attacks on the President and everyone else involved in detente.

In their crazed attack, which is ultimately self-destructive they have hit out against such diverse figures as Patricia Hearst, by kidnapping; Solzhenitsyn, by exile; and Colson, by conversion.

Campus News In Brief

ROSE'S SLOT OPEN

Pete Steilberg, the director of recreation and campus activities, has now established procedures for selecting a replacement for Al Rose, who resigned his post of Assistant Director-Student Services last July 1 over a controversy concerning student fees.

The procedures, released in a memo to all student funded groups on campus, will involve an initial screening process by questionnaire. The questionnaire will center on the type of work the position entails, such as the general administration of the co-curricular activities program, and counseling student groups in financial and legal matters.

The answers to the questionnaire will be tabulated by the Personnel Office and the Recreation and Campus Activities staff.

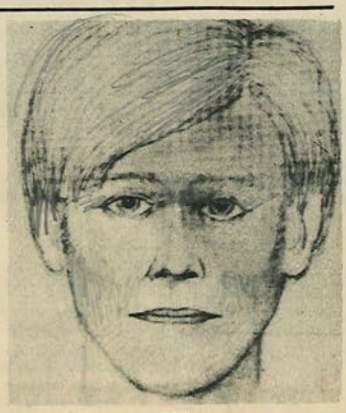

The second step will involve interviews conducted by representatives of all Student Services and Activities Fees funded groups, as well as student staff members in the areas the position will supervise. "I hope that when the time comes for taking part in the group interviews, that each (S&A) group will find time to be sure that the activity is represented at these group interviews," said Steilberg.

The final decision will be made by Steilberg himself, but he assured campus groups that his selection will be based upon the appraisal of the student staff and the S&A groups.

For information about the position and the application process, one should call the Personnel Office at 866-6361. The closing date for applications is August 20, 1974.

NEW CLUES FOUND IN MISSING WOMEN CASE

A clue has finally appeared that may help police solve the cases of the seven women missing in this state since the first of the year. The clue is a man named "Ted," who was seen in Lake Sammamish State Park and on the Central Washington State College campus, first when Janice Ott and Denise Naslund disappeared, and then one hour before Susan Elaine Rancourt disappeared from Central.

TED

Did he attack Evergreen woman?

He was between 5'6" and 5'8", about 160 pounds, of athletic build, has brown neck-length hair, dark brown eyes, and wears a cast on his left arm.

On October 31st, there was an attempted abduction near The Evergreen State College by a man fitting the description of "Ted."

The attempted abduction occurred one block east of Overhulse Road on the college parkway. The student was walking down the parkway, when a man ran up and grabbed her. She screamed, but he put his hand over her mouth. In the ensuing struggle his hand dropped and the woman screamed again. This time the suspect fled. The approach in this case was different, and the man did not have a cast but as Rod Marrom said, "we're grasping at straws. This may very well be the same man." Officials believe the cast may just be a ruse to attract the woman by sympathy.

Rod Marrom asks that anyone with any knowledge pertaining to this man, either having seen him around campus in the last school year, or knowing of anyone who has been approached by him or someone resembling him, to contact the security office at 866-6140. All information will be held strictly confidential.

The parents of Donna Manson, The Evergreen State College student missing since March 12, have added another $500 to the reward money for information leading to her whereabouts. The first $500 reward was posted by friends of Donna's here on the Evergreen campus. This raises the total reward money in the cases of the missing women and Heidi Peterson to $31,000.

ADVOCATE DTF FORMED

A disappearing task force, (DTF), appointed by students, will meet for the first time August 1 at 7:00 p.m. to discuss the formation of a student advocate office at Evergreen.

The need for such an advocate or ombudsman office is clear, according to the memorandum sent out last week by students Wendy Kramer, Bill Allen, John Foster, Rick Holmes, Bev Feuer, Annette Klapstein, Andy Ryan and Knute Berger.

Before explaining the purpose of an ombuds-man office, which they propose to be supported initially by Services and Activities Fees Funds, the students list a number of "givens" which make the establishment of such an office essential. They include

-----"There exists a wide gap between Evergreen's stated philosophy and its present reality.

-----"This gap has resulted in factionalization between staff, faculty and students.

-----"Existing channels of governance, decision making, . . . and information" dispersal is inadequate.

As a result, the students want the advocate office established to guide people through the bureaucracies here and to educate them to their "rights and obligations" as spelled out in the Governance document and Administrative Code.

According to one of the student sponsors, the need for the office crystallized with the resignations of Assistant Activities Director Al Rose and the people at the Lab Access Center including Doug Barnes.

"After they left," the student said, "we realized the problems of a bureaucracy were not going to lessen as the school became more organized, but get worse."

The people asked to serve on the DTF are: Paul Sparks, Anthony Watkins, Annette Klapstein, Knute Berger, Chuck Gill, Byron Youtz, Jane Gorai, Bev Feuer, Naomi Greenhut, Andy Ryan, Jeanne Hahn, April West, John Foster, Peggy Walker, Greg Logan, Cruz Esquivel, Eunice Barnett, Mary Nelson, Denis Snyder, York Wong,Bonnie Hiltz, Dave Hitchins, Bill Allen, Rick Holmes, Lem Stepherson, Carole Sadler, Lee Riback, and Edwina Dorsey-Travis although anyone showing up August 1 is invited to join the DTF.

DENISE LAYTON, DOB 12/2/56

The above two girls came into this office and gave information on a person they knew as Ted. They met him in December 1973, he drove a nice looking blue VW, fairly new, and had blondish brown, curly hair, medium height, approximately 5'9", medium build, fair, soft voiced.

He was working part time out of an office on second floor of the Senior Citizens Lounge on 414 So. Washington, it appeared to be something like phone canvassing-type job. He was also attending Evergreen State college. Talked about travelling a lot, when he talked he sounded like he was spaced out and the girls' impression of him was that he was weird and they would never make a date with him when he tried to get them to meet him.

Would not discuss himself nor did he give a last name. They felt the composite was a close likeness, but felt some of the features were a little different. Haven't seen him since that time.

This report focuses on the murders and disappearances of several young women throughout the states of California, Oregon, and Washington.

Over the past five years, there have been fourteen young women murdered in Northern California, and all of these murders appear to have been committed by the same person. Eight other young women have mysteriously disappeared in the states of Oregon and Washington over the past year. Since the murders and the disappearances may be related to each other, both topics will be discussed in this report.

The California Department of Justice, through its Division of Law Enforcement, has developed this report with the help of many local law enforcement agencies. The report has been designed to present a brief overview of the crime situation, to aid investigators in solving these crimes, and to offer suggestions as to a course of future action.

GENERAL STATEMENT

After evaluating more than one hundred murder cases involving young female victims, it appears that thirteen of these crimes were committed by the same person. Each of the thirteen cases occurred in Northern California within the past five years. As of this writing, the suspect remains unknown and the cases unsolved.

BACKGROUND

In June 1974, representatives from a local law enforcement agency met with personnel from the California Department of Justice to discuss several unsolved murders, all having the following similarities:

1. The victims were female,
2. under thirty years of age,
3. found nude or partially clothed,
4. apparently dumped at locations other than where they had been murdered,
5. with some or all of their clothing missing.

During the meeting, the California Department of Justice was requested to implement a study of all homicides that appeared to match the above listed criteria. The purpose of the study was to determine if a series of murders existed that appeared to have been committed by the same individual or group.

In July 1974, the California Department of Justice initiated the study as requested. One hundred and three cases were found to have the above listed characteristics, and each case was reviewed. After review, it was this writer's opinion that thirteen of the unsolved murder cases (fourteen road in some heavy brush. None of the victim's clothing has ever been located, and it is unknown if she had been sexually molested. The cause of death has never been determined exactly; however, it may have resulted from a blow to the head followed by drowning.

On August 27, 1951, the nude body of Linda Susan Dudley was discovered lying in some shrubbery on the bank of Lake Merced, in the city of San Francisco. She had been stabbed three times in the chest and abdominal area, and was apparently dumped at the discovery site. The victim had been dead several days prior to being found. She was completely nude when found and none of her clothing has ever been located. It is unknown if the victim had been sexually molested.

On February 2, 1972, 101A [redacted] and 101A [redacted] were last seen at the Redwood Skating Rink in the city of Santa Rosa. The skeletal remains of both victims were discovered in a remote area of eastern Sonoma County on December 28, 1972. It appeared that the victims had been dumped where they were found, after being murdered elsewhere. The cause of death remains unknown. None of the clothing for either victim has ever been located. Due to the condition of the victims, it was not possible to determine if they had been sexually assaulted.

On March 4, 1972, Kim Wendy Allen was last seen hitchhiking north on U.S. Hwy-101, from Marin County to her residence in Santa Rosa. Her nude body was discovered the following day, lying in a creekbed in an isolated section of eastern Sonoma County. The victim was apparently murdered at some unknown location and thrown over the roadside embankment to the site where she was found. She had been strangled to death and also received superficial cuts in her chest area. Her body bore signs of having been bound prior to being dumped at the discovery site. None of her clothing has ever been located, and she had apparently been raped.

discovered on July 15, 1973, lying in a parking lot on the Washington High School grounds in San Francisco. She had apparently been strangled to death and dumped at the location where she was found. None of her clothing has ever been located, and it appeared she may have been raped.

On July 15, 1973, 101A [redacted] was last seen leaving her grandmother's house in Garberville, hitchhiking south on US Highway 101. Her nude body was discovered on July 31, 1973, at the same remote location where the remains of 1101A [redacted] and 101A [redacted] were found on December 28, 1972. She had apparently been dumped over the roadside embankment after being murdered at some unknown location. None of her clothing has ever been located. Death was caused by strychnine poisoning. It is unknown if the victim had been sexually molested.

On December 22, 1973, Therese Diane Walsh was last seen hitchhiking on US Highway 101, from the area of Malibu Beach to her home in Garberville. Her nude body was discovered in a creek in eastern Sonoma County on December 28, 1973. She had been strangled to death, hog-tied with a 1/4-inch nylon rope, and then thrown into a creek. None of her clothing has ever been located. She may have been sexually assaulted, as semen was found in her vagina.

On September 29, 1974, 101A [redacted] was found floating in the Salinas River near the city of Greenfield in Monterey County. The area is typically a rural farm area and floodplain. She had been strangled to death and dumped into the river completely nude. None of her clothing has ever been located. When she was pulled from the river, she was still relatively warm, indicating she had not been dead long. It is unknown if the victim had been sexually molested.

1. There are no crime scenes per se; all of the victims were murdered at some unknown location and their bodies deposited where they were found. (One possible exception is the murder of Marie Anstey, who was believed to have been killed where she was found.)
2. Most of the victims were found near water (i.e., lakes, rivers, streams, ditches, etc.).
3. Only those victims over eighteen years of age were sexually molested.
4. All of the victims were found completely nude and none of their clothing has ever been found. (One exception is the murder of Rosa Vasquez in San Francisco. She was found nude; however, her bra was found around her neck.)
5. Most of the victims were known to hitchhike, and several were hitchhiking when they were last seen.
6. Several of the victims were involved in narcotics, generally to a small degree. However, drugs did not appear to have been the motive for the killings.
7. Generally, the victims disappeared over the weekend; Friday through Sunday. The time of day was consistent with the hours of darkness.
8. The majority of the victims were known to have been sexually active.
9. The majority of the victims were from broken homes or homes with family problems.
10. Some of the victims had been bound.
11. The majority of the bodies were discovered east of U.S. Hwy-101, within a few miles of the highway.
12. The bodies were deposited over roadside embankments in rural, semi-isolated areas or in schoolyards, parks, and vacant lots.

POSSIBLE SUSPECT IN THE WASHINGTON CASES

The subject pictured above was observed walking with Janice Ott, when she was last seen at 1230 hours on 7-14-74, at Lake Sammamish State Park.

The subject is described as: Male, Caucasian, mid to late 20's, 5-7 to 5-8, 160 lbs., neck length blond-brown hair, slight English accent, wearing white boxer-style shorts, a white T-shirt, and white tennis shoes. He was also wearing a sling on his left arm.

The subject's car is possibly a Volkswagen, Bug design, painted an unusual medium shade of brown.

CONCLUSIONS

1. Certain similar characteristics exist, which tend to link the cases together; however, there is not sufficient evidence to establish any positive connections at this time.

2. It is believed that the fourteen murders in California were committed by the same person.

3. There is a possibility that the same person who is responsible for the murders in California is also the responsible in the disappearance of eight young women in Washington and Oregon, two of whom were found murdered.

