 CASE NO.
Taken by DET. ROBERT D. KEPPEL Serial # _____
Statement of KATHLEEN CLARA SWISHER Age _____
Alias Maiden Name, D'Olive
Address _____ Zip _____ Phone _____
Date of Birth _____ at _____ Occupation & Employer _____ Bus. Phone _____

On Wednesday, April 17, 1974, about 8:00 I dropped off my roommates in close to downtown Ellensburg and drove up to the library. I parked in the sub-parking lot next to Hertz Music Hall.

DET.: Where is the parking lot in respect to the library?

KATHLEEN: Kind of kitty-corner to the library, I guess about a block span.

DET.: Which direction does the library face?

KATHLEEN: It faces west.

DET.: Okay, what did you do when you left your car in the parking lot?

KATHLEEN: I locked the car and walked right over to the library, went in the main entrance to the library; I think I went upstairs, in the upper part of the library (that is called the curriculum laboratory). I'm not sure that's where I was that evening, but I'm almost sure. I stayed there until 10:00.

DET.: What were you wearing that particular day?

KATHLEEN: Most likely I was wearing blue jeans, and I'm not sure what I had on with it that time of the year, I think I was wearing a blazer jacket.

DET.: What was the weather condition outside?

KATHLEEN: It was a clear night, I don't remember it being extremely cold or extremely warm.

DET.: How tall are you?

KATHLEEN: 5'9½".

DET.: How much to you weigh?

KATHLEEN: 125#.

DET.: During that time of the year, how long was your hair?

KATHLEEN: Long - way below my shoulders, long and straight.

DET.: What color is your hair?

KATHLEEN: Black.

DET.: Did you have anything in your hair?

KATHLEEN: Not that I remember.

DET.: Were you wearing any jewelry of any sort?

KATHLEEN: I had on two rings, and a watch; I could have had on a bracelet, but I don't think so. Usually I just wear two rings and a watch.

DET.: Was one of the rings an engagement ring?

KATHLEEN: Yes.

DET.: How long did you stay in the curriculum portion of the library?

KATHLEEN: As near as I remember, I was in one spot the whole time I was in the library, which was about two hours. I remember looking up and seeing that it was 10:00, and I normally called my fiance on Wednesday nights and 10:00, so I gathered up my books and left.

DET.: What books did you gather up?

KATHLEEN: I think I had, most likely I had a couple of notebooks, possibly one or maybe two textbooks with me, no more than that.

DET.: Did you have a purse?

KATHLEEN: Yes.

DET.: What kind of purse?

KATHLEEN: A shoulder strap purse made out of navy blue fabric.

DET.: What route did you take to get out of the curriculum lab?

KATHLEEN: Most likely I went straight out of the lab, down the main stairs of the library, and out the door, the main entrance. Now I'm not sure on that, I could have done something else in the library before I left, but I don't think so. I think I went straight from that area on out.

DET.: When you leave the library, do you have some sort of book procedure that you have to check through on the way out?

KATHLEEN: They don't actually check your books, but its electronically done now, and you do walk through a certain path to get out.

DET.: What would happen if the electronic system went off?

KATHLEEN: That would mean you were carrying a book that wasn't properly checked out, or had some other property of the library. I went through it with no problems and left.

DET.: You left through the front door, then?

KATHLEEN: Correct.

DET.: Where did you go from there?

KATHLEEN: I walked out, I took a right, which was leading across the front part of the library (cement porch-like, whatever) and was cutting across a lawn that went between the library and Black Hall. I was aiming toward the parking lot where the car was parked. I hadn't quite gotten off the lawn, or sidewalk (wherever I was, I hadn't reached the main mall stretch) when I heard something behind me. It sounded like something following me, it didn't startle me or anything, it wasn't a loud noise and I turned around and there was a man dropping books; he was squatting, trying to pick up the books and packages was what he was doing, and so I noticed that he had a sling on one arm, and a hand brace on the other. I didn't really notice it at the time, I just noticed that he was unable to pick up that many things and I assumed that he was going into the library. I went over and said, "Do you need some help?" He said, "Ya, could you," or something to that affect. So I picked up what was to me felt like a bicycle back pack, it was light nylon material, kind of.

DET.: Do you recall the color?

KATHLEEN: No . . . orange stands out in my mind, but there are so many orange ones around, that might be why. I'm not sure on that at all.

DET. The backpack had what felt like books in it?

KATHLEEN: Yes. It felt like books.

DET.: Was he carrying anything else?

KATHLEEN: Yes. Some packages, three boxes that were small, not large.

I think they were wrapped in parcel post, or brown paper bag-type thing and I think some of them had string ties on them, you know, like . . . I'm almost sure on that, but at any rate, I picked up the bag that I thought had books in it, the napsack type bag, and he picked up the packages.

DET.: Could you describe him to us, as far as how tall was he?

KATHLEEN: He was no taller than I am, possibly, he could have been a few inches taller, maybe 6' but absolutely no taller than 6'. He . . .

I don't remember thinking that he was alot shorter than I, nor alot taller.

I would say he was probably around my height. He had brown, light brown, kind of shaggy hair, no real style, no real cut, cut kind of long and shaggy. He was thin and his face is a blur to me, I don't remember his features at all. I don't really recall if he had a moustache or not. I picture him in my mind both ways, one with and one without one. The same thing about glasses - in one thought in my mind I picture him with wire rims, and another I don't. I don't really know. He was dressed kind of sloppily, not real grubby, but nothing outstanding.

DET.: Describe the condition of his arms.

KATHLEEN: His left arm was in a sling, no cast, no paster of paris cast I know that, but it was in a sling. His right arm had like a hand brace, or fingers brace.

DET.: Was it metal?

KATHLEEN: Yes. As far . . . ya, I think it was metal. He had bandages wrapped around it. It was supporting his fingers. I'm not sure if his arm that was in a sling was wrapped, but I think that it was, I think his hand was wrapped. He told me he had hurt it skiing. He'd run into a tree or something and bent his fingers back, and dislocated his shoulder. (or did something to his shoulder.)

DET.: Where did you think he was going to take the books to?

KATHLEEN: I thought he was going in the library. He was headed that way, so I thought that's where he was going. But that same sidewalk actually leads up over a little bridge that runs right alongside the library; its just a short bridge that goes over a pond (manmade pond) and that's actually the direction that he was going in, but its right next to the library and the same sidewalk will angle off to go into the library—so that's where I thought he was going. We started walking and when we came to the bridge, it was obvious that he wasn't turning off to go to the library, and I said wait a minute, you know, where are we going? He said, "Oh, my car is just parked right over here." I said okay, or didn't make any motion, but at the time I knew what I was carrying which I thought was books, or felt like books, was very heavy, and the way I was carrying them, I knew I could protect myself with it if the need arose.

DET.: Did he, at any time between his car and the library, stop and wince, or anything, or say that his arms hurt?

KATHLEEN: He never actually stopped at all. He may have mentioned that he was in pain, maybe once, but he didn't make a real big deal out of it; it was just so obvious that he was helpless that he'd have to be in pain, that's the way it appeared to me, anyway. He told me he'd been in an accident (ski) and this is what had happened, and the way he was bandaged up it all made sense, the sling on his arms and shoulder, etc.

DET.: How far do you figure you walked from the library to where his car was?

KATHLEEN: Well, I couldn't give it to you in feet, possibly a block and a half, but it wasn't arranged in blocks . . . by any means. We walked across the bridge then to the edge of . . . I don't recall the name of the street, but it runs up the campus, kind of an alley street. It's not a real well traveled street. Then under the railroad trestle and then his car was parked in the first right under the trestle there, it was a dark road. There were no street lights on that road. But his car wasn't parked so far down that it was completely black.

DET.: Is this a no parking area?

KATHLEEN: I believe it is. I'm pretty sure it is.

DET.: What kind of car was there?

KATHLEEN: It was a Volkswagon. I think it was brown, it was a newer VW; there were no dents in it. It was shiny and fairly nice.

DET.: What happened when you got to the car?

KATHLEEN: I set the pack down, well first of all, he went to unlock the door on the passenger side, which is the inside . . . I mean, the car was parked right next to a log and there was room between it for a person, and he went to unlock the car on the passenger's side, and I set down the package (the pack) that I had been carrying and leaned it against the log and I think I said goodbye . . . anyways, my thought was well, I had done my deed and I was going to leave, and then he was supposedly unlocking the car and he dropped the key; then he felt for the key with his right hand and he couldn't find it apparently and he said, "Do you think you could find it for me because I can't feel with this thing on my hand. (meaning the brace on his right hand.) I was cautious at this time, I mean, even while we were walking I thought well, I'm not going to let him get behind me, I'm gonna keep an eye on him, I've got these heavy books and I can use them. let's step back and see if we can see the reflection in the light, so we stepped back behind the car, kind of behind the car to the side, and I squatted down and luckily I did see the reflection of the key in the light so I picked up the key and dropped them in his hand and I said goodbye and good luck, or something with your arm, or something to that affect, and that was the end of the conversation.

DET.: Did he say anything to you at that time?

KATHLEEN: He may have said, "Thank you," or something like that. He didn't offer me a ride home, or ask me to come with him, or anything like that . . . that's about it.

DET.: At the time you put down the books, you said goodbye at that time, and then he dropped the keys?

KATHLEEN: I think that that's how it went . . . I'm not real sure, but I remember then that my thought was to leave then, so I think I did say goodbye.

DET.: During your first confrontation with him, when he dropped his books, did you feel that it was a sincere gesture on his part, that he was dropping his books and needed help?

KATHLEEN. Yes. I did. Ya . . . and I thought he was just going into the library, it was just a short distance and he really did need help and I thought I could help him, you know.

DET.: At what point in time did you fear there may be something else on his mind?

DET.: Did you notice anything unusual about his car, for instance, some sort of ski rack or bicycle rack, or anything like that?