4. The suspect remains unknown.

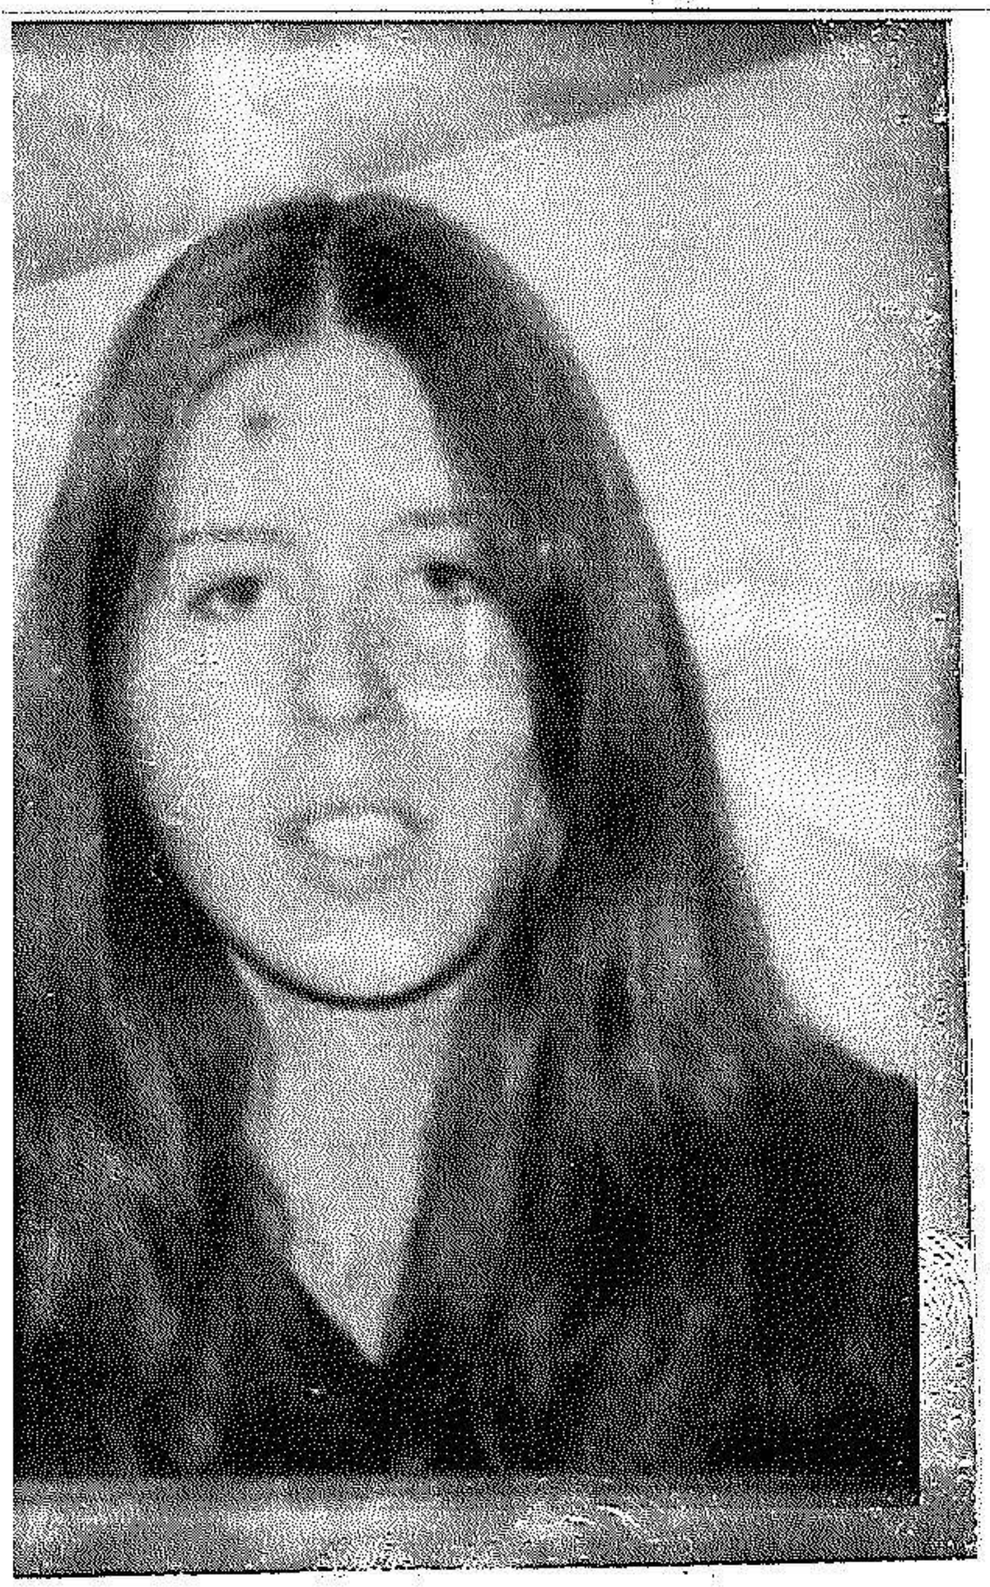

5. The murders will probably continue until such time as the perpetrator is identified and apprehended.

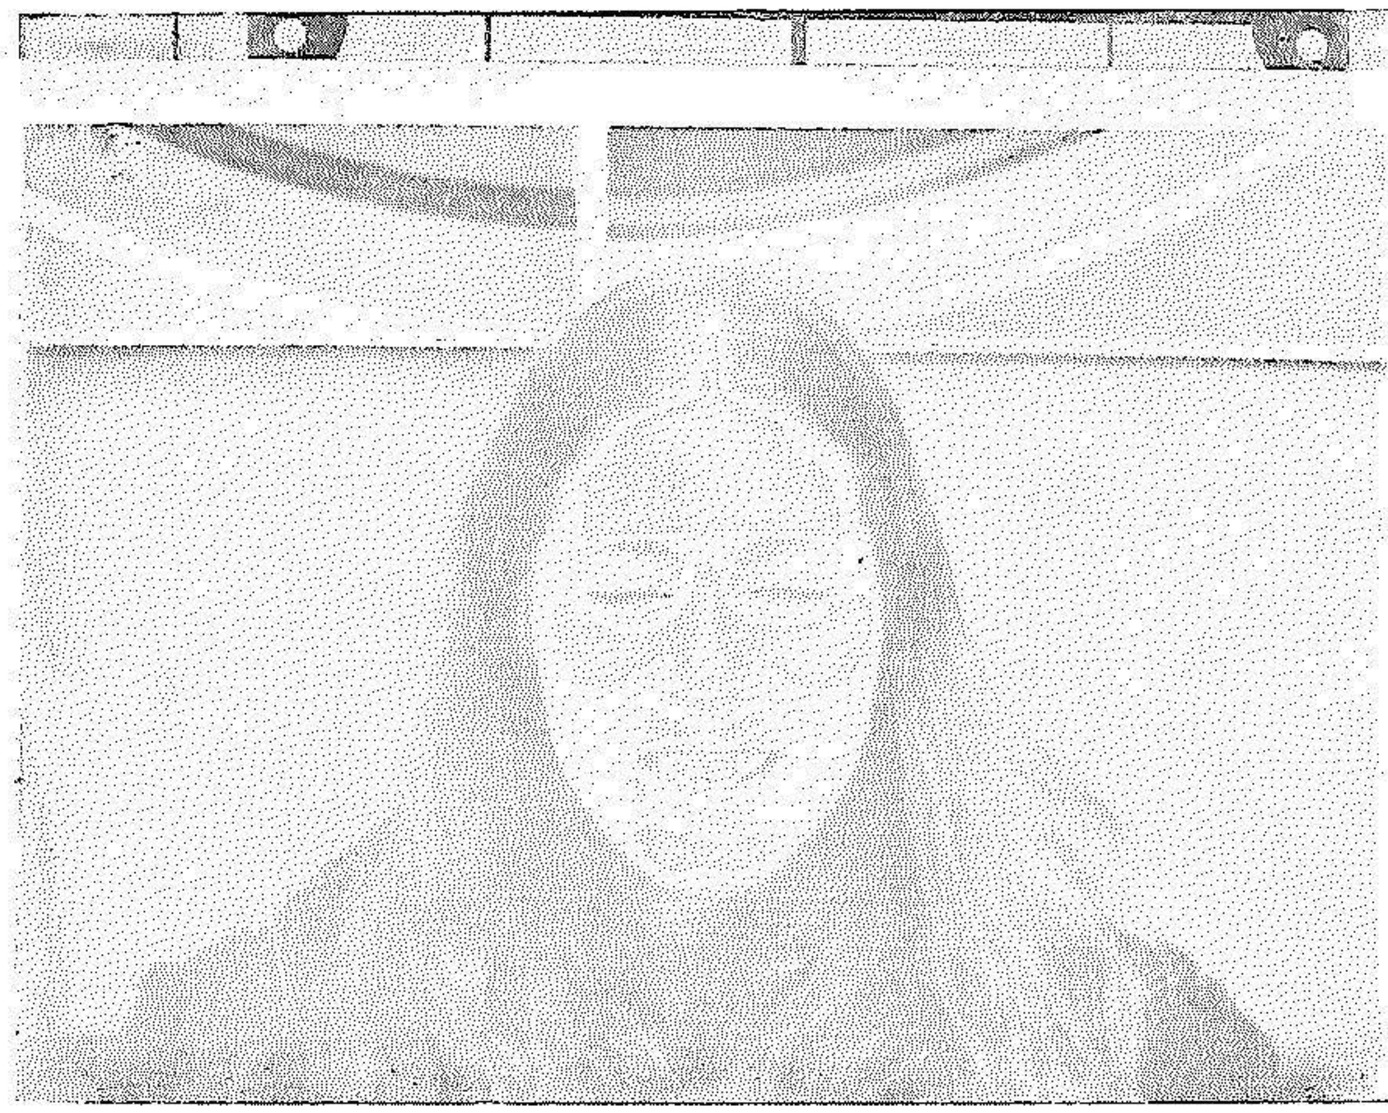

6. At the present time, there does not appear to be enough evidence to lead to the perpetrator's conviction should he be identified and apprehended.

7. The victims' clothing, should it be located, could be the vital evidence needed for a conviction.

8. No trends or frequencies of attack could be established.

9. The perpetrator apparently strikes at random; no specific days or dates.

Ted Bundy Multiagency Investigative Team Report

1992

DIRECTOR'S COMMENTS

Theodore Robert Bundy has become, perhaps, society's most infamous and notorious serial killer. By committing his crimes in many different jurisdictions he wittingly or unwittingly complicated the investigative efforts to identify, locate, and prosecute him.

Unfortunately, such cases are becoming more commonplace in today's society. It is only through cooperation and communication that we in the law enforcement community can hope to stem the growing tide of violence. The following pages represent the product of just such a collaborative effort. This exhaustive documentation of Bundy's activities was prepared in the hopes that Bundy's suspected participation in crimes other than those he has confessed to can be clarified. We may never know the total extent of his devastation but through the efforts of the Bundy Task Force we now have one document with which to compare Bundy's whereabouts with crimes he may be suspected of committing.

I wish to express my gratitude to the individuals and agencies involved. Through the spirit of cooperation the law enforcement community now has definitive documentation of Bundy's activities.

On January 24, 1989, serial killer THEODORE ROBERT BUNDY was executed in Florida's electric chair. BUNDY had been convicted of killing two coeds on January 15, 1978, at Florida State University in Tallahassee. Also on that date he bludgeoned three other women who miraculously survived his attacks.

His final death warrant resulted from his slaying a 12-year-old girl who disappeared from school on February 9, 1978; her remains were discovered on April 7, 1978.

During the last years of his life, BUNDY confided to investigators directly and indirectly regarding the motivation, victim selection, modus operandi, etc., for his crimes. In his last days on death row, in an unsuccessful attempt to prolong his life, BUNDY requested certain investigators meet with him. Investigators from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the states of Colorado, Idaho, Utah, and Washington traveled to the prison to talk to BUNDY about a number of unsolved murders in which he was a suspect. At BUNDY's request, all the interviews were conducted in the presence of a member of the FBI's National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime (NCAVC) who had become BUNDY's confidant over the years. Based on BUNDY's communications with this FBI Agent over several years, and the information provided during the final days and hours of his life, BUNDY discussed thirty homicides.

BUNDY'S homicidal activities spanned at least five years and reportedly claimed the lives of thirty females in at least seven states. Although every effort has been made and every available resource has been utilized throughout the years to arrive at a comprehensive count of his victims, the true toll may never be known.

In March, 1989, under the auspices of the FBI's NCAVC Violent Criminal Apprehension Program investigators involved in BUNDY's final revelations and other knowledgeable law enforcement officials attended the BUNDY Multi-Agency Investigative Team conference at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Virginia. The purpose of this meeting was to assess and share intelligence among the participants, inasmuch as the BUNDY interviews at the prison preceding his execution were specific as to individual crimes. Following the Quantico meeting, specialists from the FBI's Visual Investigative Analysis Unit consulted with investigators throughout the country in an attempt to formulate a singular data base reflecting BUNDY's documented whereabouts over the years. They hoped that such information, coupled with information derived by investigation and BUNDY's own revelations, might lead to the solution of additional unsolved murders.

The NCAVC and BUNDY conference members have responded to numerous inquiries from investigators who are attempting to determine BUNDY's culpability in unsolved matters. It is the purpose of this report to share, within the law enforcement community, information relative to BUNDY's crimes, furnish insight into his activities, and provide the most accurate time line possible for establishing his whereabouts during any known period.

HOMICIDE ADMISSIONS

BUNDY admitted to the murder of at least thirty women between 1973 and 1978 in the following states: California (1), Colorado (3), Florida (3), Idaho (2), Oregon (2), Utah (8), and Washington (11).

MODUS OPERANDI

BUNDY was involved in voyeuristic activities throughout his life and actually studied his victims without their knowledge through surveillance and occasional clandestine entry of their residences.

In discussions regarding the development of his method of operation, BUNDY differentiated between "dry runs" and "abductions." He defined a dry run as picking up a woman and releasing her unharmed to test his skills. An abduction was an incident in which an intended victim managed to escape.

Although BUNDY had sex with most of his victims, it is doubtful that he committed only rapes. He was more interested sexually in semiconcious or unconscious victims.

BUNDY termed one of his modes as a "predator mode." When operating in this mode, he was most organized. His planning included preselection of a body disposal site, discreet research regarding his victim, preparation of necessary paraphernalia, and complete planning of the assault to include flight, evidence disposal, and alibi. Only then would he approach the victim and put his plan into action.

At times BUNDY would feel the urge to kill when he had not done this planning and was not in his "predator mode." His victims, then, were often hitchhikers. In those cases, BUNDY was unable to be of much help to law enforcement since he did not know the victims' names and was often not able to pinpoint the body disposal sites.

Generally, BUNDY's crimes followed a particular pattern. He would feign an injury and indicate he needed assistance or he would portray an authority figure such as a police officer. He thus persuaded the victim to voluntarily accompany him to his Volkswagen where he had secreted a crowbar near the rear of the vehicle. Upon reaching the vehicle, he would retrieve the crowbar and strike the victim over the head, rendering her unconscious. He would then handcuff her and place her in the passenger side of the vehicle, which he had modified by removing the seat.

BUNDY would often drive for hours with the victim in the car. If the victim regained consciousness while he was driving he would calm her down by talking to her. He commented that the victim was often so disoriented that he could convince her that she had been injured and he was transporting her to a hospital.

When BUNDY got to his preselected dump site, he would again hit the victim (if she had regained consciousness) and strangle her with a ligature while raping her. Although his first murder was reportedly performed by beating and manual strangulation, he most often used a ligature he had prepared solely for that purpose. Victims were strangled from the rear.

Being voyeuristic, it was important that BUNDY be able to see what he was doing. He selected sites where the moon shone brightly, or he would "operate" in front of the headlights of his vehicle. He commented that there were times that he thought he should have been caught because the headlights of his vehicle would have been visible to people driving in the area.

BUNDY advised that he made return visits to nearly all of his crime scenes.

There is little evidence to indicate BUNDY recorded his murders or assaults in any particular fashion. He indicated he had, at one time, a box of Polaroid photographs of victims that he kept hidden but subsequently destroyed after becoming a suspect. It is known that he would sometimes keep ski brochures that were apparently marked to signify homicides. Also found was a brochure from the high school play where one of his victims was abducted. BUNDY advised he would discard everything belonging to his victims and would sometimes discard his possessions, such as his props or tools, connected with the incidents. He would later have to replace those items.

BUNDY gave the impression that he committed most of his assaults outdoors, except in Utah and Florida. In Utah, he was able to take his victims back to his apartment, where he could reenact scenarios depicted on the covers of detective magazines.

Of the thirty victims BUNDY claimed to have killed, he reportedly buried about ten. He would always attempt to bury the bodies two or three feet deep and place rocks on top of the grave. He also claimed to have disposed of victims in bodies of water.

BUNDY reported he severed the heads of about a dozen of his victims. He would sometimes retain the heads for longer periods than the bodies and not necessarily dispose of the body and head in the same location. Actually, body parts, clothing, and other victim possessions were dispersed, perhaps, hundreds of miles from the discarded torso.

BUNDY clearly followed media reports of his crimes as well as the reports of others who killed. He was interested in other people's murders and the possibility that he was being copied. He followed his own cases to glean as much intelligence as possible regarding suspects, evidence, leads, etc. He felt he was helped quite a bit with the abundance of information from investigators' quotes available through the media and his perceived lack of cooperation among law enforcement agencies.