KATHLEEN: No, I didn't. It looked, just very normal, like any VW on the street.

DET.: Were the tires wider than normal?

KATHLEEN: Not that I noticed. All I really noticed was that it was a nice VW, it was in good shape. It was shiny.

DET.: Did he appear to you to be the skier, or athletic-type of person?

KATHLEEN: No, not at all. No, he just . . . he didn't fit the stereo-type in my mind of an athlete, or even a skier.

DET.: At any time did he swear, or cuss?

KATHLEEN: No, not that I recall.

DET.: Did he use any of the street-type language at all?

KATHLEEN: No . . . there was nothing unique about his voice, or the way he talked, or the language that he used, at all. It was just a very ordinary conversation, really.

DET.: Did you get the impression that he knew just exactly what he was doing?

KATHLEEN: Not at the time, no. I thought it was on the up and up, really.

DET.: Did you get the impression that you had ever seen him before?

KATHLEEN: No, but there was nothing unique about him really that would, I may have seen him in a crowd somewhere, I . . . his face . . . nothing about him was familiar to me. I don't recall ever seeing him before. But then, again, its a possibility, you know.

DET.: Did he strike you as the type of person who would appeal to you?

DET.: Did you volunteer to take his books, or did he ask you to take them?

KATHLEEN: No, I think I said, "Can I help you?" He didn't say, "Will you give me a hand, or will you help me," I think I was the one who volunteered it.

DET.: Do you normally walk from one place to another on campus?

I said, "Okay," so we started walking across the bridge and we were maybe a quarter the way across the bridge and he began telling me about his ski injuries and that conversation took us up to by the other side of the bridge and a little ways beyond that, and then I asked him again, "Well, where's your car?" I expected it to be parked on that street that's right behind the library. He said, "Oh, its just right here." Then we walked under the trestle to the right there, and it was just-barely down that dark stretch.

KATHLEEN: They weren't tight. . . uh . . . they weren't exceptionally baggy, but they weren't new jeans, either, but I'm not sure. Anyway, they were flared and they had a cuff, and that's about it.

DET.: Were there any other people coming out of the library, or in the area where you were when you first confronted him?

KATHLEEN: I'm sure there were, that's a busy time of the night around the library, but there was no one walking the direction we were walking and no one walking on the street or sidewalk that runs up and down behind the library, so once we left the side of the library I never saw anyone after that.

INTERVIEW WITH JANE CURTIS, 12/10/74 at 1215 hrs.

with DET. R. KEPPEL

My name is JANE CURTIS; I am 21 years old, 5'8", about 140 lbs., hazel eyes, washed out blonde hair a little bit over my shoulders. My birth date is March 10, 1953.

What day did your incident occur on?

JANE: Okay, it occurred on a Sunday evening after I worked a Curriculum Lab at Central Washington State College. It happened - I was leaving the college library between 8:30 and 9:00 P.M.

DET.: Were you in the Curriculum Lab with anyone else?

JANE: Yes . . . its kind of busy as its used mostly by education students in the evenings, and I work shelving books for about two hours in the evenings. Its usually the same persons who come up during the evenings.

DET.: Is this in the library, itself?

JANE: Yes. . . upstairs on the second floor.

DET.: What did you do after you left the library?

JANE: After I finished work, I walked out the main entrance of the library, and was just minding my own business. I walked straight out, and I was approached . . . well there was this guy coming along and he had this huge stack of books, like about 8 or 9 books, and he had a cast on his left arm as I recalled later . . . but he was carrying these books and all of a sudden he just kinda drops them, right in the direction I was walking in, so I just more or less . . . offered assistance. I said, "Gee, well it looks like you have quite a load, would you like some help?" So I helped him pick up the books . . . no big deal, 'cause he didn't act like, uh, he acted like a very nice person. So I said, "Do you need any help?" He said that he could, so I . . . he just happened to be walking in the same direction I was, so I thought it was no big deal if I helped him carry his books out to the car, 'cause the parking lot . . . they usually park right behind the library which is just like across, or not even a block away, so I just more or less just helped him carry his books. We went passed Black Hall and I was on his right hand side, and he was on the left, and I remember he was shorter than I was, because I was wearing kinda high shoes, it gave me a couple inches, it made me about 5'9". I remember he was shorter than I.

DET.: What were you wearing that day?

JANE: I remember wearing my jeans, a sweater, and probably my ski parka.

DET.: Were they faded blue tight jeans? . . . baggy blue jeans?

JANE: No . . . they were high waisted. . . the ones girls usually wear, those Navy blue jeans. . . the ones you buy down at the Navy store.

DET.: What kind of coat?

JANE: Uh . . . my pink ski parka.

DET.: Is it a full-length coat, or . . .

JANE: Just the waist length.

DET.: Did you have anything on your head?

JANE: No.

DET.: Was it dark outside?

JANE: Yes, it was dark.

DET.: Describe the person that you met.

JANE: Okay, the person I met was definitely shorter than I; I remember he had a stocking wool hat on his head.

DET.: What color was it?

JANE: You see, it was dark, so if it was a bright color it didn't stand out, so considering the lighting was kind of. . . the lighting is the high lighting across the sidewalks and his clothes were a dark color, and he had on what would now be called hippie clothes, he had on kind of a long coat, kind of grubby, a wool hat with a brim that went up. I remember he kind of . . . I can't recall the length of his hair. . .

DET.: What color was his hair?

JANE: It was dark.

DET.: Dark colored?

JANE: . . . dark. . . I remember that everything about him was lacking color . . . no outstanding colors like red or yellow. . .

DET.: Did he have a mustache?

JANE: No.

DET.: Beard?

JANE: No beard.

DET.: How about glasses?

JANE: . . . that's the thing that's been bothering me . . . I've been thinking about that. He kind of looked at me sideways . . kind of turned his head and looked at me kind of funny like. He looked at me strangely. His eyes seemed weired. That's one thing I remembered, but I can't remember whether he had glasses on or not. And I remember his cast . . . when we were walking it was on this . . : side, so it would have been his left hand because his fingers were in my direction because I noticed that there was on one of his fingers some metal, kind of a metal type cast on his fingers, silver, splint-like. I asked him how that happened and he said it was a skiing accident. I asked where it happened and he said it happened at Crystal Mountain, and that he ran into a tree up there. I kind of stereo-type skiers, he didn't look like a skier-type to me. He didn't look like the athlete out there skiing.

DET.: Did this whole situation seem like a "line" to you?

JANE: In a way . . . it didn't click because I asked how it happened, and he said he ran into a tree. Well, it could happen up at Crystal, but its not very logical . . .'I don't know how that would be able to happen.

DET.: Do most skiers from Central go to Crystal, or Snoqualmie Pass?

JANE: It depends . . . alot of them go to Mission Ridge in Wenatchee. A lot of them don't go clear over to Crystal unless its for the holidays or something.

DET.: Okay, with respect to the sling on his arm, was it in a sling?

JANE: No. It looked like . . . when I was at Western I was in a cast for several months, and it looked like it wasn't hard . . . not the plaster. It looked like the wrapping of gauze-type.

DET.: What color?

JANE: It was white. It was white wrapping. It was completely around his fingers, across here, around his thumb and up his arm, but he had his coat on. The coat was over it, but only part way so you could see it. Then he had that metal thing on his finger . . . it looks like maybe it was something you could do yourself.

DET.: Does that seem unusual to you for him to have a broken arm and not have a cast on it?

JANE: Uh . . . no, because I had the gauze on before the swelling went down, then they put a hard cast on. It looked like something that anybody could do if they wanted to. I just sorta glanced at it, but it didn't look like a professional job. That little metal thing over his finger looked like it was just taped on.

DET.: Did you get the impression he was skinny?

JANE: No. His coat was big, kinda bulky looking - slouched over.

DET.: On the way to wherever you were going, did he wince, or say anything about his arm hurting?

JANE: No. That was the surprising thing. . . the only thing . . . only the times when he needed help, like when I was leaving, when I approached the car, then he wanted me to get in, then all of a sudden he started, like, Ohhh, my arm . . . he went on about his arm hurting him, and he said don't forget I have a broken arm - you feel sorry for me . . . get in . . .

DET.: Were those the words he used?

JANE: No. But more or less, that was the way he wanted you to think. Okay, when I approached his car, I remember it was parked on the side where you go under the railroad trestle there's a right road that goes out to another road by Big John's, kind of a drive-in, and it says no parking. His car was parked there on the side, and its kind of like tall grass, and we went around to the passenger's side of the car.

DET.: Did he go with you?

JANE: Yes, he was right at my side. . . my right hand side, I was near the car door so he would have been behind the door if it had been open.

DET.: Okay, what happened then?

JANE: When we approached the door, he said for me to open it up.

DET.: Was he carrying any books?

JANE: Yes. He was carrying a couple of books, but I was carrying the majority of books. He said, "Open it up." I said, "What?" Then he handed me the keys.

DET.: He handed you the keys?

JANE: Yes. He got his keys for me.

DET.: Was the car locked?

JANE: Yes, the car was locked. So I said, No. He then unlocked it. I looked inside the of the car, and the first thing that struck me was that the passenger's seat was gone.

DET.: What did he unlock the car with? A key? With his right or left hand?

JANE: The key. That's a good question. . . I can't remember that . . .

DET.: What did he do with the books?

JANE: I can't remember if he gave them to me. . . I was holding a bunch of them . . . I can't remember if he . . . I remember he unlocked the door that it wasn't me that unlocked it.

DET.: What was he saying at that time?

JANE: He wasn't saying anything. He unlocked it then he told me after he opened it up, "Get in." I said, "What?" Then he said, "Ohhh, could you get in and start the car for me?" I said, "I can't."

DET.: So he was wincing at the time about his arm.

JANE: On his arm more or less to make me feel sorry for him. . . then when I looked, what really got me was that the passenger's seat was gone. That's what really bothered me was that it was gone.

DET.: It was completely gone?