Although ligature strangulation was BUNDY's favorite method of killing, the manual strangulation of his first murder is consistent behavior in an evolving serial murderer. That is, a serial killer is disorganized when he starts but improves significantly as he progresses, choosing his victims, murder and body disposal sites, and methodology more carefully. He becomes more sophisticated.

BUNDY exhibited this evolution toward sophistication. Finally, however, under the stress of being a fugitive, he regressed. He resorted to using his bare hands and a blunt weapon and selected sleeping victims or young girls as targets.

When asked about the bite marks he inflicted on his victims at one of his last crime scenes, and whether he had done anything like that before, BUNDY did not respond fully. However, he did say that when he was in an extremely aggravated state, biting took place.

Unfortunately, there remain, and perhaps forever will remain, many unanswered questions about BUNDY's activities.

CONCLUSION

Of the homicides examined at the BUNDY Multi-Agency Investigative Team conference, BUNDY claims responsibility for thirty. As a result of information provided by BUNDY and an independent verification of that information by investigators, it was possible to associate BUNDY with twenty cases.

Skeleton not that of Bundy victim

A skeleton found 20 years ago in the foothills of Mount Rainier is not that of Donna Gail Manson, one of serial killer Ted Bundy's victims, the missing student's parents say.

A key piece of evidence was a multicolored shirt found with the remains in 1978. But it was not the same one the 19-year-old Evergreen State College student was last seen wearing when she vanished March 12, 1974, Pierce County Detective Bob Hoffman said Monday.

The girl's parents, Marie and Lyle Manson, of Auburn were shown a photograph of the shirt and said their daughter did not own it, he said.

"We're back to ground zero," Hoffman said.

Manson was last seen headed for a jazz concert on the Evergreen campus in Olympia.

The skeleton found in 1978 later vanished from the Pierce County sheriff department's property room, along with other physical evidence, X-rays and forensic records.

Bundy was executed in Florida nine years ago for killing a 12-year-old schoolgirl. Before his death, the former law-school student confessed to killing Manson, making her one of his 28 known victims from Washington, Utah, Colorado and Florida.

PLACE OF BIRTH: Ft. Lewis, Washington

PRESENT ADDRESS: Rt. 6 Box 475-A, phone 866-8805

I give the following statement to Paul H. Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington. I have read my rights and I have read and signed a waiver to my rights, which is attached to and made a part of my statement. All facts contained herein are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Q. Geoffrey, I am showing you a picture of Donna Gail Manson. Have you ever seen this girl?
A. Yes.

Q. Where and under what circumstances did you see this girl?
A. At The Evergreen State College at a pool table in Dorm A Building.

Q. Do you recall when this was?
A. Probably Friday night because the next morning I went to work. It was in late February.

Q. How long were you and Donna Manson together?
A. A game of pool, probably 15-20 minutes.

Q. About what time of night was this?
A. Later part of the evening Friday night, 11 or 12:00.

Q. What did the two of you talk about?
A. Nothing in particular, just finishing a game of pool and I asked her if she wanted to smoke a joint in the stairwell.

Q. Was there an argument between the two of you?
A. No, no reason to have an argument.

Q. Donna Manson related to friends that she had met you and had played a game of pool and she described the meeting as being very bizarre and she described you as being wierd and having a dangerous potential? Why do you think she would make this statement?
A. Because I am not a student at The Evergreen State College and then probably since I am strange, I am a narc or unless she thought it was different to smoke a joint not out in the open like everybody else does.

Q. Did you and her smoke a joint in the stairwell?
A. No.

Q. How often do you smoke marijuana?
A. I don't anymore. I have smoked it on Friday or Saturday night or maybe at school, but not too much.

Q. When was the last time you smoked it?
A. I can't recall. I would say probably 3-4 weeks.

Q. Have you ever used other drugs?
A. Yes.

Q. What type?
A. Some speed.

Q. When was the last time you used speed?
A. A long time ago. Just a couple of hits, about 2-3 weeks before I got kicked out of school. I got kicked out of school on March 15.

Q. Do you ever have flash backs?
A. No, cause I only took those two hits.

Q. Have you ever assaulted anyone?
A. No, I don't go around punching people.

Q. Who are your friends?
A. I don't really have any close friends.

I, Geoffrey Carroll Short, have read this statement of three pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

STATEMENT OF: HENRY ANDREW LONG, JR.

DATE OF BIRTH: 9-18-16

PRESENT ADDRESS: 1801 West Brawne, Olympia, Resident ph. 491-2122
Business ph. 357-6212

I do hereby give the following statement to Paul Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Q. Mr. Long, you reported to this Department a suspicious incident that you witnessed. Can you tell me what date this occurred on?
A. Yes, this was the Sunday morning following the disappearance of Miss Manson.

Q. This would be the early morning hours of March 17th?
A. That's right.

Q. Approximately what time did this incident occur?
A. It occurred at almost 2:15 a.m. Sunday morning.

Q. You state that you observed a girl hitchhiking at that time. Can you describe this girl?
A. Yes. She was about 5' tall and dark long hair and she was wearing a maxi-coat, I couldn't tell if it was black or brown because it was dark and she appeared quite young. My wife thought she was about 15.

Q. Could you tell which direction she was hitchhiking?
A. Yes. She was hitchhiking east on Martin Way and we saw her just before the intersection of Martin Way and College Way. Did you see her enter into a car?
A. No sir I didn't. We were so surprised to see her at this hour of the morning, that we were a little bit shocked and then we proceeded on East and we saw her running, trying to cross College Way toward a car that had pulled off to the right and parked just off Martin Way adjacent to a little hamburger stand that set off the intersection of College Way and Martin Way.

Q. What type of vehicle was it?
A. Well, this is the unfortunate part, it was a sedan, and I would judge that it was somewhere around 1965 or 1966 or so, but unfortunately, this all happened so fast and everything, that I didn't observe the make and if I had been aware that there might have been some connection I would have observed the license plate.

Q. Did you observe the color or could you tell what state the license plate was from?
A. Well all I could say would be Washington, but I couldn't tell you any more about it. I didn't get a good look at it.

Q. Could this vehicle have been a stationwagon?
A. I don't believe so, I think it was a 4-door sedan.

Q. Was it a large vehicle?
A. Yes, it was a Chevrolet or larger, Oldsmobile, a car about that size.

Q. Could you observe who was driving the vehicle?
A. It was a white caucasian and he was older, gray hair, and no beard and I would say he had sort of a rough face, in other words, he was far from handsome.

Q. Could you tell whether he had a full head of hair or if he was partially bald?
A. It seemed to me he had a pretty good head of hair, I mean it wasn't long.

Q. Do you think you'd recognize this man if you saw him or saw a picture of him?
A. Possibly.

Q. With this individual sitting in the car, could you tell anything about his physical size?
A. It looked to me like he must have been somewhere around 6' and maybe 185 or so, I would say he was fairly good sized. He wasn't heavy and he wasn't skinny, I'd say maybe a medium build or something like that.

Q. Could you tell anything about his features, anything that would be outstanding?
A. The only thing was that he had a heavily lined face. He kind of reminded me of one of the lesser actors in the movies, that has been around for years. I don't recall his name.

Q. What would you estimate the approximate age of this individual?
A. That's hard to tell, he looked to be in pretty good shape, physically, but being gray and everything, I would say he was at least in his 60's.

Q. Can you recall whether the car appeared to be clean, or it was dirty, if there was any missing fenders, dents or anything of this nature?
A. The car looked in pretty good shape, it wasn't shiny, new, but it wasn't muddy or bunged up or anything like a lot of them are, that run around.

Q. Is there anything else that you can add to this statement?
A. No not really.

I, Henry Andrew Long, Jr., have read this statement of two pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

DATE OF BIRTH: 5-14-55

PRESENT ADDRESS: 2337 West Castleman Street, Longview, Washington 423-8583
TEMPORARY ADDRESS: Dorm B, Room 215, Evergreen State College, 866-5109

I do hereby give the following statement to Paul Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Q. Miss Horn, are you acquainted with Donna Manson?
A. Yes I am. We were roommates from October to December and I knew her before that and I occasionally talked to her during the last quarter.

Q. While you and Donna were roommates, how did the two of you get along?
A. We got along really well as far as friends and stuff like that, but she was not a very good roommate, because our life styles were pretty different in the way that she would be going out and leaving at night and stuff and come in in the middle of the night and turn on all the lights and stuff. As far as the main reason we stopped being roommates because our friendship was important and I really couldn't take being her roommate with all the changes and our life styles being different.

Q. Did Donna go out quite often at night?
A. Yeah, she'd usually go out party to party or to visit people and she didn't stay out all night that much, but when she did, I'd always hear where she was going either by her leaving a note or calling in the morning and usually she'd just stay out, she'd leave about 9:00 and stay until 1:00 until 4:00 or anywhere in between. I never really knew one way or another, it varied.

Q. When she was staying out at night or staying out quite late at night, what did she do about her classes the following day?
A. She didn't do anything. It was more important to her to sleep in and usually she'd just sleep in until 1:00 and just ask me to go and find out what went on in class.

Q. Wasn't Donna concerned about her education at the college?
A. She was concerned in a way, that she wanted to settle down and start doing things and that would often discourage her because she wanted to go to class and read the stuff, but she never really had the discipline to do it. It was more important to her to go out and party at night.

Q. Would you describe Donna as being promiscious?
A. Yeah. She'd go out with lots of guys and do lots of things, but I don't think she was promiscious for the sex itself, but she was confident in her sex life and it was for the guys. She knew that she could have attention that way.

Q. Was Donna also involved with drugs?
A. To my knowledge, yes. She'd drink occasionally and smoke dope and I would hear about acid, like she would talk about it, but I don't know that seriously.

Q. Did she have a drinking problem that you know of?
A. No. She'd wish that she didn't always be at parties and stuff, but I don't think it was anything other than the normal college way.

Q. Do you know if Donna had any enemies?
A. None that I know of.

Q. Did Donna ever leave the room to just go stroll about the college or walk up and down the road or into the woods?
A. She'd always stroll from party to party, from people to people and she would make like appearances at different rooms and stuff, but it wasn't in her character quite so much just to go aimlessly without a purpose or anything like just to think. Mainly because I don't think she had the patience to just not talk to people or just be by herself for too long. It doesn't really seem in her character to just wonder for a long time with no one.

Q. The night that Donna disappeared from the college, her current roommate states that she changed clothes several times. Would this be significant?
A. Not to me it wouldn't because it seemed something natural, she always did when she was my roommate, she'd change her clothes all the time, about five times just to try to look just right and she would borrow mine all the time and could never make hermmind up. It would really seem natural to me.

Q. Do you know the extent of Donna's involvement in magic, witchcraft and sorcery?
A. When I went over and visited during winter quarter, she said something about how she had a new idea she was going to do a project on white magic, but I really can't take it seriously because like everything else she did, it would take a real effort and reading and that sort of thing to really get involved with it. I think it was just a passing interest for her.

Q. Do you have any idea of where Donna could have gone to?
A. It just doesn't seem like her. Usually whenever she went someplace, she always would tell me and I knew just how long she was going to be gone. She'd let me know exactly where she was going and stuff, even when she went to California. I knew where she was going, she sent me a postcard and all that sort of think, that's why it really concerns me, because I can't image her just leaving without saying anything. I don't know where she would go other than to visit her friends in Auburn.

Q. Can you recall the last time you saw her?
A. The last time she actually came over and visited me was probably a week before her disappearance.

Q. Do you know if Donna was ever involved in any black groups, Indian groups or minority groups of any kind?
A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. At the time you last talked to Donna, did she seem to be depressed?
A. She was depressed. She was calling me up and saying she was getting discouraged because she couldn't decide what to do for spring project and then when she visited, she wasn't out of the ordinary depressed because she was on her way to another party, but she didn't seem any out of the ordinary about it or anything.

Q. Did she ever mention to you about wanting to leave the campus?
A. She never said anything to me about it.

Q. Is there anything else that you would like to add to this statement?
A. No.

I, Andrea Horne, have read this statement of three pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

STATEMENT OF: ROGER SCOT HEINE

PRESENT ADDRESS: Dorm B, Room 503, Evergreen State College, 866-5119

I do hereby give the following statement to Paul Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

RSH Q. Mr. Heine, are you a student at the Evergreen State College?
A. Yes.

Q.. Are you also employed by the Thurston County Juvenile Probation Department?
A. Yes I am.

Q. What is your capacity there?
A. I work in the detention area, part time relief detention aid, and I work with Bill Doyle who is a probation counselor there on a internship through Evergreen State College for three months, January to April.

Q. Are you acquainted with Donna Manson?
A. No, I do not know her personally.

Q. Prior to the time that she was found to be missing, did you know who she was, just by name?
A. No I didn't.

Q. Do you know a juvenile by the name of Jeffery Short?
A. Yes I do.

Q. How do you know Jeffery?
A. I know him basically in three areas; 1. through my capacity as working in the detention area, he's been there and I've talked with him and worked with him there, also he was on Bill Doyle's case load in the Probation Department and I was familiar with his case and talked with him and Bill there and also I've seen him, I'm familiar with him at the Evergreen State College.

Q. How frequently have you observed him out around the Evergreen State College?
A. I've seen him there three times that I can remember.

Q. Can you recall the dates or the period which you observed him?
A. Yes, it was in late February or early March, about two-thirds or three-quarters of the way through my internship.

Q. When you observed Jeffery out at the college, what was he doing at the college?
RSH A. Kind of looked like he was, since I know Jeff, I interpreted it as he was escaping from his foster parents. He looked really mixed up and looked like he might have been drinking a little bit.

Q. Could he have been using drugs?
A. The second time I saw him, it's possible; but it looked more like he just had a couple beers and the third time I saw him he was headed toward the CAB building with Steve Brown, it looked like he might have been doped up a little bit.

Q. About what time of evening was it when you observed him out there?
A. I'd say around 9 or 10:00.

Q. The times that you observed him at the college, was he alone, or was he with someone else?
A. The second time I saw him which was at Building A around the pool table area, he was alone from everything I could see and it looked like he was kind of lost and looking for somebody in particular, I think he was looking for Steve Brown. The third time I saw him, he was with Steve Brown and he was headed toward the CAB Building.

Q. Did you ever have occasion to just sit and talk with Jeffery?
A. Yes, several times.

Q. What was the gist of this conversations?
A. Well, Jeff was always finding excuses for being where he was, in particular in detention, or under some kind of supervision. He would try to lay a lot of exaggeration on me as to his particular involvement with say, drug activities, especially drug activities; trying to impress me with what a bad man he was, what a hoodlum, this kind of thing and kind of mocking his whole image he presented to me.

Q. Did Jeffery ever talk about sex?
A. Just one time, I interpreted it as kind of a joking manner, he was kind of ribbing me about picking up a girl and getting some and this kind of thing.

Q. At the times he was incarcerated at Juvenile Detention, did he associate with the girls that were there?
A. Not very much, as a matter of fact, I think he kind of almost took an haughty attitude towards them and really maybe looked upon them as immature and didn't really associate with them very much at all.