JANE: It was completely gone. . . it was just out.

DET.: What was there in its place?

JANE: Nothing . . . it was just the flat surface of the regular car. It had a back seat, and it had those high back seats.

DET.: What color was it?

JANE: Yellow.

DET.: Yellow Volkswagon?

JANE: A yellow VW with the high back, black seats.

DET.: The Bug?

JANE: Yes, the Bug-type. We have one, and I know what a VW is. It was yellow because I remember looking right at the car, standing there, it was yellow.

DET.: Did the interior light come on?

JANE: No.

DET.: It did not?

JANE: No, it did not. I remember that it was dark, that when I looked in there it was really dark. The light never came on.

DET.: What else did you notice about the inside of the car? Anything? Any articles in the car at all?

JANE: No, it was just plain. . . just the black seats; there was nothing. . . wait a second. . . I was thinking about that. . . if there was a square box in the back, way in the back in a cubby hole behind the back seat. There was something back there, but there was nothing unusual that struck me except the whole passenger's seat was gone.

DET.: How about any stickers on the windows? Were there any CWSC stickers on the window?

JANE: No. Hmm-Mmm. (negative) I didn't see any. I didn't notice any of those. If they were there I probably would have noticed. I'm kind of observant of a lot of things. That's what got me, then he told me to get in and start the car and I said no. By then ... He never pushed me . . .

DET.: He never touched you?

JANE: No, he never touched me. He probably more or less just wanted me to feel sorry, and get in, and I just dropped his books after he told me that and I took off.

DET.: Did you walk or run away?

JANE: I sort of ran away, kind of fast. I looked back and saw his car was there and I just took off and went to my apartment.

DET.: Did he say anything after you left?

JANE: No. He never said anything. He never came after me, or anything, in the car, or ran after me, or anything. He never touched me. He wanted me to get in. He said a couple of times for me to "Get in, and start the car" . . he wanted me to start it up for him . . .

DET.: Could you explain what particular day of the week this may have been, and what month?

JANE: Okay, it was definitely on a Sunday night, because I work 10 hours a week at the Curriculum Lab, and ever since I started, I have always worked two hours a week on Sunday nights, and the rest of the hours I put in during the week during class hours. On Sunday night I was the only one who works there and usually my hours were from 6 to 8, or from 6:30 to 8:30. Those hours were busy and they needed me to put the books away. I figured it would be during Spring quarter because I remember mentioning the incident in my Indoor Gardening Class, and I took that class during Spring quarter. Winter quarter ends somewhere around the end of March and I only had about a week's vacation, then we come back and start in April spring quarter. It occurred that/after ^{it was} spring quarter began as it was still kind of cold, and the warm weather had not yet begun as I was still wearing my parka, and heavy clothing then at the time of the incident; then I recall that quite a while later mentioning the incident in the gardening class, which would definitely be spring quarter.

DET.: It was probably April, then?

JANE: Ya, April.

DET.: On a Sunday night, about 9 o'clock.

JANE: Yes.

DET.: Okay, while you were in the Curriculum Lab, were there . . . did you get the indications that anyone was watching you?

JANE: No. . . never.

DET.: Had you ever seen this particular individual who confronted you before?

JANE: No. That's it . . . I remember . . . I spent a lot of hours in the "Sub" with friends, and a lot of kids come in there during the hours because Central is a small school and you look at faces. You recall them. I remember I looked around the next couple of days at school after this incident to see if I could see this person, as it would be easy to see if a person had a cast on his arm or not. It would be something you would remember as not too many people have casts on, or broken arms, and if you looked at them you would kind of recall. I never saw that person again. I remember before when I looked at him I had never seen that person before at Central. I mean he was definitely older.

DET.: What age?

JANE: He was definitely over 25 years. He was an older guy, because just being around kids my age you just can sorta tell. He just looked older from his appearance when I looked at him.

DET.: Did you notice what he had on his feet? What type of shoes?

JANE: No, I didn't even look down, at his feet.

DET.: Did you hear any sounds coming from his feet, you know like squeaky shoes, or anything like that?

JANE: No. There was nothing unusual . . . I didn't notice anything.

DET.: How was his speech?

JANE: There was no accent or anything to it.

DET.: Did he swear?

JANE: No.

DET.: No profanity?

JANE: No, no profanity.

DET.: That's unusual, wouldn't you say?

JANE: When he told me to get in. . . he was kind of soft spoken. He wasn't very loud.

DET.: Did he seem to have an answer or explanation for anything you wanted to know?

JANE: Well, I asked him a question and he gave me an answer, like his accident . . .

DET.: Was it quick, or did he have to think about it?

JANE: Uh, think about it. Because I'm the one who more or less edged him on, like how did it happen . . . he said he'd had a skiing accident, and I said, Oh, I do a lot of skiing, where did it happen? He said Crystal Mtn., so he was aware it was a skiing area. When I said, how did it happen? He said that he ran into a tree. I said, you ran into a tree. . . I didn't question him any more. It kind of struck me though, Crystal Mtn. and he ran into a tree??? It didn't seem to fit in, because I've seen Crystal and there aren't that many trees around, especially in the main track.