Q. Did he ever indicate what type of female he did like?
A. No he didn't.

Q. Did Jeffery ever display any agressiveness to you?
A.. Yes. To me it was all verbal agressiveness in the sense that he talked about after the Tumwater Police had brought him in and then being in detention, he talked about how he was going to beat the shit out of the Tumwater Police and How he was, I took it as joking, but verbally he said to me, that he was going to come and get me when he gets out of detention, because I was rather stern with him at times.

Q. Since Donna Manson has been missing on March 12, have you talked with anyone that has seen Donna and Jeff together?
A. Yes I have, I've talked to Steve Brown.

Q. Did he describe the circumstances under which they had met?
A. Yes, he said,he was telling me that one night that Donna and Jeff were playing pool together and apparently after the pool game, Donna came up and talked to Steve and said, in Steve's words, "that guy's really sick, he really makes me uncomfortable, he could be dangerous."

RSH

Q. Did he elaborate any further on what Donna told him?
A. No.

Q. Did he indicate what night this happened?
A. No he didn't.

Q. During the times that you talked with Jeffery did he ever indicate that he had been violent toward anyone else?
A. As far as I can remember, only verbally violent. He indicated a lot of hostility toward his foster parents, especially Ken Buchanan, who is his foster father and was kind of bragging about how he could make his foster father back down by saying some verbal agressiveness or some intimidating moves, something of that effect.

Q. Earlier in this statement you mention seeing Jeffery at the college, is there any way that you can pinpoint the night that you last saw him at the campus?
A. The second time I saw him, which would be the last night I saw him, was the night, I remember that the video freakout was being held on the video channels at the college, and that was on February 28th of 1974 and I saw him for the third time and last time about a week later during the daytime.

Q. Do you know if Jeffery was ever at the campus visiting in the dormitories late at night?
A. No, I never saw him extremely late, although it was my impression that he was hanging around fairly late on the 28th, because the video freakout was being held until about 3:00 in the morning and as I remember I was keeping pretty late hours that night. The time that I saw him at that point was probably somewhere around 11:00.

STATEMENT OF: DEANNA NMN RAY

DATE OF BIRTH:

PRESENT ADDRESS: Box 26, Newhalem, Rockport, Washington,
Phone Newhalem 4386
TEMPORARY ADDRESS: Dorm C, Room 314-A, Evergreen State College, 866-5126
I do hereby give the following statement to Paul H. Barclift, whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

DR

Q. Deanna, how long had you lived in the same room with Donna?
A. I lived with Donna since the 1st of January 1974.

Q. How long did you know Donna before this?
A. I just met her around December 12th or 13th.

Q. Did you and Donna get along fairly good together?
A. We seemed to get along real well, and there wasn't any problem. I got mad at her because she never did the dishes, but she didn't know cause I never said anything to her cause I didn't think it was that big a deal. We never had fights, outright fights or arguing. That was the only problem and she didn't even know about it.

Q. When did you move out of her room?
A. I started moving out the 16th and I was moved out by the 17th of March.

Q. Had this move been planned for some time?
A. Yeh, I put in my name around the first of March to move out, because of the fact that Donna was bothering me and I just decided to move instead of hasseling about it.

Q. Did the two of you have any arguments?
A. No big arguments.

Q. The last time you saw Donna, were the two of you still on good terms?
A. Yes, we were talking about going to the concert together. She asked me if I could and I said I wanted to save my money because I didn't have very much and I wanted to go to Seattle, so I was saving my money and I didn't want to pay the 50¢ to go.

Q. When was the last time that you saw Donna?
A. It was March 12th, I'm not sure about the time, between 7 and 9.

Q. This was at your's and her room?
A. Yeh, it was in our room.

Q. Earlier, you told me that you had eaten dinner about 5:30. What did she do after dinner?
A. After dinner, she was going to the concert, so she went and took a
DR shower and washed her hair. She got out, she changed her clothes

DR

A. a few times and I think she even changed the way she was going to wear her hair. I'm not positive, but I remember she just messed around with herself for quite awhile like she was trying to look nice.

Q. Did these activities seem suspicious in any way?
A. Yes, they seemed kind of peculiar cause she usually was more casual about it. She just would get dress and leave. She wouldn't really try to look nice all the time, she just went as she was.

Q. Did she give you the impression that she may have had a date planned for later?
A. By the way she acted. She didn't say anything about it. She just acted like she was going to the concert, but the way she acted about getting changed, combing her hair and stuff was kind of like she was trying to look nice.

Q. Do you have any idea who she may have met?
A. No, I don't.

Q. Did she have any steady boy friends to your knowledge?
A. No, she didn't.

Q. Do you know the names of any of her boy friends?
A. On campus, there is a boy named T.J., I don't know his last name, but Megan would know. Then there is Gordon, I don't know his last name either and then there is a boy that she used to like. I'm not sure where he lives and his name is Michael and I don't know his last name either, but Megan would.

Q. Would you describe Donna as being promiscuous?
A. I'm not sure cause I wasn't with her a lot and I don't know exactly the definition of promiscuous, but she was out quite a bit and stuff.

Q. Do you know if Donna had sexual relations with males at the campus?
A. Yes, I know that she did with some, but I don't know how many, cause there was only two boys that ever came to our room with her.

Q. During the time that you roomed with her, was she gone at night quite often?
A. Yeh, she was gone quite a lot. I don't even know how many times. She was usually on a different schedule than I am. I usually slept at night and she would sleep in the day. She was usually up at night and she would come home really late at night and I never knew what time cause I was always in bed. Sometimes in the morning she would tell me she got home at 5 or 6 or sometimes she just wouldn't come home until the next afternoon.

Q. Were there nights that she wouldn't come home at all that you know of?
A. Yeh. She always came home sometime during the day. She didn't stay out for like 24 hours, usually maybe 18, but she usually came home by dinner time.

Q. You mentioned a young man that came to your's and Donna's room that gave Donna a massage. Would you tell me about this incident?

DR

A. DR This boy came with her, he was an Indian boy, and he came with her and he gave her a massage and he left later on that night. Then a few days later, her money was missing and she didn't know what happened to it. She was frantic and I think a couple days after it was missing, he came to her and said that he stole it, that he would pay her back. Well, it was a couple weeks before he paid her back and I think it was just around the time that she was missing that he paid her back and I had asked her about him, like if she liked him or anything and she acted like she didn't, but there might have been more to that than I knew and I know that he left on a trip around the first of the semester. I'm not sure what day.

Q. How would you describe this man?
A. Probably about 6', about 180, Indian and he had pretty long black hair. He was probably 22.

Q. Was this man a student at the college?
A. Yes, he was in some kind of study called Native American studies.

Q. Do you know his first or last name?
A. No I don't.

Q. How much money was he alleged to have taken from her?
A. $12.00.

Q. Approximately when did this incident occur?
A. It was somewhere around Valentines day.

Q. What was Donna's involvement in drugs?
A. I know she smoked marijuana and I knew one time that she took mescaline and she some acid on the weekend before she was missing. She might have had some left on the day that she was missing, but I'm not sure. I don't know too much about it cause I don't know one drug from another, but this is just what she's told me, and I couldn't identify drugs if I had to except for marijuana.

Q. Did you ever observe her in the room when she appeared to be under the influence of drugs?
A. She came in a few times and she told me and she was acting really strange and then on about the 9th or 10th of March, I know they had this little bottle out and that she said there was acid in it and she spelled some on the floor and she was trying to find it and then they were over in her corner of the room and I guess they were getting some acid out of this little bottle and they were taking it.

Q. Do you have any idea where Donna obtained these drugs?
A. No. There was a boy I heard about that sold marijuana in Building D and some girls in ASH, but I don't know cause I never bought any drugs and I never asked much about it cause I'm not really interested.

Q. Donna mentioned to Megan that she had met a young man that she didn't like just shortly prior to the time that she disappeared. Did she relate anything about this man to you?
A. No, I don't know anything about that.

DR

Q. I've been told that Donna and Megan took a record over to Mark DR Vale's apartment and this was the approximate time that she had met this young man that she didn't like. Would you have any idea what night it was when they took the record over there?
A. I'd say it was March 10th, on Sunday, but I'm not positive. I think it was March 10th and she just came in, got this record and she was in a hurry and she said, "I'm taking this record and I'm going to go listen to it" and she just got it and ran.

Q. Do you know if Donna had any friends off campus living in the Olympia area?
A. The only thing I know about that she knew people that used to live in a house that I guess she lived in, but I don't know any of their names or if they were really her friends or just acquaintances.

Q. Do you know if she knows anyone in Lewis County or the Centralia area?
A. No, I don't.

Q. What was Donna's involvement in magic, witchcraft and sorcery?
A. I know she is really interested in it and I know she had quite a few books about it and she wanted to do a study, but no one at Evergreen could really help her, so Carol Spence, a teacher or teacher's aid at Evergreen, told her a name of somebody in Seattle to contact and she had thought about transferring from Evergreen to the "U" because the guy, I guess, was at the "U" and that's all I know. I know she really liked death. She liked to see movies on death and just a couple days before she was missing, they showed a film and death and she missed it and she was really upset.

Q. Did she seem to have a personal interest or was her interest more academic?
A. I think it was personal, but at Evergreen if you just have some personal interest, you can turn it into anything you want. You can study whatever you want. I think, she didn't do very much this semester because she kept trying to find somebody to help her. She kept switching people. First she was going to study one guy and then she was going to study William Blake and then finally.

Q. Had Donna also made arrangements to move into another room?
A. Yeh, she was suppose to move into the 7th or 9th. I can't remember which one.

Q. When were these arrangements made?
A. About the 1st of March.

Q. Is there anything else you would like to add to this statement that may help us in locating Donna?
A. I can't think of anything else right now.

I, Deanna NMN Ray, have read this statement of four pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Do you know what night this occurred on?
A. Donna and Megan were there that night and brought a record to listen to. I came in later with a friend, Mike Stivers, and I speculate it was Saturday, because, I know from my own knowledge I was not anywhere near Mark Vale's room on a Sunday or Monday before the concert.

A. Yes, because he was a stranger and I was very curious as to why he was there. I walked in and he was already sitting there and I had no explanation who he was or why he was there until after I had been there for a while. I observed him and was very curious about him.

A. No, I have no idea.

Q. Do you know if Donna hitchhiked quite often?
A. Yes, Donna would think nothing of hitchhiking into Olympia to the store and hitchhiking back and so far there have been no incidents to make her think otherwise that hitchhiking was not something to be feared.

Q. Do you have any idea at all where Donna may be?
A. I haven't the slightest idea whatsoever.

PAL

Q. Is there anything else that you'd like to add to this statement?
A. No, I don't think I can add anything other than what I've already said.

I, Phyllis Ann Lee, have read this statement of three pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

PERMANENT ADDRESS: Juniper Lane, York Harbor, Maine, 207-363-4782

I do hereby give the following statement to Paul Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

TJM

Q. Tom, are you acquainted with Donna Manson?
A. Yes I am.

Q. How long have you known Donna?
A. Since about the first day of school.

Q. What was your relationship to her?
A. I'd say we were more or less just pretty close friends, the whole time.

Q. Did you ever date?
A. We went out a few times, but it was just with other people, it wasn't a really close type one to one relationship.

Q. Did you and she have sexual relations?
A. Yes, a few times.

Q. Did you ever contact a venereal disease from her?
A. No I didn't. I thought that I had, but the test proved negative.

Q. When was the last time you had sexual activity prior to the date of her disappearance?
A. I'd say about three weeks to a month.

Q. At the time of her disappearance were the two of you still on good terms?
A. Yes.

Q. When was the last time you saw Donna?
A. Probably about a few days before the 12th.

Q. What was Donna's involvement in drugs?
A. I'd say that she was mildly involved in drugs. I'm sure she wasn't doing any sort of dealing, just whatever drugs that were around, mainly pot, she'd just be doing -- doing a little bit of pot and ocasionally dropping. Dropping something else, but it wasn't that strong of an involvement.

Q. Do you know where she obtained these drugs?
A. No. Just about anywhere, whenever and whereever.

Q. Would you describe Donna as being quite promiscuous?
A. Yes.

TJM

Q. Did she have relations with several people at the college?
A. Yes.

Q. Do you know the names of these individuals?
A. I know the names of a few. Myself, Chris Walters, Tom Keah, I can't remember who else.
Q. Did she ever have relations with any of the faculty, teachers, anyone else that you know of?
A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. How would you describe Donna's involvement in magic, sorcery and witchcraft?
A. I think that she had a fairly strong interest in it. Interest in just more or less finding out what black and white magic was all about.

Q. Do you believe she could have been involved in a cult?
A. I don't think so.

Q. Do you know if she associated with others who had similar interests?
A. I think that she was trying to find out other people that had similar interests, and she was finding out. She was contacting a few people, but I think there was only one or two people on campus that she really checked up with.

Q. Who are these people?
A. Alexis, who is on the staff at Evergreen and another person on the program named Doug.

Q. Do you know if she was involved with anyone locally, off campus?
A. I don't think so.

Q. If Donna had been picked up while hitchhiking and indecent liberties were taken do you know or have the feeling as to what her resistance would be?
A. I have a feeling that she would probably would resist.

Q. Did Donna also drink?
A. Yes.

Q. Did she have a drinking problem?
A. No, I don't think so. I wouldn't say that.

Q. Did Donna ever seem to have any large amount of money?
A. Not at any one time.

Q. Do you know where she got her money from?
A. I'm pretty sure that she got most of her money from her father.

Q. Do you have any knowledge of any friends that she visits or associates with that lives off campus, other than students at the college?
A. No. None that I can think of. She didn't have that much access to getting into town, other than hitchhi ing.

Q. Did she leave the campus very often?
A. I wouldn't say very often. She just left every now and then.

Q. Do you know where she would go when she left the campus?
A. No. Probably just into town for whatever groceries, I can't really think of any other thing that she would go into town for.

Q. Do you have any idea where Donna could be at this time? Or anyone she
A. may have left with?
A. I can't think of anything at all.

Q. You described earlier that your feelings toward Donna was rather casual. What were her feelings toward you?
A. I think that Donna looked up to me in a way. If she ever had some sort of a problem, she was really fairly open with me. If she had anything she wanted to talk about or if anything was on her mind, whether she'd come to see me or whether I'd just bump into her, she was fairly open, she'd tell me.

Q. Who else would you describe as her close friends?
A. I'd say Megan was, as far as I could see, her only other really close friend.

Q. About the approximate period of her disappearance from the campus, had you observed her with any strangers?
A. No.

Q. Had you observed any strangers around the dormitory?
A. No.

Q. Is there anything else that you would like to add to this statement?
A. I don't think there is really anything else. I've thought about it, naturally since I first heard about it and the whole thing has really been kind of baffling to me. I really can't understand or come up with anything. Nothing, as far as where Donna could be.

I, ~~John~~ McDermott, have read this statement of three pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Hello!

Hello, Mark.

Yes.