JANE: In the main track there aren't any trees.

DET.: Was there any particular odor about him?

JANE: No.

DET.: Like any after shave lotion?

JANE: No.

DET.: You couldn't tell when you opened the car door any odor at all in the car?

JANE: No. There was nothing.

DET.: Like he'd been smoking, or anything like that?

JANE: No. There was nothing.

DET.: How was the lighting around the car?

JANE: There wasn't much. In that particular corner there is no lighting its kinda dark in there. There are lights further up, and behind the railroad thing. There are no lights around there.

DET.: If you had a car, and were going to the library at CWSC, where would you park?

JANE: I couldn't park where he parked as there's no parking area there. It would be right across the street from where he parked, along the whole railroad side you can park there.

DET.: But he parked in a no parking zone?

JANE: Yes, he parked in the no parking area. I'm pretty sure that's a no parking area.

DET.: Why is that a no parking area?

JANE: Because it goes around a curve, and right in there there's a road and it has the block - wooden blocks, and there's a parking area for the tickets for the lower dorm, then right around the corner there's kind of a high grass and ditch.

DET.: Is it marked no parking?

JANE: I went back there and I'm pretty sure it said no parking, I'm positive. I rode my bike by and I remember it said no parking, there are two signs further down.

DET.: Is there a parking lot by the library?

JANE: Yes. The library is here, and then there's a road and parking lot and a power station right there.

DET.: Do you have to have a permit?

JANE: Yes, you have to have a permit to park in there. And right across the road there on the library's side, they're usually filled up and you don't have to have a permit.

DET.: How far did you have to walk from where you exited the library to where you met him, where he dropped the books?

JANE: Oh, right smack in front of the library, the front door, right in front.

DET.: Was there anyone else standing around at the time?

JANE: I don't think so. At that time of night its kind of quiet. A lot of people don't use that . . . well a lot of people use that library, but it was early in the quarter and there wasn't anybody else out there. There might have been some one who had just walked down, but never paid any attention. I don't remember.

DET.: In what condition were the keys he gave you? Were they on a chain, on a ring?

JANE: I didn't look at the keys.

DET.: Did they jingle as you held them?

JANE: Oh, he held them.

DET.: He held them. . . he never did give them to you?

JANE: He never gave them to me because I wouldn't unlock the door.

DET.: Oh, I see, you never did receive the keys.

JANE: He took the keys out, and kind of put his hand toward me with them in his hand, and he said to unlock it. I wouldn't take it. I said, NO.

DET.: Was it his right hand or left hand?

JANE: I never really paid that much attention. If he handed them to me. . . I can't even remember. I wasn't paying that much attention, I mean he wanted me to unlock the door, and I didn't and said no, and I remember he took his keys out and I didn't pay any attention. I knew he wanted me to unlock the door and I said no.

DET.: What types of books did he have? Were they paperbacks?

JANE: Hard bounds.

DET.: All hard bounds?

JANE: All of them were hard bounds.

DET.: All big books?

JANE: Not . . . they were pretty good size. . . not really thick. He had several . . . they were all hard bounds. I can't say if they were from Central's library, or not.

DET.: Did they have any book covers on them?

JANE: No.

DET.: No book covers. If you had to characterize him, just from the experience you had with him, what would you describe him as, a college student, a guy who works at a gas station, what type person would he be?

JANE: Oh, gee, I look at a person like him as being kind of a hippie-freaky-type guy. He didn't look . . . he looked like the bum-type. Not the kind who works at a gas station, or the student-type. Just kind of a do-your-own-thing person.

DET.: If you had helped him put his books in the car, and he'd have asked you to go to the local drive-in for a coke, or something, would you have gone with him?

JANE: No.

DET.: You wouldn't?

JANE: Hmm-Mmm (Negative).

JANE: Well, I had an experience, not quite like this, and I just had my guard up against anyone strange who comes along. So I just more or less protect myself. I was telling a guy, if I looked at him I would never say he was a good-looking guy.

DET.: You wouldn't?

JANE: No. Not at all.

DET.: What is good-looking to you?

JANE: Tall, good build - athletic-type of guy, just all around good looking, but he was the more freaky, hippie-type. From just looking at him I could just tell. I remembered that when I looked at him.

DET.: Okay, when I think of a freaky guy, I think of a guy who says, Hey man, what are you doin' tonight?, and all that type of terminology. He never used any type of terminology like that?

JANE: No.

DET.: Not the street talk, right?

JANE: Not street talk, not at all.

DET.: Do you think he was a student, at all?

JANE: Was a student, where at?

DET.: Do you think he was a student?

JANE: He could have been at one time, but I couldn't. . . now his type, I see a lot of his type. I went to Western and there are a lot of his type up there. You take a look at him, they're all freaky-looking characters up there, but they're all very intelligent speaking individuals. He's a person like that. He's just kind of different. The way he looked at me bothered me.

DET.: How did he look at you?