This is Detective Barclift. I guess you know before you left, this Donna Manson was missing.

Yeh, I did.

I'm the Detective that is investigating this case. I talked to Megan.

Yeh, her roommate.

And she tells me on March 12, the day that Donna disappeared that during the afternoon hours, about 3:30 or 4:00, that Donna mentioned meeting a guy down by the pool table there in B Dorm

A Dorm!

Is it A dorm?

Yeh, it's A.

Okay, the only thing she said about this guy is he had blonde hair and he was kind of a mean guy, bad guy and that he was wanting dope and this type stuff and she didn't like him and was sorry that she had met him and all this. Megan tells me that you have some type of an encounter with this guy.

Yeh, I met him down there too.

Okay, I need to know everything that you know about this guy.

I think his name was Short.

What?

Short.

Is that a nickname?

A last name.

Okay, where is he from?

I have no idea. That's all I know about him.

Is he a student?

Yes, I think he is.

At the college?

I think so. That's what he told me.

How would you describe him? Let's start with age.

Age?

Yeh, by the way, I have a tape recorder going. I hope that doesn't make you nervous?

No, it's just that I have a poor memory.

Okay, let's just take an approximate age.

Well, I would say he is about 19.

Okay, how about height?

5'9" - 5'10".

Okay, let's say 5'9" - 5'11", how would that sound?

Close enough.

How did he have his hair?

It was straight, straight blonde and it was parted to one side.

How long was it?

How long was it?

Yeh.

Six inches, five inches.

It didn't quite go to his shoulders?

No.

You would say collar length?

Yeh. It was styled and it grew out.

Was it light blonde or kind of a dark blonde?

It was dirty.

Kind of what you would call dishwater blonde?

Yeh.

Was his hair neat or was it actually dirty?

Yeh, somewhat, not too bad. I could tell where the part was.

How was he dressed?

Well, it's Evergreen. I don't know, average I guess.

Did he have blue jeans on or what?

Yeh, I don't know that. I have no idea, but probably jeans

Okay, I had a guy described to me in that area that a guy described him as wearing a faded green T-shirt and blue jeans. Does that sound like what he had on?

Well, I didn't see him that day. I had seen him before, and Donna and I had talked about this guy and our mutual dislike for him.

I see. Okay, now for his height, what would you say his weight was?

He was not heavy, but in between heavy and medium. Kind of a little big, but right in there.

About 180 lbs?

That's good, yeh.

Did he have any whiskers?

No.

Clean shaven?

Yeh.

No mustache?

No.

How about sideburns?

I didn't notice any. His hair covered it straight over it.

How many times did you see this guy prior to this?

Once.

Where did you see him at that time?

Same place.

Did you ever see him with anybody else?

No.

Did you ever talk to anyone that seemed to also know him?

That seemed to also know him?

Yeh, you know, anyone else that said, "Oh, I know that kid".

No. I tried to put him out of my mind until this point.

How about the day, when did you see him?

The afternoon, the day before. The afternoon of the day before.

Okay, this would be March 11th, the day before Donna disappeared, right?

I guess so.

Where did this take place at?

That was in the pool room. I was walking by and saw him.

What happened?

What happened?

Yeh.

I was doing my clothes, and he was down there and I talked to him

What discussion went on?

Well, he was trying to impress me with all of his feats that he had accomplished.

Okay, can you go ahead and tell me about them?

Well, he told me that he was a rip off artist and he liked to bull shit people (that's a quote).

What did he say he had done?

Yeh.

I don't know. He just told me that I had an opportunity to buy something from him. He could get me anything that my heart desired.

Was this in the way of merchandise?

Yeh, merchandise.

Was he trying to sell dope or wanting to buy dope?

He was telling me about it, but I wasn't too interested.

Okay, I need to know the type things he said to associate him with some place.

He just impressed me that he likes to steal and he likes to brag about it.

Had you ever seen him on campus prior to that?

Never.

Did you have any doubts as to whether he actually was a student?

Yes.

Did you observe him in a car?

No.

Did you observe him with anyone else, that he was talking to or doing anything with?

No, he was just down there by himself.

Was there anyone else with you at the time you saw him?

No.

You don't know of anyone else that might have seen this guy?

No, I don't.

Okay, about what time would this have been on March 11?

Afternoon, 3 or 4.

Okay, this is about the same time Donna was talking to him the following day?

Yeh, right.

Did you see Donna on the 12th?

No, I didn't.

Do you have any ideas where she may have gone or where she may have left with?

No idea, no idea. All I know is that she was suppose to go folk dancing and she never made it. That's what her roommate told me.

Was she going folk dancing or was she going to a jazz concert?

Yeh, the jazz concert was in there and it is in between those two things. She never made it to the jazz concert. After folk dancing, she left and she never made it to the jazz concert and that's when she started worrying.

I didn't even know about this folk dancing, Was building is that in?

That's in the CAB building.

In the what?

In the CAB building, Campus Activities Building or something like that.

And this was a special group that had this folk dancing thing?

Yeh, some kind of club or something. It's an activity the college has.

She actually particpated?

I think so, I don't know anything about that. That's where I heard she was going.

Do you know what time this gets over?

No, I don't.

How would you describe Donna as a girl?

Very short.

Well, I mean emotionally, the type of person she is.

The type of person she is?

Yeh.

She is rather quiet until you cross her and then she's quite vocal in her opinion.

Is she friendly with everyone?

Yeh, she seems to be.

Is she quite popular as far as the number of friends?

Fairly, yes.

How about promiscuousness? Does she go with all the boys? Go to bed with them?

Hardly.

How about her narcotic involvement?

No.

You don't know of any?

No.

Or she didn't use any?

I don't think so, not to the best of my knowledge.

Do you have any idea about this matter at all?

No, I wish that I could help you, but that's all I know. I'm glad it's this guy, though, cause I don't like him.

Well, I want to find him and I want to find her. Is there anything else you can tell me that might help to find this guy?

CONVERSATION WITH Paul, Megal and her mother, Mary.

Paul - Hello, Megan,

Mary - This is Mary her mother.

Paul - Is she at home please?

Mary - who is calling?

Paul - Detective Barclift, Olympia, Washington

Mary - Did you call the other day?

Paul - No Ma'am I hadn't.

Mary - Someone called from Olympia the other day. I'm a little bit concerned about Megan herself.

Paul - I think it may have been one of these reporters.

Mary - Oh really, because, she was very upset at the phone call because the voice sounded like the man who assaulted her. So I was going to call you, because I wanted to know if you had called Megan.

Paul - No, it wasn't me, but there was a reporter, I talked to, that asked me if I had any objection tohhim calling her and I said there was no way I could keep him from calling her.

Mary - Oh so it might have been a reporter calling.

Paul - He was an older man.

Mary - That man was an older man and at gun point he asked her name, and threatened her. so I, of course, and being so far away I'm just terrified.

Paul - You mean the guy on the phone was threatening her?

Mary - No.

Paul - I'm familiar with that, I'm working on that also.

Mary - I'm so far away with her, I was very worried.

Paul - I'm working on that case and I'm working on this missing Co-ed Donna Manson.

Mary - Oh I know, Megan is very concerned. Do you want to speak with her now?

Paul - Yes please.

Megan - Hello.

Paul - Hi, Megan, this is Detective Barclift, the one that talked with you inthe office. I just talked to Lyle Manson. He told me that they just received your letter. He called me up when he got it. By the way, I'm putting this on tape. You don't have any objections I hope.

MEgan -No.

Paul - I wanted to find out who this boy is.

Megan - I don't know who he was, but Donna had met him in the pool room before and he had asked her a lot of things about drugs, I guess he's a drug addict or something and she just left him alone, cause she doesn't want to be around him, because he was bothering her.

Paul - Did she seem to have known him prior to this date?

Megan - No. She didn't know him at all, she just said, that she told me she had a weird experience and she told me that she didn't like him, that he bothered her and another friend of mine had an encounter with him that might be able to describe him. His name is Mark Vale.

Paul - he lives where?
Megan - He lives in Dorm B, but I'm not sure of his room number. I think it might be 304.

Paul - Did you see the man at all?

Megan;- No. I don't know what he looks like.

Paul - Do you know where he was from?
Megan - No, but he wasn't from the school. Donna said he wasn't a student.

Paul - Did she say anything about the way that he was dressed?
Megan - No.

Paul - Or his appearance?
Megan - She said he was blonde, she didn't mention anything about a mustache, so I don't know if it was the same guy or not. She said he seemed pretty young though.

Paul - Did she say where he came from.
Megan - No she didn't know.

Paul - Did he have a car?
Megan - She didn't know that either.

Paul - Is there anyone else that you know of other than Mark that might have seen him?
Megan - No, and Mark's first name is Harland. So you might be able to - that's what he puts his first name under usually, is Harland Mark Vale, but we call him Mark.

Paul - What is his phone number, do you know?
Megan - It's in Walla Walla.

Paul - Do you know what the difficulties were that he encountered with this guy?
Megan - No., but he just said he came to his house and just bothered him.

Paul - his room you mean?
Megan - Yeah.

Paul - Everything is very important now. The case is getting older and older and I really fear for Donna's safety, so it's very, very important. Her folks are just about out of their minds. So if there's anything at all that you can tell me, now is the time to tell me.
Megan -No, I don't know anything else. I wish I did.

Paul - Had you heard any rumor's to the efect that there were some people from Selleck on campus on that date?
Megan -No, there wasn't anyone from Selleck, but I knew Sunshine and I - she was in the same play as me and I talked to her and she contacted all her friends in Selleck and nobody's seen her.

Paul - What is Sunshine?
Megan -I don't know Sunshine's last name, she gave it to me, but I can't remember it.

Paul - She is from Selleck?
Megan- She's worked there before, but she went home to Denver for her vacation. She lives in Denver originally.

Paul - When was actually the last time that you saw Donna?
Megan- About 7:00 on Tuesday night.

Paul - Do you recall now what she was wearing at that particular time?
Megan- I think she was wearing pants, they were blue, but I don't remember what shirt she was wearing. She has a lot of shirts.

Paul - What kind of a purse did she carry?
Megan- It was just a small leather purse it was sort of a half-moon shape, it wasn't square, it was more round. Itswas leather.

Paul - Was it treated to look like new leather?
Megan- Old leather, older leather, its been worn a lot.

Paul - Was this with the strap over the shoulder?
Megan- Yeah.

Paul - She could carry this without holding onto it with her hands?
Megan- Right.

Paul - Did she carrry a billfold in her purse?
Megan- No, I don't think so. There's a coin purse, but I don't think she had a billfold.

Paul - Did she say anything at all about having a date that night?
Megan -No,

Paul - She didn't say anything else about that man?
Megan- No and I didn't even hear anything about - I don't know if it was the same guy, cause she probably would have told me and she didn't say anything about it.

Paul - She didn't say anything about the trouble they had between them?
Megan- They didn't have any trouble really, he was just talking to her and she didn't like to talk to him so she just left.

Paul - But you don't know what any of the conversation was?
Megan- No.

Paul - I may have asked you this already, but did she indicate that she may have knew him previously?
Megan- No she didn't know him at all. She told me she hadn't seen him ever before.

Paul - Is there anything else that you can tell me?
Megan- No.

Paul - Is there any trouble that you know of between Deanna Raye and her?
Megan- No, they never had any trouble.

Paul - as far as her moving out of the room?
Megan -Deanna wanted to move in with her roommate from last quarter, It was an apartment that she moved into and she wanted to have her own room and stuff.

Paul - If anything comes to mind at all, would you please get in touch with us?
Megan- Yeah.

Paul - When do you expect to get back?
Megan- Sunday.

Paul - Will you be coming in real late or what?
Megan- Probably about 7 or 8:00, around there.

Paul - So you'd be at the dorm if I wanted to talk to you, right?
Megan- Yeah.

Paul - If you thing of anything at all, please get in touch with us.
Megan- Okay.

Paul - Do you have my number?
Megan- No, I'll write it down.

Paul - 753-8122 and if its after hours, after 5:00 or over the weekend, 753-8100 and that's Detective Barclift.
Megan -Okay.
Paul - Thank you Megan.
Megan - All right by-by.

MR. MANSON -
I'll read it to you:

"Dear Mrs. Manson:

I know this is harder for you to bear than me, although I am in much pain over Donna being missing. I pray every day that the new day will bring Donna home with it, but with each passing day that Donna does not return, I become more and more afraid. Thirteen days is far too long for her to be gone. The night I last spoke to her she was in very good spirits and had been the past week. She hadn't had any arguments with me or her roommate. Her roommate moved out on Thursday, two days after Donna had been missing, because the girl in her new room had moved out early. Right now all we can do is wait and pray, but if nothing is heard about Donna by the time I get back on the first, I'm going to organize a search party with a group of friends and two very concerned teachers. The boy she was with just might be a boy that she had met once before and did not like at all, but I'm afraid I can't be sure. I will do all I can for Donna as she is one of the loveliest people I know. Send my love and well being to Jimmy and Mr. Manson. Love always, Megan. If you hear anything more before April 1st, call me collect at 505-722-4224

Gallup, New Mexico.

PAUL -

I think I'll call

MR. MANSON -

I think that paragraph she said, "the boy she was with just might be a boy that she met once before and did not like at all, but I'm afraid that I can't be sure." We thought you might want to know about this.

PAUL

I would like a copy of that also. I just got the posters back today and I think they said they were around $40.00, there were 2,000 of them printed and we're starting to distribute them right now. We're still having trouble trying to find people. I've been trying to call this Deanna Raye all day and haven't been able to get her and we're getting set up now as to where come Tuesday, the first day of school, we're going to have people going around contacting the various groups at the college trying to gather information and details from them. About as far as we are, right now, we want to talk to people so bad, yet there isn't anyone around, available to talk to.

PAUL

MR. MANSON -

Okay, we'll let you know if we hear anything else. What do you want in the way of medical records?

PAUL -

I don't know how illuminate they would be, but the doctors usually know what to make a copy of. Also the dental.

MR. MANSON -

We call on that, but we haven't been able to get a hold of the dentist yet. Okay then -

PAUL -

I might say also that, you know what we found that day in the cannister we thought was positive, it did not test out to be positive. I don't know what in the world it is, it really looks like it. She may have even thought it was, but it certainly wasn't.

MR. MANSON -

Do you know what it was, I think, fertilizer for some of those plants.

Paul -

No I don't think it was fertilizer. It was a vegebable with seed and the closest thing I think it would be, maybe bird seed and very possibly she could have been feeding birds out in the woods or on her window sill. It certainly wasn't pot.

MR. MANSON -

I thought she was giving those to the plants.

PAUL -

Very possible. We're still working pretty close to the college, if we could only get to these kids and find out who saw her where. I have one security man who feels sure that he saw her walking down the road

MR. MANSON -

Yeah, well you told me that. When do you think I should come down again, I was sort of thinking about next Wednesday or Thursday.

PAUL -

Okay, that would be fine, unless something happens and I will call you.

MR. MANSON -

Okay, I'll let you know then.

PAUL -

I'll let you know if anything happens.

Mr. MANSON -

Thank you very much.

CASE: 74-3868-3
DATE: 3-27-74
TIME: 9:50

STATEMENT OF: CAROL A. SPENCE

DATE OF BIRTH: 1-21-42

PRESENT ADDRESS: Rt. 2 Box 136-28, Olympia
Home Phone 456-1019
Work Phone 866-6605

I do hereby give the following statement to Paul Barclift , whom I know to be a Deputy Sheriff of Thurston County, Washington, as an aid to investigation and all facts contained herein are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.
C.S.

Q. Mrs. Spence, what is your function at the Evergreen State College?
A. Faculty member in an academic program called Portals and Donna is a student in this program. In the program I have conducted seminars in general Psychology and Child Development and Donna didn't do any of these, but I did see her regularly in Fall quarter in a Counselling Discussion Group that met 2-3 times a week. I had a long evaluation conference with her in December and this quarter I have had little contact with her except this Counselling Discussion Group met for fun purposes this quarter, and she participated in most of those.

Q. Can you recall the last time you saw Donna?
A. I think it was on the 20th of February, but I have seen her in passing at school. A week before she was missing, I saw her in Gil Salsedo's office and he is another faculty member in the program.

Q. Do you know any boys that Donna went with?
A. No.

Q. In going through some of Donna's personal papers and books, we came across many references, writings, etc. that seem to indicate an interest in witchcraft, magic and sorcery. Do you know the depth of Donna's interest and involvement in this area?
A. I think she was just starting to get interested in it, but wants to learn more about it and some books and people were suggested to her. I feel it was simply an interest that is common to many young people at this time.

Q. Who was she referred to?
A. Carol Alexa suggested that she talk with Rick Miller in Seattle, who studied magic and has a magic store in Seattle.

Q. Is he a member of the faculty at the University of Washington?
A. He was a graduating C.S. student in Physics at the University of Washington, but no longer is and currently is teaching a course on magic in the Experimental College, which is connected with the University of Washington, but not on campus.

Q. Are you personally acquainted with Rick Miller?
A. No, as far as I know, Donna didn't see him yet, but she mentioned to Gil Salsedo that she was going to go see him. I had Carol Alexa call Rick Miller and describe Donna to him and to the best of his memory, he has not seen or ~~contacted~~ talked with her.
C.S.
C.S.

C.S.

Q. How would you describe Donna?
A. A person who, this year, seemed to have quite a lot of difficulty in finding herself and being able to devote a lot of attention to academic things, but I felt there was an improvement from Fall to Winter quarter as far as academics.

Q. Did she seem popular with the other kids? Did she seem to have lots of friends?
A. Everyone liked her. She was more of a loner, but had some friends. She was a very likeable person and I never heard anyone say anything derogatory about her. She was unpredictable.

Q. The fact that she disappeared on the evening of March 12, three days prior to the end of the quarter, would this seem significantly strange to you?
A. She knew that she had to be around the week of the 18th - 22nd for evaluation conferences and I would think it would be strange for her to go away. The only pressure I feel she would be under is the program is increasing its emphasis on having the Spring Quarter project planned and she would have to know what she wanted to do.

Q. Did you attend the Jazz Concert at the college?
A. No.

Q. Do you have any idea where she may have gone or who she may have left with?
A. No.

Q. Is there anything else that you would like to add to this statement?
A. When I first heard that she was missing, myself and other people weren't alarmed initially because Donna was known to take off for small periods of time and she didn't mind going off by herself and would travel by herself, but normally did let people know.

C.S.

I, Carol A. Spence, have read this statement of two pages and I find it to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Bundy confession closes Manson case

By Bob Partlow
Gannett News Service

Police are using serial-killer Ted Bundy's death-bed confession to close the books on an Evergreen State College student's 1974 disappearance.

Bundy confessed to abducting Donna Gail Manson, 19, from the west Olympia campus in 1974, decapitating her and leaving her body on Taylor Mountain, said Robert D. Keppel, an investigator for the Washington state Attorney General's Office.

Bundy admitted to killing at least 20 women before he died Jan. 24 in the electric chair at the Florida State Prison. The Tacoma, Wash., native has confessed to killing 11 women in Western Washington.

The execution ended the life of a man who alternately fascinated and repulsed America, a man of cunning intelligence and deadly obsessions. Although he admitted to killing 20 young women, he is suspected in the killings and disappearances of at least another 16.

"He admitted some of the elements of the case to me," said Keppel, who spent hours talking to Bundy before he was executed.

Keppel was seeking information on the Manson case and others from the mid-1970s to which police had linked Bundy.

Some elements of the cases are so grisly that Keppel said he will not reveal them publicly.

But Keppel did say Bundy confessed to having decapitated a number of his victims, including Manson. "It's never really been published anywhere that he removed the heads of some of his victims."

The Thurston County sheriff's office also is satisfied Bundy was telling the truth about Manson, said Undersheriff Neil A. McClanahan.

"We have no reason not to believe him. Certainly it would be much more palatable to us to have her remains found."

Keppel said Bundy never said specifically where Manson's remains might be found. "First he said she was in the mountains, then in the Cascades then finally he said she was on Taylor Mountain, but he never got more specific than that."

Manson, a 5-foot, 100-pound student from Auburn, disappeared March 12, 1974, as she was walking from her dormitory to a jazz concert.

Bundy —

From Page One

There had been signs of Bundy around the campus, including his yellow Volkswagen, said McClanahan. Manson had also talked about meeting "an individual she had just met who had a cast on his arm, who may or may not have been named Ted."

Bundy lured some of his victims to their death by pretending to need help because he had a broken arm.

Security officers at Evergreen often cite Bundy's presence on campus as an example of the dangerous kinds of people who roam the grounds.

"We have reports of where officers in 1974 and 1975 saw someone that looked like Bundy around the campus," said Lt. Larry E. Savage, of the Evergreen security office. "Almost exactly a year to the day after Manson disappeared, someone resembling Bundy walked into the security office and asked about her. The officer went to check the wanted poster on Bundy. When he came back he was gone."

Donna Manson

Police believe Ted Bundy killed her

Savage also said a makeshift shack made of stolen lumber was found on the Evergreen campus with an abandoned arm cast in it and the words "Ted Was Here" scrawled on the outside.

"He gave a dying declaration," said McClanahan of the Manson case. "All the facts point to the scenario he painted."

STATEMENT

CASE NO. _____ Date April 2, 1974 Time 10:30 a.m.

Name of Person from whom Statement is taken KATHERINE STEPHENS

PERSONS PRESENT:

J.W. JONES

PLACE Stephens residence

I, Katherine Stephens, 24 years of age, a resident of RT E 11, WASH.

_____, make the following statement of my own free will and accord. No threats, promises or offers of gratuity, reward or leniency have been made nor has violence or force been used to obtain this statement, and I understand that this statement may be used against me in a Court of Law. I have been advised that I may remain silent and that I am not required to make any statement whatsoever. Further, I have been advised and understand that I have the right to legal counsel and acknowledge that I have been afforded the opportunity to consult counsel before making this statement. I understand that if I do not have sufficient funds to employ legal counsel, the Court will appoint counsel for me at public expense.

After having read the above, and being of sound mind and not under the influence of intoxicating beverages or narcotic drugs, I desire to make the following statement:

On or about March 13, 1974 I saw a girl about 5 ft. tall, slender build with long dark curly hair, wearing a maxi-coat, long pants, moccassins, and carrying a purse. She had blue eyes and a pale complexion, standing on the corner of Pearl and Main Streets in Centralia, Wash. I was about 8 ft. from her. I looked at her closely because she appeared to be very pale and sickly and close to tears. I felt that she may be sick and faint. When I saw the picture in the Chronicle of a girl missing from Olympia I felt that it was the same girl I had seen. This was around 2:30 in the afternoon. She was alone.

I have read the above statement and it is true and correct, to the best of my knowledge.

Re: Donna Gail Manson
Case file 74-3868-3

Dear Sir:

On 5-23-74 this department was advised by Mike Schmidt, Rt. 1, Langley, 855-4484, and John Watson, 5116 S. Bayview Rd., Langley, 321-4008, that on 5-22-74 at 1630 they gave a girl a ride from Kenmore WA to a Shell station on Bothell Way, the first station south of the Marshall Paris Insurance Co.

The girl matched the physical description of Manson and was wearing the described jacket. She was also wearing a reddish color brief blouse and bell bottom blue jeans.

She stated she was going down by the high school. She also stated her and two friends were moving into a two-story house in Kenmore with $100.00 a month rent. She said she had been to a concert at the Coliseum the night before. She mentioned a "Ted" that she was staying with and stated she has friends around Bothell.

Manson's picture was identified by Schmidt and Watson from a flyer posted at the Island County Sheriff's Office.

Yours very truly,

The Honorable Harvey E. Phillips

Dear Sheriff Phillips:

This department was recently advised by a local citizen of two missing girls from Indiana: one from Culver and one from ~~Logansport~~ LOGANSPORT. This citizen thought these cases might relate to some of our cases, and referred us to your office.

Through national coverage by the news media, you are probably knowledgeable of the numerous homicides of young females and those who are missing in the Northwest. Since 31 January 1974, five females, ages 18 through 21, have disappeared from college campuses of Washington and Oregon under similar, suspicious conditions. One four-year-old female disappeared near a campus, and bodies of four other young females, ages 14 through 21 have been found. These four homicides remain unsolved. Copies of posters on the missing girls are enclosed.

In view of the above, we are interested in other cases of disappearances of young girls and unsolved homicides which might relate to our cases.

THURSTON COUNTY SHERIFF'S OFFICE
SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT
REMI HANSEN

CASE NUMBER: 74-3868-3 DATE: 14 June 1984

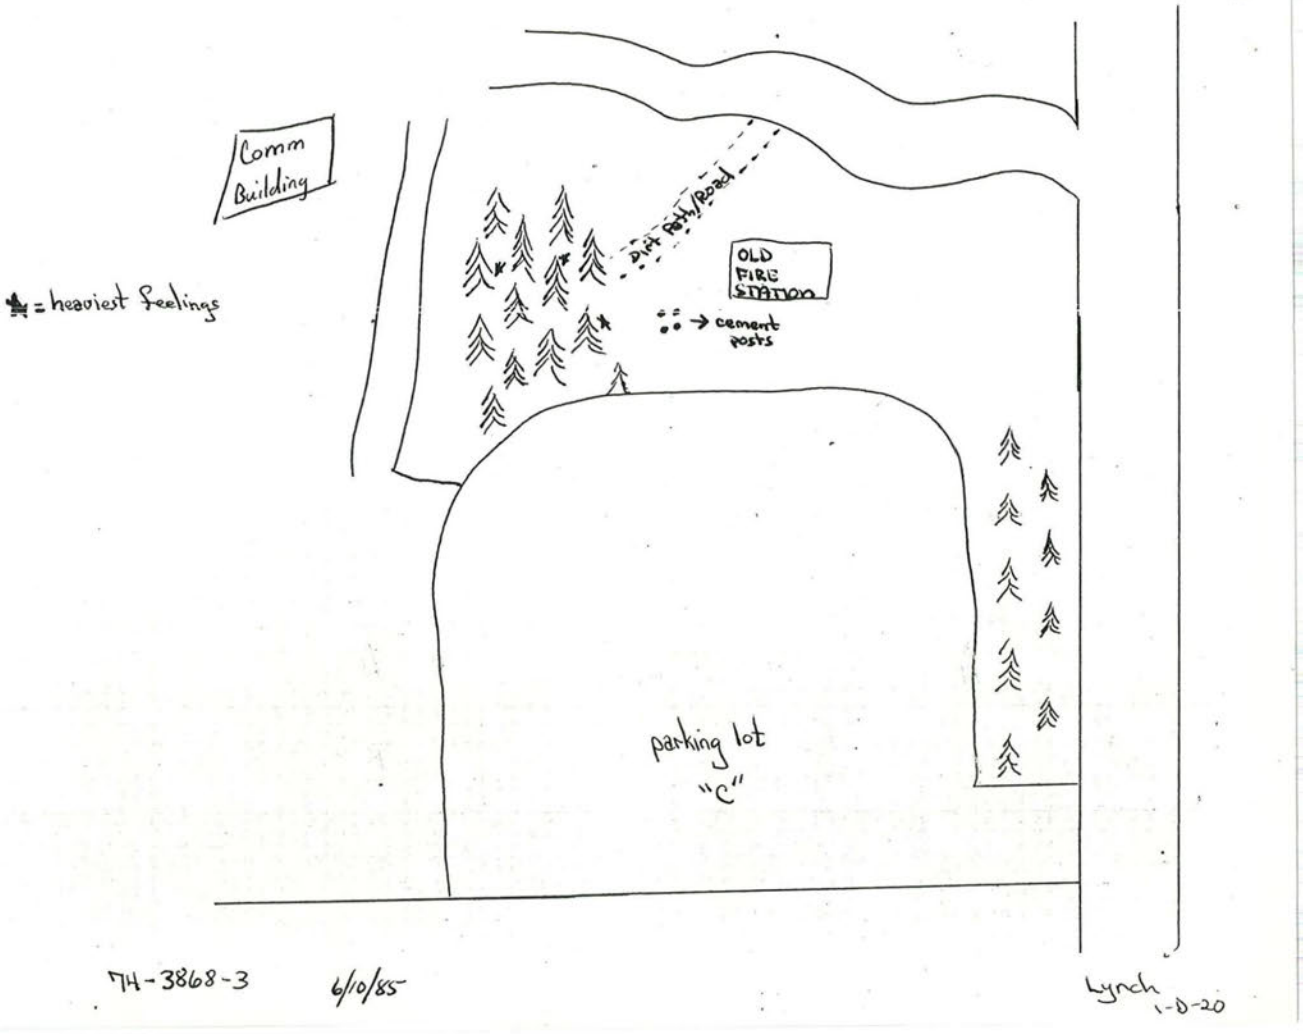

VICTIM: DONNA GAIL MANSON

At approximately 2200 hours on the above date, R/O was contacted at the Thurston County Reserve Academy by a subject identified as Sandy Smithson, who is a reserve academy attendee and part-time security officer at The Evergreen State College. At that time, Smithson informed R/O that she was the sister of Susan Elain Rancourt, who was a murder victim in Kittitas County in 1974 and is believed to be a victim in the Bundy cases that were investigated by Thurston County Sheriff's Office, King County and Kittitas County.

Smithson claimed to have certain extra-sensory powers and indicated that since she has been employed at TESC, she has received strange feelings or premonitions when on a particular place at the campus. Smithson indicated that whenever she was in the area of the northwest corner of "B" lot at TESC, her hair would stand on end and she would have strange, indescribable feelings of something being in the close proximity. Smithson cannot give further explanation for these feelings but believes that it is possible that the Manson body can be located in that area. Smithson has indicated her willingness to accompany Thurston County detectives to conduct a search of the area.