JANE: I . . . he put his head kind of sideways and stared at me.

DET.: Like he was looking through you?

JANE: Ya. Just kind of . . . his eyes looked weird. He just stared funny-like.

DET.: Did his eyes have bags under them?

JANE: I can't remember.

DET.: Could you see them?

JANE: No. Just kind of big eyes that stared at me.

DET.: Did you get the impression at all that there would be any foul play. . .

JANE: No, never.

DET.: As you observed the car, did you observe anything like a ski rack on it?

JANE: No.

DET.: How about a bicycle rack?

JANE: No. There were none of those at all. All I remember was that it was a later model, yellow VW with high back black seats.

DET.: Was the top all yellow too?

JANE: Yes.

DET.: There was no convertible-type top?

JANE: No.

DET.: Did you get a look at the front?

JANE: No. I just glanced over it, it just looked to me like a VW Bug.

DET.: What type of tail pipes did it have? Did you notice that?

JANE: No.

DET.: Some of them have one, some have two that come up. . .

JANE: No. I didn't notice.

DET.: How about the wheels? Were they regular wheels, or mag wheels?

JANE: No, I didn't notice at all. There was nothing that really stood out that was different.

DET.: He physically opened the door for you, right?

JANE: Yes.

DET.: What did you do with the books?

JANE: When he opened the door, I dropped them.

DET.: You dropped them on the ground?

JANE: I dropped them right on the ground.

DET.: What did he say at that time?

JANE: When I dropped them . . . we stood there. . . I had the books in my hands and he said, Get in. I said, what??? He said, Get in and start the car for me. I said, Oh, I can't. And he wanted me to get in on the passenger's side.

DET.: He wanted to have you get in on the passenger's side?

JANE: That was to start the car up.

DET.: Do you think that's what he meant, to start the car up, or just to "get in."

JANE: That's just it, "get in."

DET.: Did he actually say start the car for me?

JANE: . . . Start the car for me. . . I remembered that. First of all he told me to get in, I said what, then he went through his little pain bit, and said get in and start the car for me because I can't. He said because of his arm he couldn't start it. He wanted me to start it for him.

DET.: Where was the ignition on a Bug, right or left hand side of the steering wheel?

4/25/74, it was decided to thoroughly check out the story of [REDACTED] boyfriend of victim who passed thru Ellensburg on the night of victim's disappearance. It was also decided to check locations he is known to frequent. [REDACTED] claimed he left Quincy at 5:30 pm 4/17/74, and drove to La Conner stopping for gas and meal but stated he made no stops in Ellensburg and did not see the victim.

Officer stopped first at Camano Island where the [REDACTED] have a cabin and where the victim and others went to a party over a month ago. With an Island County Deputy the land records of a large real estate firm were checked for property belonging to [REDACTED]. One holding was found in Utsalady Bay. Officers checked this vacation home and found it unoccupied. From all indications it had not been entered or used for weeks. It was located in a close cluster of houses and a neighborhood check disclosed the last time it was used was over a month ago. (It later developed that this was not the 'house on the beach' where victim and Diana PITT spent a holiday.)

Officer next checked the house with the purple mailbox that the Martins reported they saw the victim (after seeing her picture on TV). This was an old farm house, 1/4 mile back off the road, address 5 [REDACTED] E. Utsalady Rd. and about a mile from the [REDACTED] cabin. [The farm was occupied by [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] who are a pair of college graduates raising goats and herbs.]

TO: Campus Police Chief or
Director of Security

On April 17, 1974, at approximately 10:00 pm, Susan Elaine Rancourt left a meeting on Campus presumably enroute to her living quarters, alone on Campus and about 1/4 mile away. She has not been seen since. All her personal property, including glasses, contact lenses, identification, money, check book, clothing, etc. are intact in her room.

She was an excellent student and extremely careful about her habits, friends, and contacts. Her disappearance is completely out of character and foul play is definitely suspected.

Similar disappearances have occurred at the following colleges to our knowledge:

Linda Ann Healy from the University of Washington, Seattle,
Washington on 1-31-74;

Donna Gail Manson from the Evergreen College, Olympia;
Washington on 3-12-74;

Roberta Kathleen Parks from the Oregon State University,
Corvallis, Oregon on 5-6-74.

Similarities in the above disappearances include: all four females are WFA; 18-21 years of age; and are considered attractive. They all were attending colleges located on or near an interstate highway. All disappeared during evening hours, telling no one and taking no personal belongings.

It is requested that any additional college having cases that would appear to fit this pattern contact the undersigned and send a copy of their case report.

At 2:00 pm on 6-17-74 Donna Green Contacted writer in the Traffic Office. She was a roommate of Susan Rancourt's Fall 1973 and part of Winter 1974.

Donna described Susan as an energetic person, who was intense about the things she did. Susan was described as a kind of pouty or moody at times. She also described Susan as a person who sought social interaction and also noted that Susan didn't usually walk alone or go any place alone (store, dining hall, etc). She said that Susan stayed up late at night (1:00 am) to be alone and then rose early and attributed this to Susan's moodiness.