Smithson has no home telephone; thus, she must be contacted through TESC or the reserve academy. R/O notes that this information has been passed on to Lt. Graef at the earliest convenience in order that arrangements could be made in the matter.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT

DATE: 6/10/85 CASE NO: 74-3868-3

On 7 June 85, R/O contacted Sandy Smithson at her residence. Sandy agreed to accompany R/O to the Evergreen State College. Sandy had reported that she believed she possessed ESP, and that while working as a security officer, she often got strange feelings while patrolling a particular area. Sandy indicated to Sgt. Hansen that she got these feelings while patrolling the Northwest corner of parking lot "B". Sandy believed that possibly missing person, Donna Gail Thomson's body was located in that area.

When R/O contacted Sandy on 6/10/85, Sandy advised that location was in parking lot "C" (not B). (See Rough Sketch) R/O searched a section (wooded) at the Northeast corner of lot "C". R/O was unable to locate anything suspicious (Note: crime occurred over ten years ago)

No other discription of the female could be remembered. The vehicle, discribed as a gold and brown station wagon was operated by a dark haired male. CP lost sight of the veh. when it turned off the Bowing Hill on to John St.

~~Received a call long distance from Spokeane from an anonymous male caller who stated he had known Donna Manson in the past and that she was the type of girl who would take off rather spontaniously without telling any one if something special came up. He also said that she was the "free soul type". He was mainly concerned if we had received any info on HER because he had not seen or heard from her in many months.~~

dear Sir:

When I saw this picture in the Chronicle I was prompted to call your office. However, upon reading the article, I found out that any suspicious activities were to be reported. Although I saw no "suspicious activities", I did see this girl on or around March 13 on the corner of Main and Pearl Streets in Centralia. I specifically remember seeing her while she waited for a green light to cross Pearl Strut, because I remember thinking she might keel over before the light changed. She looked very pale, and close to tears. She was wearing a maxi-coat, and held it together closely in front of her. I believe she wore moccasins and carried a purse on her forearm. I hope you find this girl.

Sincerely,
Mrs. D. Stephens

PERSONS INTERVIEWED: NAME	ADDRESS	PHONE
SEDGEMORE, Tom (lgl)	36846 45th Avenue So., Auburn	927-7741

PERSONS ARRESTED: NAME	CHARGE	ARRESTED BY

DETAILS: (Property: Additional stolen, recovered; itemized, describe and show value. if recovered, description and value must be the same as in original stolen report. If case is cleared, reclassified or closed, explain why.)

SEDGEMORE contacted the undersigned by phone and advised that on this date he had occasion to be at the Auburn Post Office, where he observed a female looking at wall posters. He stated that he paid particular attention to this young lady as she appeared to be fascinated by the Wanted Poster. As he looked at the Wanted Poster, he found that in his opinion, the girl in the poster was the same as the girl viewing the poster; with the only exception being she now had obviously bleached hair.

When she left, he then checked the poster and found that the girl in the poster was Donna Manson, who was missing from the Olympia area. He observed the girl get into the newer model blue GMC pickup, which may have been a four-wheel drive as the pickup appeared to have heavy suspension and abnormal height. He was unable to obtain a license number and did not report it immediately as he wasn't certain of what to do.

Det. BARCLIFT, Thurston County Sheriff's Office contacted and he advised he had no information of her being associated with a blue pickup but would like a copy of our report for his file.

ATT - DETECTIVE BARCLIFF

Hello Sally.
I am really sorry about not writing before now. One letter sure isn't very good. I hope you got the letter me and megan sent you . I am doing my Spring project about alchemy. Should be interesting. I bought a few good books on it but there just aren't that many around.I am using Megan's typewritter (ooops). The spring has finally come I think. The birds are singing about it and there are new green things popping up all over. Well, I haven't had too many exciting romances this quarter, in fact, I have had none at all worth telling you about. However, one wonderfull weekend when I was staying up in Selleck, I ran into Mike Meade at the store. Quite a shock. So the next time I was in town I drove up to his cabin and spent a gret evening talking with him about old times and sitting around the fireplace. It was pretty nice . Theater and Dance put on the play Marat Sade and it was really tremendous. I went to the cast party last night, dropped , and walked home at 5:30 in the morning under the most beautifull moon I have ever seen. Then I hung out the window in my room till the sun was well up. It was glorious. When are you coming home? We really have missed you. I trust you've had the time of your life, and you'll have lots of stories to tell. I cant even imagine what it is like where you are. I hope things went smoothly for you. I'm sure you will bring the sunshine back with you. We need it here. Yes, it's been a long winter, and these cement walls are more deppressing than ever, but still there have been lots of golden moments in spite of everything. I been spening a lot more time in the woods lately since it is getting warmer, and that is always nice. My mom and dad are getting me a bycycle soon. I got transfered for next quarter to a one student studio on the 9th floor in "A". So now I will be able to have some privacy, and I hope I will get some work done. Then I think I'm going to spend the summer trying to make some money. My dad made me a rug frame, so I can make all kinds of nice rugs. It will take me a while to finish the first one . Please write and tell me when you're coming and stuff and have a hell of a good time while you're there, OK? Well, I should end this now since I'm keeping my room-te awake with this noisy thing.
God bless you. See you soon.

Love, Donna

Dear Inspector Thompson:

Please be advised that since our last correspondence, we are now investigating a missing female. Donna Gail Manson, WFA, DOB; 6-9-54, 5 foot, 100 lbs, brown hair, blue eyes, has been missing since March 12, 1974, from the campus of the Evergreen State College in Olympia, Washington; foul play is suspected. Her home is located in Auburn, Washington near Seattle.

Three other similar disappearances have been reported by other jurisdictions:

Lynda Ann Healy, WFA, DOB; 7-3-52, 5 foot 7 inches, 115 lbs., brown hair, blue eyes. Healy has been missing since January 31, 1974, from the University of Washington located in Seattle.

Susan Elaine Rancourt, WFA, DOB; 10-12-55, 5 foot 2 inches, 120-130 lbs, blond hair, blue eyes. Rancourt has been missing since April 17, 1974, from Central Washington State College located in Ellensburg, Wash.

Further to my conversation with Detective Barclift of your Department when I visited your office on 28 June 1974, please be advised that the dental chart of Donna Gail MANSON, supplied to me at that time has been shown to Dr. Lawrence S. CHEEVERS, an Orthodontist here in Vancouver. Dr. CHEEVERS advises me that a comparison of the MANSON chart and that of the unidentified female body found near Penticton, B.C. on 24 June 1973 is negative.

I am sorry that you were away from your office during my visit, however I was well looked after by members of your Department. Once again I would like to remind you that if I can be of any assistance to you in the future, please do not hesitate to let me know.

Dear Sir:

RE: Donna Gail MANSON - Missing Person

I have for reply your letter of 22 May 1974, and 7 June, 1974, relative to missing young women, particularly the above named, a student at Evergreen State College.

I regret not replying sooner, however, I have been away from my office more frequently than usual and I would hope that the delay has not caused you concern.

Because your letter of June 7th, 1974 involved another Police Department, i.e., the Vancouver City Police, as the "Gastown" area is in the City, I have arranged with our Crime Index Section to supply them with copies of your photographs, particularly as it relates to the MANSON girl. As a matter of interest, had her name been placed in N.C.I.C. we would have been aware of her disappearance as we have access by computer to N.C.I.C., as would the Vancouver City Police as well.

As the name Donna Gail MANSON, with complete description has now been entered in our indices, I would ask that you advise me without delay should the subject be located.

Yours truly,

(D.G. Thompson) Insp.

Dear Sirs:

Re: Your File 74-9255-6

Reference to your letter of July 19, 1974, our homicide involves that of a 15 year old girl, Roberta Denise GATES. Roberta was last seen hitchhiking on the evening of July 7, 1974, and her near nude body was found in a clearing off Conifer Drive at 7:20 p.m. July 9, 1974. Conifer Drive is located in an isolated area on Burke Mountain in the Coquitlam area. No attempt had been made to conceal the body.

The victim died as a result of a blow to the back of the head with a blunt object, causing a severe fracture to the back of the skull. Sexual intercourse had taken place. Other than the skull fracture there were no other markings on the body. The clothing worn by the victim prior to her disappearance was all found at the scene.

Contrary to the information you have received, we have no-one incarcerated for our offence, nor do we have any suspects at this time. It is felt by the investigators that the person responsible for our homicide was possibly known by the victim and was either familiar with the area where her body was found or taken to that location by the victim herself.

At this time there would appear to be no connection between our offence and the offences at your point. The circumstances of your homicide will be borne in mind by our investigators at this point.

Yours truly,

M. A. YOUNG, Insp.
Officer i/c Coquitlam Det.

Copy of personal letter received March 28th, mailed March 26th.

Dear Mrs. Manson,

I know this is harder for you to bear than me although I am in much pain over Donna being missing. I pray every day that the new day will bring Donna home with it. But with each passing day that Donna does not return I become more and more afraid. Thirteen days is far too long for her to be gone.

The night I last spoke to her she was in very good spirits and had been the past week. She hadn't had any arguments with me or her roommate. Her roommate moved out on Thursday, two days after Donna had been missing, because the girl in her new room had moved out early.

Right now all we can do is wait and pray, but if nothing is heard about Donna by the time I get back on the first I am going to organize a search party with a group of friends and two very concerned teachers. The boy she was with just might be a boy that she had met once before and did not like at all but I'm afraid I can't be sure. I will do all I can for Donna as she is one of the loveliest people I know. Send my love and well being to Jimmy and Mr. Manson.

Love always,

Megan

Dear Mr. Barclift,

To confirm the telephone conversation between you and Lyle, I am sending on this typed copy of a letter from Megan Ellis, which was in response to a written appeal by me to Megan to disclose any information she might be withholding, for whatever reason.

As is quite evident from this letter, Megan is deeply concerned and troubled over Donna's disappearance, and it seems this gives substantial evidence that she is not withholding information. However, it would seem worthwhile to press her for more knowledge about the "boy that she (Donna) had met once before and did not like at all..."

Since Megan wrote this letter to me in confidence, I would appreciate if you would not allow it to leave your files, nor make it a matter of public record.

Our dentist, Dr. Melvin T. Sinex (who is currently on vacation in Hawaii), through an authorized office girl - released her dental chart (a copy), and it will be sent on to you later today.

We sincerely appreciate everything you have done to help us locate Donna, and the kindness you have shown. We hope and pray that with your continued efforts she may be found soon--safe and free from harm.

Yours sincerely,

Marie Manson

Director, FBI
Attention: FBI Laboratory

FROM: Thurston County Sheriff's Department
Olympia, Washington
Case #74-3868-3

RE: Suspect - Theodore Robert Bundy
Victim - Donna Gail Manson
Offense - Missing Person - possible homicide

Dear Sir:

Enclosed in a sealed envelope is a hair sample from missing person, Donna Gail Manson, missing since March 12, 1974. This sample was just obtained from the parents, who extracted the hair from a hairbrush, which belonged to the victim. It is requested that this hair be examined and that its hair characteristics be cross-referenced to King County, Washington Case #75-29267 (FBI File PC-M-5345) and Salt Lake County, Utah Case #74-59463.

Donna was the second of seven females which disappeared from the State of Washington during the spring-summer of 1974. Bodies of five of these missing females were subsequently found, however, Donna and one other are still missing. No known hair was believed to exist for Donna until the enclosed hair was just received from the parents. Attached is a copy of our missing person bulletin on Manson, which you may dispose of when no longer required.

The King County Case #75-29267, included hair found near Issaquah, Washington in September 1974, where the bodies of Janice Ann Ott and Denise Marie Naslund were found. A portion of a third skeleton was found and never identified. The Utah case included hair found in a Volkswagen auto owned by Theodore Robert Bundy.

This evidence is being submitted in connection with an official investigation of a criminal matter. It was not, nor will it be, subjected to the same type of technical examination by other experts.

Sincerely,

Don Redmond
Sheriff

RE: — OBJET:

Unidentified Female Body
Murder of 1974
Near Naramata, B. C.
(Penticton Detachment Case) (UNORG.)

84 MAR 13

1. A suggestion was made by Dr. CHEEVERS that we compare the dental charts of two girls missing in Washington, U. S. A. in 1974 to the above unidentified female. Subsequently the dental charts of the following two missing females have been obtained;

a) Donna Gail MANSON (B: 54 JUN 09)
Missing 74 MAR 12 from Olympia, Washington
5', 100 lbs.

b) Georganne HAWKINS, 18 yrs. in 1974
Missing 74 JUN 11 from Seattle, Washington

2. Briefly, an unidentified female body, described as being between 18 - 22 yrs. of age, 5'7", 140 - 150 lbs., with long light brown hair was found 74 JUN 24 near Naramata, B. C. The body was nude with the exception of the deceased's panties being rolled down from the waist to the buttocks. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition.

3. It was initially noted that MANSON's description was very dis-similar to the captioned person and that HAWKINS was missing only 13 days prior to the discovery of the captioned person which would normally not be sufficient time for the body to get into the advanced stage of decomposition. Due to these observations, it was unlikely that MANSON or HAWKINS were our captioned persons. Further confirmation to be attempted through dental charts

4. As a result of receiving dental records of MANSON & HAWKINS and examinations made by Dr. CHEEVERS, it was confirmed that they are not in fact the captioned person.

Concluded Here.

Are coed disappearances lin

By JULIE McLAUGHLIN
Chronicle Staff Writer

OLYMPIA — Will the next mysterious disappearance of an attactive college-age coed occur this weekend?

According to a sequence in the dates in the sudden disappearance of five young women from college campuses, and the fact that investigators have run into roadblocks in tracking down all plausible leads, the agencies and personnel involved in the cases indicated Wednesday, at this point, they aren't likely to discount any possibilities.

A number of similarities arose at Wednesday's missing persons homicide conference which dealt with recent unsolved cases of missing girls and murders. The session, which was attended by lawmen from Western and Central Washington, was held at the Evergreen State College Campus, Olympia, the scene from which one of the girls disappeared.

Some 47 law enforcement personnel attended. Representing Lewis County were Chief Ken Payne and Sgt. John Stoner, both of the Centralia Police Department, and John Penberth, Pe Ell, county coroner.

Don Redmond, Thurston County sheriff, organized the meeting in an effort to correlate information gathered in the various cases, possibly thread the incidents together by similar circumstances, and in the future, continue to work more closely by pooling all investigative information.

The day-long seminar was successful, according to Sheriff Redmond, in that the related information reveals basic similarities in the disappearances of the coeds and there also appears to be a likeness in the two unsolved murders of young females, whose bodies were found in state parks in south Thurston County.

Investigations were summarized by detectives and campus security officials working on the disappearances of the coeds.

The audience heard details of the still-missing coeds, Donna Gail Manson, Elaine Rancourt, Georgann Hawkins and Linda Ann Healy. Although Oregon was unable to be represented, the case of Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, who disappeared from the University of Oregon, was also believed related.

Since the first of the year, it was noted, one female has disappeared each month, beginning with the Jan. 31 missing persons report of a University of Washington senior, Linda Ann Healy, 21.