Donna stated that during the week preceeding Easter she called B-24 to ask for a can opener she had left in the room, prior to her moving to C-27 Barto, and a man answered the telephone. She said she thought she had the wrong number, but the man said it was Susan and Diana's room. She asked him if he saw the can opener; he left the phone and she heard him going through drawers; he came back and said he couldn't find it. She thought the man was [REDACTED], but after talking to Diana later, learned that it wasn't. Donna could not remember if Diana gave her a name. She will try to remember. INVESTIGATED ABOVE INQUIRY AS FOLLOWS:

Attn: Off. Cheryl Schmelzer

It is found that one of the younger officers on this department had seen the "Flyer" on Miss Rancourt at the Security Office of Drake University, in this city. He later observed a young woman in a pedestrian situation, whom he felt resembled Miss Rancourt.

Teletype #2794 AM IA0770300 was dispatched to Washington officials without the knowledge of anyone in our CID. The wording of this message, unfortunately, was erroneous and misleading. The young woman in question was not approached, nor was she identified. No vehicle was involved, so no license check was available.

We are, of course, alerted to the chance the subject seen could be Miss Rancourt. The area indicated in the original incident is being closely checked on that possibility.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF OFFENSE, PROGRESS OF INVESTIGATION, ETC.

Jane Curtis, Walnut North #46, no phone; business phone 963-1641 (Student help in the Curriculum Lab) 5'8", blonde hair, shoulder length, parted in middle, green eyes, dob 3/10/53.

7/25/74 9:30 am

Ms. Curtis came to Traffic Office with the following information after seeing an article in the Campus Crier 7/25/74.

One Sunday night (possibly 4/21/74) at 9:00 pm Jane Curtis was walking out of Bauillon Library when a man in his late 20's (see statement for description) with what appeared to be a cast on his left arm, dropped a lot of books in front of her and said, "oh, my arm." She asked if she could help him carry the books as she was going in the same direction (North on Campus). The cast went to his elbow, it wasn't a hard cast; it had gauze on top; "something he could do himself" is what Ms. Curtis stated. Subject kept whinnying and complaining about his arm; he was stopped toward his left side. He kept the palm of his left hand toward himself; he had a metal finger brace on one of his fingers, either the left ring or left little finger--it was bandaged like his arm. He stated that he had broken his arm by skiing into a tree. Ms. Curtis suggested Crystal Mt to the man--he agreed, yes, that is where it happened. They spoke about skiing, Ms. Curtis has been skiing for about 10 years. He agreed with what she said, she stated he didn't know much about skiing. He was wearing dark colored clothes, nothing that stood out "old crap," messy. Subject was dressed in grubby clothes; hippy style; grubby long cloth coat (weird as Ms. Curtis described it). He had a stocking cap pulled down over his hair. His hair was dark brown, possibly shoulder length or shorter. Ms. Curtis described subject as "homely" with "kinda big eyes--weird", gave her the "creeps." He did not look like the skiing type. She could not remember if he wore wire-rimmed glasses or not, but feels that she might be able to identify him. She had never seen subject on campus before ^{or} after the incident.

Ms. Curtis and subject walked north on Chestnut after walking under the railroad trestle they turned right on to 10th. The car was parked a short distance east of the trestle on the right hand side of the road. He asked her to place the books (all hardcover, textbook type) in his late model yellow VW bug. When she placed books in the car she noticed that there was no passenger's seat, but that the interior of the upholstery was black and the driver's seat had a high back. He asked if she would please start the car as he was having trouble starting it. When she refused, subject demanded she, "get in the car!" She dropped the books and ran north toward Student Village. She did not hear him start the car.

Kathy'D'Oliveo, 4801 Dunbar Drive, Gig Harbor, WA; 206-858-3704
(long dark hair, parted in middle, 5'9", dob 10-8-52, hazel eyes)

7-28-74 9:30 pm

Writer contacted Kathy D'Oliveo by telephone to ascertain if she had given a statement to the Pierce County S.O. The statement is being forwarded to this department.

Ms. D'Oliveo stated that she had been walking to her car from the library when a man dropped boxes and packages that had been contained in a light nylon backpack, the type some students use to carry their books in. He had his right arm in a sling with metal braces on fingers of both hands (the type of brace used on broken fingers). He stated he had been in a skiing accident, but did not state where. He did not use his right arm.

She helped him carry the items to his VW bug. (She stated it was shiny, possibly brown in color) no ski racks that she can remember. The car was parked on 10th Street--just north of the railroad trestle, 1/4 block east of Chestnut Street. Subject dropped his key, she backed up so she could spot the key's reflection in the light, picked up the key and handed it to him. (See statement for details). Stated subject was soft spoken.

Ms. D'Oliveo described the man as not clean cut looking or hippy, but kind of weird looking. He had long hair, below the ears, shaggy, dark brown. She stated that she had never seen him before or after this incident on campus. She stated that her image of the man is blurred and cannot remember if he had a mustache or not; whether he wore wire-rimmed glasses or not.