Capt. Herbert Swindler, head of homicide and robbery, Seattle Police Department, noted the number pattern in the disappearances after that of little Heidi Peterson, 4, of Seattle, who has been missing since Feb. 21. He said a time lapse of either 19 or 36 days followed each case.

Nineteen days after Heidi was reported missing, Donna Gail Manson, 19, suddenly disappeared from the Evergreen State College campus in Olympia. Then, 18-year-old Susan Elaine Rancourt, a Central Washington State College student, was last seen 36 days after that.

Again, 19 days later, on May 6, Roberta Kathleen Parks, 20, was not seen again after disappearing from the University of Oregon at Eugene, and after another 36-day lapse, Georgann Hawkins, 18, mysteriously vanished from an alley behind her sorority house near the University of Washington. That was June 11.

Astrological research of the disappearances is being done by a friend of a Seattle free lance crime writer, Mrs. Ann Rule, who attended Wednesday's session. According to her friend, she said, it was more than a coincidence that except for Miss Healy, the combination of the girls' birthdates and the time they disappeared and the position of the moon indicates all the incidents, except Miss Healy's, occurred during a water sign, when the moon was just rising.

If there is a pattern to the disappearances and if, indeed, human behavior is influenced by the moon, stars and other astrological signs, then the next disappearance could occur this weekend, Saturday through Monday, or more likely, according to Mrs. Rule's friend, later this month, July 27-29. The writer said the astrologer is still working on the charts and is doing some research on numerology.

Other similarities in the cases of the coeds are:

The girls were 1 — all Caucasian, 2 — single, 3 — between the ages of 18 and 21, 4 — all reported missing around the time of mid-term or final breaks. In addition nothing suspicious was seen or heard in any case, there were no ransom demands, but substantial rewards are being offered, they all disappeared after dark, all but one coed had long, brown or blonde hair and blue eyes (Miss Hawkins had brown eyes), and no bodies have turned up.

Detectives also theorized that the apparent abductions are possibly not being done by a male, but maybe a female-male team or a lone female, who the girls might be more inclined to trust.

Redmond was mainly concerned with the two unsolved murders since the bodies of both Katherine Merry Devine, 15, and Brenda Joy Baker, 14, were found murdered in his county.

Detective Paul Barclift, Thurston County Sheriff's Office, as an aid to hasten in the solution of such cases.

Charles Graef, inspector, Thurston County Sheriff's Department, stressed the importance of timely teletypes in the event of homicides and suspicious disappearances, and requested a wider distribution of the victims' pictures.

The inspector also encouraged full cooperation between law enforcement agencies and the news media in all cases, explaining that criminal investigations in the past have been aided by leads supplied through public response as a result of good media coverage.

Another goal, originally, was to create an information headquarters, where all the investigative material in each and every homicide or missing persons case would be sent. That way, said, Redmond, detectives would not waste the time and money covering ground already explored.

Chief Payne said he was about to offer suggestions for the creation of a center, until the sheriff said such a move was not possible due to the lack of funds.

"Personally," said the Centralia police chief, "I don't think we can afford not to afford it. Everyone would benefit from it. We definitely need one."

In a later interview, both Graef and Redmond explained that nearly all of law enforcement's information is public record and that it should be supplied to the public by the media.

Sheriff Redmond concluded the conference by stressing the importance of increased cooperation, liaison and communications of all law enforcement agencies.

Chief of Police
Berkeley Police Department
Berkeley, California

Dear Sir:

This department is currently investigating the disappearance of Donna Gail Manson. Miss Manson disappeared from The Evergreen State College, Olympia, Washington on March 12, 1974, where she was a student. The manner of her disappearance was suspicious, and foul play is suspected.

Her parents recently notified this department that Donna used to date (1971) a Thomas E. Hiatt. At one time, Hiatt applied for a temporary driver's license and gave the Manson address. Recently, they received the attached letter from Texaco, Inc. indicating that Hiatt had been involved in some minor accident at one of their stations in Berkeley.

The only address the Manson's have for Hiatt is 4191 Shafter, Oakland, California. They feel that Donna might possibly be with Hiatt or that he may have knowledge of her whereabouts.

Request that Hiatt be contacted to determine if he does have knowledge relevant to this case.

Sincerely,

Don Redmond

at 4:35pm I answered line 6140. A girl's voice said "I know where the girl from the college is." I asked which girl she meant hoping she would identify the person by name. At this time, she hung up. Hes voice sounded serious. The audio quality of the phone line leads me to believe the call was not from a TESC campus line but not necessarily a long distance call. I informed Rod and Mack of the call and then called the phone company. The operator confirmed there was no way to trace the call unless the circuits were still complete.

I called Detective Barclift - who was not in the office - and left a message about the call.

Western Washington missing females/homicides seem to have a few correlations, one of which indicates that "Holidays" might be a time that young girls in question disappear. Two bodies have been recovered in our area following a three and a four day holiday-weekend.

REQUEST

Therefore, it is requested that area patrols give special effort/attention in conversing with young female hitchhikers during this weekend, in the areas of freeway entrances. The possibility that a new missing female might soon be reported is a high consideration. Also emphasis on young girls traveling rural roads, parking in remote areas, etc. Note license numbers, descriptions, names, etc.

On 2-25-74 at 1:55 pm Security recieved a call for assistance from Linnea advising that "Scott" Moffet was tring to enter room 114 to see Judith. Linnea stated that Scott would not go away. Russell and Smith responded to the location and found that Scott had left the area. Judith, Linnea and several other females were contacted in the room. Russell and Smith were advised of the incidents leading up to the disturbance. It was noted that Judith was very emotional and crying but managed to relay that she and Scott had lived together and had been very close for some time. However due to his actions recently she did not wish to be around him and stated that he had (over) mental problems. She also said that she feared for her safety when around him. He, it was apparent, had caused her to have troubled emotions due to his actions in their relationship. Judith was finally pursuaded to see LouEllen Peffer for her own emotional state. As Russell, Smith and two other of the girls present were leaving for LouEllens office Scott appeared. He was quite belligerent and attempted to pursuade Judith to stay and talk to him. She was told by persons present that this was ill advised at that time and while Smith continued with Judith and the girls to the Counselling area Russell stayed with Scott who was very upset and finally pursuaded him to come to the Security Office and talk.

Scott conferred with Russell for about an hour at Security and stated that he would stay away from Judith for the present as was suggested and an appointment was made with Larry Stenberg for him as Russell felt that Scott did indeed have serious mental problems.

It was later learned that Judith was moving immediately off campus and from there taking a leave to return to her home back east. Russell will accompany Scott to Larrys office on 2-26-74. No further action at this time.

DIRECTOR'S COMMENTS

Theodore Robert Bundy has become, perhaps, society's most infamous and notorious serial killer. By committing his crimes in many different jurisdictions he wittingly or unwittingly complicated the investigative efforts to identify, locate, and prosecute him.

Unfortunately, such cases are becoming more commonplace in today's society. It is only through cooperation and communication that we in the law enforcement community can hope to stem the growing tide of violence. The following pages represent the product of just such a collaborative effort. This exhaustive documentation of Bundy's activities was prepared in the hopes that Bundy's suspected participation in crimes other than those he has confessed to can be clarified. We may never know the total extent of his devastation but through the efforts of the Bundy Task Force we now have one document with which to compare Bundy's whereabouts with crimes he may be suspected of committing.

I wish to express my gratitude to the individuals and agencies involved. Through the spirit of cooperation the law enforcement community now has definitive documentation of Bundy's activities.

William S. Sessions

On January 24, 1989, serial killer THEODORE ROBERT BUNDY was executed in Florida's electric chair. BUNDY had been convicted of killing two coeds on January 15, 1978, at Florida State University in Tallahassee. Also on that date he bludgeoned three other women who miraculously survived his attacks.

His final death warrant resulted from his slaying a 12-year-old girl who disappeared from school on February 9, 1978; her remains were discovered on April 7, 1978.

During the last years of his life, BUNDY confided to investigators directly and indirectly regarding the motivation, victim selection, modus operandi, etc., for his crimes. In his last days on death row, in an unsuccessful attempt to prolong his life, BUNDY requested certain investigators meet with him. Investigators from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the states of Colorado, Idaho, Utah, and Washington traveled to the prison to talk to BUNDY about a number of unsolved murders in which he was a suspect. At BUNDY's request, all the interviews were conducted in the presence of a member of the FBI's National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime (NCAVC) who had become BUNDY's confidant over the years. Based on BUNDY's communications with this FBI Agent over several years, and the information provided during the final days and hours of his life, BUNDY discussed thirty homicides.

BUNDY'S homicidal activities spanned at least five years and reportedly claimed the lives of thirty females in at least seven states. Although every effort has been made and every available resource has been utilized throughout the years to arrive at a comprehensive count of his victims, the true toll may never be known.

In March, 1989, under the auspices of the FBI's NCAVC Violent Criminal Apprehension Program investigators involved in BUNDY's final revelations and other knowledgeable law enforcement officials attended the BUNDY Multi-Agency Investigative Team conference at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Virginia. The purpose of this meeting was to assess and share intelligence among the participants, inasmuch as the BUNDY interviews at the prison preceding his execution were specific as to individual crimes. Following the Quantico meeting, specialists from the FBI's Visual Investigative Analysis Unit consulted with investigators throughout the country in an attempt to formulate a singular data base reflecting BUNDY's documented whereabouts over the years. They hoped that such information, coupled with information derived by investigation and BUNDY's own revelations, might lead to the solution of additional unsolved murders.

The NCAVC and BUNDY conference members have responded to numerous inquiries from investigators who are attempting to determine BUNDY's culpability in unsolved matters. It is the purpose of this report to share, within the law enforcement community, information relative to BUNDY's crimes, furnish insight into his activities, and provide the most accurate time line possible for establishing his whereabouts during any known period.

HOMICIDE ADMISSIONS

BUNDY admitted to the murder of at least thirty women between 1973 and 1978 in the following states: California (1), Colorado (3), Florida (3), Idaho (2), Oregon (2), Utah (8), and Washington (11).

MODUS OPERANDI

BUNDY was involved in voyeuristic activities throughout his life and actually studied his victims without their knowledge through surveillance and occasional clandestine entry of their residences.

In discussions regarding the development of his method of operation, BUNDY differentiated between "dry runs" and "abductions." He defined a dry run as picking up a woman and releasing her unharmed to test his skills. An abduction was an incident in which an intended victim managed to escape.

Although BUNDY had sex with most of his victims, it is doubtful that he committed only rapes. He was more interested sexually in semiconcious or unconscious victims.

BUNDY termed one of his modes as a "predator mode." When operating in this mode, he was most organized. His planning included preselection of a body disposal site, discreet research regarding his victim, preparation of necessary paraphernalia, and complete planning of the assault to include flight, evidence disposal, and alibi. Only then would he approach the victim and put his plan into action.

At times BUNDY would feel the urge to kill when he had not done this planning and was not in his "predator mode." His victims, then, were often hitchhikers. In those cases, BUNDY was unable to be of much help to law enforcement since he did not know the victims' names and was often not able to pinpoint the body disposal sites.

Generally, BUNDY's crimes followed a particular pattern. He would feign an injury and indicate he needed assistance or he would portray an authority figure such as a police officer. He thus persuaded the victim to voluntarily accompany him to his Volkswagen where he had secreted a crowbar near the rear of the vehicle. Upon reaching the vehicle, he would retrieve the crowbar and strike the victim over the head, rendering her unconscious. He would then handcuff her and place her in the passenger side of the vehicle, which he had modified by removing the seat.

BUNDY would often drive for hours with the victim in the car. If the victim regained consciousness while he was driving he would calm her down by talking to her. He commented that the victim was often so disoriented that he could convince her that she had been injured and he was transporting her to a hospital.

When BUNDY got to his preselected dump site, he would again hit the victim (if she had regained consciousness) and strangle her with a ligature while raping her. Although his first murder was reportedly performed by beating and manual strangulation, he most often used a ligature he had prepared solely for that purpose. Victims were strangled from the rear.

Being voyeuristic, it was important that BUNDY be able to see what he was doing. He selected sites where the moon shone brightly, or he would "operate" in front of the headlights of his vehicle. He commented that there were times that he thought he should have been caught because the headlights of his vehicle would have been visible to people driving in the area.

BUNDY advised that he made return visits to nearly all of his crime scenes.

There is little evidence to indicate BUNDY recorded his murders or assaults in any particular fashion. He indicated he had, at one time, a box of Polaroid photographs of victims that he kept hidden but subsequently destroyed after becoming a suspect. It is known that he would sometimes keep ski brochures that were apparently marked to signify homicides. Also found was a brochure from the high school play where one of his victims was abducted. BUNDY advised he would discard everything belonging to his victims and would sometimes discard his possessions, such as his props or tools, connected with the incidents. He would later have to replace those items.

BUNDY gave the impression that he committed most of his assaults outdoors, except in Utah and Florida. In Utah, he was able to take his victims back to his apartment, where he could reenact scenarios depicted on the covers of detective magazines.

Of the thirty victims BUNDY claimed to have killed, he reportedly buried about ten. He would always attempt to bury the bodies two or three feet deep and place rocks on top of the grave. He also claimed to have disposed of victims in bodies of water.

BUNDY reported he severed the heads of about a dozen of his victims. He would sometimes retain the heads for longer periods than the bodies and not necessarily dispose of the body and head in the same location. Actually, body parts, clothing, and other victim possessions were dispersed, perhaps, hundreds of miles from the discarded torso.

BUNDY clearly followed media reports of his crimes as well as the reports of others who killed. He was interested in other people's murders and the possibility that he was being copied. He followed his own cases to glean as much intelligence as possible regarding suspects, evidence, leads, etc. He felt he was helped quite a bit with the abundance of information from investigators' quotes available through the media and his perceived lack of cooperation among law enforcement agencies.

Although ligature strangulation was BUNDY's favorite method of killing, the manual strangulation of his first murder is consistent behavior in an evolving serial murderer. That is, a serial killer is disorganized when he starts but improves significantly as he progresses, choosing his victims, murder and body disposal sites, and methodology more carefully. He becomes more sophisticated.

BUNDY exhibited this evolution toward sophistication. Finally, however, under the stress of being a fugitive, he regressed. He resorted to using his bare hands and a blunt weapon and selected sleeping victims or young girls as targets.

When asked about the bite marks he inflicted on his victims at one of his last crime scenes, and whether he had done anything like that before, BUNDY did not respond fully. However, he did say that when he was in an extremely aggravated state, biting took place.

Unfortunately, there remain, and perhaps forever will remain, many unanswered questions about BUNDY's activities.

CONCLUSION

Of the homicides examined at the BUNDY Multi-Agency Investigative Team conference, BUNDY claims responsibility for thirty. As a result of information provided by BUNDY and an independent verification of that information by investigators, it was possible to associate BUNDY with twenty cases.

Paul,

Det. Gleason Los Angeles Co. S.O. called, says he will send you this flyer on his Jane Doe body. He doesn't believe this to be Donna Manson as his Jane Doe has capped small front teeth and Manson has prominent front teeth. Note; found among Jane Doe's personal pap. a photo and on back "USC Christmas Party"
